WELCOME MESSAGE

GRANT DWYER STATE DEVELOPMENT MANAGER

Queensland Rugby Union and the Community Rugby team would like to welcome all participating schools and players to the 2020 Santos All Schools 7s.

We are extremely pleased to welcome Santos, a proudly Australian company as our naming sponsor for the 2020 tournament and we appreciate the support Santos are proving for our biggest school's 7s tournament on our calendar.

Once again, the Albany Creek Brumbies Rugby Union Club are hosting this tournament and providing the high-quality playing fields for our participating schools. Brumbies club management and their membership have embraced several of Queensland Rugby's larger scale events including the Junior State Championships for a number of years and we are thankful for the many volunteers who continue to support the growth of rugby at our clubs and schools across the state in what has been a challenging year due to COVID.

We continue to see many players graduate from the Q7s events to higher honors with several players making their mark in the AON Women's series and the Premier 7s competitions. The most rewarding outcome during the past year has been the reinvigoration of the women's pathway across the state seeing Premier Women's rugby and Queensland Suburban Rugby competitions back on the calendar and well supported.

Good luck to the participants and coaches who continue to provide our competitions with high quality competitive rugby at each one of our Q7s tournaments. To the newly participating schools, we welcome you to the Santos All Schools 7s and the exciting format of the game that rugby 7s provides.

Finally, I wish to acknowledge the many teachers and school leaders from our rugby playing schools who have supported our Q7s events across the state post COVID shutdown period. We thank you for your support and your significant contributions to the development of our game.

SEVENS STAR IN THE MAKING

Rugby Sevens has been a great way for school students across Queensland to get a taste of Rugby Union, providing a short format of the game for schools to get involved in.

The Santos All Schools 7s has been a mainstay on the Rugby calendar and has seen players including St.George Queensland Reds scrumhalf Tate McDermott go onto higher honours.

One player who is well on her way to achieving her Sevens dreams, is Kings College student Piper Flynn.

Growing up Flynn always wanted to join her Brother on the Rugby field, but it wasn't until her school first introduced Girls Rugby Sevens that she had opportunity to pull on the boots.

"I used to watch my brother play, but my parents never wanted me to play with the boys," said Flynn.

"When I was 13, my school announced that they were starting and U15s team and I tried out. I made the team and the asked my parents for permission.

"I loved the first tournament we played in and decided to stick with the sport."

Now 16 years old, Flynn's drive has seen her move schools, having started her Rugby journey at Marymount College, chasing further opportunities within the game.

"Kings has a massive Rugby program, that's why I made the move. We do gym and field sessions at least twice a week and I've been allowed to train with the boy's teams as well.

"It's high intensity, learning both Sevens and XVs, and I learn a lot from the coaches."

The 2020 All Schools 7s will be Kings Colleges' first visit to the tournament in the open Girls Sevens division, having progressed from the Miami Sevens event earlier this year.

"We finished second at Miami Sevens, but we're preparing well for this weekend, despite some challenges.

"We've had a fair few injuries and some other players have had conflicting commitments, we've had some new players come in, but none the less we're shaping up well.

"We're really looking forward to playing different schools from across the state."

While enjoying her time at Kings, and having listed her father Cavan as a major influence on her Rugby career, Flynn has also done a lot of training under Queensland Rugby Union Development Officer and former Italian international flyhalf Kris Burton.

"Kris has really helped develop my Rugby, my brother and I have done some kicking work with him as well as some tackle tech.

"We know Kris through Surfers Paradise, our Rugby club, I've played there for three years and my Dad has coached us."

With a year left to go at school, Flynn is already involved in Griffith University's AON Uni 7s program, where she is training under the tutelage of Griffith head coach and Queensland Reds Super W head coach Moana Virtue.

Looking up to players such as Australian Sevens Gold Medallists Charlotte Caslick and Elia Green, Flynn has hopes of donning the green-and-gold herself.

"Once graduated I would like to get into University, but the ultimate goal would be to play for Australia down the road," she said.

"For now, I'm focused on Sevens but I'm also open to opportunities in XVs down the track."
