IF Ball to Be Held November 15; Ten Coeds Vie For 1959 Title

The fifth annual Inter-fraternity Ball will be held from 9-1 o'clock at the Sheraton Hotel November 15, 1958. Lee Vincent and his orchestra will provide the music.

At 11:00 p.m. the main event of the evening will take place—the crowning of the new IF Queen. Maury Kring, President of the IF Council, will introduce the presidents and representatives of the individual fraternities. Connie Madl, the IF Queen of 1958, will then crown the new sweetheart of 1959.

The event is free to fraternity men, but tickets will be available to non-fraternity men for four dollars per couple and be on sale in the Court November 9-14. Voting for the IF Queen for fraternity men will be held in the Court Friday, November 14, from 9-5 o'clock. Flowers are optional, and formal dress will be appropriate. Numerous parties will be held at the individual fraternity houses, which may include breakfast.

This event will mark the highlight of the fall social season for the fraternity men at Drexel. The planning and organization is credited to Warren Gregory, social chairman of the IF Council.

Pi Kaps Present "Southern Comfort" November 21-22

This year it is "Southern Comfort" that will be presented in Drexel's auditorium on November 21 and 22 by the Pi Kaps. "Southern Comfort" will be the Pi Kaps' twenty-fourth annual show. The show takes place on the Mississippi River from St. Louis to New Orleans during the turn of the century. An old Mississippi river boat named "Southern Comfort" is the setting for most of the action.

On the boat there are a variety of characters collected from all parts of the country. There are two tourists from Philadelphia played by Tinker and Lew Bott. Jack Campbell and Bob Burns are cast as two river gamblers, while Jack Parrish is the captain in command. The cast wouldn't be complete without a southern colonel and his daughter played by Andy Egeressy and Judie Knapp, not to mention her maid, portrayed by Bob Schoenberger. A ready source of information is Dick Mosher in the role of a colored boy who just hangs around. The Pi Kaps have been working on this year's production since Spring term and it shows promise of being the best yet.

Sam Wilson, as dance director, is working hard with Aennchen, the Pi Kaps' choreographer, and they are both pleased with the exciting, colorful dances.

Dean Beckwith, the Pi Kaps' Show Chairman, says that everything is shaping up well for the big show. Dean, as well as the rest of the Pi Kaps, expect a full house for both nights. With this thought in mind, all are working extra hard to put everything together and iron out any difficulties that may arise.

According to Don Dement and Bob Burns, the songs and music promise to be most enjoyable. There are more original songs in this year's show and they all sound like hit material.

With all the hard work expended, "Southern Comfort" should be a fine evening of entertainment, and well worth the price of a ticket. The price of tickets is 95 cents on Friday night and $1.35 on Saturday.

Pix by Remias

Girls that will appear in the chorus line of this year's edition of the Pi Kap Show will appear in the show. Tickets will be sold in the court all week before the show.

Friel Heads ASCE

A graduate of Drexel Institute of Technology, and vice-chairman of the Institute's Board of Trustees, Mr. Francis S. Friel, was elected the 1959 president of the American Society of Civil Engineers at the annual convention of the society, held at the Statler Hotel in New York City. He succeeds Louis R. Howson of Chicago as head of the 41,000 member group.

In facing up to the challenge confronting the civil engineering profession in the near future, Mr. Friel said that "civil engineers may soon be required to work on problems of construction in areas where the law of gravity does not exist."

"We must not allow the passports of our engineering profession—the certificate of membership in our professional societies—to become a passport to oblivion. These must be passports to a new and better world for all mankind."

NOBEL PRIZE WINNER

On November 11, Prof. Linus Pauling of the University of California will speak at Swarthmore College about the disarmament program. Professor Pauling is the 1954 Nobel Prize Winner in Chemistry.

Tau Beta Pi Meets

The engineering honorary fraternity, Tau Beta Pi, met on Wednesday, October 22, to listen to prospective candidates give their opinions on controversial subjects. These subjects were of a liberal nature.

At the conclusion of the seminar, a vote was taken and the following men were approved for pledging in this fraternity: Jack Hultberg, Charles Stein, Howard Rockman, Vincent Truscello, Roger K. Gieseke, John Grady, Albert C. Knoell, James Halligan, Richard Shindler, Richardson Roberts, Allan Glaesser, Bernard Penosk, Harry Gold, William Bedesem, Donald Makers, George Thompson, Marvin E. Jacobs, John Winner, Anthony Saponaro, Juri Vilms, Darwin Levensgood, Dal-lace Unger.

Honoraries Sponsoring Leadership Conference

On November 8, at 9:30 a.m., the second annual Leadership Conference will be under way. It is sponsored by Key and Triangle, the women's honorary society, and Blue Key, the men's leadership honorary society, with the aid of the Women's Student Senate and the Men's Student Council. All organizations at Drexel will be represented.

The conference is designed to stimulate interest in student affairs and to promote deeper, intelligent thinking and reasoning on the part of student leaders.

Following coffee at the Dragon's Den, Dr. Jacobs, professor of political science at the University of Pennsylvania, will address the group. Dr. Jacobs has written numerous books and a series of articles on leadership and its problems.

There will be a panel discussion following Dr. Jacobs' address at which time the content of the address will be reviewed and the opinions of the panel will be put forth. A short lecture on the mechanics of leadership will be given by a member of the Blue Key Fraternity, which will include parliamentary procedure and the leadership problems of the organizations at Drexel.

At one o'clock there will be a luncheon in the cafeteria. At the conclusion of the luncheon, the group will go to the Campbell Auditorium where they will hear a speech by Mr. Selzer, professor of political science at Drexel.

The group will then have a case study session and will be divided into six smaller groups to discuss actual problems in leadership that have arisen at Drexel. The members of the six study groups will compare their own ideas and opinions in studying the cases that will be presented. This will be followed by a general critique on the case studies for the whole assembly.

There will be three movies shown—"The Inner Man Steps Out," "Conducting a Meeting," and "Group Discussion." These movies have been designed to illustrate problems in leadership and solutions thereof, to help students understand more fully the procedure of organizing and conducting meetings, and to give the student an idea of the responsibilities of being a leader.

Co-chairmen of the conference are Nettie Passo and Bill Thayer. The following committee heads have been chosen to assist Miss Passo and Mr. Thayer: program committee, Jim Spillane; case study, Dan Klopp; arrangements, Jean Breneman; invitations, Betty Dutney, and treasurer, Jerry Kean. The advisors for the conference are Dean Toombs, Dean Young, and Miss Handbury.

Drexel Receives Gifts Totaling $409,000

Drexel Institute of Technology was the recipient of gifts and grants totaling more than $409,000 for the year ending October 31, 1958. These figures were recently released by the head of the Office of Development, Mr. George H. Baughman, Jr.

Alumni Contribute

Among the 1867 contributors to the Institute were alumni, business and industrial concerns, corporate and charitable foundations, and individuals not necessarily alumni of Drexel. Mr. Baughman pointed out that over 50% of the contributions were of a corporate nature. A non-Drexel affiliated person made a contribution of stock in excess of $13,000.

Allocation of the $409,000 is to be as follows: $300,000 for capital outlays such as new construction; $70,000 for the support of various special projects such as the reading program, grants for specific Institute projects and faculty salaries; the remaining $40,000 is to be allocated by the Alumni Fund for their specifically undertaken projects.

Help Expansion

An interesting aspect of the financing of the Institute Development work is the Annual Contribution Plan. This plan is one whereby annual recurring contributions are capitalized to provide underwriting funds for campus expansion and development.

Good Year

At the end of the Institute's current fiscal year, the level of annual recurring giving to support the Drexel Development Program was in excess of $258,000. In an absolute dollar figures, this amount favorably compared to the 1956-57 level of $195,000. Noteworthy is the fact that 132 contributors contributed this amount, 31 of which were new to the plan in 1957-58.

GSS Collects For UNICEF

Gamma Sigma Sigma, on October 30 undertook their first big project: The Mischief and Hallowe'en Milk Fund Collection for UNICEF. Barbara Leventhal, Betsy Bohrer, Gail DeLong, and Deborah Tubis went to various fraternities making their collections. They finished their rounds on the 31st with a net result of fifteen dollars.

Gamma Sigma Sigma is the girls' service sorority here at Drexel and is the sister sorority of APO. They take part in serving lunches at Homecoming, acting as solicitors in the Campus Chest Drive, and acting as guides for outside activities when they make use of Drexel facilities. They prepare baskets for the needy in the area at Christmas.

Membership is open to anyone who would like to join; the only qualification is an interest in being of service to mankind. Our biggest concern is the National Convention of Gamma Sigma Sigma which our Zeta Chapter is to host in June 1959.

SCM Sponsoring Retreat

This evening at 7:30, approximately forty students will be leaving the dormitory for the annual Student Christian Movement Retreat. This year it will be held at the Drexel Lodge.

The purpose of the week-end is to unite the total membership of the SCM under one roof for discussions and fellowship. The week-end will include worship, recreation, talks, and discussions based on the theme of "Joe member—Who am I?" This theme will be broken down further into "Who am I as a student and as a Christian?" The SCM members will consider each of these topics in the dimensions of their personal lives and they will attempt to secure a better understanding of themselves.

Along with the other activities, SCM will plan the functions and activities for the coming year. Local ministers will speak to the members and also carry on the worship services.

Offer Scholarships

Dean Young, who recently returned from a conference of Foreign Student Advisers, is pleased to announce that approximately 75 new scholarships for graduate work, for students with a knowledge of Spanish, will be added to those offered for 1959-60 under the Inter-American Cultural Convention program.

The additional Latin-American scholarships provide for study in a variety of fields and cover round-trip transportation, tuition and maintenance for one academic year.

Forum Scheduled at St. Joe

The Sixteenth Annual Accounting Forum will be held at St. Joseph's College, 54th Street and City Line Avenue on Thursday, November 13. Sessions will commence at 1:30 p.m. and will run until 5:30 p.m.

Miss Jane Beckwith and Mr. Earl Carpenter have been chosen by the Accounting faculty to be the student participants from Drexel in a question and answer panel. Miss Beckwith is receiving the distinct honor of being the first woman to participate in such a panel.

All business administration students who desire to attend the Forum will be excused from classes. Car pools are being organized by the Accounting Society and arrangements can be made by contacting John McMurray through the student mail. Requests may also be placed with Mr. Margolis in the Business Administration Office.

The Forum Program is scheduled as follows: short talks on specialty fields within the accounting profession; a student practitioner panel during which students will confront professionals with questions; the main speech by Mr. James J. Mahon, a nationally prominent CPA.

The Accounting Forum is held each year to explain to and discuss with the students of the Philadelphia area colleges and universities the opportunities available to them in a career of accounting. The program is designed to inform the students of current developments in the accounting profession, to give them a better understanding of what they may expect upon beginning and pursuing a career in professional accounting, and to afford them an opportunity to ask questions of active practitioners.

International Relations Club Joins DIT

by Erik Schaeffer

This will announce a new organization on campus — International Relations Club. We belong to the Association of International Relations Clubs which again is a national organization.

This year we already had two affairs and were really sorry that so few freshmen did attend. The first affair was a dinner sponsored by the Student Christian Movement with members of the IRC as guests; it was a success. The second activity was very informal: a bowling party with pizza (dinner) after.

As sometimes in the past, we felt again that many students think that one has to be a foreign student to become active in this organization. This is, of course, not so. We do try to be helpful to the foreign students in finding for them a proper place on campus and will try to solve any problems they might encounter. We are proud to count approximately fifteen students of foreign origin among our members.

Varied Background

We do feel that our real goal lies somewhere else. We think that it lies with the promotion of better understanding of people of other nations. We try to find what their problems, their ways of living, and their relation to the United States are. Should not especially the American student with his multi-colored background of different nationalities be interested in these international affairs?

O'dell to Speak

To this end—promotion of better understanding between the nations and awareness of international affairs—we will have programs in the future with this goal in mind. For instance: Dr. O'dell—head of the English Dept.—plans to give a talk on Turkey illustrated with slides he took while he taught in that country at the American University in Istanbul. We also happen to have a student from Turkey among our members.

Federal Government Support Of Education Is Questionable

As most Drexel students know, the cost of a college education is increasing by leaps and bounds. As a possible means of keeping up with the spiraling costs, and in order to provide a college education to the greatest number of qualified individuals, various new proposals have been made.

Go now—pay later is the advice being given to many students. For instance, a recent study concerned itself with student guaranty funds created in Massachusetts, Maine, and New York, and concluded that the establishment of private and governmental funds to guarantee long-term, low-cost, unsecured bank loans to college students is a new and revolutionary development.

Loan repayments under the plans in the three above-mentioned states typically begin rather soon after graduation and may be spread over a three- to six-year period. Interest rates range from 3½% to 5½%. Special legislation enacted in these states gives minors full legal capacity to act in their own behalf and to be bound for their debt.

Borrowing for a $4,000 car is widely practiced and widely accepted, while borrowing for a $4,000 education is relatively new. The trend toward loans is desirable in that it lessens the exclusive reliance on scholarships and provides correspondingly larger sums for the payment of faculty salaries and the improvement of educational services.

The above financing plans seem to be far more desirable than those of some of our eminent U. S. Congressmen and hopeful campaigners for the U. S. Congress. For instance, a candidate for Congress from New York State proposes, among many odd pieces of legislation, 40,000 federal scholarships for qualified students above the twelfth grade.

This proposal, if enacted into law, would take the U. S. one step closer to the socialist state. Financial support by the Federal Government will undoubtedly lead to eventual Federal control of higher education. Let's retain the condition of free enterprise and the opportunity for individual initiative, as it now remains in its strained form in the U. S. today. A movement backward, to active Federal support of college education, is not the answer to the high cost of higher education.

Noises from the North

The Fable of the Fox and the Hare, (Frigid Version)

by Pete Oeth

Once upon a time there lived a Fox and a Hare; now of course they didn't live intimately; but nonetheless they roamed the same land. Now if you've pictured in your mind a wonderful, cool green forest or golden meadow, forget it. For these weren't an ordinary Fox and Hare, noisier; these poor, dumb beasts lived 700 miles from Santa Claus Land, and consequently they were different, probably wouldn't fit at all well with the group or team composed of their red and brown brethren farther south. But they didn't know any better, so they stayed on.

Now the Fox was a meat eater by nature, and hungry by circumstance. So what could he do, he was small, about the size of a scrawny alleycat. He had to live, somehow though, so when he could, he'd eat a bird or its eggs. These were hard to come by, to say the least, and not nearly as much to his liking as a nice, tender young Hare.

Our hero Hare was, of course, a stout vegetarian, living very comfortably off the small plants and mosses which he found here and there in his travels. This diet seemed to agree with him, so naturally, he grew to be a Big Hare, about two and one-half feet tall when seated nibbling, with huge hind legs and excellent ears. Compared to poor, skinny Fox, he was indeed formidable.

So the dilemma has presented itself. How shall Fox eat Hare when Hare will undoubtedly kick the daylight out of him should they meet. Fox had to think, and fast, for winter was approaching — he needed his fat. Obviously the answer was to join. So he did, and together with his hungry comrades, he succeeded in getting his long, sought-after prize, Hare.

But the story isn't over; hardly a mention has been made of Fox's encumbrances, which he shouldered when he joined. He now found that life wasn't a bed of roses after all, that when Hare couldn't be found, his new-found brothers would as soon feed upon him. Him, the poor unsuspecting one, the Fox who had preferred to go it alone, but couldn't, was now a complete, abject victim.

There was only one answer; renege. He did, leaving his all behind him; all, that is, except his integrity which he kept. MORAL: Let's all avoid associating with Arctic foxes, some of them are rabid. Feed alone and you feed well. Feed with a pack and you run the figurative danger of having your heart eaten out.

Consider . . .

by Dave Loomis, Protestant Chaplain

Again we join our noble knight. He has been riding through the countryside of his land for several months, refreshing his spirit for yet another venture in search of the Truth. We meet him now, early one morning, riding slowly on the main road outside the wall of a large city, about to hail a foreign merchant who had stopped to rest his caravan at the side of the road.

"Hello, my good man, and what land do you come from?"

"Most excellent knight, from Numina, to the East, a long year's travel from here. And what brings you out today?"

And so they conversed on, both in excellent spirits, and soon our knight was relating to the merchant the story of his scholarly, but thus far fruitless, quest for the Truth. The merchant listened with great interest and a heavy frown. Finally, the merchant broke in.

"My good knight, you are as of the people of my own land, who desire a Truth that they may follow and serve. Only my people do not desire the full nature of ultimate Truth—such is surely beyond our human grasp. We know only that which is most fully true to us as persons—as a friend is a true friend, as a life is a true life. Such is the Truth we have found in the life of a man in our country, a man called Jesus. The truthness of his life to the very best and deepest in life has convinced us that he is our Truth.

But we have talked too long and I must leave you now, as the gates of the city are about to open I have a full day's work ahead of me. If you would accept a gift from me, I would like to leave you four sketches of this man Jesus that were drawn by four men in our country and have been copied often. They are portraits of this man, Jesus, and, despite their differences in style and emphasis, may well help you find this man some day. Unskilled artists, I'm afraid . . . the earliest painter, Mark, was but a shopkeeper, and only the last painter, John, was really an educated man. But I wouldn't give them to you unless I thought they all caught something of the true quality of this man's life. I trust, by their help, that you will someday find him. Good-bye now, most noble knight, and God speed you on your journey."

So the knight and the merchant parted—the merchant headed west to the city gates and the knight headed east to a land called Numina.

Are We in the 'Beat' Age

by Jack Willis, NSA Coordinator

We have been referred to as the "un-silent," the "beat," the "dissatisfied," and the "angry" people of a seemingly undefinable generation. What nonsense! Actually, our state of glorious contentment and self-centeredness is leading us into an ambush, so let's call ourselves the "ambushed generation." It isn't a very glamorous label, but before we go laughing this one off, let's look at the reasons for such a statement.

Haven't we reached the point where our petty wants have become the ultimate and everything else has been cast into the realm of unconcern and mystery? Of course, and why not when we are well-fed, well-clothed, and not too far from the point when we can settle down in the suburbs in that split-level with the two-car garage, drive our well-trained minds to the office every day, and concentrate on increasing our luxury.

The big crises are past now and we rejoice that life demands less of us. We are developing ourselves for a rendezvous with calamity. However, why warn of the coming dragons when we have so few St. George's to cope with them and worse yet, so many can talk negatively to positive thinkers?

Positive thinkers about what? The time we spend thinking about foreign affairs, communism, socialism, religious beliefs, values, ethics, and everything else of some meaning wouldn't add up to the time elapsed in one quarter of a football game. And why should we waste our time on such things when the world outside our classroom measures success materially and will swallow us whole if we attempt to change it? The answer is simple if we attempt to analyze current trends in our nation.

How long can a nation exist in which everyone wants more for less work or nothing; professes religious belief and tolerance, while they practice hate and deceit; would defend private enterprise to the death, yet cry-out for socialism; and how long can we be world leaders when we are blind to what goes on outside our borders? The answer is obvious, so let's not wait until we've lost our world and our futures before we finally come to understand that these material things alone cannot maintain and preserve themselves or us.

You will never have your college years restored. Now is the time that you have the tools at your disposal, so use them. Join clubs that you can contribute to and learn from, but don't join for the mere sake of joining.

The International Club will give you a chance to meet and discuss views with foreign students; the various religious organizations may be able to answer your question; our business and engineering societies provide insight; ICG gives you a chance to learn and practice politics; and there are other clubs to suit any interest you may have. Above all, don't become an automaton being pushed into the "ambush."

"For in the quality of our brotherhood and in the scope and depth of our willingness to give and to learn from giving, lies the key to the nature of the future."

New York and Phila. Critics Disagree

by Bob Brennan

Down with the New York critics! Recently two new plays opened on Broadway—"The World of Suzie Wong" and "The Girls in 509." These plays were braved by the Philadelphia critics and played to packed houses during their engagements here. Now, after weeks of success on the road, they opened before the New York crowds and received only cool treatment by Atkinson, Kerr, etc. How can it be that such fine entertainment vehicles with such good advance bookings affect audiences so differently.

"The Girls in 509," for example, is a highly amusing comedy package for Peggy Wood and Imogene Coca—two ladies who have been quite popular with television audiences for the past 8 or 10 years. I thought they both prove their talents beautifully on the stage.

Miss Coca does beautifully with the role of Mimsy, the frail little girl who hasn't been outside room 509 since Roosevelt was elected president. She has taken every correspondence course which is available and has learned to fix anything which might go wrong in the apartment.

As he aunt, Peggy Wood is wonderfully austere as the last hanger-on of a staunchly Republican family. However, she finds that after so many years of seclusion, everything that she supported in the GOP is now represented by the Democrats. To Miss Wood falls most of the "theater talk," and she carries it off with complete authenticity. However, it takes a little while to get used to hearing dear, sweet "Mama" shouting curses at everyone who comes to her door.

At a special preview of "The Case of Dr. Laurent" held this week, we got a chance to see one of the most interesting, and at the same time, educational films to come along in quite a while. The movie was made in France, and it has English subtitles which are very well dubbed. It stars Jean Gabin in the role of the much maligned Dr. Laurent, a newcomer in the community who favors natural childbirth. Anyone who is expecting something a la Brigitte Bathub in this film will be sadly disillusioned. It is a completely on-the-level-treatment of a difficult subject. The finale shows an actual birth by the natural method and is treated beautifully by the French movie makers.

The story itself is also highly interesting. It concerns the Doctor's constant fight with the rest of the community to gain acceptance for his new non-surgical method. But one by one, the entire neighborhood is won over to his side. Good show and highly educational.

Friday evening, November 14, at the Academy of Music, for one performance at 8:30. That's the date, the place, and the time of a big jazz concert by the world famous "King of Swing" Benny Goodman. The box office tickets are scaled from $2.00 to $4.25.

Herb Keller's Showboat, downtown Philadelphia's center for jazz at Broad and Lombard, has lined up eight weeks of stellar attractions in the musical and vocal fields: Carmen McCrae, week of November 10, Dinah Washington, week of November 24, and Phineas Newborn, week of December 5.

Ivy Styles Feature the Casual But Conservative Look for Fall Season

by Jim Seese

While attending the next Drexel football game, take a look around the stands during half time. What will you see? The other fans, of course, and, if you take a second look, you'll notice what they're wearing. Now let's disregard the female species, as much as we hate to, and concentrate on what the well-dressed college man is wearing this fall. You've probably already guessed, it will be mostly Ivy. Yes, the Ivy-look is back this fall bigger than ever.

Begins At Shoes

The Ivy-look begins right at the bottom with the shoes, of which the most prominent worn are the Chino-bucks and the desert or suburban boots that range in color from char-grey to bright red. These shoes, especially the suburban boots, are both good looking and comfortable. Complementing the shoes is the Ivy-look in socks, which consists of variously colored argyles and plains in the woolen, cotton, and dacron yarns.

While we're looking at the knitted garments let's look at the sweaters. The Ivy-look in sweaters consists of a narrow range of styles, but, conversely, a very wide range of colors. The Ivy style embodies the crew or boat neck and doesn't contain prints or patterns of any kind. The most common colors are the charcoal shades of grey, brown, and green, but it seems that the big all-around color this fall is bright red. This color accentuates the entire Ivy-look when it is combined with the more conservative char-shades.

The next outstanding item of this outfit is the shirt. Although mostly covered by the sweater, it must be Ivy tailored to give the proper appearance. This tailoring of the Ivy, button-down shirt keeps the collar high on the neck and enables the collar to be seen above the neck of the sweater.

Print Shirts

Most of the shirts are of the printed and striped variety in oxford cloth and cotton fabrics. The colors run the gamut of greens, browns, and greys, occasionally sprinkled with bright blues, yellows, and reds for contrast. Regardless of the color, remember that if it's a button-down with the box pleated back, it's Ivy.

The next component of the true Ivy-dress is the tapered, pleatless, trousers featuring the buckle-back or flap pockets. The trousers are the most conservative part of the outfit, since their color range is usually confined to the char-shades and tans. Plain or vertical striped weaves are the most popular patterns.

The most important article of this outfit is the topper. It varies in design from the full length chino or charcoal rain coat to the waist length wind-breaker. These coats are tailored in materials ranging from heavy wools to the new dacron-cotton fabrics. Coats are seen in a wide variety of colors, but the chino and greys are preferred.

Teps and Del Sigs Lead; IF Bowling Nearing End

by Bowl M. Over

Delta Sigma Phi wrapped up the Blue League this week while Tau Epsilon Phi continues to lead the Gold League. Pi Kappa Phi is just one game in back of the leaders.

The Teps of Brown Jug fame have done it again as they dropped Sigma Pi from the race with a 4-0 victory. After a slow start, the Teps began to roll, and even though Sigma Pi put up a battle, they did not have it when the chips were down. Morty Liss and Arnie Schambam led the high-riding Teps with a 491 and 467 respectively.

Johnson Is High

The Blue League leaders, Delta Sigma Phi, have already won their division, as they trounced Alpha Pi Lambda, 4-0. There wasn't much the Apple Pi's could do as the Del Sig's won the match by more than 400 pins. The Delta Sig's took three honors again this week, as Russ Johnson had a 561 triple; the team had a high game of 865, and a triple of 2476. Helping Johnson were Bill Barto with a 506 series, and John Bartos with a 529 triple.

The other sweep of the afternoon occurred in the Pi Kap-Sammy game, as the Pi Kap's won handily. In doing so, they remained just one game off the pace. Mike Kott was high man for the Sammies with a 470 triple, but the 450 pins difference was too much for the Sammies to overcome. Jack Campbell and Charlie McDermott led the Pi Kaps.

Win By 4 Pins

Migs Damiani's high single of 212 helped the Theta Chi's to pull one game out of the fire, as they were defeated by Tau Kappa Epsilon, 3-1. John Macrino had a 551 series for the Tekes, as they led all the way before losing the last game by four pins. The loss dropped Theta Chi to third place in the Blue League.

Delta Kappa Rho and Lambda Chi Alpha had the closest match of the day with the Lambda Chi's coming out on top, 3-1. There was only a difference of 26 pins in the first game, 22 in the second, and 29 in the third. Dick Dickinson and Dick Kelleher led the Lambda Chi's, while Bob Gargan had the best effort of the losers.

Bowlers averaging 160 or over are as follows: Ed Markowski, Sigma Pi, 175; Jack Campbell, Pi Kappa Phi, 172; Arnie Schambam, Tau Epsilon Phi, 169; John Bartos, Delta Sigma Phi, 166; Charlie McDermott, Pi Kappa Phi, 165; Bill Barto, Delta Sigma Phi, 162; and Dick Kelleher, Lambda Chi Alpha, 162.

Activities Fill Connie Madl's Time At DIT

by Kay John and John White

"The sweetest girl in school," say some of her school friends. "The friendliest girl in school," say most of the people who meet her. These, mixed with countless other impressions by others who come in contact with her, serve to give us a better picture of just who Connie Madl is and what makes her tick.

The story starts in Hatboro, the outlying districts. In the local high school, our girl excelled in women's sports — hockey, softball and basketball — and was a cheerleader for six years. College must have seemed a long way off then, to the girl running around the field with the hockey stick in her hand, but she made it.

In September 1955 she came to Drexel, backed by her excellent high school record, and flunked history. Now in her senior year at Drexel, she has finally gotten over this failure. But she has another history course this term and the worries are starting all over again. Ask Mrs. Jones.

"I have never taken things seriously in my life," she will tell you somewhat jokingly, but you might get the impression that she means it. She likes—in response to the standard question—"dancing, silly little things—such as soaping up windows — and generally having fun."

Now to get to the labels, and Connie, through the years has acquired many of them. She is head majorette, president of WAA, and a member of the Delta Zeta sorority. In past years and terms, she has been a member of WSS (the female governmental body) and a Secretary of the Home Ec Club. She was shocked when notified of her selection to Key and Triangle in her sophomore year and spent much time running around trying to find out who had played the joke on her.

Connie's plans for the future—and we all have plans, don't we?—are, like her, sometimes indefinite, always exciting. She is going to be a school teacher in some lucky suburban school. And if you find some of the Drexel fellows going back to third grade, don't wonder why.

Getting serious for a close, her greatest thrill was "walking down the white carpet at the IF Ball," where she reigned as Queen November 1957. She has also been Pan Hel Queen and a member of the Homecoming Court.

Bob Quinn Shows Prowess On the IF Athletic Field

By Fred Harzer

On the Drexel Campus an important segment of athletic life is perpetuated each year in the Inter-Fraternity circuits. There are many fine ball players in each sport, but there are few men who excel in all types of IF competition. Alpha Pi Lambda Fraternity can boast one of these few fine competitors in its brotherhood, Bob Quinn.

Top Scholar

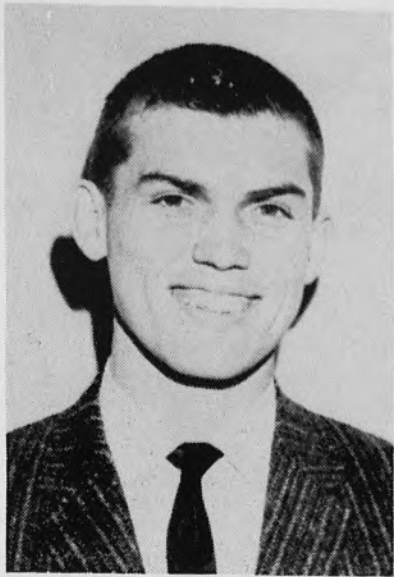

Bob was born in Beaver Falls, Pennsylvania, and attended Saint Mary's High School in Hagerstown, Maryland. One of the top scholars in his school, he did himself, and his school, proud on the athletic field. Bob quarterbacked his football team, played forward on the basketball team, and captained the baseball team as a .320 hitting catcher in his four years there.

Upon entering Drexel as an electrical engineer, Bob immediately began to show his prowess in Inter-Fraternity sports. He has played IF football, basketball, softball, ping-pong, bowling, and volleyball. In the past two years Bob has received All IF honors in football, softball and basketball. This year "Mouth," as Bob is jestingly called by his friends, has co-captained the softball and football teams.

Football Player

In his mind, the secret to IF ball is to be organized, have plays, and most of all, have spirit and a will to win. So far as IF football this year is concerned, Bob says, "we're going to whomp 'em! Bring on the winner of the other league and we will show them how to play football!"

In his senior year at Drexel, Bob ranks tenth in his class. He has been a scholarship recipient for the past three years. Bob also takes an active interest in school activities. At the present time he is Vice President of Tau Beta Pi, a member of Eta Kappa Nu, and Secretary of AIEE-IRE. Bob has held the offices of Steward and Sergeant-at-Arms in Alpha Pi Lambda.

Pix by Weikert

Graduate Work

After graduation Bob plans to attend Catholic University in Washington for his graduate degree in Nuclear Physics. Then he plans to enter the teaching profession.

Three Teams Remain in Unbeaten Ranks; Apple Pi Seeks Revenge on Theta Chi

by George Reich

In a hard, well-played contest, Lambda Chi Alpha edged out a stubborn Tau Kappa Epsilon team, 6-0. The first half ended in a 0-0 deadlock, as neither team could find the range with the slippery pigskin. In the third quarter, Jim Heflin intercepted one of Ray Westphal's passes in the Teke's territory and, with the help of a beautiful block by teammate Bob Jacobsen, went over for the only score of the game.

Apple Pi Wins

In another battle of undefeated teams, Alpha Pi Lambda proved itself a capable leader as it sneaked by Pi Kappa Phi, 12-6. On the first play of the game, the Apple Pi's scoring combination of Bob Quinn to Bill Clements hit paydirt. Soon afterwards, this same combination scored again.

Clements now leads both leagues in scoring, with six touchdowns to his credit. Pi Kappa Phi scored in the second quarter on a pass from John Stevens to Lew Bott.

The second half was fairly even, as neither team could score. Fred Harzer played a good defensive game for Apple Pi.

Big Clash

With the halfway mark completed, enthusiasm is running high among the leaders and this Sunday's game between unbeaten Theta Chi and Alpha Pi Lambda should be the game of the week. Last year these teams met in the championship game, with Theta Chi emerging victorious, 30-12.

Booters Stay Undefeated; Soccer Log Stands at 8-0

by Howie Rockman

Drexel's powerful soccer team remained undefeated this week by taking two Middle Atlantic League games. On Saturday, the Dragon eleven, hailed by many as one of the strongest teams in the nation today, defeated Washington College of Chestertown, Maryland, by a score of 6-1. By virtue of this victory, Drexel has this season defeated both of the squads that turned the tables on them last year. West Chester and Washington College were the only two teams to beat us in 1957.

In the Washington College game, the leading scorer was center forward Stosh Dlugosz, who had a total of two goals for the afternoon. Finishing the game with one goal apiece were Igor Lissy, Ozzie Jethon, Stan Wybranski, and George Simon.

Eighth Straight Victory

On Tuesday afternoon, the Yonker men took the measure of Ursinus College by the score of 8-2. The match was played on the opponents "mountainous" field. It was the eighth straight victory for our Dragons, who have only Bucknell, La Salle, and Johns Hopkins to play this season.

Drexel broke the scoring ice early in the game when Stosh Dlugosz caught a ball as it bounced out of the Ursinus goalie's hands, and sent it into the net for a goal. Late in the first period, Mike Blewett, a Britisher from Ursinus, scored for the opposition with a powerful shot from the right side.

At the end of the first quarter, the game was tied at one-all.

4 Goals

The second quarter was by far the best showing of the afternoon. Drexel exploded for four goals, while the Collegeville crew were held to none. With four minutes of the second quarter gone by, Gulyus Simon took a pass from Dlugosz and tallied. Later that period, Igor Lissy took a pass from Simon on the left side and scored Drexel's third goal. One minute later, Ozzie Jethon on an indirect penalty kick, dribbled through four men, and scored from ten yards out. With but two minutes remaining in the half, Dlugosz again scored on a pass from Jethon. At half-time, the score read Drexel 5, Ursinus 1.

Lissy Is Leading Scorer

The lone score of the third period occurred when Igor Lissy took a pass from George Sawchak, and booted one home. Lissy scored again on a pass from Simon in the fourth period, and Sawchak tallied our final counter of the afternoon when he took a pass from Dlugosz in the final minute of the game.

Ursinus's second goal also came in the fourth frame, when fleet-footed Ben Settles outran our backfield to score unassisted. Tomorrow the Dragons face Bucknell in their last home game of the season. Thus far the "Big Three," consisting of Lissy, Dlugosz, and Jethon, have scored 45 goals. Lissy has 16, one short of a Dragon record; Dlugosz has 15, and Jethon has 14 to his credit.

Swimmers Expecting Good Season

If keen interest equals fast swimming, then Drexel's team prospects are good. More students have indicated a desire to compete than ever before. Upper classmen who declare they "have not been in a race since high school," footballers who say, "I'll be out after our last game," and soccer players who "will be on hand when the season's over" are some of the untapped sources.

Coach Hopeful

The new coach John Miller wants to avoid heavy assignments for any one swimmer. Last year's iron men often did double and triple duty because of a small squad. There are ten events in a college dual meet. Spread out over many competitors, it is fun; but when concentrated in a loyal half dozen, it's labor, Miller believes. "Let's stop asking an eager man to swim three events."

To spread the efforts, a big squad is necessary. On hand from last season are Chet Childs, Chip Esseek, Walter Jackson, Charlie Jones, Tony Juodis, Walter Law, Bill Mattis, Frank McAleer, Chris Rota, Dave Wynn, plus several transfers who will be eligible.

Big Schedule

The schedule will no doubt include old rivals, Franklin and Marshall, La Salle, Delaware, Dickinson, Bucknell, PMC, and West Chester are sure to be in the picture. But, like all Dragon teams, there is constant opposition never scheduled. The Three Devils—Time, Co-op Job, and Grades—must be battled. Lack of time, distant co-op jobs, or low grades always keep some candidates from reporting. If proper time budgeting is maintained, anything can be accomplished, say veteran swimmers.

With these great sources of material Drexel should have no trouble attracting swimmers. Any candidates should leave their names at the Placement Office where a meeting of the squad will be held Monday, November 17, at 1 p.m.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

By Migs Damiani

By defeating Ursinus on Tuesday, Drexel's varsity soccer team recorded its eighth straight victory this season. Don Yonker, head mentor of the Dragons, has a right to be happy. His teams have won 25 out of the last 27 games they have played. Quite a record, isn't it? The squad has tallied 56 goals to its opponent's 10.

Tomorrow the Dragons play their final home game of the season against Bucknell at 2:00 p.m. Since the football team will be playing at Juniata, let's really get out in full force and support our "big league" team.

FOOTBALL

The gridders lost their sixth game in a row last Saturday to the University of Scranton, 33-14. Seven fumbles, five of which were recovered by Scranton, and a bad pass from center led to the defeat. Four of the touchdowns scored by the Royals were tallied on passes and the fifth one was set up by a pass. The line play, however, was vastly improved, as the Dragons collaborated to hold Scranton to 42 yards rushing.

Statistically, Drexel's total offense netted 224 yards as compared to Scranton's 197. That isn't bad considering that the Dragons were out-weighted eleven pounds per man. Jim Holden kept his lead as the best passer in the MAC, as he completed 10 out of 20 forwards. Tom O'Connor, in a brief stint as quarterback, completed 3 out of 3 aerials for 64 yards and a touchdown. Tom is definitely the most improved player on the squad.

IF SPORTS

Lambda Chi Alpha sneaked by Tau Kappa Epsilon, 6-0 and Alpha Pi Lambda nosed out Pi Kappa Phi, 12-6, in the major IF football games last Sunday. Only three undefeated teams remain in the league and these include Theta Chi, Alpha Pi Lambda, and Lambda Chi Alpha. On Sunday this number should be reduced, as Theta Chi battles Alpha Pi Lambda. Last year, the Oxmen beat the Apple Pi's, 30-12 in the championship game.

Delta Sigma Phi and Tau Epsilon Phi are leading their respective leagues in IF bowling. The Delta Sigs should win their league, but the Teps should have some trouble from Pi Kappa Phi, who are breathing down their necks. Look for a possible playoff between these teams! Next Tuesday marks the final week of Inter-fraternity play in this sport.

ITEMS

Congratulations to Nettie Passo and Nancy Hazard, who made second team All-Hockey; Sally Leonard, who was selected on the third team; and Sue Miller and Connie Smith, who made the fifth team in the recent Intercollegiate at Swarthmore College. Hope to see all of you tomorrow at the soccer game.

VFMA Noses Dragon Frosh

by Drew Muir

Drexel's freshman football squad was nosed out by Valley Forge Military Academy 13-12 last Saturday on the loser's field. This victory marked Valley Forge's fifth straight win against one defeat, while it evened out the Dragon's record at one win and one loss. A third period touchdown by Jim Pownall, former star from Roxborough, and a run by Walt Schairer for the PAT iced the victory for the Cadets.

Late in the first half, a pass from Shairer to Pownall covered 24 yards for the first Valley Forge score. With one minute remaining in the half, Tony DeGiovacchino, Dragon quarterback, tossed a 30-yard aerial to Butch Lewak who scampered the remaining 25 yards untouched for a Drexel tally. The PAT was no good and at halftime, the score read 6-6.

Lewak Scores

Following the second-half kickoff, Drexel held the Cadets, and then marched 60 yards for the second touchdown. Butch Lewak tallied this one also, on a run from six yards out. Valley Forge then came to life and drove 80 yards in eight plays, with Pownall scoring his second touchdown from the one. With the PAT good, Valley Forge was ahead to stay.

Scranton Tops Drexel on Strategic Dragon Fumbles

by Harry Moyer

By taking advantage of Drexel's mistakes, the University of Scranton defeated the Dragon 33-14 at Scranton last Saturday. After taking the opening kick-off, Scranton marched 53 yards to the Drexel 19-yard line before giving up the ball on downs. The Dragon offense started in high gear also, as Jim Holden passed 18 yards to Tom O'Connor, but their attack bogged down too.

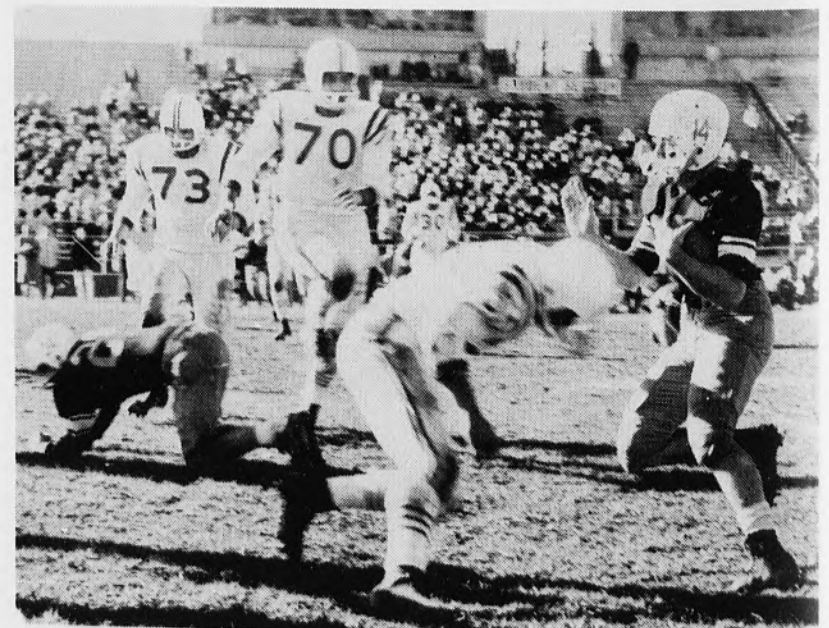

Later in the period the Royals got a big break when a bad pass from center on an attempted punt gave them the ball on the Dragon's 25. After moving the ball to the 17, Ed Zelinski tossed a screen pass to halfback Pete Fidati for the score. An end run for the two-pointer was stopped. The touch-

Drexel's hopes for a second half comeback were jolted as the Royals recovered a Drexel fumble on the opening kick-off. Joe Bellucci climaxed a 31-yard march with a 1-yard buck into paydirt. Graziano then converted his second conversion of the afternoon.

Later in the quarter Drexel fumbled again, and Zelinski went into business. He tossed a 25-yard pass to Charlie Cino and then fired a payoff aerial to Charlie Grochowski good for 29 yards. Graziano kicked the extra point and Scranton led, 27-0.

O'Connor Stars

Early in the final period, Scranton tallied again on a pass from second string quarterback George Brooks to Cino, good for 40 yards.

Minute Left

The second quarter was almost a repeat of the first. A pass interception gave the home forces the ball on the Drexel 43. From that point, the Royals moved to the Dragon's 25, from where Zelinski fired his second touchdown pass, this time to Tom Shopple. Gus Graziano's conversion for the extra point was good and Scranton led at halftime, 13-0. This score came with a minute left.

Later in the quarter the Dragons came to life. Starting on the Dragon's 46, Tom O'Connor topped a drive by throwing a 36-yard scoring pass to Bob Saraceni. A pass for the extra points went astray.

The next time the Dragons were in control of the ball, they found themselves on the Royal's 46. Jim Holden added the finishing touches to a scoring drive by pitching a 25-yarder to John Maloney. Holden racked up two points on a quarterback sneak.
