DRUM SET RENTAL EASY START GUIDE

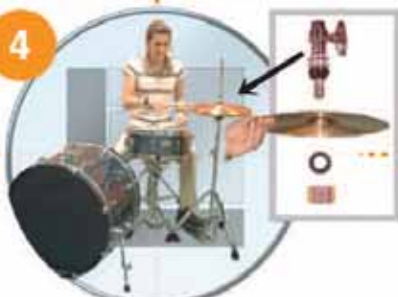

Start with setting the throne height so that the upper and lower portions of your legs form a right angle, the thighs parallel to the floor.

Now add the snare drum. Set the height so the top of the drum is roughly at the same height as the top of your legs. This can be fine-tuned once the whole kit is assembled. The snare has a "throw-off" lever which stretches the snare wires across the bottom of the skin, creating the distinctive snare "rattle" sound.

Now add the bass drum. Extend the spurs so that the drum sits evenly on the floor, and attach the pedal to the hoop.

The hi-hat cymbals are mounted on the hi-hat stand. The top cymbal is sandwiched between the two pieces of the "clutch". The stand also has a foot pedal used to create the different effects and sounds.

The toms sit on a mounting system that attaches to the bass drum.

The floor tom has three legs that are used to set its height and angle.

The ride and crash cymbals come next. The ride goes somewhere between the largest mounted tom and floor tom. The crash should be positioned somewhere above the smallest tom. It's important to make sure there are felt washers above and below the cymbal.

Make sure the heights and angles of each component are set up in a way that is most comfortable to you. Try to avoid having to reach too far for any part of the kit. Most of all, ENJOY! Feel free to get in touch with our drum department if you have any questions or need further help.

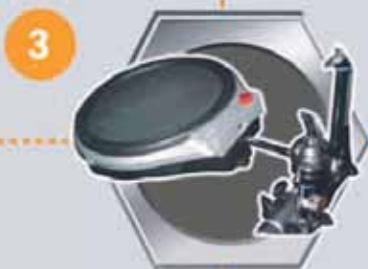

ELECTRONIC DRUM SET EASY START GUIDE

All e-drum kits are controlled by a module, or "brain", which receives digital impulses that travel across cables from a drum pad when the pad is struck. The cabling is connected using standard one-quarter-inch jacks, both on the input of the pad and in a designated input on the module. The module converts the digital impulses into sounds.

All the parts of the kit are mounted to a frame, or "rack". Set the rack up so that it sits level on the floor and use the tool included to loosen the connectors when leveling and setting the main frame section, as well as the side-extensions.

The pads are mounted to the rack exactly where you would expect to find the drums in relation to each other on an acoustic kit, using standard mounting hardware. Connect the pads with the included cable to the corresponding input on the back of the module.

The Hi-Hat pedal can emulate all the functions of its acoustic cousin. Connect the cable to the output on the unit as shown, and connect the other end to the designated hi-hat controller input on the module. The bass drum assembly clamps to any standard bass drum pedal in the same manner as an acoustic bass drum would be mounted. Connect the pad using the included cable to the corresponding input on the back of the module.

Cymbal pads are mounted on hardware similar to that used with acoustic cymbals and are affixed to the rack in a likewise fashion. Connect the pads with the included cables to the module. Look for the corresponding input on the back of the module.

Each component of the kit can be adjusted in both height and angle to accommodate your individual style of playing. Refer to the user manual for detailed setup instructions, or give us a call!
