Did You Know?

Factory-painted figures can become more realistic in just a few seconds with a little paint!

Make a very thin wash of black or gray (mix your paint with thinner or water as appropriate), and let it flow or "wash" over the entire figure. When it dries, this will tone down the colors and accent all of the molded details.

A coat of flat finish applied with a brush or spray will also make all of the colors, from skin tones to clothing, more subdued and realistic.

HO Dura-Loc Action Accessory Pack
Life-Like from Walthers. Make any race more challenging with this set of Dura-Loc track accessories that can be used with any Life-Like Racing set. The action starts with the battery-powered (battery included) spinout track where a car randomly skids across both lanes of oncoming traffic! Next, put the squeeze on the competition with the super squeeze track, where both lanes come so close that cars can be forced off the road - if you're not fast enough! A pair of matching 9" straight tracks are also included, along with complete instructions.

Did You Know?
 Probably the most common signal found on railroads large and small is the railroad crossbuck.

It's familiar X shape has been protecting highway crossings for over a century now, making them a must-have detail for model railroads too.

At one time, each state regulated it's own signs, specifying the shape, colors and warning message. Today, the signs are standardized, but are slowly being updated with more reflective surfaces and Yield signs.
