

Dear Friends,

It began with a simple question. The scribe asked "What must I do to inherit eternal life?" Jesus answered with an equally simple reply: love God with your whole self and love your neighbor as yourself.

Straightforward enough, isn't it. But, then there's that simple sounding phrase that makes all the difference in the world: eternal life. What did that mean? Is it about living endlessly...more than 10,000 years, as Amazing Grace tried to guess? Or, is it deeper?

It wasn't the length of days. It was the quality of the life that made eternal the significant adjective. Eternal referred to God so eternal life meant God's life. Unlike human lives, which pass away in "seventy years or eighty, if we are strong," as the psalmist wrote, eternal life is always now. "I am who am", God said of himself. It also was creative, powerful, just, merciful, and compassionate.

This was no idle curiosity on the scribe's part. He wanted to know how to live in a way that just doesn't "pass away." He must have already guessed that having things wasn't the answer, nor was having a checklist showing you followed all the dictates of the Law of Moses. They all couldn't be of equal significance. He wanted a life of lasting significance.

Because this was so important to him, the scribe had to ask, "And who is my neighbor?" After telling the story of the Good Samaritan, Jesus then asked the scribe, "Which of these three, in your opinion, was neighbor to the robbers' victim?"

Do you hear the shift in perspective in Jesus' reply? It's not who the neighbor was, but who was neighborly. Not to whom should I be merciful, but who was merciful.

The scribe's reply was meaningful: "The one who treated him with mercy." It must have killed him to answer this way. He had to admit that it wasn't the professional religious people who were in touch with God's life, with eternal life, with merciful life. It was a hated Samaritan, one who didn't even know the Law as the others must have who acted like God.

Jesus' response to the scribe's answer was even more offensive. Jesus urged him to follow the lead of such a man! "Go, and do the same."

To catch how this recommendation must have sounded, imagine if Jesus was speaking with us today. Who do we find offensive? The Samaritan today could easily be someone who is gay; or a Muslim; or a Republican; or a Democrat; a liberal; a conservative; or even a secular atheist. "Go and do the same as one of them," Jesus could say to us.

This parable isn't just telling us to be nice to people in need. It's telling us much more. It's telling us not to think we've got God in a box. He's not going to fit into our preconceived notions, not even those of the Law of Moses. As Jesus says in John's gospel, "The Spirit blows where he wills." He can move even the least thought of by us to do his will.

Once we have the key to knowing what God's life is, what eternal life is, we can then start to look for models to experience his presence. What's the key? It's what Jesus, especially Jesus on that Cross, who shows us – eternal life is self-giving life; it's forgiving life; it's merciful and just life. You can't pin this kind of life down. It appears when we least expect it. It creates itself in whomever it wishes.

Do you want to have eternal life? Of course you do! We all do. Follow Jesus and we'll find him all over the place, for his life can't pass away.

Love,

Fr. Joe

MEDITATION

Why I Wake Early

Mary Oliver

Hello, sun in my face.
Hello, you who make the morning
And spread it over the fields and into the faces of tulips
and the nodding morning glories, and into the windows, of, even, the miserable and the crotchety – best preacher that ever was,

dear star, that just happens to be where you are in the universe to keep us from ever-darkness,
to ease us with warm touching,
to hold us in the great hands of light –
good morning, good morning, good morning.

Watch, now, how I start the day in happiness, in kindness.

STEWARDSHIP REFLECTIONS

15th Sunday in Ordinary Time

“Jesus said to him, ‘Go and do likewise.’”

(Luke 10:37)

This was Jesus’ command at the end of the Good Samaritan story. But did you know that the Samaritans and Jews despised each other? The moral of the story is to love our neighbor, who may be someone you don’t know, someone that looks different than you or someone you don’t like, without expecting anything in return.

Love is generous.

We have repeatedly said that to love one another,
we must first love ourselves.

Paul’s hymn to love, however, states that love “does not seek its own interest.”

The Bible makes it clear that generously serving others is far more noble than loving ourselves.

Loving ourselves is only important as a psychological prerequisite for being able to love others.

Consequently, love can overflow and transcend the demands of justice, expecting nothing in return.

“What you received freely, give freely.” (Matt 10:8)

Pope Francis

THANK YOU!!!

I would like to thank all the parishoners at St. Anne's Church for their support by purchasing baked goodies at the Bake Sale two weeks ago for my Eagle Scout Project. The Bake Sale was a major success and we sold out on all the baked goods. The weather was perfect, but more importantly I could not have done it without the help of the St. Anne's community. Enough money was raised to start buying materials and supplies to start my project.

Thank you for your generosity in supporting me with my project. I will never forget your contributions and the difference you have made in my life.

Sincerely, Joshua Gittens

Heating & Air Conditioning ~

Everyone knows that there are some months in which our electricity bill or heating bill is higher than others. Well, it's the same with the Church. As you know, we use an additional way of paying for our extra energy months. In the back of the church each Sunday you will find separate ENERGY envelopes. If you should happen to hit the jackpot that week, and wish to throw a dollar or two in that envelope, we'd greatly appreciate it! You can throw these special envelopes right in the collection with your regular envelope. The energy envelopes will not be mailed to you. They will simply be in the back of the church, so if you don't spot them, be sure to ask the ushers at your Mass. Thanks so much. And special thanks to those who have already been doing it regularly. It makes a difference!!!
