FF 1 What this subpart does

What this subpart does

- (1) This subpart applies to restrict the conduit tax relief that a company has under sections LQ 1 to LQ 4 (which relate to conduit tax relief) or section RG 7 (Reduction of payments for conduit tax relief) by limiting the amount of interest expenditure that may be apportioned to the company's New Zealand operations, and apportioning the excess to conduit investments.

Structure of subpart

- (2) This subpart sets out—
  - (a) the companies to which the interest apportionment rule applies:
  - (b) the thresholds for the application of the rule:

- (c) how to identify the companies that are part of a company's foreign attributed interest group (the foreign group):
- (d) the formulas for the calculation of—
  - (i) the debt percentage of a New Zealand foreign group:
  - (ii) the debt percentage of a consolidated foreign group:
  - (iii) the amount of excess interest to be allocated against foreign attributed income:

FF 2 When interest apportionment rule applies

The interest apportionment rule in this subpart applies to a company (the conduit company) for an income year if—

- (a) the conduit company is a foreign dividend payment account (FDPA) company or a conduit tax relief (CTR) company, and is not a member of a New Zealand banking group for a registered bank; and
- (b) in the income year, the conduit company—
  - (i) derives foreign attributed income; or
  - (ii) is paid a dividend from which the company must pay FDP, or would be required to do so in the absence of section RG 7 (Reduction of payments for conduit tax relief); and
- (c) the threshold test in section FF 4 is met.

Defined in this Act: amount, company, conduit company, CTR company, dividend, FDP, FDPA company, foreign attributed income, income year, interest, New Zealand banking group, pay, registered bank

Compare: 2004 No 35 s FH 1(1)

FF 3 Steps required to determine treatment of excessive interest expenditure

The following steps are required to determine if a conduit company has an excessive amount of interest expenditure apportioned to its New Zealand operations, and how the amount is to be treated:

- (a) step 1: identify the members of the conduit company's New Zealand foreign group, see section FF 8:
- (b) step 2: calculate the debt percentage of the New Zealand foreign group, see section FF 9:
- (c) step 3: if the debt percentage is more than 66%, and the conduit company chooses to make the calculation, calculate the debt percentage of its consolidated foreign group, see section FF 10:
- (d) step 4: determine whether an excess amount of interest expenditure exists, see section FF 5:
- (e) step 5: determine the conduit company's share of the excess amount of interest expenditure for inclusion in the formula in section LQ 1(2) (Tax credits of CTR companies) reducing the tax credit for conduit tax relief, see section FF 6:
- (f) step 6: use any surplus amount to adjust the amount of the conduit company's foreign dividends by treating the company as having an additional amount of income and a debit in its CTR account, see section FF 7.

Defined in this Act: amount, company, conduit company, CTR account, dividend, foreign dividend, foreign group, income, interest, New Zealand, tax credit

Interest apportionment rule

FF 4 Threshold for application of interest apportionment rule

When interest apportionment rule applies

- (1) The interest apportionment rule in this subpart applies for an income year only if—

  - (b) the debt percentage of a conduit company's New Zealand foreign group, as determined under sections FF 9 and FF 10, for the income year is more than 66%.

Determination of threshold amount

- (2) The amount of conduit tax relief referred to in subsection (1)(a) is the sum of the tax credits under sections LQ 1 to LQ 4 (which relate to conduit tax relief) and reductions in FDP

under section RG 7 (Reduction of payments for conduit tax relief) that—

- (a) the company has for the income year, for reductions in FDP, or the corresponding tax year, for tax credits under sections LQ 1 to LQ 4 as a CTR company, or would have if it were a CTR company; and
- (b) all companies associated with the company have for the income year, for reductions in FDP, or the corresponding tax year, for tax credits under sections LQ 1 to LQ 4 as CTR companies, or would have if they were CTR companies.

Calculation

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2), the calculation of each credit is made as if item excess interest allocation in the formula in section LQ 1(2) (Tax credits of CTR companies) were zero.

Defined in this Act: amount, associated person, company, conduit company, CTR company, FDP, foreign group, interest, New Zealand, tax credit, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s FH 1

FF 5 Determination of excess amount of interest expenditure of group

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies to determine whether a group of companies has an excess amount of interest expenditure in an income year.

Formula

$$\text{interest expenditure} \times \frac{\text{NZ foreign group debt percentage} - \text{relief debt percentage}}{\text{NZ foreign group debt percentage}}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula, —
  - (a) interest expenditure is the total amount of deductions for interest under any of sections DB 6 to DB 8 (which relate to deductions for interest) as modified by section FE 6 (Apportionment of interest by excess debt entity) or section FZ 2 (Effect of specified lease on lessor and lessee), that members of the company's foreign group at the end of the income year are allowed for the income year, excluding—

- (i) any amount payable to another company in the foreign group; and
  - (ii) any amount for a financial arrangement excluded, when sections FF 9 and FF 10 are applied, as a result of the rules in section FE 15 (Total group debt):
- (b) NZ foreign group debt percentage is the debt percentage of the company's New Zealand foreign group for the income year calculated under section FF 9:
- (c) relief debt percentage is the greatest of the following:

  - (iii) the debt percentage of the consolidated foreign group for the income year under section FF 10, if the conduit company chooses to make the modified calculation described in that section.

Negative result

- (4) If the result of the formula is negative, it is treated as zero.

Defined in this Act: amount, company, conduit company, deduction, financial arrangement, foreign group, group of companies, interest, income year, New Zealand, pay, total group assets

Compare: 2004 No 35 s FH 5

FF 6 Conduit tax relief

The result is included as an item in the formula in section LQ 1(2) (Tax credits of CTR companies) that determines the company's tax credit for conduit tax relief.

Conduit company's share: formula

- (2) The conduit company's share of an excess amount of interest expenditure for an income year is calculated using the formula—
- $$\left( \text{foreign income} - \frac{\text{company credits}}{\text{tax rate}} \right) \times \text{apportionment percentage.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (3) In the formula in subsection (2),—

Adjustments

- (2) This section provides for an adjustment to the amount of a conduit company's foreign dividends, and for an amount of income derived by the company and a debit arising in its CTR account through the following calculations that determine:

$$\frac{\text{company FDP} \times \text{surplus percentage}}{\text{tax rate.}}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (6) In the formula in subsection (5),—

- (a) company FDP is the total amount of FDP—
  - (i) calculated after taking into account an amount of a loss balance that the company chooses to use to satisfy a liability to pay some or all of the payment of FDP under section RG 6 (Using loss balances) but before taking into account a reduction in liability under section RG 7; and

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies to determine the debt percentage of a New Zealand foreign group for an income year.

Total group debt divided by total group assets

- (2) The debt percentage of a conduit company's New Zealand foreign group is found by dividing the amount of total group debt by the amount of total group assets of the group for the income year, applying, as relevant, sections FE 3, FE 8, FE 10(1), FE 11 to FE 16, FE 25 to FE 28 and FE 30 (which relate to the thin capitalisation rules), as if the conduit company were an excess debt entity calculating the debt percentage of their New Zealand group.

Formula

- (3) For the purposes of this section, the amount that is the total group assets of the New Zealand foreign group as determined under section FE 16 (Total group assets) is reduced by the sum of the amounts calculated for each member of the group using the formula—

$$\begin{aligned} & \text{percentage of non-resident shareholders} \\ & \times (\text{CFC rights} + \text{FIF interests}). \end{aligned}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (4) In the formula,—
- (a) percentage of non-resident shareholders is either,—
- (i) for a member receiving conduit tax relief through a tax credit under section LQ 1 (Tax credits of CTR companies), the percentage of that member's non-resident shareholders used to calculate the amount of the credit under section LQ 1(2); or
  - (ii) for a member receiving conduit tax relief through a reduction in FDP under section RG 7 (Reduction of payments for conduit tax relief), the average of the percentages of that member's non-resident shareholders used to calculate the amount of the reduction under section RG 7(1):
- (b) CFC rights is the total value of the rights that the member has in a controlled foreign company (CFC) that—
- (i) are determined under section FE 16 at the relevant measurement date; and

- (c) FIF interests is the total value of interests that the member has in a foreign investment fund (FIF) that—
- (i) are determined under section FE 16 at the relevant measurement date; and
  - (ii) in relation to which they determine their FIF income or FIF loss under the accounting profits method or the branch equivalent method.

Modifications in certain circumstances

- (5) For the purposes of this section, if the conduit company and each company in the same New Zealand group are the company's foreign group under section FF 8(2), the following modifications apply:
- (a) sections FE 26 to FE 30 (which relate to the identification of members of a New Zealand group) do not apply:
  - (b) the group of companies referred to in section FE 14 (Consolidation of debts and assets) is the group identified under section FF 8(2):
  - (c) section FE 8(2) (Measurement dates) applies as if the company were the New Zealand parent.

Defined in this Act: accounting period, accounting profits method, amount, attributed CFC income, attributed CFC loss, branch equivalent method, CFC, company, conduit company, dividend, excess debt entity, FDP, FIF, FIF income, FIF loss, foreign group, group of companies, income year, New Zealand, non-resident, pay, shareholder, tax credit, total group assets, total group debt

Compare: 2004 No 35 s FH 3

FF 10 Calculating debt percentage of consolidated foreign groupsWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies when the debt percentage of a New Zealand foreign group for an income year is more than the threshold percentage set out in section FF 4(1)(b) to determine whether, on a consolidated basis, a higher threshold for the application of the interest apportionment rule is justified.

Conduit company's election

- (2) If the debt percentage of a conduit company's New Zealand foreign group for an income year is more than 66%, the company may choose to calculate the debt percentage of its consolidated foreign group under section FF 9, as modified by subsection (3).

Modifications

- (3) For the purposes of the consolidated calculation,—
- (a) the assets of the group exclude all income interests in a CFC or FIF in a country that is not included in the grey list, calculated under the accounting profits or branch equivalent method:

- (b) the debts and assets of a CFC or FIF are consolidated with the foreign group if, for the accounting period in which the relevant measurement date under section FE 8(1) (Measurement dates) falls,—
  - (i) the foreign group holds total income interests of 40% or more in a CFC; or
  - (ii) the foreign group would be treated under section EX 8 (Income interests: total of direct and indirect interests) if the FIF were a CFC as holding total income interests of 40% or more in the FIF:
- (c) a percentage of the debts and assets of a CFC or FIF equal to the total percentage income interest of the foreign group in the CFC or FIF is consolidated with the foreign group if, for the accounting period in which the relevant measurement date under section FE 8(1) falls,—
  - (i) the foreign group holds total income interests of 5% or more but less than 40% in a CFC; or
  - (ii) the foreign group would be treated under section EX 8 if the FIF were a CFC as holding total income interests of 5% or more but less than 40% in the FIF.

Accounting practice

- (4) A consolidation under this section is made as if the CFC or FIF were a member of the foreign group using—
  - (a) generally accepted accounting practice for consolidation of a group of companies for the elimination of intra-group balances; and
  - (b) the values shown in the financial accounts for the accounting period calculated according to a financial reporting standard that is equivalent to generally accepted accounting practice.

Defined in this Act: accounting period, accounting profits method, branch equivalent method, CFC, company, conduit company, FIF, foreign group, generally accepted accounting practice, grey list, group of companies, income interest, income year, interest, New Zealand

Compare: 2004 No 35 ss FH 3(1), FH 4

FF 11 Changes in foreign group membership

A temporary change in membership of a conduit company's foreign group is disregarded in making the calculations in section FF 7 if a purpose or effect of the change is to defeat the intent and application of the section.

Defined in this Act: conduit company, foreign group

Returns and assessment by consolidated group

FO 8 Bad debts and expenditure or loss on resident's restricted amalgamation

    - (i) amortising property in section FO 16:
    - (ii) land in section FO 17.

Property passing

- (3) The amalgamating company is treated as having disposed of the property immediately before the amalgamation. The passing of ownership is treated as a disposal of the property by the amalgamating company and an acquisition of the property by the amalgamated company.

Timing and consideration

- (4) Unless subsections (5) or (6) apply, the amalgamated company is treated as having acquired the property on the date on which the amalgamating company acquired it for an amount that is the sum of—
  - (a) the price paid for the property; and
  - (b) any expenditure incurred in buying or improving the property; and

- (c) any expenditure incurred in securing or improving the amalgamating company's legal rights to the property.

Trading stock

- (5) If the property is trading stock for both the amalgamating company and the amalgamated company, the consideration for the disposal and acquisition is taken as the value of the trading stock to the amalgamating company determined under subpart EB (Valuation of trading stock (including dealer's livestock)) at the time of the amalgamation.

Revenue account property

- (6) If the property is revenue account property of the amalgamating company but not revenue account property of the amalgamated company, the consideration for the disposal and acquisition is taken as the market value of the property at the time of the amalgamation. But this subsection does not apply to land that is revenue account property merely because of the 10-year rule in sections CB 9 to CB 11 and CB 14 (which relate to the disposal of land), in which case section FO 17(3) may apply.

Depreciation loss

- (7) An amalgamating company is allowed a deduction under section DV 15(3) (Amalgamated companies: property passing on resident's restricted amalgamation) for an amount of depreciation loss for property transferred to the amalgamated company for the period beginning on the first day of the income year of amalgamation and ending on the day before the date of the amalgamation.

- value of the property at the time of the amalgamation; and
- (b) the amalgamated company is treated as having acquired the property at that market value.

Relationship with section EE 41

- (2) Section EE 41 (Transfer of depreciable property on certain amalgamations on or after 14 May 2002) overrides this section for the purposes of determining the cost of an item to an amalgamated company, unless the context requires otherwise.

  - (b) for the whole of the income year before the amalgamation, the amalgamating company and the amalgamated company were part of the same wholly-owned group of companies; and
  - (c) the method of calculating income and expenditure from the financial arrangement does not change after the amalgamation, and the amalgamated company's return of income for the corresponding tax year is made on this basis; and
  - (d) sections IA 3 to IA 6 and subpart ID (which relate to tax losses of companies and consolidated groups) do not apply to allow the amalgamating company to carry a loss balance forward from an earlier tax year for use in the tax year corresponding to the income year unless section IE 2 (Treatment of tax losses by amalgamating company) applies when the tax losses are those of the consolidated group.

  - (b) section FO 12 does not apply.

Calculating base price adjustment

- (2) The amalgamating company is treated as having disposed of the financial arrangement. Value: all pool property

- (2) If the amortising property forms the whole of a pool of property of the amalgamating company that is depreciated under sections EE 20 to EE 24 (which relate to depreciation under the pool method), the consideration for the disposal and acquisition is taken as the adjusted tax value of the pool immediately before the amalgamation.

Value: part pool property

- (3) If the amortising property forms part of a pool of property of the amalgamating company that is depreciated under sections EE 20 to EE 24, the consideration for the disposal and acquisition is taken as the lesser of—

  - (b) the adjusted tax value of the pool immediately before the amalgamation.

Deductions for depreciation loss

- (4) If the amortising property is other than pool property of the amalgamating company, the amalgamated company is treated as having been allowed the deduction that the amalgamating

- (1) This section applies when land belonging to an amalgamating company passes to the amalgamated company on a resident's restricted amalgamation.

Disposal at market value

- (2) If the land is not revenue account property of the amalgamating company, but the disposal of the land would give rise to income for the amalgamated company under any of sections CB 6 to CB 14 (which relate to the disposal of land), the amalgamating company is treated as having disposed of the land to the amalgamated company at the market value of the land at the date of the amalgamation.

Disposal of land within 10-year period

Financial arrangement discharged

- (2) The financial arrangement is, for the purposes of section EW 31 (Base price adjustment formula), treated as having been discharged immediately before the amalgamation. The consideration for the discharge is,—
- (a) on a resident's restricted amalgamation, the amalgamating company's outstanding accrued balance for the financial arrangement, see section FO 19; or
  - (b) on an amalgamation other than a resident's restricted amalgamation or when the borrowing company is insolvent, the market value of the financial arrangement on the date of the amalgamation.

Amounts remitted

- (3) An amount outstanding under a financial arrangement is not regarded as remitted merely because it is treated as discharged under subsection (2). However, for these purposes, an amalgamated company is treated as having remitted an amount equal to the excess over market value of the outstanding accrued balance for the financial arrangement, see section FO 20.

When borrower insolvent

- (4) If an amalgamating company that is the borrower under the arrangement is insolvent and is unlikely to be able to meet its obligations under the arrangement, the company is treated as having paid to the other party to the arrangement in consideration for the discharge an amount that is the market value of the financial arrangement on the date of the amalgamation. A company is treated as insolvent if it does not meet the solvency test in section 4 in the Companies Act 1993. This subsection overrides subsection (2)(b).

Defined in this Act: amalgamated company, amalgamating company, amalgamation, amount, company, consideration, financial arrangement, market value, resident's restricted amalgamation

FO 19 Calculation of outstanding accrued balance: consideration for discharge

Formula

- (1) In section FO 18(2)(a), the outstanding accrued balance is calculated using the formula—

Definition of items in formula

- (2) In the formula,—
- (a) consideration is the consideration paid to the amalgamating company under the financial arrangement:
  - (b) prior expenditure is the expenditure that the amalgamating company incurs less the income that it derives from the financial arrangement calculated under either a spreading method or section EW 53 (Adjustment required) in all income years other than the current income year from the time the financial arrangement was entered into:
  - (c) expenditure accrued in year is the expenditure that the amalgamating company accrues from the financial arrangement for the period from the first day of the income year in which the amalgamation occurs to the date of the amalgamation, calculated either—
    - (i) if the amalgamating company was party to the financial arrangement in an earlier income year, using the spreading method it used to calculate income and expenditure under the financial arrangement in the income year; or
    - (ii) using a spreading method that the amalgamating company chooses, if the method could have been used if the income year had ended immediately before the amalgamation:

- (d) income accrued in year is the income that the amalgamating company accrues from the financial arrangement for the period described in paragraph (c) and calculated as described in that paragraph:
- (e) consideration paid is the consideration that the amalgamating company pays for the financial arrangement before the date of the amalgamation.

LeasesFZ 2 Effect of specified lease on lessor and lesseeLease treated as sale

- (1) The leasing of a personal property lease asset under a specified lease is treated as a sale of the asset, made at the start of the term of the lease, by the lessor to the lessee. The lessee is treated as having incurred, through the sale, capital expenditure of an amount equal to the cost price of the asset.

Loan applied to finance acquisition of asset

- (2) A lessor under a specified lease is treated as having advanced to the lessee a loan of an amount equal to the cost price of the personal property lease asset. The lessee is treated as having applied the loan in the financing of the acquisition of the asset.

No deduction

- (3) A lessor under a specified lease is denied a deduction under section DZ 14(2) (Deductions under specified leases) for an amount of depreciation loss for the personal property lease asset.

Asset sold to lessor

- (4) At the end of the term of a specified lease, if the personal property lease asset is not acquired by the lessee under the terms of the lease or in the exercise of an option under the lease, the asset is treated as sold at the end of the term of the lease to the lessor for—
- (a) an amount equal to the guaranteed residual value, if any, set out for the asset in the lease; or
  - (b) if no guaranteed residual value is set out in the lease, no consideration.

Treatment when lease terminated

- (5) If a specified lease is terminated before the term of the lease ends, whether by cancellation, surrender, or otherwise,—
- (a) the personal property lease asset relating to the lease is treated as sold on the date of the termination to the lessor by the lessee at a price equal to the amount by which the amount of the outstanding balance, at the time of termination, of a loan advance by the lessor to the lessee is more than the amount or the sum of the amounts payable by the lessee to the lessor in consideration for the release by the lessor of the lessee from the obligations of the lessee under the lease:
  - (b) despite paragraph (a), if, in relation to the amount of the outstanding balance and the amount or the sum of the amounts payable by the lessee to the lessor, no excess arises, the asset is treated as having been sold for no consideration:
  - (c) if the value of the consideration payable by the lessee to the lessor in relation to the termination is more than the amount of the outstanding balance, at the time of termination, of a loan advanced by the lessor to the lessee, an amount equal to the amount of the excess is treated as income derived by the lessor in the income year in which the lease is terminated.

Subsequent sale, assignment, or lease

- (6) If, on or after the end of the term of a specified lease, the personal property lease asset relating to the lease is sold, assigned, or leased under a specified lease by the lessor to another person, and the value of the consideration on the sale, assignment, or lease—
- (a) is more than the amount determined for the first specified lease under subsection (4), the amount determined is increased by a further amount that is equal to the part, if any, of the excess paid by the lessor to the lessee:
  - (b) is less than the amount determined for the first specified lease under subsection (4)(a), and the lessee is required to make a further payment to the lessor equal to the difference between the guaranteed residual value for the lease value, and the value of the consideration, the amount determined is reduced by the amount of the further payment.

Consideration more than amount determined under subsection (4)

- (7) Despite subsection (6), if the value of the consideration on the sale, assignment, or lease is more than the amount determined under subsection (4), the part, if any, of the excess that is not paid to the lessee is treated as income under section CZ 20 (Disposal of personal property lease asset under specified lease).

Associated persons

- (8) If the lessee under a specified lease, or another person who is associated with the lessee, at any time acquires the personal property lease asset, and disposes of the asset, and the value of the consideration for the disposal is more than the value of the consideration for which the lessee or other person acquired it, an amount equal to the excess is income under section CZ 20.

Meaning of outstanding balance

- (9) In this section, and in section FZ 3, outstanding balance means the amount calculated using the formula—(loans advanced + interest payable) – instalments.

Definition of items in formula

- (2) The amount of interest derived under subsection (1) is treated as—
- (a) during the term of the lease, derived during the initial period and each instalment period, an amount that is calculated either,—
    - (i) on the outstanding balance for the initial period, and each instalment period, at such a rate and in such a manner that the aggregate of all of the amounts so calculated is equal to the amount first mentioned in paragraph (b); or
    - (ii) for the initial period and each instalment period, under such other method commonly applied in commercial usage as, having regard to the term of the lease and to the frequency of the personal property lease payments, results in the allocation to that initial period and to each instalment period of an amount that is fair and reasonable and results in the sum of all amounts so allocated being equal to the amount first mentioned in paragraph (b):
  - (b) in relation to the term of the lease, an amount that is equal to the sum of the personal property lease payments under the specified lease and the amount of the guaranteed residual value, if any, under the specified lease, reduced by the cost price of the personal property lease asset.

Calculation for income year

- (3) The interest derived by a lessor is, for an income year, treated as an amount equal to the sum of the amounts calculated under subsection (2)(a) as calculated for the initial period, if any, and each instalment period that ends in the income year.

Order of elements of distribution

- (2) The distribution is treated as consisting of the following elements in the following order:

  - (b) second, an amount of income, other than beneficiary income, that the trustee has derived in an earlier income year:
  - (c) third, an amount that the trustee derives in the income year from the realisation of a capital asset of the trust or another capital gain:

Transactions that are not genuine

- (5) In the determination of the elements of a distribution to a beneficiary (beneficiary A), no amount of income or capital gain derived by the trustee of the trust is treated as distributed to another beneficiary of the trust (beneficiary B) if the effect is that some or all of the distribution to beneficiary A would be treated as not being a taxable distribution, unless the distribution to beneficiary B meets all the following requirements:
- (a) it is a genuine transaction entered into and carried out in good faith; and
  - (b) it places the amount beyond the possession and control of the trustee in their capacity as trustee; and
  - (c) it does not itself constitute a settlement.

Exclusions: terms of trust

- (6) This section does not apply to the following distributions which are instead treated as consisting of the amount that reflects the terms of the trust or the terms of the exercise of the trustee's discretion:
- (a) a distribution by the trustee of a complying trust which is treated as exempt income under section CW 53 (Distributions from complying trusts), unless an election to pay income tax on trustee income has been made for the purposes of section HZ 2 (Trusts that may become complying trusts); or

  - (b) a charitable trust loses its charitable status, section HC 13.

- (2) The relevant companies must reduce the amounts they subtracted either in the way company A allocates under subsection (3) or, if no allocation is made, proportionately under subsection (4).

Company A's allocation

- (3) Company A may choose how the amount by which the total must be reduced is allocated between or among the companies. But if company A allocates an amount to a company that is no longer part of the group at the time of the allocation, and the amount is more than a proportionate amount, the allocation is disregarded. Subsection (6) sets out the notice requirements for this subsection.

Proportionate amounts

- (4) If company A does not allocate the amounts by which the total must be reduced, the amounts subtracted by the group companies are reduced in the same proportion as that by which the total amount was reduced in determining the actual total tax loss.

Subvention payments

- (5) If the reduction results in a payment under section IC 5(2)(b) being treated as a dividend, the dividend is reduced to the extent to which the payment is repaid by company A within the notification period referred to in subsection (6).

Notifying Commissioner

- (6) For the purposes of subsections (3) and (5), company A must notify the Commissioner of the allocation within 6 months after the date on which the Commissioner notifies company A that the reduction is required. However, the Commissioner may agree to extend this notification period.

IC 12 Bad debts or decline in value of sharesWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies to companies that are part of a group of companies in the tax year of deduction and in later tax years if—
- (a) a company other than company A in the group has a deduction under section DB 31 (Bad debts) for a bad debt or a decline in the value of shares; and
  - (b) the amount of the debt or the payment for the subscription of the shares has been taken into account in calculating company A's tax loss for a tax year; and
  - (c) the relevant tax year in which the deduction is made is the 1993–94 tax year or a later tax year.

No additions to loss balances

- (2) The amount of the tax loss cannot be added to the loss balance, except to the extent to which the tax loss is more than the total amount of the deduction.

Determining decline in value of shares

- (3) For the purposes of this section, shares are treated as declining in value if,—
- (a) on the disposal of the shares, the amount for which they were disposed of is less than the deduction for the cost of the shares; or

- (b) when the shares have not been disposed of, their value as calculated under subpart EB (Valuation of trading stock (including dealer's livestock)) or otherwise declines.

ID 1 Treatment of tax losses by consolidated groups

Consolidated group's net losses

- (1) A tax loss of a consolidated group of companies is treated as the consolidated group's tax loss, not the tax loss of a company that is part of the consolidated group. Subparts IA and IC (which relate to the general use and grouping of tax losses), as modified by this subpart, apply as if the consolidated group were 1 company.

Ring-fenced tax losses

- (2) Nothing in this subpart applies to a consolidated group whose companies are mining companies.

Defined in this Act: company, consolidated group, mining company, tax loss

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 6(1A)–(3)

ID 2 Pre-consolidation losses: general treatment

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies in a tax year when a company that meets the requirements of section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward) and is part of a consolidated group has a pre-consolidation loss balance carried forward to the tax year.

First use

- (2) The first use of the loss balance must be to make the amount of the loss balance available to the consolidated group to subtract from its net income, so far as it extends, for the tax year.

Second use

- (3) If, after subsection (2) is applied, some of the loss balance remains, the company may choose to do 1 or more of the following:
- (a) subtract the remaining amount from its net income for the tax year:
  - (b) make the remaining amount available to another consolidated group to subtract from its net income for the tax year:
  - (c) make the remaining amount available under section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss).

Third use

- (4) If, after subsections (2) and (3) are applied, a loss balance remains, the remaining amount is carried forward to the next tax year.

Relationship with sections IA 3, IA 4, IC 5, and provisions in this subpart

- (5) This section overrides sections IA 3, IA 4, and IC 5 (which relate to the general use and grouping of tax losses). Sections ID 3 to ID 5 override this section.

Defined in this Act: amount, company, consolidated group, net income, loss balance, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 6(4), (6), (7)

ID 3 Pre-consolidation losses: use by group companiesWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies in a tax year if—
- (a) a company (company A) that is part of a consolidated group has a loss balance to which section ID 2 applies; and
  - (b) the company was, in the continuity period relating to the loss balance, part of the same group of companies as 1 or more companies that are in the consolidated group in the tax year in which the loss balance is used.

Limit on amount available

- (2) The amount made available under section ID 2(2) to the consolidated group is limited as follows:
- (a) if all the companies, including company A, in the consolidated group meet the requirements of section IC 6(1) (Common ownership for period): the amount available is limited to the amount of the loss balance to the extent of the net income of the consolidated group for the tax year:
  - (b) if some of the companies in the consolidated group meet the requirements of section IC 6(1): the amount available is limited to the total of—
    - (i) the amount that company A could subtract from its net income for the tax year if it were not in the tax year part of a consolidated group; and
    - (ii) the amount that could be made available under section IC 5 (Company B using company A's tax loss) to the other group companies in the tax year, ignoring the consolidation of the companies and presuming all steps required under section IC 5 were taken in order for the section to apply.

Relationship with section FM 3

- (3) In subsection (2), the calculation of the consolidated group's net income must be made in accordance with section FM 3 (Liability of consolidated groups and group companies).

Relationship with section ID 2

- (4) This section overrides section ID 2.

Defined in this Act: amount, company, consolidated group, continuity period, group of companies, loss balance, net income, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 6(6)

ID 4 Pre-consolidation losses on entry: part-year ruleWhen this section applies*

- (1) This section applies if a company that is part of a consolidated group has a loss balance to which section ID 2 applies in a tax year when the company joins the consolidated group.

Limit on amount available

- (2) The amount of the loss balance to be made available to the consolidated group under section ID 2(2) is the lesser of the amount the company establishes in financial statements under subsection (3), or the amount calculated using the formula in subsection (4), but in either case, it must not be more than the limit set out in section ID 3(2).

Financial statements

- (3) The company may establish the amount to be made available by providing the Commissioner, at the time of providing the consolidated group's return of income, with adequate financial statements that—
- (a) relate to the part of the tax year when the company was part of the consolidated group; and
  - (b) disclose the amount that would be the net income attributable to the part of the tax year when the company was part of the consolidated group, determined on a fair and reasonable basis of attribution.

Formula

- (4) The amount that may be made available under section ID 2(2) and referred to in subsection (2) is calculated using the formula—

$$\frac{\text{unused amount}}{\text{part-year net income} + \text{part-year net loss}}.$$

Definition of items in formula

- (5) In the formula,—
- (a) unused amount is the loss balance carried forward from an earlier tax year or years that would be subtracted from the consolidated group's net income for the tax year in the absence of section ID 3 or this section;
  - (b) part-year net income is the company's net income for the part of the tax year before the company joins the consolidated group;
  - (c) part-year net loss is the amount of a pre-consolidation tax loss that must be subtracted under section ID 2 from the net income of another consolidated group of which the company was part in the tax year before joining the consolidated group referred to in subsection (1).

Relationship with section ID 2

- (6) This section overrides section ID 2.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, company, consolidated group, loss balance, net income, return of income, tax loss, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s IG 6(7)

ID 5 Pre-consolidation losses on exit: part-year rule

When this section applies

- (1) This section applies if a company that is part of a consolidated group has a loss balance to which section ID 2 applies in a tax year when the company leaves the consolidated group.

Limit on amount available

- (2) In addition to the amount available under section IP 3(3) (Continuity breach: tax loss components of companies carried forward) but subject to the limit in section ID 3(2), the amount of the company's loss balance that is carried forward to the tax year must be no more than the consolidated group's net income for the relevant part of the tax year. For part-year calculations, see subpart IP (Meeting requirements for part-years).

Financial statements

- (3) The consolidated group must provide the Commissioner with adequate financial statements that disclose the amount that would be the consolidated group's net income for the relevant part of the tax year, determined on a fair and reasonable basis of attribution. The statements must be filed with the consolidated group's return of income for the tax year.

Continuity requirements

- (4) For the purposes of this section, the company must meet the threshold level set out in section IC 2(1) (Threshold levels for grouping tax losses in tax year) for the relevant part of the tax year.

Relationship with section ID 2

- (5) This section overrides section ID 2.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, company, consolidated group, loss balance, net income, return of income, tax year

Loss balances carried forward

- (2) If the requirements of sections IA 5, IC 2, and IC 5 (which relate to the use and grouping of tax losses) are met, the amalgamated company's loss balance is carried forward to the tax year in which the amalgamation takes place or to a later tax year.

Attributed CFC net losses and FIF net losses

The provisions of this Act apply as if the amalgamated company did not exist separately before amalgamation, and was instead the amalgamating companies with the same holders of shares and options over shares, each with the same number and class of shares and options over shares, as they held in the amalgamating company, to determine whether a tax loss or loss balance,—

- (a) may be used or is carried forward under sections IA 3 and IA 4 (which relate to the general use of tax losses):

FIF net losses

- (4) If the amount is a FIF net loss, it may be used only to the extent to which it is no more than the FIF income that the consolidated group derives in the tax year from a FIF resident in the country in which the loss arose.

Second use

- (5) If, after applying subsection (2), some of the amount remains, the company may—

  - (b) the amount of ring-fenced tax loss that the company could group with other companies in the group under section IC 5, and section IQ 4 or IQ 5, as applicable, determining—
    - (i) the net income for each of the companies using the group's calculation of each company's net income; and

  - (b) the amount that would be the group's net income for the part of the tax year in which the company was part of the consolidated group, established by giving the Commissioner, at the time of providing the group's return of income for the tax year, adequate financial statements that—

  - (b) has a loss balance carried forward to a later tax year.

Using loss balances

- (2) The company may subtract the amount of the loss balance from its net income for the later tax year, even though the continuity of ownership required under section IA 5 (Restrictions on companies' loss balances carried forward) is broken or is treated as absent under section GB 3 (Arrangements for carrying forward loss balances: companies), but only to the extent set out in subsection (3).

Limit on amount

- (3) The amount subtracted under subsection (2) must be no more than the amount that would be the mining company's net income if its only assessable income for the later tax year were from the mining permit area.

Net losses reduced

- (2) The petroleum miner's tax loss is reduced by the amount of the deduction but only to the extent of the amount of the tax loss. The petroleum miner is then allowed a deduction for the

---

IZ 1 Use of specified activity net losses

Limit on amount

- (1) A person's specified activity net loss that is carried forward to a tax year and subtracted from the person's net income for the tax year must be no more than the sum of the net income for the tax year from the conduct of the same specified activity that gave rise to the net loss and $10,000. If the person makes the net loss available to another person, the maximum amount that can be subtracted by the other person is $10,000.

When person conducts 2 or more specified activities

- (2) For the purposes of subsection (1), if the specified activity net loss arises from the conduct of 2 or more specified activities—
- (a) the amount subtracted from the net income for the tax year must be no more than the lesser of—
    - (i) the sum of the person's specified activity net income from each of the specified activities; and
    - (ii) $10,000; and

- (b) the person may choose by notice which amounts of net income from the specified activities to subtract from their net income.

When 2 or more persons conduct specified activity

- (3) If 2 or more persons conduct a specified activity, this section applies as if every reference to—
  - (a) a person were a reference to each person; and
  - (b) an amount of specified activity net loss attributable to the conduct of the specified activity were a reference to the amount of each person's share of the amount of any joint specified activity net loss for the tax year.

Income from personal exertion and hardship

- (4) The Commissioner may determine that the limit under subsection (1) does not apply, and may increase the amount of specified activity net loss that may be subtracted from a person's net income under that subsection if—
  - (a) the person is engaged mainly in conducting a specified activity as their livelihood, and they derive income from personal exertion that—
    - (i) is derived as a result of the conduct of the specified activity but is not income from the specified activity; and
    - (ii) is made for the purpose of enabling the person to meet expenditure essential for the maintenance of either them and their dependants or for the continuation of the specified activity; and
  - (b) the person, in the opinion of the Commissioner would suffer hardship from the application of subsections (1) to (3).

Relationship with general loss rules

- (5) Subparts IA, IC, ID, IE, and IP (which relate to the general use of tax losses) apply to a specified net loss except to the extent to which subsections (1) to (3) override them.

Established activities excluded

- (6) This section does not apply to a specified activity net loss that relates to an established activity.

Related activities

- (7) A specified activity is related to another specified activity, and is treated as part of the other specified activity, if—
- (a) it is usually conducted in association with and is complementary to the other specified activity that an existing farmer is already conducting; or
  - (b) it is conducted on land that an existing farmer has owned or held under lease, licence, or other agreement for 5 years before the activity is started and—
    - (i) the existing farmer is carrying on the other specified activity immediately before the related activity is started; or
    - (ii) the existing farmer elects by notice in their return of income for the tax year in which they start the activity to have the activity treated as related; or
    - (iii) the Commissioner determines the activity is related.

Modification for specified activity

- (8) If this section would have a more favourable effect if the following words in paragraph (c)(ii) of the definition of specified activity in section YA 1 (Definitions) were omitted, this section applies as if those words were omitted:

“not including crops for which the preparation of the land, the planting and cultivation of the tree or plant, and the harvesting of the crop are accomplished within 12 months”.

When subsections (10) and (11) apply

- (9) Subsections (10) and (11) apply for the purposes of the definition of established activity in subsection (12) when—
- (a) land is transferred under a settlement of relationship property; and
  - (b) the transferor conducted a specified activity on the land as at 1 October 1982, and the conduct of the activity constituted their livelihood or sole source of income; and
  - (c) the transferee conducts the same specified activity on the land.

Treatment of transferee

- (10) The transferee is treated as continuing the specified activity, and that activity is treated as constituting their livelihood and sole source of income.

Date of commencement

- (11) For the purposes of subsection (7), if the transferor was an existing farmer immediately before the date of transfer, the transferee is treated as having acquired the land on the date it was acquired by the transferor. However, if the transferee starts to conduct the same kind of specified activity on the land that the transferor conducted immediately before the date of transfer, the transferee is not treated as having acquired the land on that date.

LJ 1 What this subpart does

When tax credits allowed

- (1) This subpart provides the rules for dividing assessable income from foreign-sourced amounts into segments and allows a tax credit for foreign income tax paid in relation to a segment of that income.

Limited application of rules

- (2) The rules in this subpart apply only when—
  - (a) a person resident in New Zealand derives assessable income that is not derived from New Zealand; and
  - (b) foreign income tax is not paid in a country or territory listed in schedule 27 (Countries and types of income with unrecognised tax) to the extent to which the foreign income tax is paid on the types of income listed in the schedule.

When treated as assessable income

- (3) An amount that would in the absence of section EX 59 (Codes: comparative value method, deemed rate of return method, fair dividend rate method, and cost method) be assessable income of a person in relation to an attributing interest in a foreign investment fund (FIF) for a period is treated as if it were assessable income for the purposes of determining the person's entitlement to a credit under section LJ 2 based on the amount of income to be taken into account in determining item segment in the formula in section LJ 5(2).

Source of dividends

- (4) If a company is not resident in New Zealand, and for the purposes of a law of another territory in relation to which a double tax agreement has been made is resident in that territory, and the law imposes foreign tax, a dividend paid by the company is treated as being derived from a source in that other territory for the purposes of the double tax agreement.

Double tax agreements

- (5) This subpart and sections BH 1 (Double tax agreements) and CD 19(1) (Foreign tax credits and refunds linked to dividends) and section 88 of the Tax Administration Act 1994 as far as they are applicable, and modified as necessary, apply for the purposes of section LJ 2, as if that section were a double tax agreement.

Amount of credit

- (1) A person described in section LJ 1(2)(a) has a tax credit for a tax year for an amount of foreign income tax paid on a segment of foreign-sourced income, determined as if the segment were the net income of the person for the tax year. The amount of the New Zealand tax payable is calculated under section LJ 5.

Limitation on amount of credit

- (2) The amount of the person's credit in subsection (1) must not be more than the person's notional income tax liability calculated under section LJ 5(5).

Amount adjusted

- (3) The amount of the person's credit in subsection (1) may be reduced or increased if either section LJ 6 or LJ 7 applies.

When person both resident in New Zealand and another country

- (4) A person described in section LJ 1(2)(a) who has, because they are a citizen or resident of, or are domiciled in, a foreign country, paid foreign income tax on their assessable income, has a credit under subsection (1). However, the amount of the credit is limited to the amount of foreign income tax that would have been paid in the foreign country if the person were treated as not a citizen or resident of, or domiciled in, that foreign country.

Portfolio tax rate entities and investors in entities

- (5) For a portfolio tax rate entity and an investor in a portfolio tax rate entity, the amount of a tax credit is limited to the extent allowed under subpart HL (Portfolio investment entities).

Compare: 2004 No 35 s LC 1(1)

LJ 4 Meaning of segment of foreign-sourced income

For the purposes of this Part, a person has a segment of foreign-sourced income equal to an amount of assessable income derived from 1 foreign country that comes from 1 source or is of 1 nature.

Defined in this Act: amount, assessable income

Compare: 2004 No 35 s LC 14(1)

- (1) This section provides the rules for calculating the amount of New Zealand tax that relates to a segment of foreign-sourced income of a person.

Calculation for single segment

- (2) If the person has a notional income tax liability of more than zero, the amount of New Zealand tax relating to the segment is calculated using the formula—

$$\frac{(\text{segment} - \text{person's deductions})}{\text{person's net income}} \times \text{notional liability.}$$

- (3) In the formula in subsection (2),—

  - (d) notional liability is the person's notional income tax liability under subsection (5).

Modification to results of formula for single segment

- (4) The amount referred to in subsection (2) is modified if the net income that the person would have if their only income were from their segments of foreign-sourced income for the tax year is greater than their actual net income for the tax year. The result of the calculation in subsection (2) is adjusted for each segment by multiplying the individual amounts by the following ratio:

$$\frac{\text{person's notional income tax liability}}{\text{NZ tax under subsection (2) for all segments.}}$$

Person's notional income tax liability

- (5) For the purposes of this section, a person's notional income tax liability for a tax year is calculated using the formula—
- $$(\text{person's net income} - \text{losses}) \times \text{tax rate.}$$

Definition of items in formula

- (6) In the formula in subsection (5),—
- (a) person's net income is the person's net income for the tax year:
  - (b) losses is an amount of tax loss component that the person has subtracted from their net income under section IA 3 (Using tax losses in tax year) determined before the use of any loss balance carried forward to the tax year:

Introductory provision

LP 1 What this subpart does

Supplementary dividends

- (1) This subpart provides the rules for the treatment of a tax credit for a supplementary dividend. The amount of the credit is determined by reference to an imputation credit attached to a dividend paid by a company to a non-resident. For a credit to arise under this subpart, the company must pay a supplementary dividend, and the amount of the credit is equal to the amount of the supplementary dividend.

Supplementary dividend holding companies

- (2) Some special rules exist for a supplementary dividend holding company that allow a supplementary dividend and a tax credit for a supplementary dividend to pass through a chain of companies.

Defined in this Act: amount, company, dividend, imputation credit, non-resident, pay, supplementary dividend, supplementary dividend holding company, tax credit

Compare: 2004 No 35 s LE 1

Use of credits

LP 2 Tax credits for supplementary dividends

When this section applies

  - (a) a non-resident; or
  - (b) a supplementary dividend holding company that is not part of the same consolidated group as the company.

Amount of credit

- (2) For the year of payment, the company has a tax credit equal to an amount calculated using the formula—

$$\text{attached imputation credit} \times \frac{67}{187}.$$

Definition of item in formula

- (3) In the formula, attached imputation credit is the imputation credit that would, in the absence of this subpart, be attached to the dividend.

Limitation on use of credit

- (4) A company that is a supplementary dividend holding company may choose under section LA 2 or LA 4 (which relate to the satisfaction of the company's income tax liability) to limit the amount of a tax credit for a tax year. The reduced amount must not be less than the amount of supplementary dividends that the company derives for the income year corresponding to the tax year.

Meaning of year of payment

- (5) In this subpart, year of payment means—
- (a) unless paragraph (b) applies, the tax year corresponding to the income year in which the company pays the dividend:
  - (b) if the company and the supplementary dividend holding company are associated and, because their balance dates do not match, the supplementary dividend holding company derives the dividend in an income year that is later than the income year of the company in which it pays the dividend, the tax year corresponding to the income year in which the supplementary dividend holding company derives the dividend.

Associated persons test

- (6) For the purposes of the definition of year of payment in subsection (5), the test of association for the company and the supplementary dividend holding company is set out in subpart YB (Associated persons and nominees) but on the basis that a reference there to “50% or more” is treated as a reference to “more than 50%”.

Defined in this Act: amount, associated person, company, consolidated group, corresponding income year, dividend, imputation credit, non-resident, pay, resident in New Zealand, supplementary dividend, supplementary dividend holding company, tax credit, tax year, year of payment

Carrying back and using or grouping amount

- (3) If the amount of the remaining credit has never been carried forward from an earlier tax year, the company may either—
  - (a) use the amount for any 1 of the 4 tax years that are immediately before the tax year in which the remaining credit arises; or
  - (b) make the amount available to company B, if both companies are part of the same wholly-owned group of companies for the relevant tax year in the 4-year period.

Carrying amount forward

- (4) If, after applying subsections (2) and (3), the company has an amount of tax credit remaining for the tax year, the amount must be carried forward to the next tax year as a credit carried forward.

Notifying Commissioner

- (5) The company makes a choice under subsection (3) by notifying the Commissioner in their return of income for the income year that corresponds to the tax year.

When companies in same group

- (6) For the purposes of subsections (2) and (3), the company and company B must be part of the same wholly-owned group of companies for the whole of the relevant income year or, if 1 of the companies exists for only part of the year, for the whole of

Calculating provisional tax liability

Standard method: 5% uplift

- (2) Under the standard method, the amount of provisional tax payable for the tax year is 105% of the person's residual income tax for the preceding tax year, determined under section RC 6. Subsection (3) overrides this subsection.

Standard method: 10% uplift

- (3) Despite subsection (2), the amount of provisional tax payable for the tax year is 110% of the person's residual income tax for the tax year before the preceding tax year if—
- (a) they are required to provide a return of income for the preceding tax year; and
  - (b) the return is not due on or before the date on which the first payment of provisional tax for the tax year is required through the application of section 37 of the Tax Administration Act 1994, or an extension granted under that section; and

  - (d) the date is not the date of instalment F for the corresponding income year.

Relationships and modification of standard method

Commissioner's determination

- (7) If the Commissioner determines a person's provisional tax liability under section 119 of the Tax Administration Act 1994, the amount or liability is that last determined by the Commissioner and notified to the person at least 30 days before the instalment date. The 30-day requirement does not apply in a case to which section 119(1)(d) of that Act applies (which relates to an estimate of residual income tax that is not fair and reasonable).

Life insurance business

- (8) A person who carries on a business of providing life insurance and who is liable for income tax under the life insurance rules, must at the time they determine their provisional tax liability provide the Commissioner with details of the calculation of that liability. In particular, they must detail the extent to which the amount of provisional tax relates to the policyholder base.

Defined in this Act: amount, business, Commissioner, corresponding income year, GST ratio, income tax, instalment date, life insurance, life insurance rules, notify, pay, policyholder base, provisional tax, residual income tax, return of income, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s MB 4

RC 6 Standard methodWhen this section applies*

Assessment for preceding tax year

- (2) The person's residual income tax for a tax year is based on their assessment for the preceding tax year unless the Commissioner has sent out a notice of assessment for the tax year at least 30 days before the relevant instalment date, in which case the amount of residual income tax is based on the Commissioner's assessment for the preceding tax year.

Commissioner's assessment for preceding tax year

- (3) The person's residual income tax is based on the Commissioner's assessment for the preceding tax year, whenever the assessment is made, if—
- (a) they are required under sections 33 and 37 of the Tax Administration Act 1994 to provide a return of income for the preceding tax year but have failed to do so by the relevant instalment date; or
  - (b) they are not required under sections 33 and 37 of that Act to provide a return by the relevant instalment date, and subsections (2) and (4) do not apply.

Residual income tax for preceding tax year

- (a) they are not required to provide a return of income for the preceding tax year; or
  - (b) their residual income tax for the tax year before the preceding tax year was $2,500 or less, and they were not required to provide, and have not provided, a return of income for the tax year by the date of instalment F for the corresponding income year.

Later increased assessment

- (5) If the Commissioner's assessment of a person's income tax liability occurs after the payment date for an instalment of provisional tax and would result in an increase in the person's residual income tax for the preceding tax year, the residual income tax is treated for the purposes of the provisional tax rules as if it had not been increased.

Transitional years and consolidated groups

- (6) A person's residual income tax in a transitional year is calculated under section RC 20. For consolidated groups, the calculation is made under section RC 29.

Defined in this Act: amount, assessment, Commissioner, consolidated group, corresponding income year, income tax liability, instalment date, notice, pay, provisional tax, provisional tax rules, residual income tax, return of income, tax year, transitional year

Fair and reasonable estimate

- (2) On or before an instalment date, the person may make a fair and reasonable estimate of their residual income tax for the tax year by informing the Commissioner of the estimate. The amount of provisional tax payable for a tax year is the amount of the estimated residual income tax.

Revising estimates

- (3) The person may choose to revise an estimate made under subsection (2) before an instalment date. The amount last estimated is the amount taken into account under section RC 5(5).

Reasonable care in making and maintaining assessment

- (4) A person who makes an estimate under subsection (2) must take reasonable care in making it, and must revise the estimate for the tax year if, at some time in the tax year, the amount estimated is no longer fair and reasonable.

Estimation higher than provisional tax payable

- (5) If a person's estimate is more than the provisional tax that is payable for the tax year, they are treated as having taken reasonable care in making the estimate.

Changing calculation method from GST ratio

- (6) If, under section RC 18(5), a person changes the way they determine the amount of provisional tax after the date of an instalment, they must estimate their residual income tax for the corresponding income year, and must pay provisional tax on whichever of instalment dates B, D, and F for their income year occur after 30 days from their last ratio instalment date.

Disaster relief

- (7) A person who is significantly affected by a self-assessed adverse event or qualifying event may make an estimate of their provisional tax under section RC 36, and that section overrides this section.

Defined in this Act: amount, Commissioner, corresponding income year, GST ratio, instalment date, pay, provisional tax, qualifying event, ratio instalment date, residual income tax, self-assessed adverse event, tax year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s MB 6

RC 8 GST ratio methodUsing GST ratio*

- (1) A person liable to pay provisional tax who meets the requirements of section RC 16 and is not excluded by section RC 17 may choose to use a GST ratio to determine the amount of provisional tax payable for a tax year.

Meaning of GST ratio

- (2) The person's GST ratio is the percentage figure that is obtained by dividing their residual income tax for the preceding tax year by their total taxable supplies for the corresponding income year. The amount of residual income tax and the amount of total taxable supplies are called base amounts for the purposes of this section.

When amounts based on tax year before preceding tax year

- (3) If a base amount for the preceding tax year or corresponding income year is not known, the GST ratio is the percentage based on the assessment for the tax year and corresponding income year that are just before the preceding tax year and corresponding income year.

Commissioner's calculation

- (4) The Commissioner must calculate a person's GST ratio, informing them by—
- (a) including the percentage figure on the person's pre-printed GST return form; or
  - (b) advising them in writing or by telephone; or
  - (c) some other means.

Adjustment to GST ratio

- (5) The Commissioner must adjust a person's GST ratio if a base amount is revised through, among other reasons,—
- (a) an assessment or an amended assessment of the person's income tax return for the preceding tax year; or
  - (b) a change in the value of the total taxable supplies for the corresponding income year; or
  - (c) the disposal of an asset to which section RC 19 applies.

New GST ratio

- (6) When subsection (5) applies, the Commissioner must inform the person of the new GST ratio. The new ratio applies in relation to the relevant instalment dates that occur 30 days after the date on which the person is informed.

Transitional years

- (7) If a person has paid instalments of provisional tax in a transitional year, for the tax year that follows the transitional year, for the purposes of this section and section RC 11, they must—
- (a) ignore the transitional year when determining their residual income tax or total taxable supplies; and
  - (b) base their determination of residual income tax and total taxable supplies on the tax year preceding the transitional year.

Total taxable supplies

- (8) In subsections (2), (5), and (7), and in sections RC 11, RC 19, and RC 31, total taxable supplies, for a person and a period, means the amount that is the total value of taxable supplies by the person for the period. The amount includes the GST charged on the supplies.

Modification

- (9) Section RZ 4 (GST ratio method: 2008–09 and 2009–10 income years) modifies this section.

Defined in this Act: amount, assessment, base amount, Commissioner, corresponding income year, GST, GST ratio, income tax, instalment date, pay, provisional tax, residual income tax, return, tax year, taxable supply, total taxable supplies, transitional year

Compare: 2004 No 35 s MB 7

Instalments of provisional taxRC 9 Provisional tax payable in instalmentsWho this section applies to

- (1) This section applies to a person who is liable to pay provisional tax.

General principle

- (2) For a person liable to pay provisional tax using the standard and estimation methods, the amount of the provisional tax liability must be spread evenly over the applicable number of instalments, so that equal amounts are paid on each instalment date. If the full amount is not divisible into exactly equal instalments, the final instalment carries the difference.

Provisional tax payable in 3 instalments

- (3) A person pays provisional tax in 3 instalments on the interest instalment dates for the tax year in the months set out in schedule 3, part A, columns B, D, and F (Payment of provisional tax and terminal tax) for the person's corresponding income year. The amount of each instalment is calculated under section RC 10. Subsection (4) overrides this subsection.

Exclusions

- (4) Subsection (3) does not apply—
- (a) to a person liable to pay provisional tax who—
- (i) pays GST on a 6-monthly basis; or
  - (ii) uses a GST ratio to determine the amount of provisional tax payable, or who changes their calculation method under section RC 18(5); or
  - (iii) changes the cycle of their taxable periods under section 15C of the Goods and Services Tax Act 1985:

- (b) to a person with an initial provisional tax liability who—
  - (i) pays GST on a 6-monthly basis; or
  - (ii) pays GST on a monthly or 2-monthly basis, and starts a taxable activity within 30 days before the date of instalment B in their corresponding income year:
- (c) to a person liable to pay provisional tax who has not provided a return of income for the preceding tax year, and whose residual income tax for the tax year before the preceding tax year was $2,500 or less:
- (d) in a transitional year.

Provisional tax when GST paid on 6-monthly basis

- (5) A person liable to pay provisional tax who pays GST on a 6-monthly basis must pay provisional tax on the 2 interest instalment dates for the tax year in the months set out in schedule 3, part A, columns C and F for their corresponding income year. This subsection applies to a person with an initial provisional tax liability other than 1 who pays GST on a 6-monthly basis and starts a taxable activity within 30 days before the date of instalment C.

Provisional tax determined using GST ratio

Choosing method in first return

- (2) When a person first files a return relating to a vehicle for the purposes of this section, they may calculate the value of the benefit using either of the valuation methods set out in schedule 5 (Fringe benefit values for motor vehicles).

Using method in first return

- (3) The person must use the method chosen in the first return referred to in subsection (2) in calculating the value of the benefit for the length of time—
- (a) starting after the end of the period of the first return; and
  - (b) continuing to the earliest of the following dates:
    - (i) the date of the disposal of the vehicle;
    - (ii) the date on which the vehicle ceases to be leased by the employer or an associated person without a consecutive or successive lease of the vehicle by them;
    - (iii) the date that is 5 years after start of the period of the first return.

Returns after 5 years

- (4) In a return relating to the vehicle for a period beginning 5 years or more after the start of the period of the first return, the person may calculate the value of the benefit using either of the valuation methods set out in schedule 5.

Cost price valuation method

- (5) Despite subsections (3) and (4), the person must apply schedule 5, clause 1 or 2, using the cost price valuation method if—

- (a) the vehicle is owned, leased, or rented by the employer or an associated person; and

RD 29 Private use of motor vehicle: formulas

What this section does

- (1) This section sets out the formulas for calculating the value of the benefit that an employer provides to an employee by making a motor vehicle available for their private use.

Quarterly payment

- (2) If FBT is paid quarterly, the value of the benefit is calculated using the formula—

$$\frac{\text{days} \times \text{schedule 5 amount}}{90}.$$

Annual payment

- (3) If FBT is paid on an annual basis, the value of the benefit is the total of the amounts calculated under subsection (2) for the 4 quarters in the applicable tax year.

Payment by income year

- (4) If FBT is paid on an income year basis, the value of the benefit is calculated using the formula—

$$\frac{\text{days} \times \text{schedule 5 amount}}{365}.$$

Definition of items in formulas

- (5) In the formula,—
- (a) in subsection (2), days refers to the number of days in the quarter on which the vehicle is made available for private use, reduced by the number of days on which the vehicle was a work-related vehicle, or 90, whichever is less:
  - (b) in subsection (4), days refers to the number of days in the income year on which the vehicle is made available for private use, reduced by the number of days on which the vehicle was a work-related vehicle:
  - (c) in subsections (2) and (4), schedule 5 amount refers to the amount calculated under schedule 5 (Fringe benefit values for motor vehicles) as the value of the benefit that would have been received for unlimited private use of the vehicle in that quarter or income year, as applicable.

Test period

- (6) To calculate the value of the benefit, an employer may choose to use a test period under section RD 31 to establish private use.

Defined in this Act: amount, employee, employer, FBT, income year, motor vehicle, private use, quarter, tax year, work-related vehicle

Compare: 2004 No 35 s ND 1A(2)–(6)

- (a) a 24-hour period starting from a time in a day that a person who owns or leases the vehicle chooses; or
- (b) a 24-hour period starting at midnight if paragraph (a) does not apply.

Choosing starting point and notifying Commissioner

- (3) For the purposes of subsection (2)(a), the person must—
  - (a) choose a starting point for the day that is a whole number of an hour after midnight; and
  - (b) notify the Commissioner of their election when filing the next return relating to the vehicle.

Elections

- (4) An election under subsection (2)(a)—
  - (a) is effective from the start of the quarter, income year, or tax year to which a return relates; and
  - (b) applies to all vehicles in relation to which the person files a return.

Hour applying for 2 income years

- (5) If the person chooses under subsection (3)(a) a particular hour in the 24-hour period as the starting point of the day, that hour continues to apply to the use of the vehicle from the start of the relevant quarter, income year, or tax year, as applicable, for a minimum period of 2 income years.

When circumstances change

- (6) An employer may ask the Commissioner to amend the starting point of the 24-hour period, or to treat the election as revoked, if the employer's circumstances have changed in a way that—
  - (a) is more than minor; and
  - (b) makes the starting point no longer relevant to the employer's business.

use, an employer may choose to record the details of the use of the vehicle by the employee for a test period.

Number used in calculations

- (2) The number of days on which a vehicle is available for an employee's private use that is ascertained in the test period is the number used in the calculation in section RD 29(2). For the calculation in section RD 29(4), the relevant number is the number of days ascertained in the test period multiplied by 4.

Quarter or 3 months for test period

- (3) If FBT is paid quarterly or annually, the test period is a quarter. If FBT is paid on an income year basis, the test period is 3 consecutive months of an income year.

Period showing pattern of use

  - (b) keep a record of the test period, including accurate details of the days in the period on which the vehicle is available for the employee's private use.

Work-related vehicles

Term of 3 years

- (6) The number of days of availability for private use ascertained in the test period applies for a term of 3 years. The term starts, as applicable, as follows:
- (a) if FBT is paid quarterly, on the first day of the test period;
  - (b) if FBT is paid on an annual basis, on the first day of the tax year in which the test period occurs;
  - (c) if FBT is paid on an income year basis, on the first day of the income year in which the test period occurs.

Reduction of term

- (7) The term referred to in subsection (6) is reduced if the number of days of actual private use of the motor vehicle is 20%, or more than 20%, higher than the number ascertained in the test period. In this case, the term ends on the last day of the applicable quarter, year, or income year. If the employer chooses to start another test period, the existing term ends just before the start of the new term.

When test period no longer representative

- (8) If the Commissioner considers that the result ascertained in the test period does not, or does no longer, fairly represent the actual private use of the motor vehicle by the employee, the Commissioner may notify the employer that the term will end on a particular date. Following notification, the employer must not use that result again.

Subsection (5) overrides this subsection.

- (2) The binding ruling is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the ruling at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

  - (e) in the absence of this section, the commencement of this Act would mean that that determination would cease to apply because the taxation law to which it applied had ceased to exist.

Determination about new law

- (2) The determination is treated as if it were made about the new law, so that the effect of the determination at the commencement of this Act is the same as its effect before the commencement.

  - (c) if paragraphs (a) and (b) do not apply, clause 1 applies to the highest value of any vehicle used by the employee.
- 3 In this schedule, a motor vehicle's tax value in a quarter, tax year, or income year is—
  - (a) the value of the vehicle as determined under subpart EE (Depreciation) for the beginning of the tax year or income year, if paragraphs (b) and (c) do not apply; or
  - (b) the cost price of the vehicle, if the vehicle is acquired after the beginning of the tax year or income year, and paragraph (c) does not apply; or

- 4 For the purposes of clause 3(c), the tax value of the vehicle is the value it would have under subpart EE at the beginning of the tax year or income year, or at the time of acquisition in the year, treating the cost of the vehicle on acquisition as the amount determined under—
  - (a) clause 5, if—
    - (i) the cost price was last used by person A or person B for the vehicle under clause 1:
    - (ii) clause 1 did not apply to the vehicle in the 2-year period referred to in clause 3(c) and neither person A nor person B has used the tax value for the vehicle under clause 1:
  - (b) clause 6, if person A did not own the vehicle and person B last used the tax value of the vehicle under clause 1:
  - (c) clause 7, if person A owned the vehicle and the tax value was last used for the vehicle under clause 1.

- 5 The highest of the following amounts is the relevant amount for clause 4(a):

  - (b) if, in the period of 2 years before the vehicle's acquisition by the person providing it to the employee, the vehicle is owned by the person or by someone associated with them, the cost price is treated as being the highest one of the cost prices paid for the vehicle by the person or an associate since its manufacture:
  - (c) subject to paragraph (b), the cost price of the vehicle is treated as being equal to the vehicle's market value if,—
    - (i) the cost to the person who acquires the vehicle is zero; or

- (ii) the cost price is unable to be established to the satisfaction of the Commissioner by the person who acquires the vehicle; or
  - (iii) at the time the vehicle is acquired, the cost price to the person who acquires the vehicle is less than the market value because of an arrangement between that person and an associated person, and that arrangement has the purpose of defeating the intent and application of the FBT rules.
- 9 Despite clause 8(a), a person who in a quarter, tax year, or income year provides a benefit that is valued under clause 1 may choose to value the vehicle on the basis of its cost price exclusive of GST or its tax value calculated exclusive of GST using clause 1 as modified by clause 10.
- 10 The following paragraphs apply to a person who values a vehicle on the basis of its cost price exclusive of GST or its tax value calculated exclusive of GST:
  - (a) the terms 'cost price' and 'tax value' in clause 1 do not include an amount of GST payable:

$$5 + (5 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant quarter}):$$
  - (c) the references to 9% in clause 1 are treated as if they were references to a percentage calculated using the formula—
$$9 + (9 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant quarter}):$$
  - (d) the references to 20% in clause 1 are treated as if they were references to a percentage calculated using the formula—
$$20 + (20 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant tax year or corresponding income year}):$$
  - (e) the references to 36% in clause 1 are treated as if they were references to a percentage calculated using the formula—
$$36 + (36 \times \text{rate of GST applying on last day of relevant tax year or corresponding income year}).$$

- 11 When a vehicle is leased or rented to the person after it has been leased or rented to another person (the other person), the cost price of a vehicle is its market value at the time it is first leased or rented to the person if—

  - (b) the person is not associated with the lessor or owner of the vehicle; and
  - (c) the employee is not the lessor or owner of the vehicle; and

Schedule 51

Identified changes in legislation

s ZA 3(5)

| Provisions inIncome Tax Act2007 or TaxAdministrationAct 1994 (TAA) | Change   |
|---|---|
| Business-related provisions, listed in the appendix to this schedule                          | The tax year basis for these provisions is omitted, or changed to an income year basis.   |
| FA 3(2)   | An ambiguity is removed, which ensures that an amount of the dividend is treated as being derived on the sale of the shares to the extent to which it matches any trading loss of the share dealer. |
| FA 5(6)   | The time of association is clarified as being the time at which the associated person acquires the asset.   |
| FA 9(2) and (3)   | The time of association is clarified as being the time at which the associated person acquires the asset.   |
| FC 2 to FC 6  | The transfer on death to the executor/administrator and the subsequent transfer from the executor/administrator to the estate is treated as one transfer.   |
| GB 27(2)(c)   | The $60,000 threshold is clarified in order to take into account all income that would be attributed under section GB 29.  |
| GB 35(2)(d)   | The ambiguity is removed in order to clarify that multiple purposes are referred to.  |
| GB 42(2)(d)   | The ambiguity is removed in order to clarify that multiple purposes are referred to.  |
| HC 34(2)  | The date for the payment of tax on a taxable distribution from a non-complying trust is the terminal tax date of the person liable to pay that tax.   |
| IA 4(1)   | Carried forward tax losses are used first by a person, before the losses may be grouped or otherwise used.  |
| LA 1 to LA 10   | Tax credits (other than personal and family tax credits) are used for the year that corresponds to the income year in which the credits arise.  |

| Provisions inIncome Tax Act2007 or TaxAdministrationAct 1994 (TAA) | Change  |
| LC 9(2)   | This rule relates to the housekeeper and low income tax credits (formerly termed rebates). The policy of the rule is to apportion income of an absentee between periods of the person's absence and presence in New Zealand. The apportionment set out in the bill is on a daily basis. In the interests of simplification, the bill omits from the 2004 Act corresponding rule, the formula that apportioned the income on a "weeks" basis for persons with "regular pay periods". A change in effect is anticipated, but the omission should result at most in a small difference in outcome in favour of taxpayers. The New Zealand Law Society indicated in their submission on the bill that it would be preferable to list this as an intended change. |
| YA 1, definition of land   | The provision is simplified and structured so that the first 3 paragraphs of the rewritten definition are to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers.   |
| YA 1, definition of mortgage   | The definition of mortgage was introduced at a time when mortgages were subject to tax as a subset of land tax. The drafting in the bill provides for an updated and simplified term to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible and up-to-date legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers.   |

| YA 1, definition of natural resource   | A definition of natural resource is inserted for the purposes of section BH 1, and the definitions of land and New Zealand .  |
| YA 1, definition of pay  | The provision is simplified and structured so it is to apply generally for the Act. This is consistent with the objectives of plain accessible legislation and is thought highly unlikely to result in any material change in law. However, as this change in drafting could conceivably result in a change in outcome in some circumstances, the change should be identified for readers. |
