"THE TEMPLE WITH A HEART" www.TempleBethEmet.com Office@TempleBethEmet.com

"It is no use saying, 'We are doing our best.' You have got to succeed in doing what is necessary." (Winston Churchill)

Dear Temple Family,

I have full confidence that all did their duty, nothing was neglected and the best arrangements were made as they are always being made. We proved once again our ability to uphold our Temple's reputation, to ride out the storm of weeping, to outlive the menace of mourning, as a community and not alone.

This is what we did. With the resolve of the Temple Board, the clergy staff and the entire congregation, The Sisterhood and Men's Club linked together in cause and in need, sharing their native recipes, aiding each other like good comrades with the utmost of strength.

We went to the ends of the Temple serving French Pastries.
We sent drinks to the canopies in the courtyard.
We served food with growing confidence and pride,
Demonstrating our hospitality whatever the cost.
We ate on the benches.
We ate in the sanctuary.
We ate in the courtyard and in the Sukkah,
We never ceased eating, until the Sun had been defeated and it was dark.
We ate at the round tables.
And on Rectangular ones, too.
And when we were tired the younger generation aided us with all its power and might,
To rescue and liberate the old to mourn.
And we will say that this was Temple Beth Emet's finest hour.

To all who helped organize, plan, and carry out this most healing of days,
Let us all say Thank you and may you be a blessing for self, your parents, and your children.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE - November 2014

One of the wonderful things about being part of a community like Temple Beth Emet is the opportunity to share stories about ourselves, our families, and our individual histories. With the High Holidays over and no Jewish holidays until Hanukkah, and with the calm (and hopefully cool) of mid-autumn, it is a good time of the year to tell stories.

This past June, Diane and I took a group of college students to New York City to tour the fashion industry. We had a busy schedule visiting showrooms, retailers, design houses, designers, and museums. Our last full day in New York was free, and Diane and I took the opportunity to visit the grave of my grandfather, Abraham Goldstein. I had never met the man, and as a matter of fact he died when his wife was carrying my father, so my father never met him either. A subway ride to Queens and bus ride took us to Montefiore Cemetery on Springfield Boulevard. I had the grave location courtesy of a cousin, and a cemetery map from the internet, and with the help of a groundskeeper we found the grave.

Abraham Goldstein died very young. He was only 28 years old. He had come to the United States with his wife just 7 ½ years before he died of, from what I understand, a burst appendix. He left behind a wife, two daughters, and an unborn son. His grave is marked with a monument in the shape of a tree trunk cut off, signifying someone who died young. There is a low curb outlining the grave with the word “father” engraved at the foot of the curb. No one knows how a poor family could afford such a marker.

I had brought two stones from my garden, one representing me and the other my father. It was a very emotional experience. I thought about the fact that this man had never gotten to meet his son, and that my father had never gotten to meet his father. It seemed terribly sad that for almost 100 years, it was likely that the grave had hardly ever been visited. My grandmother married a widower in Memphis sometime after and formed an early Brady Bunch family. And I thought of my own father who has been gone 13 years. I was barely able to whisper a Kaddish. I took a stone from my grandfather's grave for the next time I visit my father's.

Despite the overwhelming sadness I felt, I also gained something positive. All of my grandparents were gone by the time of my birth, but I feel that by touching base with Abraham Goldstein that day I made a connection with him that didn't exist before. Rather than being just a story, he is now really my grandfather.

I was recounting this story recently at Temple when someone mentioned that she too had a grandparent buried at Montefiore, but there is a new and an old Montefiore cemetery in the area, so it might not be the same one. The thing is, however, that by telling my story I connected with someone else's story. Each of us has stories, and it is the connection of our stories that make us a family, so when we are gathered at Temple Beth Emet, let's make a point, if the opportunity presents itself, to share stories and learn more about each other.

-- IRA L. GOLDSTEIN, President

Now, dear friends, I need us to rise again to the occasion. I need us to remember not one who has Passed, but one who is amongst us. I asked in September for housing for temple families. No one was able to help, so now I am asking quite frankly to help me perform the mitzvah of housing. This Temple family is staying in the Temple. It is a situation that no one finds ideal. In fact, it was set up as temporary housing with Jerry as Director of Building and Maintenance agreeing to the idea of the Temple as the last alternative to all other options. St. Jude's offers the same as we do with one additional factor, it has a flight of stairs to navigate up and down. This person is partially disabled which makes St. Jude's worse than Temple Beth Emet. Besides, we take care of our own. We provide people with help. We do Mitzvoth, we practice Pekuach Nefesh, we save lives.

I can get this Temple family, clean, safe housing, but I cannot do it alone. We need to do as we did for Jerry's family, show what Temple Beth Emet is capable of. If we all put our hearts and minds together we will give one of our own families a place to stay in Burbank where they can be safe. I am not asking that the Temple become a landlord, although I wrote about that in the Burbank Leader in September, I am asking for temporary housing either from a Temple family or paid for by the Temple. As the food and service was a source of consolation for Jerry's family and for us, let us console this temple family in their time of need. And as all were satiated with physical food, please, please, please help to satiate this needy family with the spiritual food of shelter and a home. Please send what you can to the Temple office, put a notation with it for Rabbi's Fund Temporary Housing. And then tell yourself, "with this check," I did what Jerry would do.

In his memory and b'ahava,
Rabbi Mark

A special thank you to Prime Minister Winston Churchill for his legendary inspirational speech which influenced, in part, this column!

EDUCATION MATTERS - RSPA PRESIDENT, DAVID GOLDSTEIN

Our Religious School children have enjoyed a busy High Holiday season. Children's' Services were conducted at St Jude's on the mornings of Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur by Josh Sobel and Mahnaz Termechi. The children also had a chance to enjoy parts of the adult services and to hear the blowing of the shofar. Sukkot was celebrated at Religious School on October 12. The Rabbi brought each class into the Sukkah where they had a chance to learn more about the holiday and to see and learn about the lulav and the etrog. The children and their parents were then treated to a breakfast of fresh fruit, bagels, and cream cheese hosted by the parents of the K/1 class, thanks to K/1 Room Parent, Dana Schwartz, for coordinating! The Religious School staff and the Parents Association are busily planning for our Hanukkah fundraising performance put on by the Religious School students which will held on December 14. Please save the date. And please plan on joining us for the Rabbi's Adult Education Series, "Jerusalem Through The Ages," which will begin on Tuesday, November 11 and will continue monthly on Tuesday evenings through March. Please contact the Temple office for reservations and information.

SISTERHOOD SIDELINES – NOVEMBER 2014

At our October 5th meeting, we were busy with getting ready for the Jerry Engelberg Memorial. It was a huge undertaking but we somehow managed to buy, prepare and bring enough food for 165 people. So many women participated from setup to cleanup and it was all appreciated!

We did it out of the love and thankfulness we feel for Jerry and all he did for us. It was a whole Temple event. Board members, Men's Club and Havurah members all participated. Former Temple members were present to show their love and respect for Jerry and their appreciation for our efforts. It felt like a great big family reunion--- - hugs, with a few tears and a somber touch.

Bob's Big Boy Fundraiser – November 3rd 5-9 pm: a tasty way to support our Temple. Bring the flier you find in this newsletter and 20% of your purchase price will come back to the Sisterhood. Dine in or take out--- we get 20%. Besides all that, you have a great time because you see other Temple members there. The children are happy to see other children from Religious School and we all have a good time!

Gift Shoppe --- watch The Gift Shoppe as it transforms from Rosh Hashanah/Yom Kippur/Sukkot and Simcha Torah into a Hanukkah Wonderland. Be sure to visit our Gift Shoppe for all your Hanukkah needs.

Honey Boxes – For serious bargain hunters, a tiny few boxes remain and will be sold at fire sale prices: $5.

Attention all Temple Women and interested Men: We need the support of all of you. If you can join in, come to meetings and help us plan, we want you. If you can only pay dues, we want you. Dues are $15 and payable to TBE SISTERHOOD. Our next meeting is November 2, 2014 at 10AM Refreshments will be served.

SHALOM,

If you have a guest house or room with a bath and kitchen privileges available, and can offer it to a Temple Member, please let Rabbi Mark know. It is needed asap. Willing to pay a reasonable rent, plus chores (laundry, [good] cooking, ironing, pet and children sitting on occasion).

WE REGRET
ERROR!

This year's edition of the Scroll of Remembrance memorial book contained a serious error that resulted in a shift of columns on several pages. Additionally, the entry of Irene and Marlene Bobrowsky in remembrance of David Bobrowsky and Max and Lillian Rubenstein was inadvertently omitted.

We apologize for these mistakes and will make every effort to make sure they are not repeated in future editions.

If your entry was affected and you would like a corrected copy, please contact the Temple office.

Temple Member Willing to House-Sit

Worried about leaving your house or pets alone while you travel for business or pleasure? We have a Temple member who can look after your home and keep it the way you do!

Trustworthy, kind and loving to animals (your pets), and available for an extended time, if needs be. Also, willing to provide some administrative service to you, while you are away.

If you, or someone you know and trust has any such situation available, please call the Temple Office at (818) 843-4787. Leave a message with either Victoria or Edith and they will convey it to Rabbi Mark.
