List of species and breeds for electronic reporting of suspected adverse reactions in veterinary pharmacovigilance

Revision agreed by Pharmacovigilance Working Party	24-25 May 2011
Adoption by CVMP	7-9 June 2011
Date for coming into effect	10 October 2011

1. Introduction

The EU legislation governing the authorisation and supervision of veterinary medicinal products in the European Union (Regulation (EC) 726/2004 of the European Parliament, require the continued safety of veterinary medicinal products, once in use. This is ensured through the pharmacovigilance systems of the Member States, which collect and evaluate information useful in the surveillance of veterinary medicinal products, with particular reference to adverse events in animals and in human beings related to the use of veterinary medicinal products. In order to facilitate the exchange of information about pharmacovigilance within the European Union (EU), the European Commission has published guidance on the collection, verification and presentation of adverse reaction reports, including technical requirements for electronic exchange of veterinary pharmacovigilance information in Volume 9 of The rules governing medicinal products in the European Union in consultation with the European Medicines Agency (the Agency). Furthermore, legislation now requires electronic reporting of suspected adverse reactions and a data-processing network for the reporting. The data-processing network, EudraVigilance Veterinary, has been set up by the Agency, in collaboration with the Member States and the European Commission to support the pharmacovigilance activities.

Part III of Volume 9 gives general information on EU electronic exchange of pharmacovigilance information. In this part reference is made to the VeDDRA<sup>1</sup> Species List designed to support the classification, retrieval, presentation and communication of animal species related to the class, the animal role, the production type and the sex. The CVMP guideline EMEA/CVMP/065/03 'data elements for the electronic submission of adverse reaction reports related to veterinary medicinal products authorised in the European Economic Area (EEA) including message and transmission specifications' provides more specific information on the electronic exchange of veterinary pharmacovigilance information and makes reference to species and breed lists under development.

In support of the above-mentioned data-processing network, the initial list mentioned in Volume 9 has now been revised to maintain the lists required by guideline EMEA/CVMP/065/03 for electronic reporting for structured identification of animals involved in adverse events and is set out below. The list is not intended to be a complete list of all existing species and breeds. It is instead a compilation of all animal species and breeds considered relevant by the Member States on the basis of their experience with veterinary pharmacovigilance reports. The list will continue to be updated on a yearly basis, in which written requests received by the Agency (veddra@ema.europa.eu) will be considered. The CVMP Pharmacovigilance Working Party update the list for adoption by CVMP each year.

With the exception of "Canine/dog" where the original breed names are included, the international breed names are listed (in the majority of cases these are the names of the breeds in the English language), as indicated in the respective references for the breeds (see below). For "Canine/dog", generally breeds recognised by the Fédération Cynologique Internationale (FCI) are listed, using the original breed name recognised by this organisation. For information purposes only a column has been added that provides the respective recognised English names for the dog breeds, to facilitate identification of the breeds. This column is not required for implementation in a computer system. Where no breed or lowest level classification was specified, NA (not applicable) or NOS (not otherwise specified), as appropriate, is included at the lowest level classification. The list is presented in alphabetical and not in taxonomical order. Latin names are not indicated with the exception of molluscs and fish where it was deemed helpful.

When used for electronic transmission of reports on adverse events to veterinary medicines, this list of species and breeds will be transformed into a database. Species and breed names should then be transmitted in the form of numerical codes, which will be integral part of the database. This will facilitate use of different language.
