About the Institution

The Nehru Memorial Law College, Hanumangarh Town (Rajasthan) was established in the year 1980 by Rashtriya Shikshan Sansthan Samittee since then this institution is imparting legal education with excellence. The College is permanently affiliated to Maharaja Ganga Singh University, Bikaner formerly University of Bikaner and was the first of its kind to be an independent Law College in the state of Rajasthan. The institution was established with the aim of imparting legal education and preparing the student to be excellent in legal profession. Later by introducing Post Graduate classes and legal research, this institution has become an excellent legal institution with research facilities i.e. Research Centre in the field of law.

This college has the credit to produce many administrative officers and judicial officers along with high profile lawyers of the higher courts of the country and noted academicians. The college provides a platform for a sound balance of academic learning, recreational atmosphere and infrastructural support for the students, along with cultural awareness, continuing endeavours of innovative teaching learning methods, self-learning through individual and collective projects, well researched and documented dissertations and importantly learning through group-discussions, periodicals tests, seminars, conferences, court visits, moot courts, legal aid camps and legal literacy camps. College publishes a National Journal (Bhatner Socio-Legal Journal). All these are distinct and unique features of this college which evolved it as the region's premier institute.

About the National Seminar

Today's children are tomorrow's leader. But where they will lead the future world is depend on their present development. The emotional, social and physical development of young children has a direct effect on their overall development and on the adult they will become. That is why understanding the need to invest in very young children is so important, so as to maximize their future well-being.

The society has always ratified the children rights and a privileged space in the system but changing scenario of social accountability drifting the direction of child development. Increasing incidents of child abuse may it emotional or physical, raising the concern world over. There are child right protection laws and policies in every country, UNICEF as an international agency also works to address these kind of issues at world level by developing and implementing its program and policies to strengthen child protection system and promoting positive social norms in all contexts to prevent and respond to violence, exploitation and abuse directed at children. Irony is despite so many laws and policies children are still at the verge of danger and uncertainties.

The challenges children are facing in 21st century are immense and need to be addressed effectively if we intent to secure a brighter and healthier future for our children. The organizer's aim is to raise the actual concern pervaded in unsecure development of children in the present system and brainstorming over the possible actions to address the situation as the solution of the present problems.

About Hanumangarh

Hanumangarh district situated at 29° 5' to 30° 6' North and 74°3' to 75°3' east and shares its boundaries with Haryana state in the East, Sriganaganagar district in the West, Punjab state in the North and Churu district in the South. The geographical area of the district is 9656.09 Sq. Km. There are many heritage sites in and around Hanumangarh. The archaeological locations around the district have many historical terra cotta utensils and ancient coins displayed. There are many such locations which can be seen in the neighboring areas and are very suitable for tourists having keen interest in history. The remains found at Kalibanga (Pilibanga) in 1951 reveal that this area was a part of nearly 5000 years old Indus Valley civilization. The fossils of human skeleton, unknown scripts, stamps, coins, utensils, jewellery, toys, statues, wells, bathrooms, fort, streets, markets etc., found in excavation tell the story of well developed life style of our ancestors. Besides Kalibanga, more than 100 other places are also there in the district where evidences of this old civilization have been found. The remains found at these places have been kept at Museum at Kalibanga and National Museum at New Delhi. Earlier, Hanumangarh was known as Bhatner. In year 1805, Maharaja Soorat Singh of Bikaner captured Bhatner after defeating Bhatias and as the day of his victory was Tuesday (known as the day of God Hanuman), he named Bhatner as Hanumangarh. Hanumangarh city guide is incomplete without a mention of the Fort 'Bhatner Durg', one of the oldest and strongest Forts in India. It is also known for Sila Mata Temple, Bhadrakali Temple and Brahmani Mata Temple.

Climate

The climate of the district is semi-dry, extremely hot during the summer and extremely cold during winter. The maximum average temperature remains 18° to 48°C and minimum average is 2° to 28°C. The average rainfall during the year is 225 to 300 mm. The best season to visit Hanumangarh is the winter season. The temperature remains comfortable and is apt for sightseeing. The best months to visit are October, November, December and March.

Accessibility

Hanumangarh is well connected with most of the metropolitan cities of the country by Rail and Road.

Air

The nearest Airport from Hanumangarh is Bhatinda, Chandigarh and Amritsar Airport, roughly one and half hour five and half hour and four and half hours respectively drive from the city. All three Airports are well connected to the major cities like New Delhi, Bangalore, Mumbai, Goa, Ahmedabad, Jaipur and Leh.

Road

One can reach Hanumangarh, Rajasthan by Road very easily since a network of National Highways and State Highways roads covers the state extensively. It is 240 km from Ludhiana, 355 km from Delhi, 361 km from Chandigarh, 400 km from Jaipur, 527 km from Jodhpur, 554 km from Jaisalmer and 677 km from Udaipur through Rajasthan State Road Transport Corporation (RSRTC). While state road transport corporations do not have sleeper buses, private bus operators and bus travel companies operate AC sleeper bus services to major cities across the country. So, most of the tourists prefer to travel by road.

Railway

The town has its own Railway Station called as Hanumangarh Junction Railway Station. There is a Diamond Railway-Crossing. It is well connected with other cities like Jalore, Jaipur and Agra. Few trains such as Dli-Jsm Express, Ghy-Bme-Bkn Express, Hw-Bme-Link Express and KikBme Express are available from Delhi, Kalka, Haridwar and Guwahati for Hanumangarh District
