Meet Carl Hentsch of 3 Dog Designs

Carl's quilting adventures reemerged around 2006 when he moved to Missouri. That was when he moved from Florida and settled in St. Joseph, Missouri. Prior to that he had quilted a little, embroidered, knitted and crafted. He rediscovered his love of quilting, found wonderful quilt shops and the rest is history.

Carl started to design quilts because he wanted to create something that no one else had done. He wanted to be original. After seeing his quilts at quilt shows, people began asking if patterns were available, so he decided to begin his own quilt pattern company - 3 Dog Design Company. He has published patterns for purchase using the brand.

One day while looking at the LeMoyne Star block, he knew there had to be something that he could do to make it more interesting. The idea kind of hit. It was the merging together of the Rail Fence block with the LeMoyne Star block. When he put them together, he came up with the Stars 'N Strips Block. He has added several patterns and is in the current issue of Fons and Porter Love of Quilting with Swallows of Capistrano pattern.

His lecture will be Color 101 which will include a trunk show. His workshop will be Spinning Stars. This workshop will be great, with no Y-seams to worry about!

President's Notes

by Mayleen Vinson

What's a Luddite, Stealth Member, Hermit Doing Serving as Guild President?!?

I've got to ask myself the same question. Actually, I do know why - my love of quilts is definitely the only thing which will motivate me to get up in front of a group!

I love color, fabric, history, quilts and I especially love to hear stories about why people make quilts. Quilting is my stress reliever, emotion lifter, and it challenges me. Quilting provides me with instant connections and I can and have talked to just about anyone anywhere about quilts.

In my stealth member days, I'd zip in and zip out of guild meetings, I had (still do have) fabric to get back to! My very messy sewing room is my hermit comfort zone which, by the way, will NEVER be on the quilt room tour. Its my happy place. So what's a Luddite? I'll give you a hint, its not a religious denomination, ha. You'll have to look it up in a dictionary.

So this year, I'm going to learn to like technology and learn to enjoy being on stage. I'm going to learn I can't just zip in and zip out, a president's day at guild is a long one. I'm looking forward to serving you as guild president and getting to know you and your quilts!

See you at guild, Mayleen

Library Lines

I love the excitement of starting something new. (That might help to explain why I have so many unfinished projects.) I want to start something new, even when I haven't finished what I'm currently working on. Anyway, I am excited to start this year in the library. It's thrilling to contemplate what the year will bring—all the new books! Tami and I have some ideas for starting something in the library - you'll have to come by at the meeting and check out what we have in store for you this year.

Because this is the beginning of Prairie Quilt Guild's year (2014-2015), I think this is a good time to review the library's policies and procedures and to remind you of what all is available.

WHAT WE HAVE

- Over 1,800 volumes (quilt-related Fiction and Non-fiction).
- Four quilt-related magazine subscriptions
- Quilt-related DVDs
- One game (you guessed it; quilt-related!)
- Online catalog—located on the guild's website; just click on the library button on the left side of the page
- Paper listing of all holdings located in the library next to the computer, which is also available for you to use at the meetings

To use these items, you simply need to follow these outlined procedures:

- Show a current membership card
- Have no outstanding obligations
- Return all borrowed items at the next monthly meeting (there is a $1.00 fine per item, per month)
- Browse our collection online or on the carts at the meeting (titles are arranged alphabetically)

As I was processing some materials to add to our collection, I read an article in the October/November 2014 issue of Quilter's Newsletter that you may be interested in reading. The article is entitled, "My Word" by Debbie Caffrey. She gives instructions on how to use Microsoft Word to draw and design quilts. Say good-bye to graph paper and complicated computer programs for designing quilts.

Now you can use Word on your computer to do the same thing. Her instructions sound easy to follow so, if you are interested in designing your own quilts, this may be an article that you will want to read.

Come by the library and check out the guild's copy of the magazine. I know I said that I like to start something new, but I'm not sure I'm up for starting on the designing aspect yet. If you try Debbie's method on Word, let me know if it is as simple as it seems.

QuiltTech

Since I'm a Luddite, it may seem a little odd that I'm writing this first quilt technology article but I've learned to let technology help me quilt!

My favorite quilting tech item is Robert Kaufman's "The Quilter's Little Helper – Essential Quilting Calculator" app on my iPhone. (Android version also available) For years, Shirley Binder would figure out how much backing I needed but, after she sold her shop, I realized how math challenged I am and quickly found this app.

Its free to download and has eight different calculators. I use the Backing and Batting Calculator and the Binding Calculator the most. After entering the width of fabric and quilt dimensions, the calculator determines the amount of yardage I need for backing. I confess I also draw it out on paper to see if I can reduce the amount of fabric needed by piecing the backing. The Binding Calculator will compute for both bias and regular binding.

I almost always have my phone with me so if I unexpectedly find fabric I need, I can use my calculator app to figure out how much fabric to purchase. Who am I kidding? I use the calculators on a regular basis and not just when I "unexpectedly" find fabric!

Mayleen Vinson

Guild members will be sharing their favorite quilting technology with us throughout the year in this column.

Prison Quilters

Many of our members have donated fabric to the quilting project at the El Dorado Correction Facility and now that project has grown to include the Oswego location as well. They have completed over 100 quilts that will be given to the Red Cross as comfort quilts for winter disasters.

The population at the prisons are creating other crafts, including wheat weaving, but the quilting allows them to also donate their efforts to a worthwhile charity. This project is a win-win for all who are involved. Watch for an article in the Wichita Eagle in the future.

Old Cowtown Fair 2014

It will soon be time for the Old Cowtown Fair, and we have been invited to set up a quilting bee demonstration on Friday, October 3 from 9:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m.

Craftsmen from throughout the area will join Cowtown's own historical interpreters to recreate the excitement of a 19th century county fair. This is a wonderful opportunity for us to share our quilting heritage with the community and to educate children about quilting.

Whether or not you have experience hand quilting on a frame, come and join us for our bee. Wear your pioneer costume if you have one.

If you would like to volunteer a couple of hours on Friday, October 3, please contact Nancy Wyant at 573-7964. You will receive free admission to the fair and lunch will be served to our volunteers.

The August/September Quilters Newsletter included an article on page 12 entitled Indiana Heritage Quilt Show. Jan Hutchison is mentioned for having won a couple of awards and "Gail Stepenek of New Lenox, Illinois, won best of show bed quilt and first place pieced bed quilts for Stars on Mars, which was machine quilted by Jan Hutchison of Sedgwick, Kansas."

Young Fair Award Winner

Eleven-year-old Raimi Carroll's quilt "25¢ Jar Quilt" won 2nd place in the "Quilt by More Than One Person" category at the Sedgwick County Fair last month. Raimi was mentored by PQG member and grandmother, Cathy Carroll. Cathy helped with directions and cutting, Raimi did all the piecing, and Evelyn Gernaat did the machine-quilting of Raimi's quilt.

Raimi also received the State Fair Best Beginners Quilt, Youth Division with her quilt!

Quilt Camp Student -

Quilting for Charity

Freema Covey, Sue Gilliam, Dean Ann Shelton, and Mitzi Sullivan are proud to announce that one of their students is using her newly-gained quilting skills to help abandoned children in Kenya, Africa. Young Kennedy Putnam is making and selling pillowcases that she learned to make at the PQG Kids Camp. Last year she earned $137 for "Cindy's Hope," a charitable organization caring for children in Africa. This year she plans to earn the money for the charity by selling pillowcases through Facebook.

If anyone in our guild would like to make a few pillowcases to donate to her cause, please let Freema, Sue, Dean Ann, or Mitzi know at our next guild meeting.
