

JOSEPH OF ARIMATHEA

“Do not believe in anything simply because you have heard it. Do not believe in anything simply because it is spoken and rumored by many. Do not believe in anything simply because it is found written in your religious books. Do not believe in anything merely on the authority of your teachers and elders. Do not believe in traditions because they have been handed down for many generations. But after observation and analysis, when you find that anything agrees with reason and is conducive to the good and benefit of one and all, then accept it and live up to it.”

Well, for some time I was thinking my writing of essays with research on ancient history through the prism of Vedic Astrology-Jyotish, has finished. That kind of attitude was especially related to the series of essays with Biblical themes, and especially after exposure of the previous essay, which deals with the last days of Jesus.¹ Along with covering the last days of Jesus, that essay was about to close the circle from the birth of Jesus to his departure from this world. Now we know that the departure itself did happen in a splendor way, by the ascension of the Jesus the Christ to another dimension, to the Heaven itself. He took with him on this journey of about one thousand people. What a dramatic turnover in the True Biblical Story! Along with this astonishing discovery, it just seemed there is no need for further discussion. The case was closed. It was looking like there is no need to go further on with this topic.

Then somehow, along with contemplating the entire writing repeatedly, I have noticed that this is all far from being finished. Some places need to be polished, but some are to be reshaped. Some things have to be added as well. There are some drastic changes to be done in some places indeed, because the research is still going on, and some new discoveries have been surfacing. Well, all that motivated me to continue the story, to do some changes wherever that is needed, but also, to add a few more entirely new essays, what would be like entirely new chapters. They will be dedicated to some other extraordinary Biblical historical figures. After all, the Biblical story did not finish with the departure of Jesus the Christ and his comrades to Heaven. Perhaps there will be a need to direct our spotlights of Vedic Astrology Jyotish, to next coming centuries as well, just after these dramatic events when Jesus was walking in our neighborhood. Perhaps we need to see his adventures in an additional few follow-ups.

Indeed, it is amazing where this innocent story of checking the Lunar Eclipse on March 4 B.C.E. took us. Almost all history was supposed to be rewritten. The Biblical story was supposed to be corrected, and to do so everything was supposed to be turned upside down ... All of sudden we notice that negatives exposed in the Bible become heroes, and vice versa, many so-called heroes become villains. Then, in the final stage, we have the true original teaching of Jesus the Christ, or we can say ... the Original Christianity, which by the way does not have anything to do with the Christianity we know from Biblical texts. We can confirm with great certainty that, when we restore the true historical events, we can easily enter into the core of the teaching of any religious teacher, prophet or avatar.

It is proved that Vedic Astrology-Jyotish is absolutely the competent mean to restore the true history, and due to that to restore every religion as well, in order to be reunited with its own source. Because we are not supposed to forget that true historical events are at the basis of every religion. Only thing, these true historical events were modified and distorted heavily. Winners write the History, we know that fact. This is nothing new actually. We know now that the Kurukshetra, the Battlefield of life, is going on permanently. This is referring to our everyday life, which is dualistic in its own nature. Dark ages like the one we just passed through, are especially fertile soil for such kind of twists. Therefore, we need something to be entirely objective, something that does not perform, and what does not manipulate, distort or deviate from real historical events. Moreover, this is exactly the Vedic Astrology-Jyotish, the true instance where the Universe itself is talking the true story of the History. Luckily, we live in a time where knowledge and level of consciousness are naturally ascending and expanding providing our personal growth. We are talking in terms of unification rather than of separation. Of course, something will need to separate before unification. This is just a very normal trend.

It is time now that all religions come back to the own source. The word ... Union ... and appropriate adjective ... United ... should be used in order to create the syntagm ... United Religions of the World ... Because it is clear now that the basic message of the founders of all religions is the same ... The Kingdom of Heaven is Within You. There is a heavenly divine spark within each of us, and this is what we really are. We are not supposed to identify ourselves with this physical body of flesh and bones, which is mortal by the way, has its own expiry date. Moreover, there are several more layers that this immortal, heavenly divine spark is wrapped in, and we are not supposed to identify ourselves with these layers of wrappings as well. Eventually, a level of knowledge is rising and our consciousness is expanding with increased level of Ether-Akasha around us and very beneficiary negative ions along with, we shall realize that what we really are is exactly this immortal, celestial, divine spark, which is called Being, or Atman on Sanskrit and in the Vedic Science. This is our true reality, and this is what we really are.

1) Please find the link to the previous essay with the title ... Jesus the Christ – Last days ... at the end of this essay. In fact, for easy and comfortable following of this essay, it is very important to consider taking a look on all previous essays in this serial ... The True Biblical Story Deciphered ... which is just one part of the holistic serial ... Deconstructing the Illusion ...

Furthermore, the same message of all avatars, prophets, gurus, rishis, and maharishis continues with the statement ...

Establish yourself in Being and enjoy the Kingdom of Heaven, Kingdom of God.

This is the basic underlying message of all religions. This is that famous verse of the Bhagavad Gita in action ...

Yogastah kuru karmani. Established in Being perform actions!

Only thing, do not understand it the wrong way, so that you become confused, disoriented, unbalanced and ambivalent, just like Arjuna was. While you are on the way toward your personal Enlightenment, and before establishing yourself in Being, you are still in the Dualistic world, and there are certain rules to be followed. The primary duty of all of us is to protect our families, our countries, from any kind of subordination or possible enslavement. That means if there is some critical situation ... Fight with what you have Religions, even though established in different geographical regions and in different ages, they do not differ at all. Their message is the same. This is the same effort of the God himself to raise his children back to Eden, where they did reside once upon a time, and where they really do belong. Only thing, sometimes, due to some Dark Age illusions and delusions, we slip out from the Heaven on Earth, from the Eden itself, but this is just of temporary nature, and it will be fully forgotten as soon we start to enjoy the bliss of higher states of consciousness.

Now we can comprehend fully the power, and the extremely important role of the Vedic Astrology-Jyotish and where it can bring us eventually. We can realize now how extraordinary knowledge this is. By the way, Vedic Astrology-Jyotish is not of human origin. This knowledge was given to the Humanity by Gods. This is the place, an instance, where Stars and Universe itself, are narrating their own story. Stars, who have been witnessing innocently every event on planet Earth throughout the ages, now they are whispering innocently their memories to establish the Truth, in order nothing to be lost and nothing to be forgotten.

It is so thrilling to experience work on such a project of restoring natal charts of ancient leaders, ancient kings, and queens, avatar appearances of God and Goddesses. We can see them in an entirely new light. We can see such details we have never seen before. Indeed, I have a feeling they are just the next room and waiting to come for their own consultation.

In my research so far, one name, one extraordinary figure, somehow was not mentioned. However, he was mentioned, but just as side character, while the main story was touching something else. That does not mean this person is of lesser importance. Not at all! In fact, the truth is absolutely the opposite; he is very important. In the story that follows this person, that historical and Biblical figure will be the main topic.

There is an absolute need to mention and to decipher the role of the ... Joseph of Arimathea. In the Bible, he was hardly mentioned, what immediately drives the conclusion somebody wants to obscure his position, role, and his importance. Finding his natal chart was not an easy job. As I have mentioned already, official sources are in silence. The silence was deafening. Then, as usual, we turn toward alternative sources. Interestingly, I did find a lot of information, and that means that he was, and he is, quite a well-known figure within the Jewish tradition. Joseph of Arimathea was also known as the ... Tin Man. He was born on August 27, 55 B.C.E. at 1.52 PM LMT. Here is the natal chart ...

In the natal chart of the Joseph of Arimathea, we see few extraordinary Yogas, planetary combinations. For example, double Dhana Yoga, Yoga of Wealth, is applied; like lord of the second, Sani-Saturn, in the ninth, and lord of the eleventh, Shukra-Venus in the ninth as well. Both grahas-planets are very good friends. The third member of this conjunction in the ninth house is Budha-Mercury, a very good mutual friend to Shukra-Venus and neutral toward Saturn-Sani. Furthermore, Budha-Mercury is in the phenomenal game with Surya-Sun, the host to all three. Surya-Sun and Budha-Mercury exchanged houses mutually, what is being called Parivarthan Yoga, and that will connect these two houses on a very strong way, that will highlight both of them, and raise them in dignity, to be like exalted twins for example. Such connection of ninth and tenth house is being called Dharma Karma Athipathi Yoga, which brings phenomenal growth in the Career. The thing is that will give rise to dignity to Budha-Mercury and Surya, both; they will be almost like exalted. In addition, as Surya-Sun is in the tenth, the owner of the natal chart will be as a king in the spiritual and religious field, but in the business field as well. Because, we should have in mind that Budha-Mercury is the ruler of the seventh house, the house of real business. At the same time, Guru-Jupiter, as a lord of second aspects the tenth. Well, in the main natal chart, Guru-Jupiter is debilitated, but it is exalted in the Navamsa. Due to feedback connection of the Navamsa Guru-Jupiter to the main natal chart, it will be a tremendous influence on the eighth house, what means exaltation of in-laws, extraordinary financial heritage, deep occult knowledge, mining and finding some precious things deep underground, and ... extension of lifespan. In fact, this Guru-Jupiter will be swinging between exaltation and debilitation, so it will give mixed results sometimes. Nevertheless, just recently, I have learned that debilitated Guru-Jupiter can give even more money-cash than if it is having exalted status.

All that gives us a very clear picture of the Joseph of Arimathea. He originated in a very rich family, a family with very good status in the society. His father was a prominent member of the government or some council, what is proved to be ... the Sanhedrin ..., an assembly or the supreme council of judges established in every city within the Jewish world, who dealt with religious matters predominantly. It seems that Joseph did inherit this position in Sanhedrin from his father. Nevertheless, though they were rich indeed, it seems that Joseph increased and multiplied family richness heavily. That leap in richness was manifested particularly after the birth of children, and especially the daughter, Mary Magdalene, who was born on June 16, 6 B.C.E. at 6.36 AM LMT, as we know. Her birth we can locate very clearly in the natal chart of Joseph itself. That was ... Bu-Ke-Gu-Sy-Sy ... dasha period. Just to mention that Budha-Mercury is graha-planet ruling the fifth house of Saptamsha divisional chart, D-7, which deals with children, Ketu is eleventh from Mahadasha ruler Budha-Mercury in the house of Budha-Mercury itself, while Surya-Sun is the Putrakaraka, the significator of children in the natal chart of Joseph of Arimathea. Guru-Jupiter is natural significator for children. All are fitting perfectly well.

The consort of the Joseph of Arimathea at that time was ... Anna bat Simon. It seems, she was his second wife, and it looks like he did marry her on January 22, 8 B.C.E., in his ... Bu-Bu-Sk-Ra-Sk-Sk ... period, according to the natal chart. She was called ... The Prophetess ... and she was mentioned in the Bible as well. It was mentioned that she lived for seven years as a married woman, and then she decided to dedicate her life to the God only, joined some kind of seclusion, spending her time in deep devotion and prayers predominately. She was described as very old, but this is a construct actually. She was made very old just that we do not have any clue that she is the possible Mother of Mary Magdalene. As Mary was driven out of any mentioning, and complete silence was installed instead, in the same way, her Mother was detached from the real frame she belonged to. She could not have been so old simply because she gave birth to Mary Magdalene in 6 B.C.E., as we know now. She could have been in her late thirties or early forties maximally. It could have been about ten years between Joseph and Anna when considering their age. Actually, Anna, the Mother of Mary Magdalene, was very charismatic, just the same as her Father Joseph was. No doubt, such a strong personality as Mary Magdalene, the incarnation of the supreme Goddess Parvati, had strong and charismatic parents.

I would say that separation of Mother from family did happen in 1 B.C.E. most probably, after 7 years of marriage, just as the Bible claims. But, Bible's claim she was there to give a blessing to newborn Jesus, and that she prophesized his future, this is a big construct of Bible makers or of those who copied initial texts. This is all just to mention her somehow because these early writers knew very well about her importance. Thus, something was told, but in a very distorted and manipulated way.

After she gave initial motherly care for her daughter Mary for about five years, it is plausible that she withdrew to some reclusive place doing only prayers. Therefore, from that moment on she was her spiritual mother as well. No doubt, she was very strong and charismatic. We see that Budha-Mercury, ruler of the seventh house in Joseph's chart is almost like exalted. However, Ketu occupies the seventh house, and along with a feedback connection from the Navamsa chart, Saturn-Sani and Mangal-Mars will have a big influence on the seventh house as well. Sani-Saturn and Mangal-Mars are greatest anemias and they can produce a war zone, and this is what Joseph had with some of his partners, including wife or wives. Luckily, these two Grahas-Planets are far enough from each other so that this conjunction is not very strong. Anyway, any connection of Mangal-Mars with the seventh house will produce Mangal Dosh-Kuja Dosh, special yoga, combination, which can produce a difference of opinion between husband and wife or with any partner in general. Presence of Ketu, who acts as a Mangal, by the way, will increase Mangal-Mars influence on the seventh house. Thus, separation from the wife could have been partially due to the difference of opinion. Nevertheless, this is not like separation other people do. For some couples, Jyotish expert would recommend living separate lives for some time. On the other hand, it could be suggested that within one year they separate for a month or two. Such a very simple measure can improve the quality of life for a couple and bring stability into their marriage. Spiritual people solve such minor problems on the spiritual way. They intentionally separate for some short period. It can happen that one of them or even both, enter some monastery, or join to some other high-level spiritual organization. Just temporary, of course. That means the separation of parents of Mary Magdalene could have been of temporary nature as well. We see that Ketu is influenced heavily by high dignity status Budha-Mercury. At the same time, Ketu is in Punarvasu nakshatra ruled by Jupiter-Guru whose nature is to swing from debilitation to exaltation or vice versa. We also see a simultaneous game of Rahu and Ketu in connecting the first house and the seventh house. In this never-ending game between Rahu and Ketu in attracting and repelling, the volatile nature of the seventh house is even more emphasized. Thus, the situation with the seventh house is very complex indeed. I would definitely say that Mother Anna did reunite with the family at some later stage. Some better Jyotish experts need to see the complete background of that story. Now we have two relevant charts; of Joseph himself, and of their daughter Mary Magdalene. Then by parallel examinations, the life and the role of Mother can be determined with great certainty.

For example, from Mary's chart, we see that Chandra–Moon is afflicted, and that was the cause of her death in 34 C.E. after all. Chandra-Moon represents many things; the mind, the mother, and in Mary's case as being Karkha-Cancer lagna-ascendant ruled by Moon-Chandra itself, it represents the owner of the natal chart; it represents the Mary herself. That means, just by watching on Chandra-Moon, we see that whatever is happening to the owner of the natal chart, it is happening simultaneously to the mother of the owner of the natal chart. That could bring us to the conclusion that the Mother was around during that fatal day when Mary was murdered around May 1, 34 C.E., and that she, the Mother, shared the same destiny with her daughter. That could be another reason to make The Prophetess "very old", just to hide the fact that she was murdered.

Furthermore, the entire story of the separation of Mother from the family should be taken very carefully, with caution, I would say. This also can be a spin and part of the construct of Biblical texts compilers. It is much more plausible that she earned her title ... The Prophetess ... in the Academy-Ashram of John the Baptizer. The complete family of Joseph and Anna was oriented about Prophet John the Baptizer. Joseph and Anna were together with John from his early days in Jerusalem. I would say that she definitely played a very, very important role there. Moreover, very positive role, after all. They probably have been among strongest sponsors and donators to the Academy itself. In addition, around 15 C.E. they joined the John's Academy in Alexandria. It is very plausible that she, the Mother, did play the role of catalyst in the connection of Jesus with Mary Magdalene. Thus, when Academy was going down in 27 C.E., and Mary Magdalene and Jesus got married a few months afterward, the Mother could be old indeed.

Nevertheless, it seems that somebody was very old in this story. This is Joseph himself. As he was born in 55 B.C.E., he was 49 years of age when Mary Magdalene was born, and later on, he lived a long life as well. We know he was there during the Crucifixion event for sure, what happened on Thursday, April 4, 30 C.E., according to Professor James D. Tabor ...

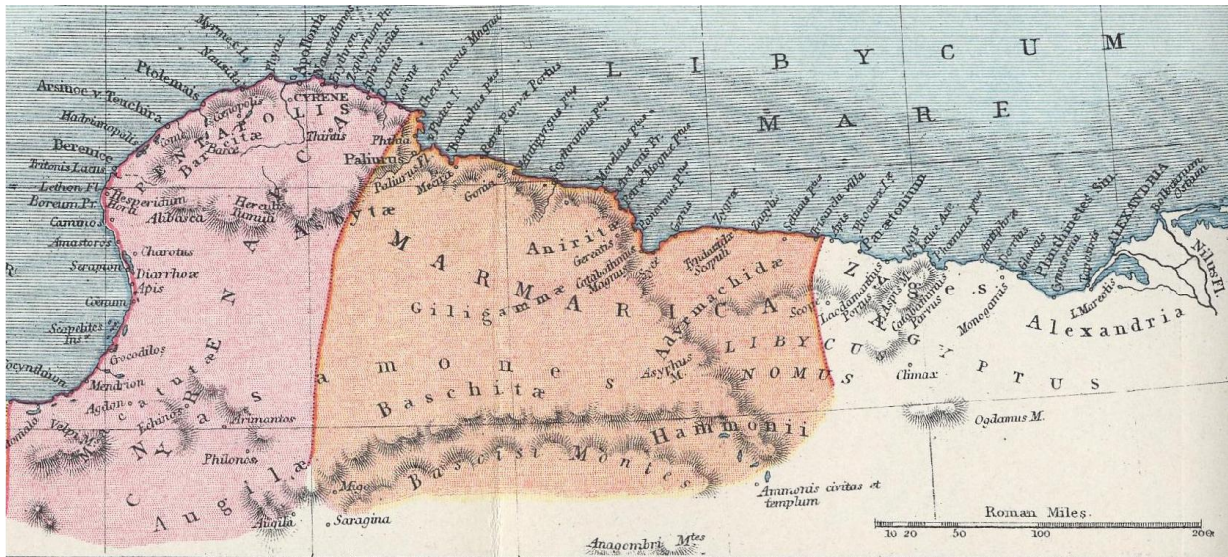

<https://jamestabor.com/jesus-died-on-a-thursday-not-a-friday/>

... and therefore, at that time he was already 85 years of age. We know that Joseph, Jesus and some others went to Egypt around 37 C.E. Most probably, they settled themselves on Joseph's another property in Egypt or somewhere around. They stayed there for some time, and then Joseph and some others went to France, the Gaul, and even further on toward England and Britain. His presence was noted and registered there in England, and some records even say that he died in Somerset in 82 C.E., at the age of more than 130. Thus, probably, he was there seeing his grandchildren and possibly even grand grandchildren. This is all true.

His natal chart reflects extraordinary vitality, and as Mangal-Mars is the ruler of the fifth house, the house of sport, and posited in eleventh, he must have been very athletic and sport oriented. Thus, we have keywords ... Tin Man ... Vitality ... Athletic. In addition, Shukra-Venus is together with Sani-Saturn, very close actually, only eight degrees apart, and because they are great friends, their mutual influence results with being handsome and very attractive in old days. This is to be applied to his wife as well because she is the Budha-Mercury, the third member of that extraordinary conjunction in the ninth house. Budha-Mercury by himself looks youngish, but then, conjoined with Sani-Saturn and Shukra-Venus, it seems, she must have been very beautiful and looking young even in her old days.

I did find in the literature that Joseph of Arimathea was also called ... Joseph de Marmore ... Because, for some time he lived in Marmorica, in Egypt. The story has it that before he was known as Joseph of Arimathea, he had carried the title ... Joseph de Marmore. This is very important observation indeed. Now we have his location in Egypt where he probably had lived before they joined to the Academy of John the Baptizer in Alexandria. I think they joined the Academy around 15 C.E. As he was very rich, and involved in the trade of metals including mining, his business has been organized like some sort of primordial multinational company. He probably had affiliates in many countries. In addition, he moved his headquarter to be close to the Centre of the Roman Empire, to the Rome itself. Egypt by itself was a very important country at that time as well. Thus, he established his headquarter there in Egypt for many reasons, and one additional was, to be close to the sea for easy operation in all circumstances. It seems, Marmorica was an ideal position to accomplish all mentioned requirements.

Now, there is only one thing left to be discussed about Joseph of Arimathea, and this is his origin in the Jewish world itself. I think both mentioned titles of Joseph; Joseph of Arimathea and Joseph of Marmore, are there to confuse, and to hide the real origin of Joseph. Thus, even though this is being somewhat enigmatic and so mysterious they say, the truth is, it is not. Not anymore! Not after the discovery of Talpiot tombs, the Patio tomb and especially the Garden Tomb. One should follow carefully the book of ... Prof. James D. Tabor ... and ... Simcha Jacobovichi ... the book with the title ... The Jesus Discovery ...

<http://www.simonandschuster.com/books/The-Jesus-Discovery/James-D-Tabor/9781451651539>

Must say, amazing book, amazing team, and amazing researches. The Tomb of Jesus and his family is finally found! This is ... the Talpiot Garden Tomb. Another closely connected tomb ... the Patio Tomb ..., belongs to the family of Joseph of Arimathea. This is his true origin. He is a son of ... Matthat Son of Levi ben Melchi and Esthra / Estha. It must be that in the Jewish community his origin is very well known because we can find his complete genealogy story on the Net.

<https://www.geni.com/people/Saint-Joseph-of-Arimathea/600000007249865226>

Only thing, the story is partially corrupted because he was put to be like an uncle to Jesus. In fact, it turned out to be entirely different. In reality, due to the marriage of Mary Magdalene to Jesus, Joseph of Arimathea was the Father-in-law of Jesus. That also means that the wife of Joseph, Anna the Prophetess, was the Mother in law of Jesus. This is all very simple. Talpiot estate was their family possession for several generations. This is the place where Mary Magdalene was born. This is the place where Jesus and Mary Magdalene lived after the Crucifixion event and after the dispersing of his initial Movement in Cana and Nazareth in 30 C.E. After the murder of Mary Magdalene, and most probably of her mother, they stayed there for a few years more, and around 37 C.E. they moved to Egypt; probably to another estate of Joseph in Marmore-Marmorica.

One thing is now bothering me very much. This is the very name ... Joseph of Arimathea ... As we know, the true location of Arimathea in the Jewish world was never found. There are some options and explanations but these are all very unconvincing. Such a powerful man and family, who played the pivotal role in the Biblical story, and nobody knows where is the origin of theirs. Isn't it strange all that? Now, we just cognized about this second name of Joseph ... Joseph de Marmore ... This second name is particularly interesting. In fact, it is striking! Marmore, Marmorica ... or from the map, we read ... Marmarica ... and we can observe easily that the central part of this word is ...

M-ARMARI-CA ...

Isn't that the root of the word Arimathea? Isn't that slightly modified or corrupted Marmare toponym or Marmarica? I think this is the fact. In an attempt to make the identity of Joseph completely obscured, they slightly modified the second option of his origin. This is to say, his real place of origin, the Talpiot estate, was put in smoke entirely. Well, I do not know how Talpiot region itself was being called in the time Jesus, but I would suggest we just simply apply this name ... The Talpiot ... when talking about Joseph, the Father of Mary Magdalene and the Husband of Anna bat Simon. Therefore, it should be - Joseph of Talpiot! It is amazing indeed, how one old innocent map can reveal such phenomenal details!

Now we can finally connect everything together. The Talpiot's Garden tomb is an authentic tomb of Jesus' family, no doubt about that. Only thing, in the ossuary with Jesus' name, there are no remnants of Jesus. Material remnants of Jesus like bones or any other skeletal remains will never be found, because, put simply, they do not exist, and they never did exist as such. Now we know why. Because he and the group of one thousand more ascended to Heaven at Masada Fortress. As we know now, Jesus ascended to heaven indeed, and no any material signs of his existence will ever be found. Instead, those remnants within the ossuary are remnants of Judah. As we know, it was Judah, the twin brother of Jesus, who was crucified on Thursday, 4 April of 30 C.E. However, for genetic research that does not change anything. Because, Judah was the twin brother of Jesus, and the genetics are identical. Especially results in genetic research on Y-Chromosome, which is based on Y-Chromosome carried from father to son, will be identical. If some genetic remnants from the ossuary engraved ... Joshua bar Joseph ... still exist, they need to be compared with the genetic material of King Herod the Great. Another hypothetical condition ... if such genetic material of King Herod the Great does exist.

It was from there, from Talpiot estate itself, that they planned their actions all until 37 C.E. when they moved to Egypt. Nevertheless, the Talpiot estate then remained to be occupied by the family of Jesus. Jesus' Mother, brothers, and some sisters probably, stayed there. It was James the Just, the brother of Jesus, the one to whom he left his Movement but in little-modified shape, who established his headquarter there as well. He was heavily supported by Joseph of Arimathea all the time. That was still their Movement, James was set up to be official leader, but in some near future, Jesus along with his altered identity of Simon Magus used to promote the same ideas of Jesus, but on a different way of course. That was Plan B actually; the intention was to generate new truth-oriented religion, simplified and monotheistic. After his death in 62 C.E., James was buried there as well. It is obvious that ossuary of James is the missing tenth or eleventh ossuary from the Garden Tomb.

An image of the Fish spitting the Jonah could possibly be considered a different way. I think this is an astrological fish, the sign of Pisces, which just started, or, was about to start soon, what was appointed by Cosmic Clock, and the Vernal Equinox posited in this sign or close to it. The symbolic of Pisces was used to define the natal chart of Jesus as well, and as such, it was used as an indicator appointing on some other individuals closely connected to Jesus and deeply involved in the Biblical story. Thus, all were strongly shown and emphasized by the chart of Jesus and some others as well. We saw that many times. The Fish became the symbol of Jesus. However, this Fish is entirely an Astrological concept. The one whom Fish is spitting out is not Jonah; this is just superficial meaning. This is Jesus himself. In addition, on another picture half of Fish is buried, and this shows that one twin brother was dead; he is not alive anymore and a half of the Fish was gone. This is an allegory on Crucifixion, and on Judah himself. Actually, they both, Judah and Jesus do represent the Fish.

However, these pictures were found on the ossuaries of Tomb B-Patio tomb, not on ossuaries in Jesus' family tomb, the Garden tomb-Tomb A. That would change the connotation drastically. That was most probably the family tomb of Joseph of Arimathea. Many of these ossuaries are put there even before Jesus was born, so the allegory of Jonah and resurrection stands strongly.

Talpiot estate played a very important role in the Biblical story. That is the reason it was so carefully cast out from any mentioning. In some stage later on, most probably along with destroying of Jerusalem in 70 C.E. while crashing down the revolt and rebellion, Talpiot estate was abandoned and completely forgotten. On the other hand, it can easily be that it changed owners. Anyway, tombs with ossuaries were additionally covered with ... redzina-terra rosa ... they were forgotten completely and nobody knew about all until the city of Jerusalem has grown big enough to swallow the area that was once just about three kilometers away from the city core. Bulldozers on construction work for condominium apartments stumbled on those tombs and reopened them. Amazing!

A few years ago, I saw the documentary ... The Lost Tomb of Jesus ..., and was impressed very much with the work of the entire team.

Then, was thinking somehow, the story is finished. Must be honest, the book revealed much, much more. I appreciate it very much. I am aware there is a big discussion still going on about the validity and plausibility of archeological findings. Hope the true natal chart of Joseph of Arimathea, along with appropriate reading, will provide more intelligence and shed additional light on that case.

The story of Talpiot inevitably implicates some other deductions. It is plausible to reconsider even the true birthplace of Mary Magdalene. It seems the story of her birth has nothing to do with the town of Magdala in Galilee. That was just coincidence or another makeup, in order to hide the true origin of Mary Magdalene and to push Talpiot location aside. The term "Magdala" and corresponding adjective "Magdalene", came from ... Magdala ... the Tower ... what is just another way to say ... the Great ... so the true meaning is ... The Great Mary. This was elaborated very nicely in the book of ... Simcha Jacobovici ... and ... Barrie Wilson ... The Lost Gospel.

<https://www.amazon.com/Lost-Gospel-Decoding-Marriage-Magdalene/dp/1605988871>

Mary Magdalene was a great spiritual teacher and leader at the time when that was not an easy task for a woman to do. Not an easy task for anyone, after all. Not an easy task, indeed! Thus, this is the correction of my attitude exposed in some essay earlier, that coordinates of Galilean Magdala should be taken as a birth location for Mary. This should be corrected now because the true location of her birth is ... The Talpiot. Anyway, that does not make a big change in the natal chart itself, but it is better to correct it right away as we spotted the true nature of the problem. For that reason, I will expose the natal chart of Mary Magdalene again.

Here it is ...

It happened somehow, just by curiosity, I tried to figure out the natal chart of Ana Bat Simon-The Prophetess, and to my very big surprise, I think a very proper chart surfaced. However, along with the second try, I would say, because, the previously exposed chart was proved as not a proper one. It should be dismissed. All intelligence is scarce and much obscured. We are supposed to build up a natal chart based on very few very suspicious information. This is almost like mission impossible indeed. Everything is open and being in the air ...

The thing is, as I am scrutinizing heavily every possible word and every possible clue, I stumbled on one very interesting material. It was exposed on:

https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Anna_the_Prophetess

One passage was mentioned there ...

Luke 2:36–38

There was also a prophet, Anna, the daughter of Phanuel, of the tribe of Asher. She was very old; she had lived with her husband seven years after her marriage, and then was a widow until she was eighty-four. She never left the temple but worshiped night and day, fasting and praying. Coming up to them at that very moment, she gave thanks to God and spoke about the child to all who were looking forward to the redemption of Jerusalem.

Well, I thought I would never do quoting Luke or others, but in this case, there is an urgent need to do that anyway. Because just exposed passage offers a real breakthrough ... It was obvious that Anna the Prophetess was old in some way, but the question is, how she was old and when she was old. I mean, Bible compilers do not say anything about when was she old; they do not put her in proper context. As it is obvious from the article itself, the meaning of that passage could be understood in different ways. That is the reason some gave her even more than a hundred years. Actually, that was the purpose of mentioning Anna the Prophetess in such a way. The purpose was to confuse and to hide the real identity of Anna the Prophetess.

However, I was thinking a different way. Let say that this mentioned ... eighty-four ... is the age when she died. It does not matter now how she died. Fine, then if she is the proper person, the person who was the mother of Mary Magdalene, and possibly murdered together with her, then we have some calculation to do. If the murder was in 34 C.E., and because of Mary Magdalene, we know it was about that time, then, being ... eighty-four ... means she was born around 50 B.C.E. This is now one very important moment indeed. If we check that year by appropriate Jyotish software, then some striking possibility occurs all of sudden.² One chart is being crystalized so strongly so that I immediately applied long-term checking in order to confirm it or deny it. The thing is, it survived very rigorous procedure of checking all possible points, and I am now close to believe we finally have the true natal chart of Anna the Prophetess.

She was born on May 1, 50 B.C.E. at 3.37 PM LMT. I took Jerusalem as a possible birthplace. She must have been born somewhere around.

Here is the chart itself ...

2) In order to accomplish such natal charts of historical figures, any Jyotish software with appropriate time span coverage can be used. Previously I was mentioning Jagannatha Hora software only, because it is a freeware after all. Nevertheless, Version PL9 of Parashara Light by GeoVision Software Inc can be used as well. Just to mention, Parashara Light is the program by which I made my first steps in Jyotish world. Just cognized that mentioned PL9 Version covers dates all until 6.700 years from today. Every serious Jyotishi needs to have at least three different Jyotish programs. It is not only due to back up reasons, though that can be considered as one very important reason as well. The point is that they will slightly differ with their focus and purpose. One should find what is suiting the best from the point of view of personal interests, desires, and perhaps some very specific applications.

Well, this natal chart was in the stage of investigation for a very long time, and now after everything ... it sounds to me like very plausible.

By scrutinizing this natal chart, I realized that the marriage date with Joseph on January 22, 8 B.C., could withstand. Inspection on transit-gochara for that day support the chart. This is ... Ra-Sa-Gu-Bu-Sk-Ma ... period. According to my opinion, the natal chart supports the birth of daughter Mary Magdalene on June 16, 6 B.C.E. as well. That was ... Ra-Bu-Gu-Ra-Sy-Ra ... the planetary period in Mother's natal chart. Her first marriage did happen along with wedding around July 21, 31 B.C.E when she was about 19 years of age. Then we count seven years more and we come to 24 B.C.E., the Chandra-Shukra period (Ch-Sk) when her first husband died and she was widowed. This part of the story is true, but it should be applied to the first marriage, not the second one with Joseph. In the second marriage, there is no separation. Then, at the beginning of Mangal-Mars Mahadasha in 23 B.C.E., she joined to some kind of reclusive life. She lived monastery life for some time. The conjunction of Shukra and Ketu in the sixth house in Pisces-Meena sign would emphasize that very strongly. They say this is the combination ... Mother Theresa ... had, or another great woman spiritual leader ... Amma Deep devotion to the God, prayers and helping non-privileged people could occur. We see that Shukra-Venus is super-exalted in Vargottama status. This Shukra is highly spiritual, this is probably the highest dignity level Shukra-Venus could be, and the presence of Ketu along with will say that she did not care for luxury life at all. She surrendered to the God; she did prayers and fasting, just as Bible says. This is how she met another Guru, Prophet John the Baptizer, in her Rahu-Guru period (Ra-Gu), (23 January 13 B.C.E. – 20 June 11 B.C.E.). I think that was just about the time John the Baptizer started his public work in Jerusalem; his Academy was just freshly opened about that time. It is in this circle that she met her second husband Joseph, and this happened in her ... Ra-Sa ... period (20 June 11 B.C.E. – 24 April 8 B.C.E.). That was the time for the new affair and getting married. In Rahu-Budha period (Ra-Bu) it must be that they changed their belief system completely and started to tune with new principles given by Prophet John the Baptizer. They adopted Hermeticism as their lifestyle, though that does not necessarily mean that they abandoned Judaism entirely. In the same antardasha, Ra-Bu, their daughter Mary Magdalene was born.

To understand entirely the spiritual orientation of Joseph and Anna the Prophetess, we need to know that they were very close to the Prophet John. It is obvious now; they were around him even when he had his headquarter in the Jerusalem. They have been around him, absorbing his knowledge, and most probably supported him by donations and sponsorships. Most probably, as I mentioned already, this is how they met after all. For sure, they met there at the Academy of John. They went deep with John's knowledge. John used any opportunity to take his disciples out of the existing paradigm; out of the existing expired system of knowledge, including existing religious believes. John knew that everything that did exist at that time, including Jewish religion and Judaism, was very far from natural laws, was deviated and corrupted heavily. Their mouths were full of God, but as soon he would incarnate and try to put them on the right path, they would try to kill him. They tried, and they did it, at least symbolically. Such old structures full of inertia do not like changes. They do not wish changes at all. John's and Jesus work does not have anything to do with Judaism. Their work was directed toward departing Judaism and introducing the new holistic system ... Hermeticism. John and Jesus were on the track of Pharaoh Akhenaten; they were supposed to do big spiritual and religious reformation. This is where the schism started. That is the reason actually, that they have been rejected and prosecuted so heavily by religious authorities of that time. After all, that is the reason so many of them were killed. John's way of working was very simple actually; to wash out all these old corrupted and worn out religious and spiritual postulates, and to reprogram the disciple with the new knowledge, knowledge appropriate for that time, and appropriate for achieving of higher states of consciousness. Just to remind, we are talking about Hermetica, about Hermeticism. This is all about higher states of consciousness. When did you hear that any Rabbi or Christian Church preacher talk about higher states of consciousness? Higher states of consciousness, this is the path to Eden. This is the knowledge Joseph and Anna grasped so deeply and so strongly, and all that they integrated into their daily life after all. From that point on, we cannot watch on them as conventional Jews. Even though, that does not mean they were lesser Jews. Not at all! Jews did exist before the Judaism and they will certainly exist even after the Judaism. The thing is that such old, inert and reactionary structures, like Jewish priesthood of that time, who were stacked and attached to their interests, positions, and benefits only, they wanted to block progress and inevitable changes, and they declared themselves as the “only” protectors of Jews and Jewish tradition. In reality, the situation was the opposite. They were blocking the progress, and for that reason, they were the ones who are harmful to the national identity and for the collective consciousness of the nation. In fact, the story of the Jewish priesthood is a very long story actually. This is turning us toward considering events that did happen much, much earlier in the history. Talking about Jews and not mentioning how they appeared as a nation, is not entirely all right. Nevertheless, this is a very long story indeed, and if we now start to elaborate everything from the very beginning, well, that would definitely take us out from the story of Joseph of Arimathea and his wife Anna the Prophetess. This is our main topic after all. However, without saying the true story about Jews, the story of Joseph of Arimathea cannot be understood properly. For that purpose, I was free to add one entire chapter. Therefore, after ending the story of Joseph of Arimathea I will expose the story of Pharaoh Akhenaton as well. Indeed, this is the only way we make a balance.

I have checked even the possible day of departure of Anna the Prophetess. Well, May 1, 34 C.E. sounds plausible. It is definitely somewhere around. That would give her to be exactly about 84 years of age. Well, this is considerable age, and we are free to say that she was old when she departed. In this sense, the Bible is right; she was very old ... but very old when she did depart. Along with all this calculation, now we know exactly how she departed. She was assassinated together with her daughter Mary Magdalene. Most probably, it did happen during one of the countless innocent walks in the beautiful nature of their estate in East Talpiot. They forgot they have many enemies outside. However, they were not so naive, I would say, there must have been some guards appointed. Was somebody else killed in that action as well? How did intruders avoid guards?

My initial assumption was only partially right; she was about 44 years of age when she gave birth to Mary Magdalene. That was quite in time to be the biological mother yet. However, a statement that she was about ten years younger than Joseph does not stand at all; in reality, she was only about five years and four months younger than Joseph. Thus, she was much closer to the age of Joseph, what makes sense actually. In fact, that would make the situation almost ideal. They were close to each other by age, and they were both mature and very experienced so that nothing could surprise them anymore. Such features they will need indeed because as we know now, they are about to have very hard, difficult and challenging time.

Altogether, very spiritual, charismatic and very beautiful person Anna the Prophetess was. Again, I would like to emphasize this Vargottama super-exalted Shukra-Venus. In addition, not to forget powerful Budha-Mercury exalted in the Navamsa chart as well. Moreover, there was a very big influence of Rahu on the natal chart, who imbibed qualities of conjoined Saturn-Sani, the host Mercury-Budha, and Mangal-Mars, after receiving the fourth aspect from him. Such Rahu, together with Saturn-Sani, they are giving aspect-drishti on Shukra-Venus, what will make her very energetic, beautiful and attractive even when being in old age. This is that Shukra-Venus and Sani-Saturn mutual influence.

From the complete elaboration exposed in this essay, it is obvious how important was a role that Joseph of Arimathea did play in these fateful days. Nevertheless, this is not all. Such roles he has been playing throughout the time. If we drive our attention with our Time Machine just little bit back, some five thousand years before the time of Joseph and Jesus, we shall find him as one of the brothers of King Rama. We can locate him as the Bharata, the brother of Rama, who ruled the country instead of Rama while he was in exile for fourteen years. We find him as a righteous king, who was very angry with his mother Kaikeyi because of what she had done and how she had done. Nevertheless, as Rama said things are done and put in motion, everybody needs to face his or her dharma, including him ... the Rama. In addition, he went into exile leaving the country to his younger brother. Bharata was a great king indeed.

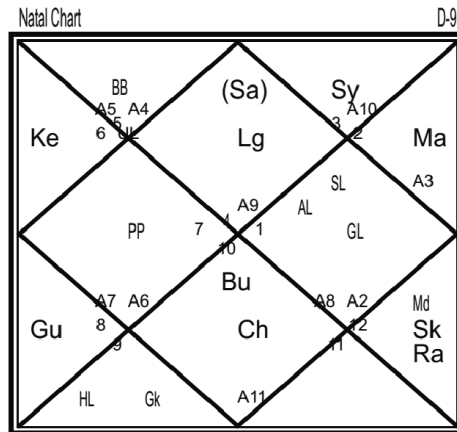

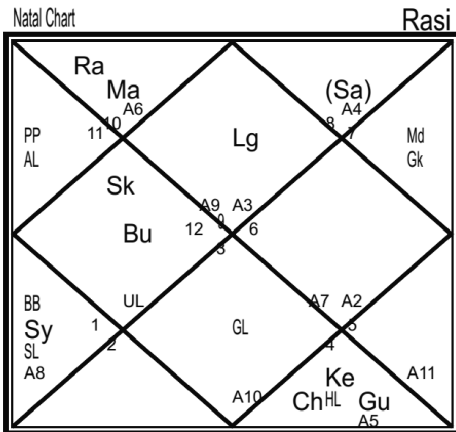

The natal chart of the King Bharata did surface as well ... He was born on January 10, 5114 B.C.E. at 10.25 PM LMT. For all additional details, I suggest reading another essay of mine with the title ... Dating the Era of Lord Ram ... and the link on the ... www.scribd.com ... is exposed right at the end of this essay.

I have just wanted to demonstrate the natal chart of the King Bharata, as this is the same incarnation line with Joseph of Arimathea. Or, ... Joseph of Talpiot ... as we just discovered his real identity and real origin.

He also came as another King Bharata, who gave the name to India itself. That was just at the beginning of our half-cycle of time. This is to be found in another essay of mine under the title ... SAGE MANU, SAGE BHRIGU, DASAVATHARAM PARASHURAMA AND CYCLES OF YUGAS OR WORLD AGES ... and the link is exposed at the end of this essay as well. Based on his first probing little bit of sugar cane juice, he got this name Ikshvaku, what gave the name to the entire Solar Dynasty. At that time, some 12.000 years ago and before, people did not eat food as we consider it today. They lived this long time hidden ideal of every human being ... Eat as you breathe ... The first generation after the Big Flood was not so afflicted yet, thus the King Rishabhanata was not so much afflicted. However, the next generation, including his son, King Bharata, was already afflicted very much, and people started to use some material food. Just in solidarity with them, King Bharata took some small amount of sugar cane juice, for the first time in his life, and this is how they all got the name ... Ikshvaku. The natal chart of the King Bharata, the son of the King Rishabhanatha, is exposed in continuation ...

Let us say a few words more about Talpiot estate itself. I was researching a lot with Google Earth and then did notice how beautiful it must have been at the time when Joseph, Anna, Mary Magdalene, and Jesus were walking around.³ Endless beautiful rolling hills; I assume it was involved much more in green vegetation and forests at that time. There was an agriculture land around of course, and that was the farm basically, a standalone unit with workers who did all heavy job. The house, the main building, the home itself, was placed at the summit of that hill, and the beautiful panoramic view was opened just toward the Old City of Jerusalem. That was definitely not the highest hill around, but it had higher altitude comparing to the Jerusalem itself. Thus, from there, from the East Talpiot itself, the Jerusalem was seen from “above”, what also had some meaning at that time. I can easily imagine how nice and beautiful view of Jerusalem they had from the terrace of their home.

Even today, there is ... the Promenade ... there, with a beautiful view of the Old City of Jerusalem ...

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Talpiot>

... together with the beautiful ... Tolerance Monument ... just outside of the United Nations Headquarters. Amazing!

3) There is a very nice and interesting article exposed in the Biblical Archaeology Review, though it is not connected directly with the Talpiot story. The article is summarizing all possible evidences beyond the Bible itself about the existence of the Jesus himself. The title of the article is ... Did Jesus Exist? Searching for Evidence Beyond the Bible ... it is written by Lawrence Mykytiuk, and it can be found at the following link: <https://www.biblicalarchaeology.org/daily/people-cultures-in-the-bible/jesus-historical-jesus/did-jesus-exist/>

Two discovered tombs: Garden tomb-Tomb A, and Patio tomb-Tomb B; together with the clustered third tomb, lost and destroyed in dynamite explosion along with the works on apartments construction, were placed in the very close distance at the southern hillslope, less than two hundred meters from the summit itself, from the possible house location. That was probably park area, silent space in the beautiful natural garden-like landscape, devoted to such purpose exclusively. What was in that third tomb we shall probably never reveal? Unfortunately, the third tomb is lost forever. Anyway, it seems to me that along with all discoveries so far, all pieces of the puzzle are coming together, providing enough of synergy to decipher the complete story.

Actually, to move things forward, there is only one thing to do now, and that is to reopen both tombs, the Patio tomb, and the Garden Tomb. There is an urgent necessity to overcome all religious dubious restrictions in order to provide the full scientific insight without tricks and manipulations. There are many ossuaries there in Patio tomb unopened and intact, even with some worthy DNA material for making a certain analysis. We are not supposed to think in a way we shall disturb the peace of a long time departed individuals. All these individuals are already reincarnated many times. It could be even that they are among us right now. I think the situation is opposite; it is the truth about what happened and how it happened, what will make these souls be in peace. It is because of them that we need to do that. Finding the truth is the way toward reunion with the Source. Because, what is the truth? The ultimate Truth is the God itself. The God Himself is the ultimate Truth. Therefore, the thread of Truth is actually the highway toward uniting with the God. It is exactly because of this reason that all true spiritual seekers are Truth oriented and Truth-loving. They know very well about this utmost ideal, which is by the way embedded into the saying ... The Truth shall set you free ...

Therefore, before these remnants will be exposed to final disintegration, I am sure they can offer plenty of information so that we finally find out answers at least to some remaining questions. It will be nice to see who is who in these ossuaries and possible newly discovered inscriptions on the outer walls of the ossuaries can provide even additional explanations and solutions.

The Garden Tomb, though ossuaries are not there anymore, would possibly offer additional information by careful study of the walls, possible wall inscriptions, and some other artifacts.

I am still trying to catch up and comprehend everything that was done and written about Talpiot tombs. Right now, I am reading the book ... The Jesus Family Tomb ... by ... Simcha Jacobovici ... and ... Charles Pellegrino ... Very interesting indeed. The affluence of worthy material and intelligence ...

As I was reading this book, some things were set in my mind, some new questions popped up, and some old questions were knocking on the door much stronger than ever before. Especially one question was in the air for a long time, and I was somehow suppressing it very much, but now, it seems, I came to the wall, and there is no even millimeter to go back, to try to hide the truth or to try to neglect it. Just to say, this kind of question I met before already, but was somehow prone to find some solutions in order not to see the obvious truth; the truth that now stroke me so heavily, and even painfully, I would say.

It is all about ... Judah, son of Jesus ... What happened to him? Previously I had exposed the fact about his birth, his natal chart was done, and I was somehow sure he made his way with others to France, and finally with Joseph to Britain. However, was that the case? If there is an ossuary with his name in the Garden Tomb, in the tomb of Jesus' family, an ossuary smaller than others, what would say this is an ossuary of a child, there is only one conclusion; he,

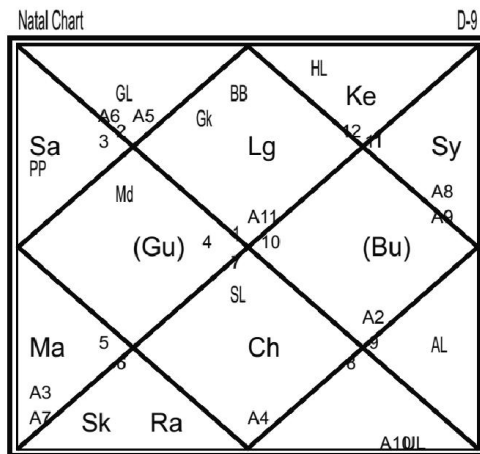

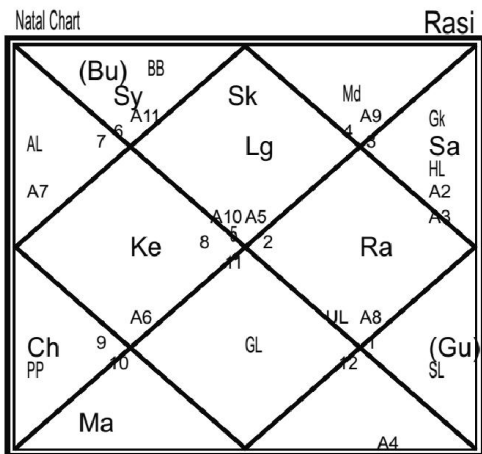

Judah son of Jesus, did not make it. There were some clues about such a scenario, but I did not want to see them. In all alternative versions of that story, it was only Sarah mentioned, with different variations of course, that she reached France. Judah was never mentioned explicitly in any of such alternative stories. My entire work was based on the presumption that Mary Magdalen was pregnant during Crucifixion event, and there was a son of Jesus named Judah born very soon afterward, and I put him right there straight to Britain with Joseph. Nevertheless, this was not the case. He did not survive!

It seems to me, the natal chart of Judah now should be corrected little bit as well. It is obvious that he was born on the East Talpiot property of Joseph of Arimathea. This change will not influence the natal chart heavily, but anyway, it is supposed to be done. This is the new natal chart ...

Then I checked thoroughly in the natal chart of the Judah, something that I missed to do before, and I was shocked. It is there! Judah son of Jesus was murdered in the same attack when his mother Mary Magdalene was killed, and his grandmother Anna the Prophetess. It is around April 28, 34 C.E. indeed. This is ... Sk-Bu-Gu-Gu-Gu ... planetary period, and Mangal-Mars transit together with Rahu over the eighth house of the natal chart would confirm that. In transit as well, there is a Sani-Saturn giving the seventh aspect to the Chandra-Moon. Shukra-Venus, as the lord of the first dasha of his life, is in double debilitation, it is in deep debilitation. Shukra-Venus and Jupiter-Guru are bitter enemies, and no doubt, something went wrong there ...

The fact is that there we see Shukra-Venus, Budha-Mercury, and Guru-Jupiter play in the dasha period. Guru-Jupiter, as a ruler of the eighth house, becomes functional malefic, and it is very strongly highlighted in the dasha period of the moment of death of Judah. It gives the fifth aspect to debilitated Shukra-Venus in the first.

Thus, it is obvious; there was some spiritual or religious game behind due to the Guru-Jupiter influence. However, extraordinary low level of dignity of Shukra-Venus, who is cemented in the lowest debilitation status, indicates that there is something more in the game as well. Shukra is the significator of relationships. In this case, it would show some very bad relationship perhaps. Someone of very less of dignity and no scruples was involved very probably. Is there some love relationship of some bad person full of envy, jealousy and with no scruples behind? When there is a crime committed, police and detectives always search for a motive. This is a good question actually. Was this crime ever solved? Perhaps we need to solve it from the perspective of the 21st century. Therefore, who had a motive ...

One candidate, I have already mentioned before in my essay about Mary Magdalene. Paul-Saul was a strong candidate to be behind such conspiracy. There are strong indications he was in love with Mary Magdalene since they have been at the Academy of John in Alexandria. The fact that she did not choose him but Jesus instead, could have made him full of envy and extremely jealous. The meteoric ascension of Jesus as a strong spiritual leader and charismatic miracle maker could only drive more fuel on that burning hatred. Along with Crucifixion, otherwise very successful movement of Jesus was suppressed. Partially that was a premeditated action of Jesus and his group, to be entirely correct. However, that was done due to the enormous political pressure on the Jesus and his followers. Nevertheless, Paul-Saul was watching carefully and waiting for his chance ...

However, the Paul-Saul himself was not alone in this game, it seems. Birds of a Feather Flock Together – this is an old proverb. The story we are talking about was not only spiritual, but it was also highly political. Some sources would even mention there was some ... “son of the Pharaoh” ... around. It was mentioned that “the son of the Pharaoh” was a possible candidate for ordering that attack. A story has it that he had a very strong motive as well. Nevertheless, who could that possibly have been? ... There was no any pharaoh around. Or, perhaps it was ...!? Well, so many questions ... But some we need to leave unanswered ...

By looking onto transits and in the dasha period, the certain time interval as a plausible option, this is 28-29 of April 34 C.E. This is about his ... Sk-Bu-Gu-Gu-Gu-Gu ... dasha period. It can be that was a night attack ...

Well, what to say ... all that was a big tragedy no doubt about ... Big tragedy and a big crime ... Nevertheless, it would be better we change the topic ...

By contemplating this story deeply, something else attracted my attention. This is like a never-ending story indeed. As soon you reveal something new, something so exciting and revolutionary, what makes that you can understand things much deeper, then something new will pop up to show that you are not even close in making the story to be complete.

By reading all these precious books and documentaries I have mentioned before, one new name somehow crystalized; one new person, one figure who was staying far away aside until this moment. This is about ... Philip. Today they call him ... Saint Philip ..., but his story and his gospel were heavily suppressed by canonical texts and official Church doctrine. However, alternative and apocryphal sources do reveal much more. As I have just learned that the ... Gospel of Philip (Act of Filip) ... was part of Nag Hammadi Library, gnostic texts discovered in mid-forties of last century, and there it was mentioned that he could have been the brother of Mary Magdalene, or Mariamne, how they did call her at that time. That cognition that Philip is the possible brother of the Mary Magdalene-Mariamne intrigued me so very much indeed. Therefore, I started to look at how to trace this person by Vedic Astrology-Jyotish. If Philip is the real brother of Mariamne, then he must have been the son of Joseph of Talpiot and his wife Anna the Prophetess. Then, how can we locate him, or, how can we just check if this is a true or false statement?

Well, if we take as a true fact that Joseph and Anna got married at the end of January 8 B.C.E. (or latest in February or March 8 B.C.E.), then by seeing that their daughter Mariamne was born on June 16, 6 B.C.E, we can easily observe there is a long gap in between. Now, explanations are coming spontaneously; as we know they were both in mature age, I suppose they would have liked to ensure progeny of theirs as soon as possible. Especially son would be very welcome. This gap was actually intriguing me so very much; because there is plenty of room for one child more, one before the daughter Mariamne. I just have focused myself on that gap; I was just thinking how to check if this option is false or true. After some thinking, I observed that the end of eight B.C.E and the first half of the seventh B.C.E. are plausible for them to have their first child actually.

Well, seeing children of the owner of the natal chart is not so easy; it is extremely complex indeed. Dasha system and transits should be combined together. In dasha system ruler of the fifth house of the natal chart will play an important role, as well as the ruler of the fifth house of D-7 divisional chart, Guru-Jupiter, as natural significator of children, may be involved, and Putrakaraka (PK) significator of children in this particular natal chart too. By considering both natal charts, charts of Joseph and Anna, and by careful comparison, certain time interval was proved as a plausible option. This is the ... Ra-Bu-Sy-Sa ... period in Anna’s chart, and the ... Bu-Bu-Gu-Sy ... period in Joseph’s chart. They overlapped in the time window from ... April 23, 7 B.C.E until April 29, 7 B.C.E. In that time interval, I think, their firstborn child was supposed to be born. Then by knowing this, I have just cast an approximate natal chart for the middle of that period, for April 26, 7 B.C.E.

Yes, this is all nice, but which lagna-ascendant to consider? Well, when we do not have any clue about the birth time of the person within the day, and just for preliminary and very general observations, in Jyotish there is a rule to take 12.00 AM, the noontime, as an initial time for chart evaluation. My intention was just to see some general points. If we are close to the day of birth, the position of planets-grahas will immediately show that. If this is the natal chart of the child of Joseph and Anna, two things will be shown immediately; it will be shown that the child will be very rich, and that will be somehow backed up with certain Dhana Yoga in the chart itself. In addition, it is very likely that this person will be very spiritual, just as his Father, his Mother and younger sister Mariamne. I was thinking, later on, as soon I see all the general points, I will play with the chart itself in order to find the proper lagna-ascendant.

Then, as soon as I saw the preliminary natal chart, I have noticed that Simha-Lion lagna-ascendant is active, and I saw that Chandra-Moon is dancing around Ketu. The conjunction of Chandra-Moon with Ketu is very common with strong and charismatic spiritual leaders. Another thing, exactly for this natal chart it is happening that Budha-Mercury is the ruler of the second house and eleventh house, and it is posited in the ninth. This is making double Dhana Yoga, and exactly with Budha-Mercury, the synonym for trade and commerce. Amazing! Furthermore, there is a triple conjunction of Mercury-Budha, Venus-Shukra, and Mars-Mangal in the ninth house, the house of spirituality, higher learning, philosophical attitudes, and religion. Stunning combination indeed. Then, Guru-Jupiter is in the seventh and Saturn-Sani is in the eighth, and they are in Parivarthana Yoga, they exchanged houses, what links them in a very special way. Philip's in-laws will become his partners, or/and ... his partners will become in-laws. Sounds good. In that case, Jesus is supposed to become Philip's brother in law.

Altogether, this is something I immediately knew it is very close to being true. Thus, the chart of Philip was found and the lagna-ascendant was very proper, and everything is all right. Amazing! Absolutely amazing, I must say.

Here is the natal chart itself

In reality, it was not so simple; it was not so easy and not so quick. When I had cast this natal chart, then the long process of verification started. Even though we do not know so much about Philip, some things we know anyway. For example, we know one very certain date of his life, and this is the birth date of his younger sister ... Mariamne. That was the first strong verification point. I would like to remind that out of all charts being revealed so far; only natal charts of Jesus and Mary Magdalene-Mariamne are exposed in full precision, being precise to the level of a minute. They became kind of basic charts and referent points for other charts to be compared with.

I am talking about all this as that I know all that. Well, I did not know all this but was supposed to learn a lot. I did not know many things; I was just supposed to learn all that. Still, I am not clear that I know all that. Well, to be honest, I am improvising a lot ... I am just tracing the way for other professional Jyotish expert to continue further on ...

To check if the birthdate of the younger sister fits in, I looked in the dasha period again, and it was proved that is ... Bu-Sa-Sa-Bu-Ma-Sa ... period, on June 16, 6 B.C.E. at 6.36 AM LMT. This time we have with great precision, as I mentioned. Then, immediately it comes out, Budha-Mercury is the ruler of the eleventh house in Philip's chart, the house of gains, but also the second house, the house of family. Saturn-Sani is exalted in the Navamsa chart and conjoined to the Budha-Mercury, and due to the feedback connection, they both give a lot of influence in the third house, the house of younger siblings. Mangal-Mars is there also, conjoined to the Budha and Sani ... Just not to go into the complete elaboration, I think, this combination is plausible ... and due to that, I think, the natal chart of Philip is the proper one.

Plenty of details fit in in a phenomenal way. Ketu and Chandra-Moon conjunction happen to be in the fourth house, it will denote mother actually. Nevertheless, Chandra-Moon will be debilitated and Ketu will be in exaltation sign, their energies will fuse, so that neither one is exalted nor another is debilitated. They say that the only true dignity of the planet is being seen from the D-60 divisional chart. There Chandra-Moon becomes exalted ... and this is it. Mother was more like a Queen. At the same time, Chandra-Moon is the ruler of the twelfth house showing that the owner of the chart will have a home abroad at some stage of his life. In addition, the ruler of the fourth is Mangal-Mars, and it is posited strongly in the ninth house, in own house. Reading will be following. Mother will be extremely spiritual, she will be moody, and she will be absent from home due to spiritual reasons. This is not a just ordinary mother, a woman who is doing homemaker jobs and similar. No, no, no ... This is a highly spiritual mother, who went to some strong spiritual teacher, staying there for some time, but it is aspecting and watching her own fourth house very carefully, and transmitting very precious energy of the ninth house to her home.

This is to say, Mother was "flying" with Prophet John the Baptizer; she was a very important sponsor and donor of his. At the beginning of 3 B.C.E Ketu mahadasha will start for Philip, and that will intensify that situation, the mother will be absent from home even more. Ketu dasha period usually denotes a change of residence. It is possible that exactly in this period the family of Joseph and Ana moved to the mentioned Marmorica. However, Ketu mahadasha, in this case, will not be harmful at all. Ketu sits in the kendra house, and the ruler Mars is in the high dignity in the ninth. Actually, as a lord of the kendra house in the kona, Mangal makes Raj Yoga. This is very important Yoga, which will additionally make the owner of the chart be like a king.

We should recall our memory on historical events, and we need to remind ourselves that Jesus was born in Bethlehem just about that time, on April 13, 5 B.C.E., and very turbulent time is just about to start. Just a year afterward, as we know now, King Herod the Great will be murdered. We also know there was an assassination attempt on the Prophet John the Baptizer as well. Magi made a big mess there in Jerusalem indeed. Upraise of the people in Jerusalem and rebellion, did start as a logical consequence. That was very turbulent time indeed. John the Baptizer is supposed to move quickly and it was exactly Anna the Prophetess together with Joseph, who was the closest to him at that time, they supported him heavily, and most probably, it was their idea to move to the safety of very much internationally established Alexandria and Egypt. Most probably, they even donated enough that property around Alexandria was purchased and that everything will go well. Not to be forgotten that they already had their second home in Marmorica, home where they moved in, a home which will be like their permanent for some time.

From the chart itself we see that Philip was very charismatic, learned in religious texts, very good writer and very eloquent, his words were full of wisdom and he was listened to by others with attention. It is very likely that he did some trips with preaching along with spreading the new teachings of Jesus. Rahu is in the tenth indicating that he could perform some magic, including miracles. Indeed, from some texts, we have confirmations he was also performing miracles, just as his sister Mariamne did.

We can notice that Philip was born just one day after the lunar eclipse. This is good, because, the Chandra-Moon is not so eclipsed anymore.

Well, I think, to elaborate everything tractates should be written. Just to make the story shorter, I would like to conclude with the final stage of Philip's life. In some alternative sources, it is explicitly mentioned that Philip was in the group that reached France and Marseilles, where they separated and Philip continued to Gaul with Joseph of Arimathea-Joseph of Talpiot and some others, and in the final stage, they finished in Britain. Now we know exactly who Philip was, and what was his relationship with Joseph. The chart indicates the very long life of Philip. Along with all other things, this chart is royal indeed. Thus, it is there where the new dynasty of England did start. Joseph and Philip, it seems, settled there in the Glastonbury region, just as legend has it. It is exactly that fact as the main reason that later on he was called the ... Joseph of Glastonbury ... as well. It is astonishing how everything is fitting in now. Every piece of the puzzle comes to the proper place ...

There is only one thing to do now, and that is to reopen the Patio Tomb. There is an urgent necessity to overcome all religious dubious restrictions in order to provide the full scientific insight without tricks and manipulations. There are many ossuaries there unopened and intact, perhaps even with some worthy DNA for making a certain analysis. We are not supposed to think in a way we shall disturb the peace of a long time departed individuals. All these individuals reincarnated already many times. It could be even that they are among us right now. I think the situation is just entirely opposite; it is the truth about what did happen and how it did happen, what will make these souls be in peace. It is because of them that we need to do that. Finding the truth is the way toward reunion with the Source. Because, what is the truth? The ultimate Truth is the God itself. The God Himself is the ultimate Truth. The thread of Truth is actually the highway toward uniting with the God. Therefore, all true spiritual seekers are Truth oriented and Truth-loving.

Before the conclusion, just to mention that before these remnants will be exposed to final disintegration, I am sure they can offer plenty of information so that we finally find out answers at least to some remaining questions. It will be nice to see who is who in these ossuaries. Possible inscriptions on ossuaries not detected so far could possibly be of tremendous importance in making all pieces of mosaic to fit in place.

As a real conclusion, I want to say something about all these natal charts and Jyotish points exposed. Once again I will repeat that I am not the expert in this field. I have just found myself in this story; I even do not know myself how. I was expecting all such revelations would be done by somebody else. Nevertheless, because nobody was doing that before, I was free to expose all that I know. Mistakes in observations and conclusions are possible. Jyotish is a vast field, and the entire life is not enough to comprehend everything. I invite all experts in this field to find confirmations or denials on all my statements. The research itself can be extended, of course. Some other experts from different branches of the Science can join, in order to unite the efforts ... so that the truth is finally established.

PHARAOH AKHENATON, EXODUSES AND MOSES

No doubt, the research on real history through the prism of Vedic Astrology-Jyotish is becoming very interesting. To be quite honest, it is becoming so exciting that it is hard not to think about how to move things even further on. In fact, to be quite precise, we want to move our search window even further back in time, in order to see if some new secrets and hidden facts can be deciphered on real ancient history. Now we have full confidence in Jyotish software of different kind, which can be so precise that we can go thousands of years before our present time. It is now proved we can rely on the positions of planets entirely. It is also shown we can rely on wonderful, so extraordinary and unique knowledge of Jyotish and Archaeoastronomy. Stars are not performing, pretending, not lying and not manipulating ... Incredible, but we can rely on them entirely! Even if we do not know how to read them, well, they are still there; they will wait patiently for us to learn how to read them.

As our topic is Jewish world right now, along with deciphering the true Biblical story, then inevitably, we need to pay attention to the very early phase of their own origin, on the early stage of their formative history. Well, as Passover festivities of 2018, are just going on, this is definitely additional one strong reason to direct our spotlights of Vedic Astrology-Jyotish onto that very, very dark and nontransparent corner of our ancient history, and to see something about the liberation of Jews from Egypt. Actually, in order to understand the true history of Jews, we need to shed more light on two other important figures in the history. We actually need to turn our attention toward Egypt, because of the fact that a good portion of Jewish history is connected with that country. Nevertheless, even that will not be enough, because we will need to turn our attention toward India itself, better to say, toward Vedic India. Because this is the true origin of the Jews. Nevertheless, we rather go systematically, step by step. I was thinking it would be good to narrate this story by shedding light on the so enigmatic and charismatic Pharaoh Akhenaten, and his nothing less charismatic and enigmatic father Pharaoh Amenhotep III. It somehow happened that they are central figures in that story of the early formative phase of the Jewish Nation.

Pharaoh Akhenaten would definitely be the subject of our great interest. If we look at these things chronologically, then he is to be our next target naturally. He is a great figure in the history of humankind, who appeared just a little bit before King David. Nevertheless, about Pharaoh Akhenaten, we know even less than about previously mentioned leaders. There are so many controversies, enigmas ... everything about him is obscured and shrouded. He was extracted from the list of kings of Egypt, all artifacts and traces were carefully removed in order not to be seen that he ever did exist. After all, he was proclaimed as a heretic king. Therefore, no surprise, we want to shed more light on this interesting figure of our past. Yes indeed, that was so turbulent time with so extraordinary events. Somehow, all these events are still echoing in our time, no doubt about that.

Though I was thinking it would not be so easy to find his natal chart, I was wrong. It was very easy. By researching several biographies, I found clues about his life story. They exposed nicely when he began with the ruling and the year of possible death. The precise year of birth is not mentioned. I calculated carefully when that could possibly have been. An idea came, well, let me start with the springtime of 1375 B.C.E. Incredible! It was there! Shani-Guru conjunction was there. Exalted Surya was there. Just to put Chandra-Moon in the ninth house and Chandra comes as the atmakaraka, and if we place the atmakaraka into the ninth house of Navamsa ... well ... if we adjust everything to March 3, 1375 B.C.E. at 11.01 AM LMT, we get an astonishing natal chart. Amazing!

Therefore, this is my suggestion for the natal chart of the Pharaoh Akhenaten ...

In this natal chart, we can immediately observe Punarvasu Nakshatra ascendant, which is just at the very beginning of the sign, and therefore strong influence of Mithuna rasi will be exposed as well. We see that Chandra is in the Revati Nakshatra ruled by Budha-Mercury, and because all is happening in the Meena rasi, strong Guru and Budha influence will be exposed. Though Budha-Mercury is debilitated, with the lowest dignity, by being retrograde, it is actually exalted. We also see that Chandra-Moon is with exalted Shukra-Venus, and it is Vargottama Yoga exposed. Chandra is the significator of the Mother, and we immediately see the extraordinary Mother. We also see that Shukra is staying firmly in the Navamsa lagna. Therefore, we see that both, Chandra and Shukra are very prominent, and they both will emphasize feminine image and nature of the Akhenaten.

For Karkha lagna people Shukra is lord of the fourth house, the house of Mother, but also, for every man, Shukra is the significator of the wife. Moreover, here we have the link immediately. It was Immanuel Velikovsky as a first one, who suggested an alternative story that Akhenaten got married to Mother when he became a Pharaoh. Some other authors also suggested that she became very prized and honored wife of Akhenaten. Very serious recent theories suggested that Mother Tiye is actually known as the later wife of Akhenaton Kiya. Though some authors strongly rejected such an idea, I truly believe this is the case. Furthermore, I believe Kiya is the mother of future pharaoh Tutankhamun.

Natal chart shows Ketu in the twelve house. This is a very strong indication of the enlightenment. He himself was enlightened, but he also elevated many other people around him into a higher state of consciousness. The number of three hundred people is associated with him, whom he raised up toward the enlightenment. He did a tremendous job on many levels, and we shall still need some time to cover the full frame of his achievements.

This is where we are actually coming to decipher the very core of all twists of the Old Testament.

Before going further on there is a need to say a few words about Egypt of that era. People usually think that the king or pharaoh was the pinnacle of the ruling power within the country. In this particular case, we consider Egypt only. Therefore, the pharaoh or king was not the supreme level of power and ruling. Then, the question will immediately pop up, who was actually ruling the country? Who was the Boss? The answer is very simple. There were priests who ruled the country. They were established in a high level of consciousness, let us say so. They possessed the highest possible knowledge of the golden era of the humanity. However, they by themselves were falling down gradually in consciousness, same as humanity was heading toward a dark era, and some of them had entered the state of consciousness level where strong polarization did start. Polarization means leaning on the positive or negative side. That means, some of them will continue to be highly positive, and they will continue to work on raising the level of consciousness of humanity to a higher level. This is a natural tendency with all people in the higher state of consciousness, to work for the benefit of the humankind. Nevertheless, as humans were falling from Unity consciousness, on some stage eventually, polarization will occur and they can finish highly negatively polarized, so instead of reflecting God's will and work for humanity, they will expose very selfish tendencies, inclining away from the God's will. They will say we know better than God does. Moreover, this is the moment where religions came into existence. This is the moment where they started to interpret God's will. These negative priests will carefully shape the system of knowledge to work only for their interest, for their benefit. They will start to collect goods and they will become very rich. They will imply such a system of control that nobody can oppose them, and that nobody can question their power. All the time they will act from the shadow, not to be exposed in any case. They will carefully choose, train and educate a person who will be exposed as a king or let say a pharaoh, and who will actually promote and carry their agenda. Sometimes even one of them will be chosen to be a king or pharaoh, while others will continue to act from the shadow. They accumulated all possible power of the country. They were ruling over death and life within the state. Their power was unbounded and unquestionable.

This is exactly the moment when Akhenaten occurred. He incarnated in the family of Amenhotep III, who was actually one of these negatively oriented priests. Thus, his Father was one of them. No doubt, he, the Father, was very successful as a leader. He was ruling for a long time, and he was very successful. However, as soon as Akhenaten took the power, he started the process of restoring the true knowledge, which was actually hidden by the old priesthood. He exposed the highest spiritual knowledge, which was not searching the God and Heaven on Earth somewhere in very far and distant places. He explained to the people that the God and the Kingdom of Heaven, they are within them. Sun God was just symbolic of that philosophy. He was the first to introduce the monotheistic system because people were simply not ready to understand a deeper level of nature functioning. Of course, there is the entire hierarchy of Gods; that was written even in the Bible. Nevertheless, in certain world ages, people cannot understand that, and the system is supposed to be simplified.

To accomplish all these reforms Akhenaton was supposed to put old priests entirely out from any power. Moreover, this is exactly what he did. Most probably, very soon the conflict with the Father started as well. Therefore, long co-regency as some authors suggest is not to be considered as an option. As soon Father saw where Akhenaton is heading, he withdrew. The co-regency could possibly exist only for about one year, not more. Amenhotep III did not die. His burial and mummification were faked. There is an option that Father was supporting Akhenaton on some level, but due to the situation with other negative priests, he could not stay with Akhenaten, because they could kill him as well. Therefore, they organized his disappearance from the scene. Where did he go? Not far away. He became a general in the army of the Pharaoh Akhenaten, and he will appear after some time as chief vizier, and further on, as the future ... Pharaoh Ay. He was carrying his birth name ... Ay it-netjer ..., what means ... "Ay, Father of the God". This name is telling everything by itself. Probably he killed the Tutankhamun, the son of Akhenaton and his Mother-Wife Tiye-Kiya. He was the shadowy ruler behind the Tutankhamun; he was behind these who preceded to the Tutankhamun also. He established himself as the Pharaoh Ay, but not for a long, just for about four years. In addition, it was about the year 1321 B.C.E. when he changed his identity again and became ... the Moses. When old negative priests regain the full power, he was supposed to transform himself into Moses in order to take Jews out of Egypt, but not to make them free. He was supposed to take them in another kind of slavery, even much more demonic in nature than the previous one. It was kind of slavery where Jews were supposed to serve for a very dark agenda, which was played for a few thousand years, all until recently, I would say.

Actually, there was a break, because, Jews were liberated by King David, enjoyed the freedom along with King Solomon, and were staying free all along with the United Kingdom of Israel and Judah. Nevertheless, the cycle was going down further on, negativity was increasing rapidly and about 700 B.C.E. the Kali Yuga-Iron Age started, and it is about that time that the Jewish Kingdom was broken apart. Assyrians came and took Jews to the slavery in Babylon from where ten out of twelve tribes mysteriously disappeared. This is not a nice and pleasant story, but although being such, these Jews still helped in the unprecedented way for evolution to go on. In fact, Jews work for the God and with the God even if they are seemingly on the negative side. This is actually a very long story, which we shall continue some other time, but very soon anyway.

In addition, we see this power of Akhenaton by Mangal-Mars, which is placed in the sixth house. Wonderful place for Mangal to be and to help to overcome his rivals and opponents. Rahu is there also and it did multiply the power of Mangal hundred times. Nevertheless, in this chart, Mangal represents the Father also. Therefore, the Father is incredibly strong as well. However, it seems to me, the Father was balancing between two poles. Because the pendulum of the time at the end inclined to the negative side, he was supposed to perform the Second Exodus.⁴ He was already very old at that time.

Akhenaten did what he could. He definitely changed many things. Nothing was the same after his ruling. We also see that the year of the Second Exodus was 1321 B.C.E. The year when the Pharaoh Ay disappeared from the scene, is actually the year of the Second Exodus.⁵ First Exodus had happened about 300 years earlier, by expelling of Hyksos from Egypt.

5) There is a nice article exposed in the BAR ... under the title ... The Exodus: Fact or Fiction? ... It is available at the link ... https://www.biblicalarchaeology.org/daily/biblical-topics/exodus/exodus-fact-or-fiction/?mqsc=E3947226&utm_source=WhatCountsEmail&utm_medium=BHD+Daily%20Newsletter&utm_campaign=ZE8A4DZ62

Hyksos were actually Vedic Aryans who left India when Sarasvati River dried up about 1900 B.C.E. and due to some tectonic changes there as well. They spread all over Asia and migrated westward toward Africa and Europe as well. Thus, the invasion of Aryans was not going to India at that time. It was actually going out of India. This migration was going on in stages for about a few hundred years. In the moment of the migration, as the Core of the Vedic Civilization, they have been still very strongly structured and organized in a caste system. This is something that India has even today.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hyksos>

Therefore, Vedic Aryans when coming out of India had a very strong Kshatriya caste, and that means very strong military organization. They had extremely well-trained soldiers, and very sophisticated and advanced weaponry for that time, and they were defeating everyone in the very easy way. This is how they entered Egypt also. Then, after about a hundred years, Egyptian leaders reorganized drastically, they gained the power, and they defeated Vedic Aryans, Hyksos, how they called them. After winning, they extracted this very powerful military component of Hyksos, the military wing, out of Egypt. This is ... the First Exodus.⁶ In fact, it was mostly another caste of Vedic Aryans, who remained there within Egypt, but in total enslavement.⁷ This caste is being called ... the Vaishya caste. Their job within the society was to organize the production of all kind of goods. They were entrepreneurs, something that we would today call ... the Capitalists. That was their family tradition for thousands and thousands of years within the Vedic society. All necessary knowledge was carried from one generation of the same family to another generation. That is how enormous knowledge and experience were acquired. This is all long story as well, and we shall resume some other time.

This is the natal chart of the Moses ... the Pharaoh Amenhotep III, the Father of Akhenaten. He was born on December 30, 1414 B.C.E. at 6.57 PM LMT.

Well, I am not going to explore and to describe this natal chart right now; we leave that for some other time perhaps.

Nevertheless, we definitely need to address a few important points on Moses.

One is about where and how Moses and Jews were wandering for about forty years. This is one very interesting topic indeed. It is said that they wandered over the wilderness of Sinai, but that Sinai is still the matter of disputes and arguing because it is a big question opened where that exactly was.⁸ The Sinai, how we consider it today, is a very small area actually. Then, how is it possible that somebody wanders over such a small area for about forty years? What was happening there? One option is that this is perhaps not the right Sinai.⁹ On the other hand, is there some other option? Forty years of wanderings ... well ... seems too long ... definitely ...

Remember that Moses was in possession of the ... Arch of the Covenant Device..., what offered him the possibility to perform a different kind of “miracles”, like parting the Sea, what is today close to be proved as minor water along the sea of reeds, and especially another one miracle of destroying the walls of Jericho. I was writing about these miracles in one of my previous essays, and I will be free to expose that once again because it is so important for our story.

This is that portion of the text taken from the essay ... King Solomon’s Treasure ... The link to this essay can be found at the end of the essay you are just reading.

* * *

For example, the question, or better to say, an idea, where the Ark of the Covenant had finished, has been preoccupying my mind for so long. As we know, King David brought it to the Jerusalem with the intention to be part of his temple. That temple was finally built up by King Solomon and he placed the Ark of Covenant within the Temple itself. It was staying there not as decoration only or ... as a reminder of the glorious history of Jews only. Ark of Covenant is actually a very sophisticated Ether-Akasha device. In fact, the Arc of Covenant was a very vital part of the Great Pyramid at Giza Plateau. That was the core of the Pyramid itself, the condenser of enormous capacity, which should be installed as the central part of any pyramid of such kind. Nevertheless, the Ark of Covenant is much more than condenser only. This is actually a standalone device, which can perform many different functions. All is connected with Ether-Akasha. This is where we need to say more about how the Great Pyramid was built up.

The Great Pyramid at Giza Plateau was built up by Hermes Trismegistus. I am talking now about the real Hermes Trismegistus. The Real Hermes Trismegistus built it up together with his great teacher, the previous incarnation of Prophet John the Baptizer. It took about a hundred years to finish it. Hermes Trismegistus was the main architect while his teacher was the director of the project; let us put it that way. The period should be narrowed to about 500 years before the Big Flood. That was the Sat Yuga or Golden Age, a little bit after the peak of that Age. We can roughly say, all that was happening sometime around 10.500 B.C.E. The mentioned condenser and the complete device itself is not of earthly origin, it is of extraterrestrial origin. According to my approximation, that pyramid was fully in function till around 3000 B.C.E. Full function means that it was working as an energy power station, and as consciousness rising machine, both simultaneously. When fully in function, it did not look like it looks today when the step-like structure of mega blocks is being seen. At that time, the surface was nicely covered with special kind of limestone and polished completely, so that staircase profile was not being seen. That means the original color was white, whitish, of the color of casing limestone. Kind of limestone was used which does not contain any magnesium, so it is more like natural dielectric, insulator, providing excellent insulating features. At the top, there was a capstone of pure gold needed very much for the functionality of the pyramid, forming the sharp pinnacle of the pyramid, what is missing now. It is obvious that the golden pinnacle and golden capstone of the pyramid were removed at a certain moment. Even today, we can easily observe that the top of the pyramid is slightly different from the rest of the pyramid. The pyramid itself was built up as an Ether-Akasha electric device. In fact, electricity and Ether-Akasha are very closely connected and interrelated. To be precise completely, behind any electric manifestation there is an Ether-Akasha behind. Only thing, Ether-Akasha is more profound, very sophisticated, it is hidden behind gross level electrons and electricity, and we do not observe it easily. If we want to have Ether-Akasha only, we need to separate the two. Beneath the pyramid, there were some tunnels built up and filled with highly conductive materials to connect the pyramid nicely with underground aquifers. There were pockets of water beneath the pyramid because the Nile River was just maybe a hundred meters away at that time. Since that moment, until today, the Nile River migrated several tenths of kilometers away from the pyramid. Those aquifers were very important in order to provide the best possible grounding of the pyramid. The condenser was placed there in the central room, what they call Kings Chamber. That was the very heart of the pyramid. Within the Kings Chamber, there is a small structure called ... “sarcophagus” ... where the Ark of Covenant-Condenser was normally placed, and it was being made of pink granite, the stone material rich in magnesium and some other similar minerals, so it is electrically highly conductive. Actually, big inner portions of the pyramid itself are built up from such highly conductive pink granite. The complete pyramid was functioning in pulsating mode, so-called push-pull mode ... or ... pull and push ... Half of one pulse was to imbibe surrounding existing Ether-Akasha, which is bombarding the Earth permanently. Another half of the pulse was used to release an enormous amount of negative ions into the surrounding area. That was elevating human consciousness, and at the same time could be used as a wireless electricity source. It was just enough to connect specially designed light lamps with the ground, and they would be illuminated with a brilliant glow. That was just one way to use this energy. They used it in electrochemistry as well, and metallurgy ... and there were many, many other ways to use it.

The Ark of Covenant-Condenser contains built-in control board, where it is possible to adjust certain parameters in order to choose the mode of work of the Device. They say the casing is of pure gold. The Device can achieve and produce many effects; it can be the source of Ether-Akasha for human healing, wellbeing and raising the consciousness level, as it was used while being placed in the Solomon Temple. Then, people were obliged to come and visit the Temple on regular basis, for keeping their consciousness high in order to violate natural laws as little as possible and make as few sins as possible. King Solomon knew very well about one very important cosmic law, which by the way is the very important law of Vedic Administration. He knew that collective consciousness is running the country actually, not the ruler or leader. According to the Vedic Science, the king, or any kind of leader of the country, is just the innocent reflection or mirror of the Collective Consciousness of the Nation. He knew very well that in order to make a problem free kingdom, he was supposed to elevate the consciousness of the people to the higher possible level. Moreover, this is exactly what he did.¹⁰

Another function the Arc of Covenant Device could perform is to produce such a pushing wave, which can push objects including water. Remember that Ether-Akasha is longitudinal, or we call it also ... the pressure wave. If parameters are adjusted this way, strong pressure wave was possible to be produced, which would even make the passage in the river, sea or lake, just by pushing the water away. This is the background for legendary Second Exodus from Egypt and crossing the Red Sea, or ... the Reed Sea, as it is proved the correct translation. It was the Ark of Covenant behind.

The third function, nicely recorded by history and Biblical texts, is the Jericho's wall destruction. Everybody knows this story. The thing is that the mysterious box priests were carrying around the city walls was the Arc of Covenant Device so adjusted to produce strong standing waves, what is called scalar waves today. The resonant frequency of the heavy wall's structure was achieved ... and by permanent repeated exposure of the walls to these waves, ... the wall finally collapsed. Trumpets the priests were using did not have any role in this story, except just to make a camouflage on the very characteristic strong ... hiss ... the Device produces when being in action.

When considering the Exodus, an interesting claim came from the German Egyptologist Wolfgang Helck. In a certain moment, he very firmly connected the Exodus with the expulsion of the Hyksos. Even Wikipedia during the first decade of the 21st century explicitly connected that statement with the name of Wolfgang Helck. Nevertheless, that same Wikipedia now states that he did not say that. Actually, Wikipedia states that Wolfgang Helck just prior to his departure in 1993. wrote a paper where he supposedly changed his opinion.

<https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Hyksos>

Here is a quote from the previously mentioned link ...

The German Egyptologist Wolfgang Helck once argued that the Hyksos were part of massive and widespread Hurrian and Indo-Aryan migrations into the Near East. According to Helck, the Hyksos were Hurrians and part of a Hurrian empire that, he claimed, extended over much of Western Asia during this period. Most scholars have rejected this theory, and Helck himself abandoned this hypothesis in a 1993 article. (see W. Helck's Orientalia 62 (1993) "Das Hyksosproblem" pp.60–66 paper)

The discussion about the Exodus, or, Exoduses, will definitely continue to go on for some time. I am personally convinced there were two Exoduses. The first one is referring to the expulsion of Hyksos, where the military component was separated and taken out of Egypt. About that military component which was taken out from Egypt, there will be more discussion as well. The Second Exodus is referring to the Jews moving out from Egypt. The Jewish-Roman historian Josephus Flavius was of the same opinion, and he explicitly stated it that way.

As we have just seen, this is not so simple problem, because there was a lot of smoke ... and many, many mirrors. It is not easy to discriminate between what is right and what is wrong. Hope this short essay of mine along with the use of Vedic Astrology-Jyotish, will shed more light on that period of our ancient history, which is somehow so mysterious and enigmatic. Indeed, it is such because we knew very less about. Nevertheless, with the reading of natal charts of the main protagonists, many things will definitely be changed.

10) According to the Vedic Science, Collective Consciousness of the Nation is a living organism. As everything is interconnected within the entire Universe, Collective consciousness of the Nation is considered as extension of family and city consciousness. It has its own physiology made up of individual physiologies of every member of that society. If people are embedded in higher states of consciousness, like Cosmic Consciousness for instance, they automatically know how to live in tune with Natural Law, they do not make sins, and Collective Consciousness of such society is not burdened with stress, illnesses and deviation of any kind. Such Nation is ready to achieve Invincibility. Completely opposite will happen if people are out of higher states of consciousness. Because of not having proper education, they commit sins; produce stress of any kind, diseases, and many other deviations within the society, Collective Consciousness becomes weak, opening terrain for social unrest, civil wars and wars in general. In fact, out of Cosmic Consciousness, out of Eden, life of men is miserable. Therefore, just to conclude, the Collective Consciousness is a living organism. It can be cleansed and purified, it can be cherished ...

CONCLUSION

We see that our recent and even ancient history, they are sometimes not so nice and pleasant. Indeed, the truth is not nice and sweet sometimes. However, that does not mean we run away from it. The quality of brave people is to face the truth whatever and however, it is. That means we do not undermine anything. That was also part of our tradition, our life, and our true history, therefore we appreciate that, and we respect that. Nevertheless, now we are in the entirely different situation. We live in the ascending world age now. We left Kali Yuga-Iron Age long ago, and we live in ascending Dwapara Yuga, Bronze Age. Luckily we are about to finish such period of low level of knowledge, period full of misunderstandings and wrong interpretations of any kind. We are entering the era of light, and just here and there, we correct our failures from the past. We even do not understand that entirely different time properly. We just establish the new knowledge system, which is entirely in tune with our present momentum. Our present, and especially our future, they are very bright, and we are just supposed to think about how to become beings of light.

The Joseph of Arimathea, as well as the Pharaoh Akhenaten, they gave tremendous contributions to forces of light and to evolution itself to be in balance, even in the midst of the darkest world ages. They did it on different ways of course and in a different time. Nevertheless, such tunings were very important to be done.

We always have to keep on mind this is just a game. This is just a game for all of us in order to become, better, to climb higher in the evolutionary hierarchy, and to become brighter. Even possible occasional deviations on the negative side, we can just understand as a normal phase of the evolution itself. Because, positive or negative, negative or positive, this is all just very relative in this relative world of dualistic principles. As soon as we had separated from the Absolute Being, everything became relative. Nevertheless, we have an option to be established in Being, to be in Unity Consciousness, while we are still in the relative dualistic word. Unity within Duality, this is our goal, and we are very close to accomplish that. Just a few more steps. Therefore, we continue our game further on, with the cognition, there are big changes in front of us, and we need to tune accordingly again. Actually, one game is over, but just to give place for another to begin.

Actually, just when we mentioned ... the consciousness ... and ... level of consciousness ..., I would like to conclude this essay with some words I already did expose in previous essays. From the essay ... Jesus and Judah – Early days ... I will borrow a few paragraphs ...

Nevertheless, there are many natural laws, many ... millions ... if not even billions ... and billions and billions. How can we know all of them? This is a problem. When we are low with consciousness, we cannot know all these natural laws. We live in ignorance. Certainly, it is not possible to learn them all, one by one; it is not possible to learn them all mentally ... it is not possible to learn them all by heart. When there is a veil on our consciousness we do not use our full potential, and that means we do not know and understand all laws of Nature. The full potential of our brain and nervous system is not being used properly. Science and modern medicine ... they claim we use only 5-10 % of our mental potential. Some say this percentage is even smaller, maybe about 1%. We have forgotten how to use our brains, and we developed, so-called, Swiss Cheese Brain, a brain with functional holes within it.¹¹ Some portions of the brain atrophied because we had not used them. This is the same as with muscles, if we are not using them, they will be atrophied. There is a saying, use it or lose it.

Just to say, there is a state of consciousness we can elevate ourselves, and then we know all these billions of billions of natural laws automatically. Knowledge is already structured within our consciousness; this is the basic Vedic presumption. This is the basic doctrine of the Vedic Science. Knowledge is structured within the Consciousness. Our brain can function better and faster than any existing computer

11) The expression ... Swiss Cheese Brain ..., though originally connected with the Neurocysticercosis disease ... <https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Neurocysticercosis> ... in this case is used to depict the brain that is not fully functional. Hence, some scientists made research on functionality of the human brain by measuring activities within the brain itself. They came to the stunning discovery that some portions of the brain are not active at all. Situation is as that there are some holes within the brain. The syntagm ... Swiss Cheese Brain ... was immediately applied because of the frappant similarity. Actually, it was found that some portions of our brain are not active at all. They are rather atrophied. This is the reason we use very small percentage of our full mental potential.

in the world. It can function even better than all these computers together. Behind these basic states of consciousness, which are widely and commonly very well known, like awaken state of consciousness, and sleeping and dreaming states of consciousness, there are so-called higher states of consciousness, like Cosmic Consciousness or we call it Enlightenment. Gautama Buddha called it Nirvana. This is the fifth state of consciousness. Then we have God Consciousness as a sixth, and Unity Consciousness as the seventh state of consciousness. They all imply certain changes in our physiology functioning, changes in physiology and mentality. In God and Unity consciousness, man has such a power to do the same as God can do. He can create other worlds or other universes if he or she wants to that. Such a power the God has given to the Man. The God gave to the Man all power he has, and he also gave him a free will to do whatever he or she wants to do with it. Moreover, this is the real meaning of this otherwise very famous saying ... saying which every religion is repeating ...

Man is made in the image of God.
