Pesach Product List

Prepared by Rabbi Yehuda Boroosan

2018 CHANGES ARE DONE IN PURPLE AND ARE BOLD & UNDERLINED.

This guide is prepared as a service to the General Public by Rabbi Yehuda Boroosan who is employed by the Orthodox Union, the largest Kosher certification agency in the world, as the Rabbinic Field Representative and Mashgiach for the southeast region of the United States. He has over 20 years of experience working in the food industry and has extensive knowledge regarding the commercial production of food and household products. Rabbi Boroosan received his semicha from the Ner Israel Rabbinical College, and currently serves as the Rabbi for Congregation Netzach Israel of Atlanta.

The Pesach Product List is based on Heter Kitniot for Sefaradim and is not endorsed by the OU. Our objective in providing this guide is to:

- Educate the public with the laws of Pesach
- To assist them with an easy to understand guide to prepare for Pesach
- To provide an alternative product list that is L'chetachila/ (categorically) qualified for Sefaradim

Note to Users

This Pesach Product List (the "List") is prepared as a service to the general public by Rabbi Yehuda Boroosan. It is meant to be used in conjunction with Pesach Guide that is published by Rabbi Boroosan each year. Please refer to the Pesach Guide for an overview of the laws of Pesach, and a step-by-step manual of how to prepare for Pesach.

The List includes a list of common products which are permitted for consumption by Sefardim even without a special "Kosher for Passover" designation. It must be stated that the attached list of approved products is based on the Heter Kitniyot which is unique to Sefardic Jews. Accordingly, Ashkenazi Jews cannot rely on the list. The list is not endorsed by the Orthodox Union. However, the items contained on this list are categorically permitted for Sefardim, and may be consumed on Pesach even L'Chatechila.

The items listed below, which are acceptable for Pesach even without KFP stamp of approval, only applies if the items are purchased before Pesach. Once Pesach begins, the items on this list may only be consumed if the labeling contains a proper Kosher-for-Passover certification symbol.

The provisions of this list DO NOT apply to organic or foreign brands or to alternative varieties such as Diet, Reduced Fat, Sugar Free, Zero, Fat Free, etc unless specified in the list. This cannot be emphasized enough.

If you have any questions or comments about the items on this list, or if you require any clarification, please contact Rabbi Boroosan directly or, for a quicker response, send an email to pesach@netzachisrael.org.

Rice

Rice is a primary staple food for many people. When rice is processed into white rice, the fiber and nutrient rich outer bran is stripped first, leaving behind the germ and endosperm. In many cases, the nutritious germ is lost as well during the polishing process. As a result, white rice is not terribly nutritious, naturally. Therefore, the U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) requires that any rice labeled “enriched”, regardless of its point of origin - whether domestically grown or imported - must contain at least the minimum level thiamin, niacin, iron and folic acid as specified in the Code of Federal Regulations. “Organic Rice” on the other hand may not contain other nutrients, in compliance with the regulations set forth by the International Federation of Organic Agriculture Movements (IFOAM). Although the USDA does not require any import permit to import processed “Natural Rice” such as Basmati, Jasmine, etc., without enrichment, for food consumption to the US, in some countries abroad the trend has become to enrich their natural rice that is intended for import purposes.

Niacin (Vitamin B3) – is produced through synthetic process. Although the production process is synthetic, it does rely on enzymatic process. The enzymes used in the process are not of any chametz concern.

Iron ferrous sulfate) – is an inorganic chemical and is not of any chametz concern.

Folic Acid (Vitamin B9) – is an innocuous ingredient and presents no issues for Pesach.

Thiamin (Vitamin B1) – is a vitamin that is made through reaction of ethanol with formic acid to produce ethyl formate that is used to make Vitamin B1. Ethanol variously made either from wheat, sugar cane, sweet potato or corn depending on its price in the market. Presently, there is no definitive assurance that the ratio of Ethanol is less than 1/60 of the total mix that is utilized to produce the final product. However considering the fact that all four vitamins are blended together along with a carrier and then only 3/10 of a pound of enrichment is added to every one thousand pounds (0.03%) of rice, the enrichment is considered null & void. Hence, if you purchase enriched rice DURING Pesach, it will be preferable to rinse it before cooking to remove vitamins. Rice purchased before Pesach could be used as is.

Consequently, please use the following chart as the reference to purchase qualified kosher rice for Pesach.

Keep in mind that you need to check the rice and remove any other grain that may have been inadvertently mixed in it, before cooking it for Pesach.

Type of rice	If Labeled...	Ingredient List	Acceptable for Pesach?
Domestic brand of Rice	Enriched	Includes above listed enrichments	Yes – Buy before Pesach
Natural Rice - Imported Rice such as Jasmine or Basmati	Enriched	Includes above listed enrichments	Yes – Buy before Pesach
Natural Rice – Imported Rice such as Jasmine or Basmati	Natural Rice	Natural Rice	Yes
Natural Rice - Imported Rice such as Jasmine or Basmati	Natural Rice	It is never enriched	Yes – You may buy it even during Pesach. However, keep in mind that you do not wish to possess any other grain that may have been mixed in the rice. Check it and dispose of any other grain mixed in it before using it on Pesach.
Organic Rice	It is never enriched	It is never enriched	Yes – You may buy it even during Pesach. However, keep in mind that you do not wish to possess any other grain that may have been mixed in the rice. Check it and dispose of any other grain mixed in it before using it on Pesach.

Pesach Wines

Some people follow a stringency of not using any wine that contains added sugar or water. According to Halacha, if there are less than one part of water or sugar to two parts of wine, and the blend still tastes like authentic wine, the mixture is still considered wine.

The following Kedem brand wines do not contain sugar or added water:

- Classic Red
- Matuk Rouge Soft
- Red Chablis
- Concord Natural

These varieties are preferred for the four cups and Kiddush.

Carmel wines have no added water or sugar and are also preferred for the four cups and for Kiddush.

Other varieties of wines with reliable KFP certification may be used for the Seder and Kiddush.

Several varieties of Manischewitz wine such as blackberry and cherry wine, which do not contain grapes, and may not be used for the four cups of the Seder. The Bracha of these varieties is "She'Hakol" and not "Bore Peri Hagefen".

Medicine

All pill medications-with or without chametz-that one swallows whole are permitted. Vitamins and food supplements do not fall into this category. Please consult a competent Rabbi whether your specific condition, qualifies you to take vitamins or supplements.

Liquid and chewable medications that may contain chametz (alcohol, starch) should only be used under the direction of a doctor and competent rabbi who would qualify the severity of the illness, the likelihood that the medication contains chametz and the possibility of a substituting it with non-chewing pill. PLEASE, do not discontinue taking liquid, chewable or any other medicine that you are taking without consulting with your doctor and rabbi.

Vitamins

Vitamins are normally not considered medication, but rather a food supplement. As such, most Rabbanim feel that vitamins should have supervision in general and for Passover in particular. Many Rabbis hold that pre-natal vitamins that are taken as directed by a doctor, should be used without hesitation. Any other cases when your doctor prescribes a specific vitamin that must be taken on Passover should be taken only after consulting your doctor and your Rabbi.

Cosmetics & Toiletries

Anything which is poisonous/dangerous to ingest is, by definition, not chametz - even if it contains one of the 5 grains which make chametz - and may be used for Passover. In particular, "denatured alcohol" or "alcohol denat." is poisonous. Drinkable alcohol is "ethyl alcohol" or just "alcohol" on an ingredient lists. Therefore, all varieties of blush, body soap, creams, eye shadow, eyeliner, face powder, foot powder, lotions. mascara, nail polish and nail polish remover, ointments, shampoo, and stick deodorant are permitted on Pesach.
