CERTIFIED CONSULTING METEOROLOGIST (CCM) CERTIFIED BROADCAST METEOROLOGIST (CBM)

With more than 13 years experience, I have been providing expertise across a broad spectrum of activities involving meteorology, climatology and the environment. Since 2006, I have provided expert analysis and testimony for several law firms and insurance companies on the impact of weather for their weather related legal and insurance claims. My forensic meteorological services include weather data analysis and interpretation, weather event reconstruction, site surveys, written forensic reports, expert testimony and cross examination advice. I have worked on cases in New York, New Jersey, Connecticut, Pennsylvania, Maryland and Virginia. I have always been qualified.

Cases in which I have been involved are wide ranging. They include: slip and fall accidents due to snow and ice accumulation, property damage due to high winds, tornadoes, hail and, personal injury due to lightning, long term wind studies, and Wet Bulb Globe Temperature data research. For all these cases, I acquired, analyzed and interpreted the weather data, reconstructed the weather at the time and location of the accident or incident and provided expert opinion of the impact of the weather factor on the event. My services have been performed for both plaintiffs and defendants.

I have peer reviewed emergency action plans for severe weather for the ToughMudder and NYRR organizations. I have also presented at professional meteorological conferences and public speaking events where I included new research on how climate change has impacted severe weather events. Recent research includes climate change risk assessment for various locations in New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Texas, United Kingdom, France, Italy, Germany, Belgium, Greece, Slovakia, Singapore, South Africa, and India.
