DESCRIPTION:

Correspondence, memoranda, manuscripts, business records and printed material of the Overbrook Press of Stamford, Connecticut. The Press was founded by Frank Altschul, 1887-1981, investment banker, civic leader, philanthropist and bibliophile, and began publication in 1934 with Margaret B. Evans as resident designer and compositor. (Earlier records in the files are from the printing-related activities of the Helealt Corporation, which was the fiscal parent of the Press.) The files relate primarily to 149 of the books, pamphlets and broadsides printed by the Overbrook Press until its last year of activity, 1969. Particularly noteworthy are the files relating to the publication of Manon Lescaut (1958), Robert Louis Stevenson's Inland Voyage (1938), and Herbert Cahoon's 1963 Overbrook Press Bibliography. Approximately a third of the collection consists of general files of business correspondence and financial records, as well as material relating to exhibitions, bibliographies and personnel.

Frank Altschul corresponded with such noted artists and book designers as Valenti Angelo, W.A. Diggins, Jean Hugo, Rudolph Ruzicka, Daniel B. Updike, and in particular, Thomas M. Cleland and Elmer Adler. Among the other prominent correspondents are John Foster Dulles, Felix Frankfurter, John Gunther, Clare Boothe Luce, Archibald Macleish, Nelson Rockefeller, and U.S. Presidents Truman, Eisenhower and Johnson.
