An entertainment with stereopticon views and phonograph will be given by Harry M. Bellatty and Edward W. Austin at the Dollardtown schoolhouse. West Ellsworth, to-morrow evening. The entertainment will be given at the Surry road schoolhouse Thursday, Nov. 19.

The high school football team met its first defeat of the season Saturday in its game with Bar Harbor high at Wyman park. The score was 22-0. The Ellsworth team has been playing a good game, and considering the fact that it has been without the services of a coach, it has done remarkably good work.

On account of the football game at Orono next Saturday between Bowdoin and the U. of M., the train leaving Bangor for Ellsworth and Bar Harbor at 5 o'clock will be held until 5.30. This halfhour delay will give those attending the game, from points on the Mt. Desert branch, ample opportunity to return Saturday night. A round-trip fare of 75 cents from Ellsworth has been made for that day.

The body of Nathaniel Richmond, of East Livermore, a brother of F. S. Richmond, superintendent of the Ellsworth hardwood factory, was found in the woods near the Androscoggin river Monday. Mr. Richmond was sixty-eight years of age. He lad been missing from his home since last Wednesday, when he was last seen crossing the river in a small boat. An examination of the body indicated that death was due to exhaustion. He leaves no family.

The steam saw and planing mill of the East Machias Lumber Co., in which Ellaworth men are, largely interested, was burned Sa urday night. The building with finished and unfinished stock which was burned, was valued at $50,000. Another mill of the company was burned a few weeks ago. The planing mil : ad been shut down about ten days. There was a pertial insurance. The fire is attributed to an incending, as was also the previous fire.

Harry C. Austin, manager of the undertaking department for Roy C. Haines, returned this morning from Augusta, where he passed an examination for State license as embalmer and undertaker. He now holds both Maine and Massachusetts Daniel E. Hurley last week moved to the licenses. Mr. Austin has received a direcently, standing third in a class of thirty. He had the advantage of ten years experience with the late Curtis R. Foster.

George Gross, of Gouldsboro, brought to the county jail here Saturday to serve sentence for violation of the fiel laws in dynamiting fish in Frenchman's bay. Gross was found guilty in the Bar Harbor municipal court last year, and appealed. The case was continued from term to term in the supreme court until the recent October term, when principal and sureties defaulted, and judgment of the lower court was affirmed. Gross is ander sentence of two months' imprisonment and fine of $100 and costs, $11.

There is a possibility that Sullivan and Franklin may unite with Sorrento in an effort to have a line from the Bar Harbon & Union River Power Co. run through those towns for the purpose of furnishing electric lights. The town of Sorrento has already voted to make a $500 contract with the Bar Harbor & Union River Power Cofor electric lights, and if contracts can be secured from Franklin and Sullivan, there s no doubt that the line will be built. Representatives of the several towns are now in negotiation with the power com

In the item regarding insurance rates in THE AMERICAN last week, the terms "large" and "small" policies may have been misleading. By "large" or "small" policy was meant a policy large or small in proportion to the value of the property insured, the dividing line being 80 per policies to the extent of at least 80 per cent. of the value of property insured policies written for less than 80 per cent of the value of the property insured come under the "flat rate", so called, which is increased under the new schedule for Hancock county.

Prayer Meeting Topic For the Week Beginning Nov. 15, 1908. By REV. S. H. DOYLE.

opic.—Temperance meeting. A temperance organizations.—Jer.

The temperance question is one of the most absorbing ones of the present day. The fight is on, and the temperance cause up to date has won glorious success, over one-half of the United States now being under prohibition or local option. With such signal success the movement must be pushed all the harder by every one interested in ridding our country of its greatest curse-The trouble with re intemperance. forms usually is that the reformers gradually become tired of their work and the old order of things soon prevails. It has already been predicted that the temperance agitation has about reached its height and will soon subside. But such prophecies should be doomed to failure. With success at hand, no individual worker, no organization, should abate by jot or tittle the most strenuous efforts to completely overthrow this gigantic evil. It has been said that "eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." It is just as true in this case as concerning liberty. Only eternal vigilance can put down the saloon and keep it down, and thus practically win a complete victory for temperance and sobriety in our land.

The curse of the saloon and its debauching influences have long been recognized, and there have been temperance societies and organizations for centuries past. A study of these orconizations should inspire us to increase our efforts to put down the rum traffic. The Presbyterian Christian Endeavor Manual has the following excellent description of "the temper ance organizations:"

The Independent Order of Rechabites was established in 1835 in Salford, England, in imitation of the ancient children of Jonadab. It not only requires total abstinence, but it provides a fund for sickness and death.

The National Temperance society had 1ts origin in a convention held in 1865 at Saratoga. It publishes temperance periodicals for young people and adults and a very large number of temperance books and tracts.

The Woman's Christian Temperance union has been called "the sober second thought" of the wonderful woman's crusade of December, 1873, and the first half of 1874. The organiza tion was effected in a convention held at Cleveland in November of 1874. It now has branches for the young women and the children and has extended everywhere, exerting an enormous in fluence for good. It has departments for the spread of temperance education, social purity and many other no-

The Prohibition party, after many state campaigns, participated first in a national presidential election in 1872 Its candidates have been Black, Smith, Dow, St. John, Fisk, Bidwell, Lever ing. Woolley and Swallow. It holds that intemperance is a national issue, not to be settled by local efforts.

The Sons of Temperance arose in 1842 from the famous Washingtonian movement. It is a total abstinence association with charitable and benefit features.

The Catholic Total Abstinence Union of America was founded on Washington's birthday, 1872, in Baltimore, and it is doing a fine and aggressive work.

The first Band of Hope was formed in Leeds, England, in 1847, and it soon became a popular name for temperance organization, especially among the

"Relying on the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation"-how grateful these words must be to our Master, Christ. as they are said week by week by hundreds of thousands of young lips: It seems as though there is murmur of words always rising from the world like sweet incense which must do something to counterbalance the hoarse sounds of blasphemy and rejection. At times, of course, the murmur becomes a great shout when a convention of Christian Endeavorers gathers in tens of thousands. But probably there is not a single minute in any part of the twenty-four hours in which ne voice or voices are not professing reliance on the Lord Jesus Christ for salvation. Personally I greatly rejoice in the distinction which is made be-tween reliance on Christ for salvation and the trust for daily strength to live deals with our deliverance from the power of sin which would hinder our fellowship with God, while trust for daily strength looks toward the positive side of Christian living, in virtue of which we are able to do great ex-

Its Motto: "Helpful and Hopeful."

The purposes of this column are succinctly ented in the title and mosto—it is for the mutus senedt, and alms to be helpful and hopeful Being for the common good, it is for the common use—a public servant, a purveyor of information and suggestion, a medium for the inserchange of ideas. In this capacity it solicits communications, and its success depends largely on the support given in this respect. -R. B. T.

Dear Aunt Madge: best. I think the last two verses are particularly good. I hope I am not writing too much and too often. You will see I am in the mood for writing just at present, but later on may be too tired. Sometimes my hand gets so tired it pains me to write.

I think of the little girl who cried because her grandma did not iron the dish towels. Do you know. I can fold the towels easier and more quickly with the flatiron than without it, so usually mine are ironed a little. I wonder how that little one would feel if she hap-pened to be where the napkins were ironed so badly that she could not bear to see them put lege of ironing them herself. When I was a little girl I used to iron nicely; but now I do not take great pains with all the clothes.

Some are as well half ironed. which we seldom see now) on the wrong side so that they may be softer for the foot, or smoother. They can be more easily mended and better folded to put away. Dear Mutual Friends:

I placed M. A. B's letter next to the poem she sent. I had never seen the lines, but the thought of how well it is that mortals know not what the future holds for them has come frequently to mind. Mrs was a sister of "Ruby", who as also one of our circle. I have already received one

About forty-five patrons were present from Bayside grange by invitatio visitors from Lamoine and Harvest Home granges. Two new members were accepted and two applications were received. The fourth degree was conferred on two candidates, after which a harvest supper was served. The lecturer presented an interesting program, assisted by the lecturer of Bayside grange. Owing to the late hour, but part of Nicolin's program was given, the remainder being carried over to the next meeting, Nov. 21. The members who presented the drams "Valley Farm" are preparing to repeat it at Hancock hall, Nov. 18.

BARVEST HOME, WEST ELLSWORTH.

Harvest Home grange held its regular meeting Nov. 7. One candidate was instructed in the first and second degrees. After a brief recess, the lecturer gave a fine program of songs, reading, speaking and stories. Each patron was given only one minute to talk on a question given by the lecturer. The questions discu were: "Does it pay to raise potatoes for shipment?" and "How to raise them" Twenty-five members were present, and one visitor from Dracut grange, Lowell. At the next meeting, Nov. 14, the third and fourth degrees will be conferred, followed by a harvest supper.

LAMOINE.

An interesting session of Lamoine grange was held Nov. 2. After the business, the following program was carried out by the young people: Singing, grange; reading, Grace Stratton; "physical cul-ture exercise," Melvin Wilbur; essay, "How wireless telegraphy in our warships and airships will affect war between na-

One candidate was instructed in the degree of maid.

MASSAPAQUA, SOUTH BLUEHHILL. Massapaqua grange, which met Nov. 5, was fairly well attended. There is an increase in attendance this fall, and all hope it will continue. After the business was completed, the following program was presented by the lecturer: Reading, Lula Candage; songs, Roy Henderson; reading, Bro. L. H. Sibley; conundrums, Gan Herrick, Edith Candage and Lula Candage; question, "Resolved, That farmers have done more for the benefit of the country than machanics." The question for the next meeting will be, "What is the cause of the high prices to-day, and what remedy would you suggest?"

MOUNTAIN VIEW, WEST EDEN.

Mountain View grange held its regular eeting Friday evening, Nov. 6, with about seventy-five patrons present, including about thirty-five visitors from Bay View grange. After a short business session, the fourth degree was conferred on thirteen candidates. A bountiful harvest supper was served. During the lecturer's hour there were songs, readings and tableaux. There will be work in the initiatory degree Friday, Nov. 13.

LAKE VIEW, HAPPYTOWN.

Lake View grange held a very interesting meeting Nov. 7, with a large attendance. The first and second degrees were conferred on one candidate. The lecturer presented the question, "What consti-tutes a woman's work on the farm?" which was discussed by all very interestingly. The next meeting will be held Nov. 21.

CUSHMAN, GOULDSBORO.

Cushman grange met | for its regular meeting Wednesday evening, with thirty members and one visitor from Lincoln grange present. After the regular meeting the following program was listened to: Reading, Addie Guptili; singing, Verna Perry; reading, Nora Wikinson; singing, Bertha Handy and Etta Foss; readings, Louisa Guptill, Bertha Handy, Annie Tracy.

MARIAVILLE.

Mariaville grange met Nov. 7, with forty-five members and five visitors present. Two candidates were instructed in the third and fourth degrees. A harvest supper followed. The program was enjoyed by all, especially the grange paper which was full of wit and many comic happenings of the week. There were visitors from Good Will, Bay View, Queen City and Pine Grove granges. Many good suggestions were offered.

Again there is to be a contest between the ladies and gentlemen, and next Saturday, Nov. 14, is to be gentlemen's night.

CASTINE.

Castine grange will meet Nov. 7. The first and second degrees will be conferred upon a class of four or five. The work on the hall is progressing. The carpenters are Dexter Littlefield and Percy Perkins, of Penobscot. They are generously assisted by the members of the grange. The ladies' sewing circle is busy working and planning ways and means to furnish the new kitchen. They hope to have a sale the first of December.

RAINBOW, NORTH BROOKSVILLE. At the last meeting of Rainbow grange thirty-eight members were present. After business the lecturer furnished a fine program consisting of readings by Brooks and remarks by Brother Green and other It was decided to open the grange meetings at 7 o'clock.

"These stockings are so full of holes that they are worthless, Aunt Mahaly," said a lady to an old colored woman with a large family, who was a pensioner of her family.
"No'm, dey ain't," replied Aunt Mahaly,

THE SUCCESSFUL FARMER. The Sunny and the Shady Side of Farm Life.

[Paper by Mrs. Mary M. Burrill, read at the meeting of Hancock Pomona grange with New Century grange, Dedham, Oct. 24.]

There has never been a time when so much money was expended and such great effort made to assist the farmer as at present. States are contributing to the support of ex-States are contributing to the support of experiment stations, farmers' institutes, agricultural and horticultural societies without limit, and the United States supports a comprehensive agricultural department and appropriates vast aums of money for the support of colleges and experiment stations. Agricultural papers and bulletins are issued freely, and other helps to intelligent farming are many; and to crown all, a special movement has been set on foot by President Rossewelt to learn, if possible, other ways to better ment has been set on foot by President Rosse-veit to learn, If possible, other ways to better the condition of the American farmer upon whom so much depends, for he it is who pro-

The development of agriculture in the United States during the last half century has been almost beyond the appreciation even of those who have kept informed upon current events. Since 1850 the number of farms in the country has increased from 1.565,800 to 5.500,000; the cultivated land from 29,000,000 to 361,000,000 acres, and the total value of all farm property from $4,000,000,000 to $22,000.

000,000. During the same period other industries have increased in the same proportion, but their increase has, in the main, been the result, rather than the cause, of the development in agriculture.

Surely all this tends to a bright outlook for the farmer. He lives in the pure atmosphere of the country, and yet has many privileges. of the city. Electric cars take him and his family to town, rural carriers bring his daily paper and other mail, and the telephone an-nihilates distance between his home and the market and other points he wishes to reach.

When we find a successful farmer we will find these things true of him, while the unsuccessful one is apt to be indifferent and behind time in methods. The old-time farabeing time in methods. The old-time fara-ers were successful in their day because they depended on their own efforts. They had little or no help from colleges, institutes, builetins or instruction in any way, except in the hard field of experience, and the esson from the past to the farmer of to-day should be greater appreciation of the present-day helps and greater efforts to get the most from them.

The possibilities for success were perer greater than to-day, partly owing to the ageacies mentioned, but the desire among farmers to make the most of their opportunities is not This is not true of all farmers, but applies to farmers as a class. After all that can be done by the various agencies—and they are doing great things—the success or failure of the individual farmer will depend on hisown efforts and the way in which he utilizes the nation provide for him.

There seems to be something in the occupa-tion of the farmer that tends to influence him to shift responsibility on to the shoulders of some other person or to chance circumstances instead of his own incompetence. This is due to the fact that many uncertain elements beyoud his control enter into the production of

COUNTRY LIFE.

Letter from an Indiana Farmhand to President Roosevelt.

An Indiana farmhand has written a let ter to President Roosevelt about the work which the country life commission is carrying on. The President has turned the letter over to the country life commission, and the communission has asked the farmhand to write some more.

"I have been a farmhand just long enough," save the President's correspon dent, "to learn the cause of so many sons and daughters and well-meaning, reliabl farmhands leaving the beautiful farm and country and going to the city. A lack of order and system on the farm and too long hours for a day is what is driving the best minds from the farm to the city and shop

"What can we expect of a hand, or the farmer's wife and her posterity, in the way of intellectual development, when they get out of their beds at 3.30 in the or 9 p. m., and no attention paid to the sanitary conditions of the home, and necthe farm work with the least labor and

This man has given the country life commission some very interesting first-band information about rural conditions ndations based on a lo oe in farm work and farm life. H has worked for all kinds of farmers, good and bad, he says, and he has always had his eyes open to detect the causes of their success or failure. He has drawn his own conclusions and sets them forth in down-ight, straightforward fashion.

"Education pays in farming," he says.
"The farmer who plans out his work and crrries it through in a systematic, businesse like manner, just as the city man does will be able to shorten the hours of labor So many farmers measure everything or the farm from the standpoint of muscle and are extreme in some things and slack in others. I decided several years ago that life is to short to work for Peter Tumbledown farmers

"Compel the farmer to be a business man. Go into the homes of the farmers and the so-called farmers and ascertain how they live, and their methods of doing the business in which they are engaged, and you will be surprised what a var you will find. Ascertain what they read, and what stress they put on the literature that comes into their homes (if any comes) bearing on the business they are engaged in. See what per cent. study their business

"Give me the educated farmer as a bose and the educated farmhand as a hand. When I come in contact with a hand or farmer that studies his business I find him advancing, and it is a pleasure to work for such men

"The majority of the farmers are eighthour men, that is, eight hours in the forenoon and eight in the afternoon. Eight or ten hours on the farm cannot well be adapted in all cases, but it need not be family arise every morning at 5 o'clock and the wife and daughters attend to the household duties, and the farm hands and sons attend to the chores and go to the field at 7 o'clock and work until 11 or 11.30, and go to the field again at 1 and keep at it until 6 o'clock, and go to the house and eat the supper and then do the evening chores, they have done a farm day's work. Regular hours for work, and regular hours for meals, and regular hours for est and recreation, with plenty of standard papers and books, including the bes agricultural papers and books, and a full faith in God, and good grub is wanted.

"The family should rise at 5 o'clock or Sunday morning as well as on week days and do the necessary Sunday chores, and then go to church and show the business man in the city that Sunday on the farm does not consist in changing the stock from one field to another, or salting it, or unloading a load of hay that was brought in on Saturday evening.

"Coming to the meals at the meal hour makes it easy on the wife so she can arrange her household duties in order, as can also the husband his farm work. Men of worth and standing in the shop and Most people past middle-age suffer from kidney and bladder disorders which Foley's kidney Remedy would come back to the farm. If the farmer wants to keep his sons and daughters on the farm he must not lengthen the hours for a day's work at both ends. Limit the hours of work or the farm to twelve or thirteen, with pa for overtime and freedom to the hired man on Sunday."

The country life commission welcomes letters like this, because, as Professor L. H. Bailey, chairman of the commission recently pointed out, one of the objects of the investigations of the commission will be to obtain, as fully as possible, opinions of both farmers and of their hands concerning the question of farm labor and the condition of hired help. It is likely that when the country life commission reaches Indiana in the tour of the country which it will make early next month it will endeavor to get into personal touch with this letter writer.

The first Thanksgiving day was cele-brated in the autumn of 1621.

An account of the pioneer of all these feasts has been presented in a letter by Edward Winslow written in the same You shall understand that in this little time that few of us have been here we have built seven dwelling houses and four for the use of the plantation, and have made preparations for eleven others. We set the last spring some twenty acres of corn and sowed some six acres of barley and peas. Our corn did prove well God be praised, and our barley indifferent good, but our peas not worth harvesting.

Our harvest being got in, our governor sent four men out fowling, so that we might after a special manner rejoice together after we had gathered the fruit of our labors. They four in one day killed as much fowl as, with a little help, beside served the whole company almost a week, at which time among other recreations we exercised our arms, many of the Indians arriving among us, and among the rest their greatest king, Massacolt, with ninety men, whom for three days we enter-

And, sithough it be not always so plentiful it was at this time with us, yet by the goodness of God, we are so far from want that we often wish you partakers of our plenty.

Thus Thanksgiving was born. It continued to be celebrated, though not with any regularity, for about sixty years, after which it was annually ordered by the general court, not always in November, but generally after the harvests

A Marvel of the Age

With the turning on of the power from the Ellsworth dam to Bangor this week, the electrical current developed by Union river at Ellsworth is now turning wheels at Charleston on the one hand, and illuminating Northeast Harbor on the other-a distance between the two points of nearly 100 miles as the wires run. It is a rvei of this electrical age which we fail fully to appreciate.

Tae Bangor line increases the load sarried at the Ellsworth power station to 1,500 horse power. A line for lighting purposes through the towns of Franklin, Sullivan and Sorrento is now projected. This doubtless will be followed by other lines, and possibly the coming of the long-awaited electric roads radiating from Ells-

Senator Platt's Successor.

No little public interest attaches to the election of a successor to Senator Thomas C. Platt, of New York, especially in view of the current report that President Roosevelt may be elected in spite of the fact that the President has given out that he wil leave the country within nine days after March 4. All his plans have been arranged for his African gunning excursion, after which it is said he will visit a number of foreign countries, and he is engaged to deliver a lecture at Oxford university.

A Washington despatch, however, gives it as the general opinion in that city that Secretary-of-State Root will be elected by the New York legislature in Mr. Platt's place.

Reports from manufacturers, shippers and jobbers all over Maine, including almost every line of business are of one accord, indicating that the period of depression has, by reason of the election of Mr. Taft, been superseded by one of prosperity which has already opened in all parts of the country. The lumbering business in the eastern part of the State has taken a boom after a long period of quiet; the paper mills, cotton mills, foundries, shoe factories and manufacturing plants of all kinds are running on full time and with a full complement of hands, except in a very few instances; the railroads are experiencing the effect of the general revival as are also the steamship companies; the whole sale grocers report prices stiffer and markets stronger and a feeling of confidence is manifest all over the land. Manufactories in Portland and in some other Maine cities had not experienced marked ill effects from the long that the stronger marked ill effects from the long of the sale marked ill effects other Maine cities had not experiother Maine cities had not experienced marked ill effects from the long period of depression, and many of them report that business had already revived previous to the election, but all are of one mind regarding the outlook for the future, and manufacturers in all lines of business look forward to several years of prosperity .- Portland How They Were Handled by the Bred to the law, in which profession he attained high position both in active practice and on the beach, he has added to his legal training wide experience in the cabinet and a farreaching knowledge of our insular possessions acquired on the spot. He will, we believe, inspire confidence among the great masses of the people, and we predict that the period of uncertainty, that always accompanies a presidential campaign, will now give way to business aggression in all sections of the country, and that the great manufacturing, mercantile and general traffic interests of the country will speedily resume the highest level of prosperity.—Bangor Commercial. There is much talk in political cirles with reference to the coming changes in the tariff. J. L. Welch, of Sorrento, has a mu learned dog of the shepherd breed. He has learned to bring in fire wood, carry pails to the stable, pick up apples or poatoes and put them in a pail, bring his master's slippers, shut doors, and do many other tricks. His picture has lately been taken while jumping over a horizontal pole five feet high. When he is asked, "Teddy, did you vote for Mr. Taft?" he will answer with a pleasant bark, and by the twinkle of his eye one can see that he is rightly fixed in his political dogma.

Perhaps no polling place in Maine could duplicate the scene at Surry when on last election day Alexander McCaslin, of Toddy Pond, aged ninety-two, and Matthew Moon and Simon Flood, both nearing their ninetieth year, were at the polls to-gether to vote. Mr. McCaslin lives five miles from the polis. Capt. Gray, who runs his farm for him, tried to persuade the old gentleman that it was too cold a ride for him, but Mr. McCaelin was bound to cast his vote for Taft, and started off on foot for the polls. Capt. Gray then har-nessed up his horse, overtook the old gentleman on the road, and drove him to the

Near the foot of this heath is a place about twenty feet square, that somewhat resembles quicksand. A short time ago this place was visited by Alonzo Wil-bur and his brother Leslie, who found the remains of three moose. Last week it was again visited. The remains of three moose ere distinguishable, one whose antlers had been nearly eaten off by mice. Many bones were in evidence, and probably many of the denizens of the forest in bygone years have found their last restingplace in this bottomless pit."

Mrs. Abbie G. B. Jordan, of Mt. Desert Ferry, writes: can tell you that chestnut trees can be found in this part of Maine. The burs open and the nuts drop out; still, when you open the nuts, there is no meat. I have tried to ascertain the cause of this, and have been told that it was because the tree stood alone. I thought very much of the tree, as my father, Alfred Metcalf Blaisdell, planted the nuts fifty-five or sixty years ago. I had two chestnut trees here in Hancock but last winter both

He said: "The women will not try To kiss me as they might."
"I'm mighty glad," his dear wife said,
"For if they did, I'd fight." "Oh! do not sigh, my dearest hub.

ELECTION RETURNS.

Telephone Company.

In the collection and distribution of returns of the national and state elections, the telephone not only demonstrated its nimbleness, but, in a most surprising manner, its ubiquity. It was literally everywhere. In fact, it was "there and back" so quickly and so accurately that election bulletins were gathered and forwarded from every point in the country with a speed and a completeness hitherto unapproached.

What the New England Telephone & Telegraph Co. did in its territory was, in a general way, what the other Bell companies of the country did, in the effort to promote the desired result. Each individual company was then able to "swap" information with every other company through the agency of the great long-distance connecting company-the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.-that binds them into a great national organization. Acting in conjuction with the Boston Globe, the New England company received and compiled returns from this section of the country, and then proceeded to the most difficult portion of its task-the distribution of th

To insure the prompt distribution of these bulletins, the four northern New England states were subdivided into England states were subdivided into thirty-four sections, each section having a central receiving point to which the bulletins were sent direct from Boston. From these various points the bulletins were sent out by telephone to the various exchanges connected therewith, and by these exchanges were transmitted to newspapers, clubs, and subscribers.

MERRILL P. HINCKLEY DEAD.

Prominent Citizen of Bluehill-Well Known Throughout the County. The death of Merrill P. Hinckley last Sunday morning at his home in Bluebill cast a gloom over the whole community, for be was widely known and highly esteemed. Active in different business enterprises, holding positions of trust in the town, a member of the Odd Fellow and masonic orders, a trustee of the Bluehill-George Stevens academy, devoted to his family, accommodating toyall, he will be greatly missed everywher Death followed an operation performed to counteract the effects of blood-poisoning resulting from a slight wound on the foot. He was nearly fifty the years of age. Mr. Hinckley was the jugior member of the firm of Merrill & Hinekley, his partner being Frank P. Merrill, representativeelect from his class, conducting a large general store. He was formerly in business in Penobscot with his uncle, Horace Perkins, now of Waterville, coming to Bluehill nearly twenty-five years ago. was town treasurer, treasurer of the Hancock county agricultural society and had numerous other business connections.

Besides a widow he leaves six children-Harold, of York Beach; Louise, of Boston; Max, who is in the employ of the firm; Joy, a student of Colby college; Madge, a senior in the Bluehill-George Sterens academy, and Gale.

The funeral was held yesterday, and was one of the most largely attended funerals ever seen in Bluehill. Every store in the town was closed, and all seemed to vie with each other in paying some mark of respect to his memory.

An Autumn Morning.

And the spider's nets are on the lawn. And deep in filmy robes of mist The hills and the silent woodlands lie, And anon, as the sun comes up the sky, The gray clouds turn to amethyst.

The tender song of the waking thrush Is heard no more in the brooding hush, Nor linnet's song in the dying trees. And down where the dodder's skeins

The witch-hazel gleams in velvet red. And the sweetbriar waves in the breeze.

And wheeling up through the distant sky, And over the breast of the pool Through haze of the daybreak's atmospere,

The cry of a bittern, sharp and clear, Comes from the marshes dim and cool. And deep in the grasses at our feet

The tuneful crickets still sing as sweet As in the depths of torrid June; And o'er the dells and the sleepy woods, A reverent hush of stillness broods, As morning dreams into the noon

-Frank Lestis's.

Every one uses the word honeymoon, and few have ever taken the trouble to find out how the name originated. It has nothing to do with the supposition that 1t is a period of sweetness and love which is granted to every marr.ed couple by the world. Instead of this, it is called from an ancient practice of drinking the wine of honey for thirty days following the wedding ceremony.

MAPPING ELLSWORTH.

Work of Government Surveyors Completed for This Year.

Written for THE AMERICAN by Richard T Byans, of Washington, D. C., to pographer U 8. Geological Survey.

It will interest the many people who have been watching the progress of the field work to know that the mapping of the north half of the Ellsworth quadrangle has been completed.

The quadrangle is a topographic map, made by the United States geological survey in conjunction with the geological commission of Maine, and comprises an area of 213 square miles, all in Hancock county, situated between the 68 degrees 15 minutes and 68 degrees, 30 minutes meridians W. and the 44 degrees 30 minute and 44 degrees, 45 minutes parallels N.
On this map are located and carefully class or private roads, main trails, streams outlines of lakes, swamps, crests of hills, the larger ledges and ravines and all of the important lesser elevations and de-pressions. The shapes of slopes and de-pressions are shown by contours of twenty-fet intervals. That is, for every rise in elevation above mean see level of twenty tet, an imaginary line, engraved on the snished map in brown, is traced throughout the country, showing the topographic features with their, respective altitudes. The finished map also shows state, county and township lines and names of streams, aids, etc.

Since the first part of July the mapping of the north half of the quadrangie, which includes parts of Otis, Mariaville, Waltham Eastbrook, Ellaworth, Piantstion 8 and Franklin, has been steadily prosecuted. Assisted by the charming hospitality and courteous co-operation of the people of the different towns, the survey party has not met with the difficulties usually expected in timber-covered country. The general excellence of the country roads and the ted the progress very materially.

The broad valley of Union river, the tailed glaciated country that lies con cealed beneath the woods along Tannery brook back of Arden Young's, in Oils, constitute the important features of the map.

I have been assisted in the work by H. P. Kilby, of Dennysville; Harry E. Rol-lins, of Lakewood; Dellie Salsbury, John W. Salisbury, of Otis, and Augustus Sargent, of Ellaworth Falls. Mr. Charles K. Alexander, of Ohio, assisted by J. J. Mc-Cormick, of New York, ran the level lines rmanent bench-marks in each town in addition to painting on fence-posts and rocks the elevations of hundreds of road

The Elisworth quadrangle is one of ore than 1,700 that the United States logical survey has mapped. The maps are the very best made in the world, and are valuable for many purposes. Nowa-days no development of large proportions is undertaken of any section of the coun-its uncertaken of any section of the country without a topographic map as a base to work on. It is absolutely necessary for the determination of water power, route and construction of railroads, drainage of symp lands, etc.

In many parts of the country the maps are used in school-work, and indeed citiess interested in good roads, improvement of real property, distances and hights of lakes and hills are finding them useful.

sent of real property, distances and sights of lakes and hills are finding them seeful.

As the geological commission of Maine, which is co-operating with the United States geological survey, is anxious to have a map of this region as soon as possible, the field work on the south half of the quadrangle will be rushed at the return of warm weather next spring. When the map is finished and printed, anyone may procure copies at five cents each by writing to the Director, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C.

POWER TURNED ON.

Ellsworth is Now Sending Electric

Power to Bangor.

The power line from Ellsworth to Venzie completed, and at I o'clock Monday the electric power was turned on the line Without any disturbance to the service by the simple throwing of a switch, power from the big dam at Elisworth was in an instant transmitted to Bangor, and at once got busy driving electric cars about the

The current goes from Ellsworth to the station at Veazie, and is distributed from that point. There is a sub-station at Kenduskeng on the Charleston branch On Monday the electricity was being sent from Ellsworth to Charleston, and also to Bar Harbor and thence to Northeast Harbor, in all a distance of 100 miles. The loss in transmission is very slight, averagstration of the immense progress in electrical development, not many years ago there was a loss of fully 40 per cent. in sending the power from Veazie to Ban

The people of Bangor are congratulating themselves that now the electric cars and lights will run steadily throughout the winter season. There will be no call for kerosene from the users of electricity, and the cars will not be obliged to lower or halt their services because of ice in the river. There will be no trouble from an-

The present power-house at Vearie will be continued and, in fact, it is planned to make speedy improvements there by building a new dam. It is not the intention o the company to do away with the Veszie power, but simply to replace its current with that from Elisworth in the operation of the electric roads, and later of the electric lighting.

Liquor Seizure at Stonington. News, dated Nov. 10, says:

While there was some campaign talk that no liquor to any amount was handled here, despite that fact Deputy Sheriff J. H. Eaton made a seizure to-day of about eighty packages, an aggregate of about 1,000 gallons of liquors. There was beer, ale, wine, whiskey, rum, gin, cordials and even champages. It was in casks, barrels and cases and in large

The packages were tagged to almost as many different parties, but there is a suspi-cion that some of the names were fictitious and that had it reached the consignees who ordered it, it would have landed in a compara-tively few places. The raid was made at the goods made up a good proportion of the freight of the last boat from the west.

The raid came like a thunder-clap out of a clear sky, as anything of the kind has been slimost unheard of for nearly a year and a half. It is said that nearly every boat brings suspicious looking packages, but this is the first time for a long time that the authorities have taken any notice.

The seizure caused a profound sensation, not to say uneasiness in some quarters, and from present indications it appears that the stock of Thanksgiving cheer would be rather short this year.

Body Identified.

The body found in a pasture at North Bluehill Monday of last week has been identified as that of William Hersey, of Bangor, a blacksmith formerly employed by Thomas W. Cassidy, of that city.

Hersey was sixty-eight years of age, and exposure in the woods undoubtedly caused his death. He left Bangor in April last, and was seen in Bluehill in May or June He is survived by a brother, Preston Hersey, of Pittsfield, and a sister, Mrs. Allen Merrill, of Dexter.

KEITH'S THEATRE, BOSTON.

The season at Keith's is becoming nota ble for the large number of prominent theatrical and operatic stars who are heading the bills, Virginia Harned and Zelie de Lussan being followed by Thomas E. Shea, the tragedian. Mr. Shea will make his first vaudeville performance in Boston, Nov. 16, in a condensed version of "The Bells".

The surrounding bill will include the midget dogs are also on the bill.

A new feature will be "The Gainsboro Girl". Others are Barry and Wolford in a singing sketch; Chassino; the Zanettos, jugglers; Sam Williams in a pianologue; Maybelle Perkins and the special Keith show of moving pictures, solos and current events.

BOSTON THEATRE

Of the many successes of Henry Arthur Jones, playwright, none have met with greater favor than "The Liars". It is a bright comedy with an endless chain of amusing situations, and at the same time amusing situations, and at the same time teaches a lesson.

One of the best scenes of the play is a dinner party which is arranged for the indiscreet wife and her lover, but which is so worked up that nearly all the characters in the piece are at the table, and all have difficulty in explaining their presence. The result is a succession of lies, that fully justifies the author in giving the piece its name.

Women are attracted by this shoe first because of its refined and besutiful appearance. Then they find — often much to their surprise — that no other shoe they ever wore was so remarkably comfortable or held its shape so well. This is indeed a rare combination to be found in, one above — due to new and imposed methods of leather selection and workmanning.

More description does not do this shoe justice — trying it on is a revelution.

We hope yout will come in and try on a pair of Lee France sheen, as we that they will give you some entirely new ideas. MORANG.

The Cause of Colds

Good Advice Regarding The Prevention of Coughs and Colds.

If people would only properly fortify and strengthen their system, about 98 per cent. of coughs, colds and pneumonia might be avoided. These troubles are simply the result of weakness, which produces a estarrhal condition of the mucous membrane, which is as an internal skin of the When this skin is weakened, it nes infected with germs which are carried through the system by the blood. These parasites attack and break these delicate tissues and set up a soreness which produce what is in reality an externa produce what is in reality an externa scrofula.

The only thing that will cure coughs and colds and prevent pneumonia is a medication which is absorbed and carried by the blood so that the diseased membrane is disinfected, cleaned, soothed and healed.

We have a remedy which we honestly believe infallable and unsurpassable for the prevention and cure of coughs, colds and all catarrhal conditions. It is the prescription of a famous physician, who has an enviable reputation of 30 years' of cures gained through the use of this medicine. We promise to either effect a cure in every case or make no charge for the medicine. We urge everybody in Elisworth who has need of such a medicine to try Rexall Mucu-Tone.

Tone, tands to reason that we could not to make such statements and give yn personal guarantee to this romedy were not absolutely positive that we substantiate our claim in every part, and we see no reason why anyone d hesitate to accept our offer and try

OBITUARY.

The community was saddened Thursday morning by the death of one of its worthy citizens, Frank C. Robertson, aged fortyfive years. Although suffering from an incurable disease, the end came suddenty. He had taken his seat at breakfast with the family, when he complained of feeling ill, and death followed almost immediately pent his early life there. He married Miss Nellie Wooster, of this place, and had since made his home here. All through his illfor the best. In his home life he was s faithful, loving and devoted husband and father. As a neighbor he was ever willing and ready to lend a helping hand, and his place will be hard to fill. He is survived by a widow, two daughters, an aged mother, Mrs. Elizabeth Robertson, of Bischill, five brothers-William, Edward and Parker, of Bluebill, chase, of Brooksville, and Hinckley, of this place, and two sisters-Mrs. Mar Lincoln and Serah Robertson, of Bluehill.

He was a member of Lejok lodge, I. O. O. F., of Court Waukeag, I. O. F., and M L. Stevens lodge, K. of P., which were well represented at the funeral services held at home Saturday afternoon. Rev. C. A. Purdy officiated. Beautiful pillows and sprays of flowers covered the casket, bear-Interment was at West Sullivan, where the I. O. F. conducted the last rites at the port a pleasant journey.

War Record of Capt. John W. Saunders, of Trenton.

[From the Bangor Commercial.]

A Civil war veteran justly entitled to a cuous place in the annals of that conspicuous place in the annals of that great struggle is Capt. John W. Saunders, ow rounding out a life of adventure in Trenton. As a commander of gunboats that were in the thick of the active service of the federal government, the steadness of nerve and daring that naval officers are expected to show in the face of emergencies were strikingly illustrated on many occasions by Capt. Saunders, and he had the fortune to serve in more than one event which were considered epochs effect. Capt. Saunders and the mate were

Among other stirring adventures, Capt. Saunders had the distinction of partici-pating in the capture of the last gunboat that sailed under the colors of the Confederacy. The event occurred June 1, 1865. nearly two months after Lee's surrender. The gunboat was the Stonewall, named in honor of the Confederate general, "Stonewall" Jackson, and was a formidable craft fitted out for preying on the merchant marine of the union. Capt. Saunders, then in command of the gunboat Chippewa, with several other federal vessels, surprised the Stonewall in Havana harbor.

Capt. Saunders was born in the town of Orland, April 15, 1840, the son of John S. and Alvira (Steel) Saunders. His mother was one of a family of ten daughters, two the crew of the raft desperately tried to of whom married two Soper brothers, of Orland, two more the Hatch brothers, of Castine, and still another pair were married to the Saunders brothers, of Orland. Young Saunders enjoyed the usual school privileges of that period, and at the age of seventeen years decided to go to sea and enter the merchant service, sailing to foreign ports. Feb. 28, 1862, he entered the United States navy and was assigned to the U. S. S. Dawn as navigating officer, his first cruise lasting for fourteen oths. At this period the discipline was lax and the knowledge of gunnery woefully deficient, but Capt. Saunders was a good disciplinarian and he did efficient service in the teaching of gunnery and naval tactics on board the Dawn.

After the fourteen months' cruise, Capt, L. C. Newman of the Dawn was transferred to the U.S. S. Pembring and requested the naval authorities to transfer Mr. Saunders to the same vessel, which was done. Later he was detached from the Pembrina and ordered to the U. S. S. Tallahatchie, and in this vessel Capt, Saunders saw service under the great union admiral David D. Porter in the relief of General Banks' disastrous Red River campaign, during which the wild rebel yell with its weird accompaniment of bullets and shells was often heard.

Capt. Saunders treasures the orders he received at that time, and the following will give some idea of the strenuousness of the Red River campaign. On May 2, 1864, he received the following order:

Sir: You will preceed without delay in the Tailahatchie under your command to Alexandria, La., and report to Rear Admiral D. D. Porter for such duty as he may assign Respectfully,

Jas. W. PALMER.

Commander of ironclad Tallahatchie to ing Master John W. Saunders, Commodore Commander of Ironclad Tallabatchie Two days later the following was received from Admiral Porter:

Mississippi Squadren.

"Red River, May 4, 1864. Sir: You will proceed without delay up the River and patrol that stream from Fort de Russey to a point twenty miles below When you anchor at night take care to choose such positions as will enable you to use your guns in advantageous manner. Should you get out of coal, the next vessel to you will relieve you and you can repair to the mouth of Black river to obtain it. By order of Admiral Porter.

Very respectfully, your ob't servant, R. R. Breese, Lt., Comdr. Comdg.

This was arduous and dangerous service in every way as they advanced up the turbid Red river, with the shores infested by the Confederate sharp-shooters masked batteries in every available position and, hardly less to be dreaded, the intense heat of the tropical sun and the foul exhalstions from the swamps and overflowed bottom lands of Louisians, approaching in virulence to the deadly fumes arising from the pest house of Val d'Amo.

of the river had to be kept open for General Bank's army in this campaign, and in the patrol of the stream under the Capt. Saunders reentered the merchant dangerous conditions, Capt. Saunders had to exercise his resources of hravery, vigi-lance caution. The guns of the Tallahatchie were engaged in daily duels with the batteries that flanked the banks, but

Much more annoying were the or tions of the sharpshooters sheltered be-hind trees or such other protections as they could find, who picked off his men at every opportunity. The crew of the Tallahatchie sustained severe losses in killed and wounded, and Capt. Saunders had

A particular thrilling experience was an incident one night on the water when the reflections on the stream of a full moon. occasionally shrouded with drifting clouds, gave ordinary objects a spectre in the bow of the ship peering into the shifting shadows, keeping a sharp look out for the enemy, when what seemed like a huge raft directly ahead attracted the captain's attention, and he called the mate's notice to the float. thought it was a shadow of a cloud, and persisted in his belief until the captain showed him his error. The two bow guns of the Tallachatchie were loaded with canister and trained upon the object and at the command of "fire" a murderous discharge went hurtling out over the Heartrending grouns and cries issued from where the pale moonlight wrait seemed to float, and phantoms seemed to suddenly pop up out of the darkness as run ashore. In this they were succ and all managed to escape, but Capt. Saunders and his men secured as trophies th raft and a fine rifled cannon which was being towed across the stream. Soon after the close of the Red River campaign there was strenuous fighting on eastern waters, and here Capt. Saunders was assigned to the command of the gunboat Chippewa, of the Atlantic squadron at Philadelphia.

The Chippewa took an active part in reducing the batteries of the enemy in the James river and in the capture of Wilmington and Forts Fisher and Anderson At Fort Anderson Capt. Saunders had an exceedingly close call. A shell which ranged the boat struck down four men at a gun and passed so near him that he could feel the wind of the missile in its flight.

Lincoln it seemed likely that Capt, Saunwould have the credit of capturing the moderer, John Wilkes Booth, and his orders were to vigilantly patrol an outlet of Chesapeake Bay with the Chippewa to intercept any outgoing vessels, as it was thought at that time Booth would attempt to escape in this way, but as is well known the sequel of the hunt and pursuit of the pewa was ordered to Hampton Roads the econd day after the close of the war, and proceeded with five other ships to Port Royal, S. C. Here the vessels coaled and proceeded to sea with orders to search for the ironclad privateer Stonewall, which was built in England and sailed before the close of hostilities. The second day out the Chippewa spoke the Havana mail steamer and learned that the Stonewall was in Havana harbor. Entering the harbor, Capt. Saunders found the rebel craft there. The commander, having learned that the war was over, had discharged the The commander, having learned officers and crew and given the ship to individuals for $16,000 in gold. The situation was reported to Washington and orders were received to give a bond for $16,000, take the ironclad, put a prize crev aboard and send her to Hampton Roads The Stonewall was later sold to Japan and was the first ship of the Japanese navy Later the Chippewa was ordered to the Charlestown, Mass., navy yard, and was put out of commission July 18, 1865. Among the many relics of the war collected by Capt. Saunders there is none he prizes more highly than the following. It is addressed to S. W. Saunde Orland, Me., and is as follows:

The war for the preservation of the Union having, under the beneficent guidance of Almighty God, been brought to a successful termination, a reduction of the naval force becomes necessary. Having served with fidelity in the United States navy from the 28th day of February, 1862, to the present date, you are hereby honorably discharged with the thanks of the department. Given under my hand and seal of the navy department at the city of Washington this day of October 29, 1865.

While kidney disease.

While kidney disease are the most common diseases that prevail, they are almost the last recognized by patient and physicians, who content themselves with doctoring the effects, while the original disease undermines the system.

with doctoring the efects, while the original disease undermines the system.

There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes.

You may have a sample bottle and a book that tells all about it, bothsent free by mail. Address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention this paper and don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y.
