In Good Company

2021 MEMBER RECOGNITION REPORT

Georgia's Business Generosity Leads the Way

Through the turmoil of 2020, goBeyondProfit members showcased the best in all of us.

In every corner of the state, companies on this list displayed extraordinary grit and determination to meet urgent needs. This year, the In Good Company report recognizes more than an aspirational pledge these businesses took to join goBeyondProfit. This list commemorates the shifts in business models and functions these companies made while caring for all their stakeholders in crisis.

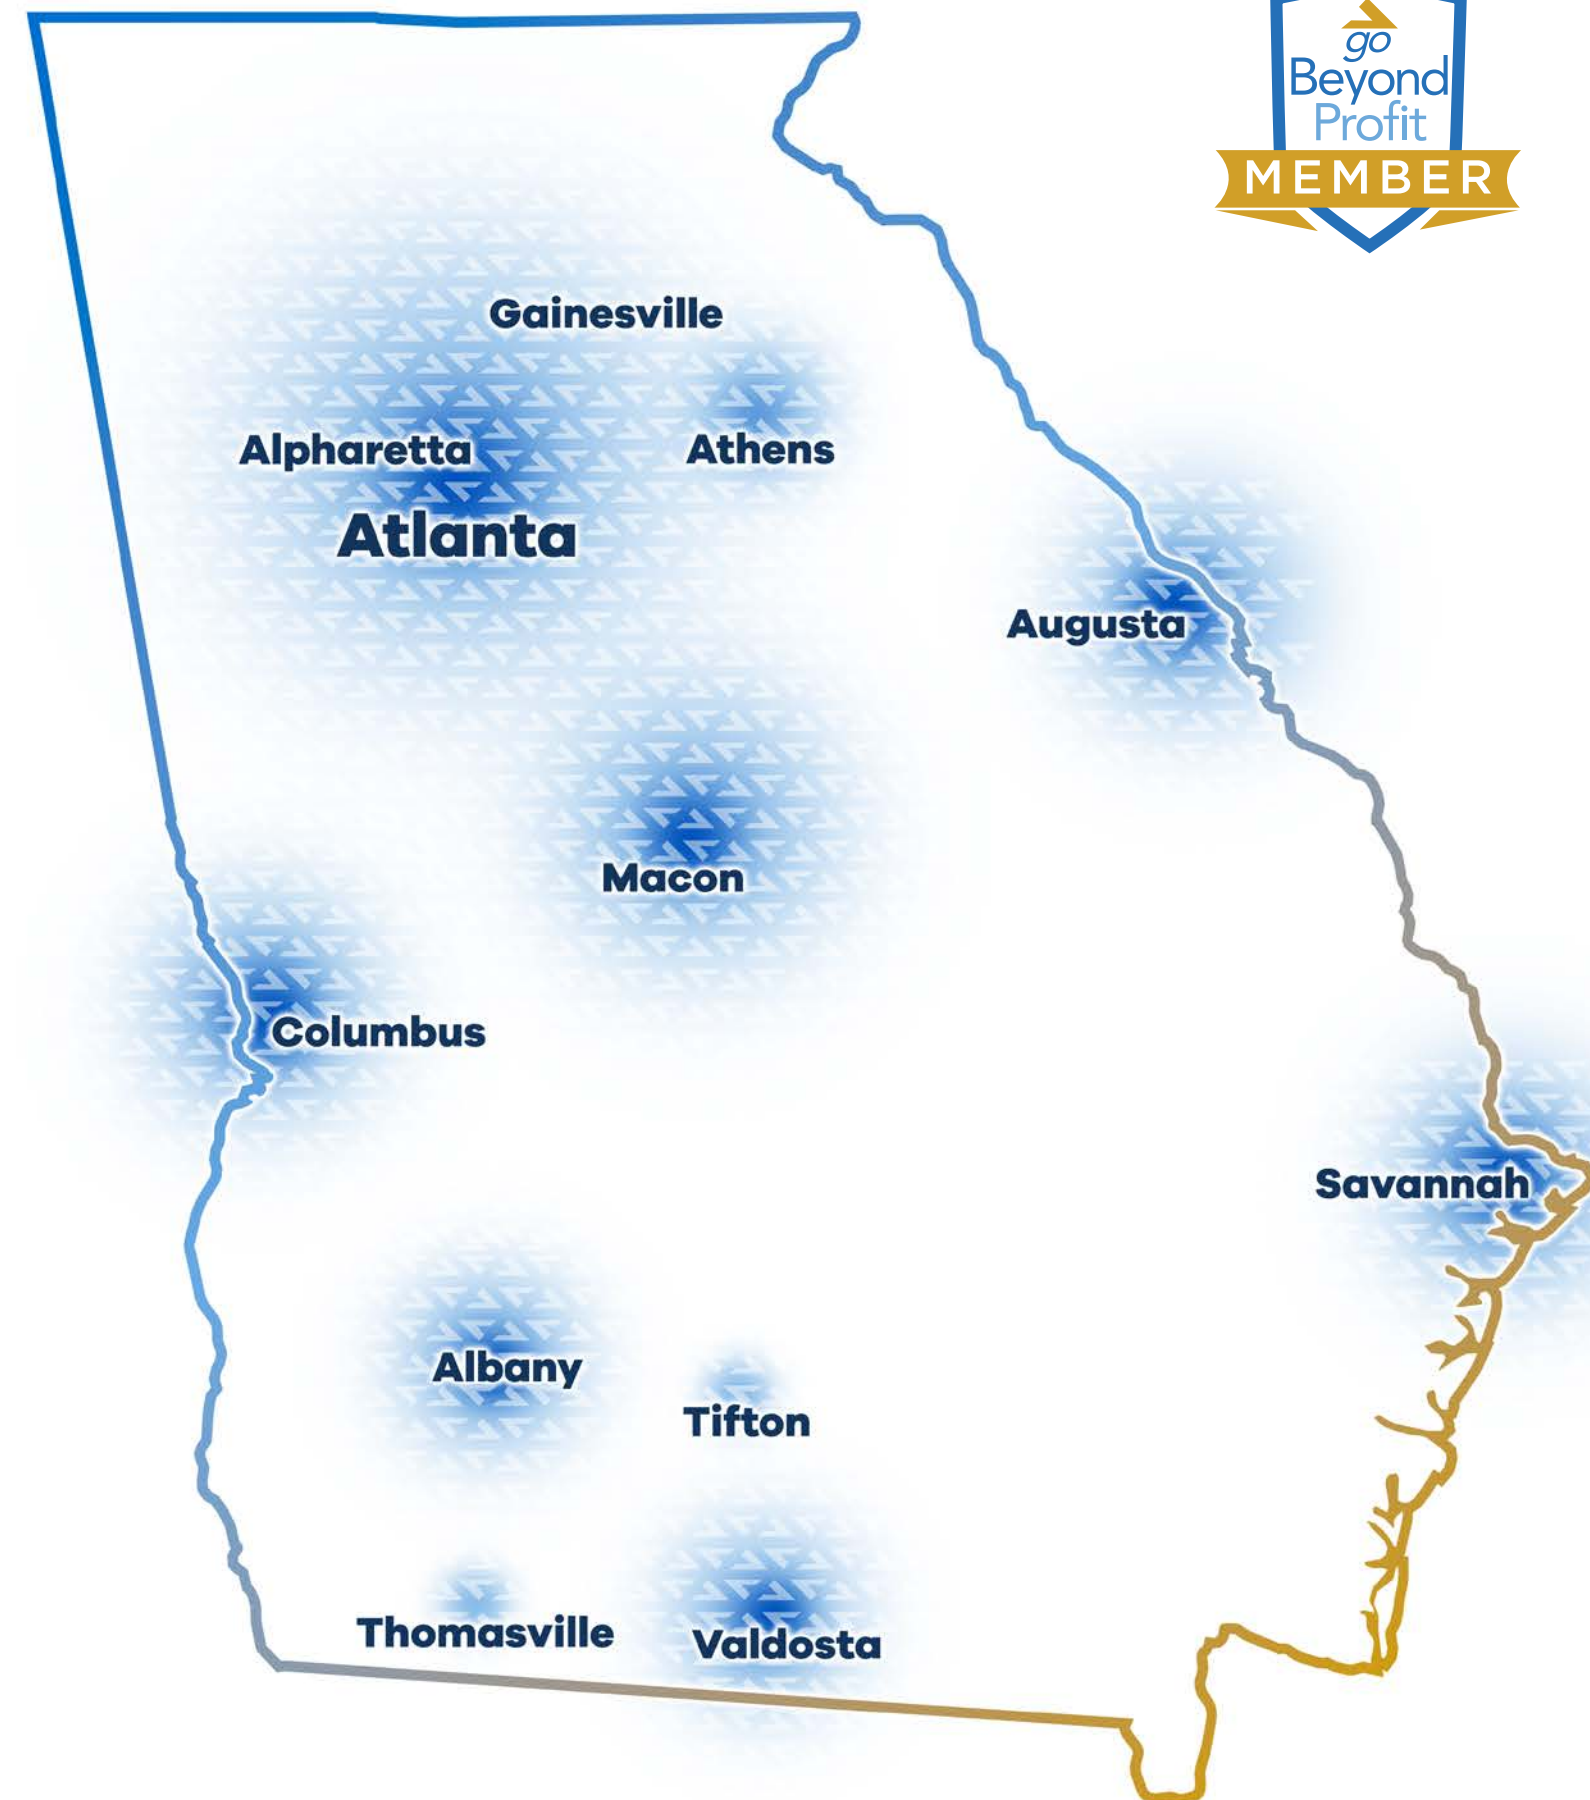

Some members shifted production lines to make PPE or hand sanitizer. Many pivoted entire workstreams and technologies to support employees isolated at home. And still others shared deeply from their checkbooks, talent pool and supply chain assets to help neighbors feed their families and fellow businesses stay afloat.

The 2021 In Good Company report has grown to include more than 925 businesses large and small. Companies recognized in these pages demonstrate generous operations, values and intentions in Albany, Tifton, Columbus, Macon, Savannah, Augusta, Athens, Gainesville, Alpharetta, Cartersville, Atlanta and zip codes in between.

Each is celebrated here for the ways they go beyond profit to ensure that their people, communities and companies thrive.

More companies join goBeyondProfit every week. The momentum is great and the outcome promising for Georgia. Business holds the trust of employees, customers and broader communities to imagine and implement a positive way forward.

From all of us at goBeyondProfit, we pledge to continue our work to raise up the stories of your generosity on a daily basis and support you as you lead.

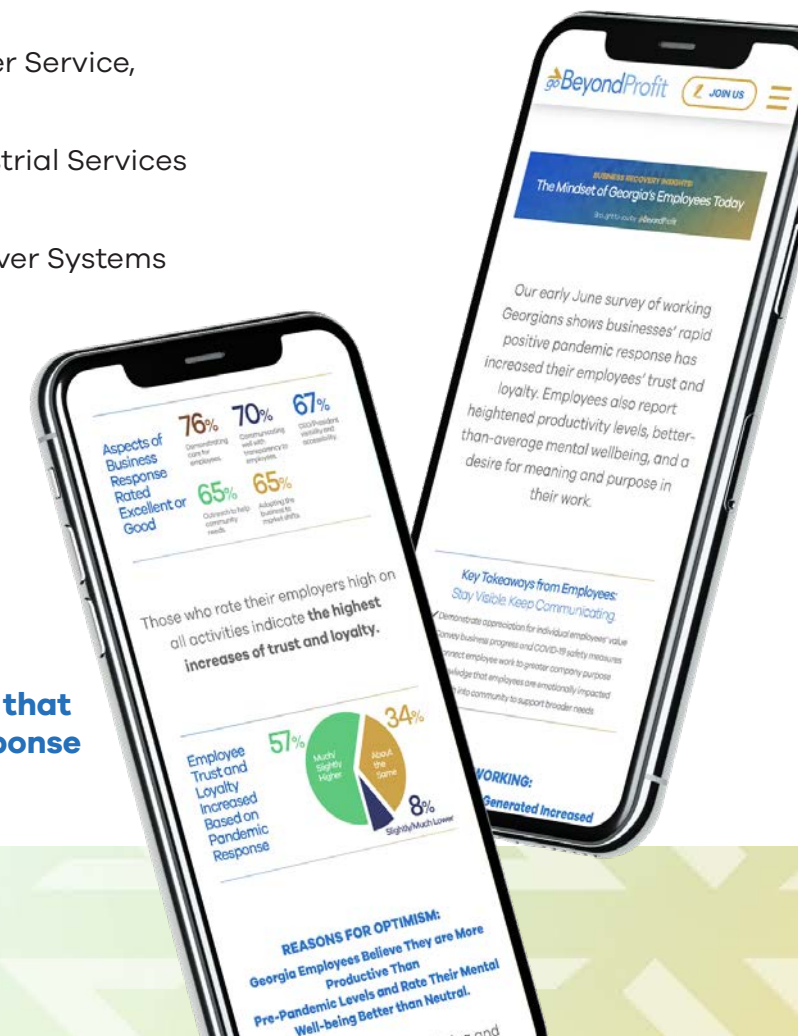

Aflac's personalized Champion Celebration shifted to an online recognition of their decades of generous leadership and charitable contributions.

Year End poll of Georgia employees informed The Empathy Imperative Report offering executives clear guidance for leading a caring company culture.

Year-end report card gives Georgia employers a B grade for 2020 and clarity on how to earn an A in 2021 goBeyondProfit's November survey of working Georgians uncovered the path to an A grade.

Employees most want to see their companies and leaders demonstrating empathy and care for employees and the community. For quick wins, leaders should prioritize being visible and accessible, with transparent employee communication. Gap analyses and cautionary tales suggest leaders focus on empathy, racial/social conversations and disconnected employees' bonds.

Overall, emotional intelligence rises as a top skill required for leaders going into 2021.

Employees trust their employers to manage uncertainties in the year ahead and increasingly rely on the workplace as a pivotal source for emotional and social wellbeing.

Large scale company volunteer projects shifted to small but powerful acts of kindness.
