Basic Principles of EA Medical Chart Analysis

General Medical Astrology

The essence of astrology is a natural science based on correlation and observation. Thus, over thousands of years correlations have been developed that connect to the entire anatomy and physiology of the human body. Once these correlations are understood, it is not all that difficult to understand in any chart what areas within the body may have potential difficulties; ie Saturn squaring Jupiter, for example, in general, can correlate among other things, to a restriction in the sciatic nerves or a very slow metabolism process. The chakra system also has its own correlations. In Western terminology the chakras translate into what are called spinal plexuses.

Combining the two systems can lead to a very precise understanding of the entire body for any given person/birth chart and the psychological reasons for whatever conditions are apparent. We must remember that if we walk up to a corpse and put bread in its mouth, it cannot chew; there must be a consciousness present for it to chew. Thus, the consciousness, psychology, is the determining factor for what is happening in the body.

What is happening in the body is a reflection of the genetic structure that each incarnating Soul 'inherits' from its parents at birth, as the parents, as well as the overall life circumstances, are chosen by the Soul, to promote and facilitate its evolutionary growth, necessities, and karmic issues. Thus, the genetic structure combined with all the prior lives of any Soul that apply to the current life combine in such a way as to determine the total situation of the physical body in any given life.

Some conditions in the body are karmically determined for whatever reasons, and, when this is the case, one of two situations exists:

- (1) the condition cannot be healed in the current life no matter what healer does what, or
- (2) it is determined for a specific length of time, which itself can be determined by the Soul's ability, willingness, or capacity to understand the actual causes and then to do something about it.

The potential for medical issues

All the various astrological symbols, eg Mars, Cancer, the 4th house etc., correlate to all the various anatomical, physiological, and chakra system functions that symbolize the potential for medical issues in each of the archetypes. In other words, when we analyze any given symbol, from a medical point of view, the potential exists to have medical issues in those symbols versus some absolute manifestation of a medical issue in those symbols.

We will use that perspective of potential versus an absolutist one. Given the potential in any given astrological symbol, transits and progressions can correlate to the manifestation of that potential at those times. We will also try to understand the inherent genetics, Pluto, Scorpio, and the 8th house, of any given symbol in such a way as to consider how any given Soul can literally be born with medical issues.

Start simply by considering the medical potential of two planets. From there take those same two planets and connect them to signs, and then, from there to houses. As we progress further on we will then begin to add other planets in a building block approach to our medical understanding that will lead to looking at an entire birth chart.

So as we begin examining two planets at first it will simply be a matter of referring to the anatomical, physiological, and chakra system correlations of those two planets.

Aspects

We should also understand that the nature of aspects between planets correlate to the relative probability of having medical issues connected to those planets. In other words, two planets in opposition versus those same two planets in a trine will correlate to an increased probability of having medical issues between those two planets. The aspects also correlate to the potential degree of how severe any given medical issue is between two planets. Again, a trine between two planets not only has a decreased probability of medical issues but also, if they did manifest, a less severe manifestation of them versus those two planets being in an opposition for example.

Root of genetics

The best way to learn about the anatomy and physiology of the body is to see the 'whole' of it first so that all of its individual parts then make sense. That starts with understanding the genetic structure of the body as a root issue. From that root of genetics all manifests from there: like a root of a flower that then creates a stem, branches, and then flowers. The body is just like that. So by understanding the root of genetics all other body things can be understood.

Pluto, Scorpio and the 8th house

We will try to understand the inherent genetics, Pluto, Scorpio, and the 8th house, of any given symbol in such a way as to consider how any given Soul can literally be born with medical issues. It will simply be a matter of referring to the anatomical, physiological, and chakra system correlations of those two planets.

Planet – sign – house

[Example: Moon – Cancer – 4th house] The Moon and Cancer have their correlations which are not different at all. Where ever you find the Moon in the chart, or the sign Cancer, the correlations are the same. The specific houses and signs that any planet falls within, the archetypal correlations to that planet, are then added onto relative to the archetypal correlations of that house and/or sign. So too with the planetary ruler of a house adding to the core archetypes of the house itself.

STEP 1 See Chapter 5 – Chart A Practice Charts

Examine the correlations that have been provided about the anatomy, physiology, and the chakra systems and then link those correlations to the example: Mars opposed Uranus. So, in this example we would simply refer to the correlations of Mars, Aries, and the 1st house to the correlations of Uranus, Aquarius, and the 11th house and put that in the context of an opposition. There is no need to read medical books.

STEP 2 See Chapter 5 – Chart B Practice Charts

The next step is to place the Uranus/Mars opposition in a specific house. So let's put Uranus in the 4th house, and Mars in the 10th. When you refer to the correlations that have been provided focus on the sign Cancer and the 4th house, and Saturn and the 10th house. These houses now correlate to not only the type of inner and outer conditions that can serve to ignite the inherent potentialities of the Mars opposed Uranus, but also add to what those potentialities may be as defined by the houses that this aspect takes place within.

STEP 3 See Chapter 5 – Chart C Practice Charts

The next step will be to put the Uranus/Mars opposition in the 4th/10th houses in a sign to determine additional psychological/medical correlations: to see if in so doing there are more potential issues that may occur. We will put Uranus in Virgo, and Mars in Pisces. What additional potentials could exist in so doing?

Chapter 2

Astrological Correlations (Planets, Signs, Houses) to Anatomy, Physiology, and the Chakra System

Chakra correlations

Mars – Aries – 1st House

Anatomical Correlations – Mars

- Adrenal glands with Venus and Pluto
- Arteries with Pluto and Saturn
- Duodenum which is co-ruled with Pluto
- Muscles and muscular tissues of all kinds
- Oesophagus which is co-ruled with Pluto
- Penis with Pluto
- Primary brain which is co-ruled with the Moon and Pluto
- Red blood cells with Pluto
- Testes with Pluto
- Veins with Pluto and Saturn

Physiological Correlations – Mars

- Acetylcholine with Uranus
- Acids (all acids) in the body with Pluto
- Adrenaline
- Luteinizing hormone with Pluto
- Pregnenolone
- Progesterone
- Testosterone

Chakra System Correlation – Mars

Naval chakra with Pluto

Venus – Taurus – 2nd House

Anatomical Correlations – Venus

- Adrenal glands which are co-ruled with Mars and Pluto
- Frontal lobes and the parietal lobes which are co-ruled with Uranus and Neptune
- Inner brain with Neptune and Uranus
- Kidneys with Pluto and Neptune
- Nose with Saturn
- Receptor cells throughout the body
- Receptors in the brain with Uranus and Neptune
- Spleen with Pluto and Neptune
- Tongue
- White blood cells

Physiological Correlations – Venus

- Adrenocorticotrophic hormone (ACTH) with co-ruler Jupiter.
- Corticotrophin-releasing hormone, or CRH (controls ACTH release) with Jupiter.
- Hydrocortisone hormones, also known as cortisol, controls the body's use of fats, proteins and carbohydrates.
- Corticosterone which, together with cortisol, suppresses inflammatory reactions in the body and also has an effect on the immune system with Saturn.
- Estrogen with Pluto.

Chakra System Correlation – Venus

Heart chakra

Additional Correlations – Venus

Senses, sensing, extremes, sense of balance, psychology of hearing.

Additionally, Venus, Taurus, and the 2nd house correlates to all the various 'senses' – 'sensing' within the body – which are co-ruled with Neptune and Pluto. These also correlate with extremes that can exist in the body that then need to be balanced as a result: thus the sense of balance with the body. These also correlate with the psychology of hearing: how we hear.
