How to know the difference in steaks.

And why ours are better.

One good way to know if you're getting your money's worth from a steak you order at a restaurant is to know its grade. That is, its quality as determined by the United States Department of Agriculture.

All steaks must be graded either Prime, Choice, Good, Standard, Commercial or Utility. In that order.

To be Prime or Choice, a steak has to be well marbled. This marbling is what gives a steak its natural tenderness and juiciness.

In other words, it's what makes a steak good.

Brown Derby restaurants proudly serve only USDA Choice steaks. Well marbled. Tender. Juicy. Very good.

And they're reasonably priced, too. Our steak dinners, including salad, potato, a demi-loaf of our own fresh baked French bread and onion rings, start as low as $2.85. If you pay less (or even more) than that for a steak dinner, ask if you're getting USDA Choice.

You'll never have to ask at the Brown Derby.

We promise you.

We honor all major credit cards. As usual, we're open every Sunday.

Our best wishes to the class of '61.
