

ANNUAL REPORT 2015-2016

Love doesn't have to hurt.

Joan had been married to her husband for nine years, but no one realized the abuse she endured. There had been many incidents of financial, emotional, and physical abuse. Joan tried to leave four times, but her husband always found a way to convince her to come back. The night before she called Turning Point's Crisis Line for help, her husband ruthlessly strangled and beat her.

When Joan arrived at Turning Point's doors she was dispirited, timid, and emotional. Throughout her stay, staff worked with her to provide case management, court advocacy, support groups, and individual counseling. She escaped the abuse in her home without bringing any of her clothing or important documents. Staff were able to provide a new wardrobe and work uniforms from Turning Point's Second Chance Boutiques. Her Case Manager was able to help her apply for a copy of her birth certificate, social security card, and tax documents.

She had a good full time job, but was in fear of losing it due to the number of absences she had acquired while living with the abuse in her home. Her employer happened to be a supporter and advocate of Turning Point, so her Case Manager explained to her the importance of speaking with her employer about her situation. Once Joan told them that she was working with Turning Point and staying at the shelter, her employer removed all of the absences that had been marked against her.

Each day that Joan stayed at Turning Point she became stronger and stronger. After completing the Shelter Program, she moved into Turning Point's Transitional Home Program. Life was looking up! When her vehicle broke down and the repairs were more than the value of the vehicle, a long-time supporter of Turning Point donated a van. This van donation was a life saver for Joan! Turning Point assisted with the insurance, inspection, tags, and registration. Joan used the van to commute to her full-time job and to operate a part-time cleaning service on the side.

Today Joan is confident, strong, and smiles all the time. She is in her own home thanks to furniture and housewares donated to Turning Point's Second Chance Home Décor. She thanks Turning Point and says that all of this is because of us, but we remind her that she is the one who achieved so much. We are thankful we were able to provide her the safety, support, and tools she needed to succeed.

Jessica was only four years old when she was referred to Turning Point due to allegations of sexual abuse by her mother's boyfriend. Jessica and her mother, Nancy, were immediately transported by Monroe Police Department to CHS Union's Emergency Department to check out little Jessica and gather evidence of the crimes that occurred. While the two were in route to the hospital, Union County Communications called Turning Point's Sexual Assault Crisis Line and asked for a Volunteer Companion to come and meet Jessica and her mom at the hospital. Turning Point's volunteer stayed and kept Jessica company in the Emergency Department while her mom spoke to the nurse and detectives.

An appointment was made for the next day at Turning Point's Tree House Children's Advocacy Center (CAC) for a forensic interview, follow up medical exam and family advocacy. During the interview, Jessica was able to tell her story of abuse once. The interview was recorded and handed over to Monroe Police Department for their investigation. In assessing the family's needs during the Tree House CAC appointment, mom revealed that she was also suffering at home from domestic violence. The same boyfriend who had been abusing little Jessica, was also physically, verbally, and emotionally abusive to her. Nancy discussed feeling overwhelmed caring for Jessica and her younger brother everyday while searching for education and employment opportunities. She stated that she had little family support. The advocate was able to connect the mother to the NC Pre-K Program that serves underprivileged four year olds to better prepare them for kindergarten. Jessica began classes the following week.

Nancy and her children are actively participating in counseling and on the road to a healthy, happier life that is free from abuse and violence.

“I alone cannot change the world, but I can cast a stone across the water to create many ripples.” - Mother Teresa

The growth that Turning Point has seen in our 2015-16 year cannot be attributed to one person, one donor, one client, one community partner, or one action. This growth is the result of 30 years of providing active support to survivors of domestic violence. It is the result of building resilient and trustworthy partnerships within Union County. It is the result of hundreds of diverse individuals giving of their time and giving of their treasure.

On July 1st, 2015, Turning Point became a holistic, comprehensive victim services program. We now have programs for survivors of domestic violence, sexual assault, and child abuse. We were able to take on these two new programs from another nonprofit because Union County saw the value of serving our abused, broken, and disenfranchised neighbors. When I approached the Board of Directors with this acquisition, they unanimously voted yes. When my staff and I rewrote grants for the new programs, other staff stepped in to help cover. When we reached out to the community for help moving all of the office furniture for the new programs to the new location, Union County Sheriff’s Office sent over about 15 deputies to help. When we let our donors know that we were taking this on, many of them increased donations of money, equipment, office supplies, paper products, and volunteer hours.

Basically, what I want to let all of you know is that I could not and did not do this alone. I want us all to be proud of what we’ve accomplished this year. Because of your support, Turning Point has directly impacted the lives of at least 1,347 adults and children who survived the terror of domestic violence, sexual assault, and child abuse.

Each of us may only be one person, but when we cast the stones of compassion, service, and love out into our community...the ripple effect on those around us is unbelievable.

We are not done. There is still much to do.

Sincerely,

Ashley

In 2015-16 Second Chance Boutique Monroe celebrated its 6th year, Second Chance Boutique Waxhaw its 4th year, and Second Chance Home Décor its 3rd year in business! We began with one store and a dream to assist clients in need of clothing and household items, and to raise funds for Turning Point's Programs.

We are so grateful to be able to say now, just these few short years later, that the stores have surpassed our initial dreams and become an integral part in funding Turning Point. We are able to provide clients with furniture, clothing, and household items free of charge. We also provide a place where clients can find a peaceful moment, shop with dignity, and continue to learn that they are free to and capable of making their own decisions.

Our favorite moments this past year were when we helped a client who later thanked us for providing her with a piece of luggage which she equated to "a home for her clothes." Another client thanked us for "providing the nicest clothing she's ever had." And we also cried along with a client because she was so overwhelmed at the thought of choosing more than 1 outfit for herself as she had not been able to do so in more years than she could remember.

This past year the stores received over 7,234 donations of clothing, shoes, household items, furniture and even 2 automobile donations. Home Décor was able to provide 9 families with approximately $3,000 in furniture and home décor items and furnish Turning Point's Transitional Home. Our Boutiques provided 51 families with $2,447.24 in clothing and household items. The Boutiques and Home Décor Stores also provided items for Turning Point's new location on Winchester Avenue that opened in July of 2015 which houses the Sexual Assault Resource Center and the Tree House Children's Advocacy Center. Helping us along the way are our amazing volunteers. Our stores average a total of 45 volunteers per month. Many of these volunteers help at the stores more than 10 hours each per week! Their gift of time, talents and friendship are a blessing we could not do without. One volunteer explained that she comes to help because, "Years ago no one was talking about this issue and we just lived with it. Thank you (Turning Point) for being here and doing what you do to help those whose voices weren't being heard."

Second Chance Boutiques and Home Décor hope to continue to grow thanks to the continued support of our community, volunteers, donors and friends.

Thank You!
