This was such a great month! We had a Hachanah for Yud Tes Kislev, and the lucky winner was Esther Levertov! Then G.O. did the Teves Breakout. The awesome theme for this month is Music Store! Every day we can listen to a Niggun, and think about how powerful a Niggun is.

Every day you have a really cool opportunity! On Mission Monday, you can fulfill a mission about the theme of the month. Tuesday, there's a question on the theme that you can answer. Whiteboard Wednesday has a whiteboard on the theme, and on Theme Thursday you can play a really fun game based on the theme!!! And then there was Yud Shavat Hachana and Shluchim Book. Your family is probably featured in the book with a picture of you all on Shlichus! I'm so excited to see what else is in store!

City No Name

Chapter II

Recap: History class is given the project of writing a book as an introduction for their history class. Nechami, Miri, and Chani pair up. Nechami is opening the paper that says what city or town their project is on....

Wordlessly Nechami handed over the paper to Miri, her face betraying nothing. It read, "See me at my desk, Mrs. Scanter", Miri exploded! "What on earth does that mean???"

Mrs. Scanter walked up to the three confused girls and smiled. "Just wanted to have a word with you guys about your paper, I believe you got a note to see me right? Well anyway you have to move on to your next class. But run by the office and make a quick call to your parents, and ask them permission to come to my house till about 9:30 tonight. I'll be taking care of supper.... top kashrus standards if your concerned about that." Mrs. Scanter grinned and turned around to go. "Oh, by the way... meet me by the office by dismissal." With that she took her final leave.

Nechami Chani and Miri swung by the office and each got permission from their parents. By the time they made it to math, class was almost over and just about to start the usual game of math bingo.

"Aaaaaheeeem", Mr. Hamper cleared his throat and twitched his ever present bowtie. "Please meet me at the office 15 minutes after school is over. In those 15 minutes I expect to have from both of you together to cover the chalkboard in writing saying "I will not come late to class without a late note." The 3 girls sat down very gloomily wishing that they could escape, the grey outdoors only added more.

As a bolt of lightning struck through the sky it also struck through Chani's head.

She quickly scribbled a note and sent it off to Miri. Miri was amazed! "How could I have forgotten? It was all so simple. By the time Mr. Hamper is ready to punish us we will be off on our way to Mrs. Scanter house!" As quick as she could, she passed the note on to Nechami. She read it, smiled and was near laughing.

The bell rang! Chani, Nechami, and Miri well prepared dashed out of the room. Panting they reached the office. The girls stood outside the door catching their breath, willing the office door to open and Mrs. Scanter to walk out.

As usual Mrs. Scanter came up from behind them again. "Hey girls! I see you guys are eager to leave huh? Come over here. The car is parked behind the school."

Miri was flabbergasted! "How do you always sneak up behind us Mrs. Scanter? Why?" Mrs. Scanter revved up the motor and drove home as she talked. "I'm pretty good and quiet so I can sneak up easily behind you guys and listen in to your conversation. This way I know if something inappropriate is happening or if there is something your parents should know. So I don't try to but I pretty much automatically walk quietly behind you since I'm used to it."

"Yikes... I got to be careful when I talk... a few times I sensed something behind me but since I didn't hear anything I didn't think anybody was there, I guess it was you then..." Mrs. Scanter drove up the driveway. "Yup, it was probably me."

The girls hopped out of the car and followed Mrs. Scanter inside. "Hi Ma, I'm home!!" Mrs. Scanter called out.

Nechami looked around the tastefully decorated house. Miri sniffed the air, and Chani was just too amazed to say anything at all! Her first time at a teacher's house, this experience she thought must be lived up to the fullest!

"Come girls, get something to eat." Mrs. Scanter beckoned them to the kitchen. "There's fruit and cookies and milk. Could that keep you till dinner time?"

Nechami moved towards the table with Chani and Miri following behind. "Thanks so much!" Chani piped up. Mrs. Scanter smiled. "My pleasure, dig in!" Miri made a Brocha and bit into a chocolate chip cookie. "These are really good!" she said with a full mouth.

"So girls... let me tell you that you have landed on a very interesting project. The rest of the class all got a place such as Moscow, Odessa, Petersburg, Cracow... along with all these big cities, there are some smaller less popular ones.

But even after that there are even smaller ones. These are more towns, or a Shtetel. These little Shtetel had no names but they represent so much.

Anyway your project is more to research facts about these little Shtetel. I have a book which will tell you everything you can find on this subject. After that you can let your imaginations run free."

It was Miri that broke the silence. "That is so cool! Is that the only reason why we are here today though? Couldn't you have told us in school?"

Mrs. Scanter took a deep breath and smiled. "That it one reason, but however my mother is here. My mother had about 7 years of Shtetel life before they left the Shtetel. So she can tell you a little bit about it but she is also going to tell you a captivating story that happened in the Shtetel. Are you all done with your snack?"

Everyone responded at once, "yes Mrs. Scanter. Thanks so much. It was really delicious." "With such polite young ladies as visitors it turns into a pleasure to help you."

Mrs. Scanter stood up and Nechami, Miri, and Chani followed behind her to the living room.

Sitting on a rocking chair was a very old lady who introduced herself as Mrs. Gittel Spletiker but asked to be called Mrs. G.

"Sit down girl's uon I vill tell you a story.... Once upon a time.... Many years ago...."

ASK THE DOCTOR

Dear Shternie,

I recently became Frum and I have a cat . Most Frum people don't have cats but I really love it. I have had it since I was little and we are friends. I want to be accepted in the community but really love my cat

Sincerely , Cat Lover

Dear Cat Lover,

I understand that you love your dog and it must have been a big thing to become frump. I have an answer but I am not sure what you think. I say that you should keep the cat indoors and when you have a friend come over put it in a room where they are not allowed to go. Good luck!

Sincerely, Shternie

Dear Shternie,

I am terrified of dogs and there are a lot of them in my neighbourhood what should I do?

Signed terrified

Dear terrified,

Being that I am also terrified of dogs I might have some solutions for you. The worst thing to do when you see a dog is to run. The dog will think you are playing and chase you. So what I do is very slowly walk away from the dog and cross the street and then the dog wont follow you.

Signed Shternie
