• The Triple K Manufacturing Story •

Herman Krasne and his son Leo started doing business in San Diego in 1946. They began business as a department store specializing in inexpensive men's clothing and G.I. Surplus using the family name. The business went well and the Krasne family developed a name and reputation in the San Diego area as being fair minded, honest business men that treated their customers right.

Leo welcomed his son Jerry into the business in 1952. Jerry expanded the department store to include sporting goods. In 1963 Jerry started Triple K Manufacturing Company. He named it after his three children, Kim, Kurt and Karen. After-market pistol and rifle magazines were the company's main focus. Soon after Jerry introduced the Triple K leather product line. Through hard work and acquisitions, the product line continued to grow, always striving to make quality products at affordable prices.

In the years that followed, Triple K Manufacturing focused on producing handmade quality products at reasonable prices. By chance, the original business was located down the street from the San Diego Police Department. Over the years the Krasne family became friends and ardent supporters of Law Enforcement everywhere. Triple K introduced the Law Enforcement product line which has steadily grown over the years.

Today celebrating over 6 decades, Triple K Manufacturing Company is a fourth generation, family owned and operated San Diego based company. Triple K products are recognized around the globe and can be found in thousands of outlets worldwide.

After all, "Customer Satisfaction is Everything"
(quote by: Leo Krasne)

We hope that you enjoy many years of service from your fine Triple K product.
