SUPER SUNDAE SUNDAY — Approximately one-third of what is now known as the world's longest banana split can be seen in the photograph above. At the time the photograph was taken, workers were placing the banana's along the 8,500 foot length of the sundae. By the time the banana split was complete, a light rain shower had begun to fall. According to the young man holding the umbrella, the rain was a "Super Sundae Sunday Shower." Other photos, page 6.

Town's attempt at jawboning nets 'butt out' message

An effort by the Township Committee to jawbone the Johowern Corporation into rehabilitating its fire-ravaged property at the corner of Millburn and Wyoming Avenues has been rebuffed — at least for the time being.

The Committee, in the words of one of its own members, Robert P. Denise, has been told to "butt out" of the situation by Richele Gruber, president of the corporation.

Responding to a letter written to her earlier this month by Township Clerk John W. Pritchard in which Mr. Pritchard expressed the Committee's hopes that the rehabilitation work would get underway in the near future, Mrs. Gruber put forward a series of conditions in which she outlined steps which the municipality must take before work could begin.

Those steps included:

"When the town council will rule that 'the site is in need of rehabilitation,' a requirement for E.C.I.A. (Essex County Improvement Authority) financing;"

"When the planning board will approve the site plan and architectural drawings for the project;" and

"When the board of adjustment will make a determination on any variances I may be seeking."

In addition to these and other steps which would have to be taken before work began, the Johowern Corporation president stated, rehabilitation work "might ... be expedited if any of the individuals making complaints to the town committee wish to finance the aforementioned project."

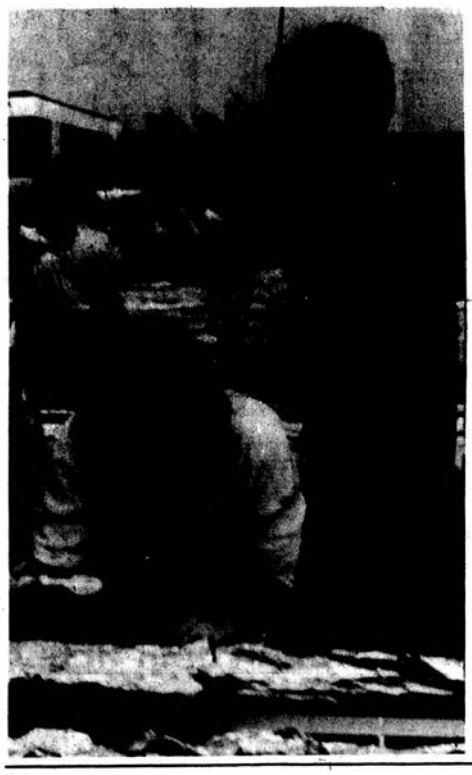
"We've been told to butt out," Mr. Denise said as Mr. Pritchard finished reading the Johowern letter at Tuesday night's Committee meeting.

"That's putting it mildly," Mr. Pritchard agreed.

Neither Mr. Denise, Mr. Pritchard nor any other member of the Township Committee could provide any explanation of what the "E.C.I.A." was, what type of financing it provided or what specific determination the Township Committee would have to make pertaining to the Millburn-Wyoming site to meet E.C.I.A. requirements.

Although Mayor Earl W. Cryer, who said he was "terribly discouraged" by the letter, instructed Committee attorney Roger Clapp to investigate any legal steps that the municipality might take to force the Johowern Corporation into action, comments made at the meeting indicated that the township had few if any, avenues open to it.

The property, which housed several retail stores and a restaurant, was struck by fire on Easter Sunday, 1982. Due to a legal suit among officers of the Johowern Corporation, a clean-up operation on the site did not take place until December of that year. Since December, the site has been "sealed off" and apparently is not considered a safety hazard under the specifications of the township's maintenance code for commercial buildings.



Township students top world record for banana splits

Someday someone will build a banana split that is at least 8,501 feet long. But until that someday comes along, the world's record for the longest banana split is held by the Millburn High School class of 1984.

There's no doubt about it and if you don't believe us, just look in the Guinness Book of World Records or, more precisely, look in the edition that will be coming out at year's end.

The photos, affidavits and other documents attesting to the length of the banana split constructed Sunday morning are already in England, carried there Monday by Calvin Carver, step father of junior class president Jamie Ferguson. Mr. Carver was leaving Monday morning on a previously scheduled business trip to England and was able to combine his business affairs with a trip to the Guinness offices.

Sunday's construction and eating of the 8,500 foot long banana split proved to be a happening of the first magnitude involving at least as many workers and eaters as there were feet of sundae.

The length of the split snaked through two parking lots located between Altman's and Route 24 at the Mall at Short Hills. Actual on-site construction of the split was begun shortly after 6 a.m. by a contingent of junior class members. By 10 a.m. thousands of parents, friends and schoolmates were in the mall parking area to begin their assignments as "workers" — placing the bananas, ice-cream, pineapple topping, syrup and cherries along the length of the split.

Inspecting the final stages of banana split construction were three local residents who were chosen by the Guinness board to attest that 8,500 feet of banana split were actually 8,500 feet of banana split and not an inch less. Representing Guinness were Mr. Carver, who was named due to his knowledge of the project; former Superior Court Judge Richard McGlynn and Robert Berliner, a certified public accountant.

Junior class members are still not certain exactly what they netted from their labors, but estimates of their profits range from $17,000 upwards.

At this point no one is absolutely certain how many thousands of tickets at $3 each were sold (each ticket entitled the bearer to eat one foot of banana split). And while the junior class was the beneficiary of thousands of dollars worth of banana split ingredients, certain expenses were involved.

The cardboard boxs which supported the banana split cost the class $2,100; the pineapple topping — all 8,500 feet of it, was purchased for $980. Although 17,000 bananas were donated, the class had to supplement that donaion with another 36 cases of bananas costing them $468. Other purchases to supplement donations involved the class in another $700 in expenses.

The absolute decision on what is to be done with the money also awaits resolution. Portions of the funds will go to finance the class's senior prom and yearbook. Donations are also planned for the Henry G. Stifel III Spinal Cord Injury Foundation and for the Charles T. King Student Loan Fund.

Mangan, board member, dies at 39

Board of Education members and those in the audience stood for a "moment of silence" at the board meeting Monday evening in memory of board member Peter A. Mangan who had died earlier in the day. Mr. Mangan had been ill for the past year.

Board president Sandra Haimoff said by law the school board must appoint an interim member within 60 days. She expects to announce the selection at the board's last meeting of the school year June 27.

Traditionally, an unexpired board term has been completed by a past board member. Mr. Mangan's seat will be up for election in April 1984.

A funeral mass was offered yesterday at St. Rose of Lima Church for Mr. Mangan who was 39. Born in Mount Kisco, N.Y., he had lived since 1975 at 30 Haran Circle where he died.

Mr. Mangan, who had been elected in 1981 to his first term on the local school board, served on both the program and the negotiations committees. An attorney, he was a member of the South Mountain School Parent Teacher Association, a captain in the U.S. Army Reserve and a former governor of the South Mountain Estates Civic Association.

Mr. Mangan was a graduate of New York Military Academy, Cornwall-on-Hudson, N.Y., Gettysburg (Pa.) College and New York Law School. He was a member of the American, New York and New Jersey Bar Associations as well as the American Trial Lawyers Association.

Survivors include his wife, Monika Golling Mangan; two sons, Michael and Eric, and a daughter, Debbie, all at home; his mother, Elmyra of New York City; a brother, Paul of Bricktown; two sisters, Mrs. Jane Galt of Litchfield, Conn., and Myra of New York City.

Memorial contributions may be made to the American Cancer Society.

'Civic' band to perform for July 4

Although cut from the recreation department budget, a township band will perform here July 4 preceding the annual fireworks display on the Millburn High School field.

The Fourth of July Committee is underwriting the Millburn-Short Hills Concert Band, formerly the Millburn Civic Band which has been sponsored by the township. According to Mary Downs, chairman of the Board of Recreation Commissioners, sponsorship of the band was dropped last month because it was "not financially self-sustaining."

Another musical program that has fallen victim to the budgetary axe is "Concerts in the Park." In years past the recreation department had solicited contributions from local businesses to fund individual musical shows in Taylor Park. "We didn't have time for that this year because of the change in administration," said Mrs. Downs. "The concerts are welcome," continued Mrs. Downs, "in fact the high school band will perform in the park June 4 and an Army band may play later this summer. Any merchant who would like again to fund a concert may make arrangements with the department."

Herbert Steier of 1 River Lane is continuing as conductor of the Millburn-Short Hills Concert Band. To augment the current group, other musicians including adults and high school instrumental students are invited to participate. Rehearsals for the July 4 performance will begin tonight in Bauer Community Center and will continue Thursday from 8 to 10 p.m. through June.

Last July 4 the civic band presented a 2½-hour afternoon program in Taylor Park tracing the course of American music from pre-Revolutionary times to the present. The band numbered 40-plus musicians in 1982 and Mr. Steier anticipates a much larger group this year.

Participation is not limited to township residents — any teenager or adult "fairly proficient" on a band instrument is welcome, said Mr. Steier. Each should bring instrument and folding music stand.

The highlight of the holiday concert will be a large portion of Tschaikowsky's "1812 Overture," just before the fireworks. Although the piece deals with the War of 1812 between France and Russia, it has become associated with American 4th of July festivities and the firing of cannon. And so here a National Guard ordinance team will detonate cannon shots during the overture's finale.

According to Mr. Steier, the remainder of the program will be patriotic in nature — "all American." Included will be "A Tribute to Stephen Foster," a special Sammy Nestico arrangement "Armed Forces Salute," the traditional "American Patrol," "Fantasia on Dixie" featuring Jack Simmonds of 30 Rawley Place on the snare drum and "Star-Spangled Spectacular," a potpourri of George M. Cohan's best songs.

Also on the program will be two novelty selections — "The Roaring Twenties" featuring a Dixieland combo and "American Spice" — as well as another Sammy Nestico piece reminiscent of the old Sauter-Finnegan "Doodletown Fifers." There will be an old-fashioned audience participation sing-along and "Sousa," a medley of themes from John Philip Sousa's most famous marches, concluding with "Stars and Stripes Forever."

The July 4 concert will begin at 7:45 p.m. and will conclude with the start of fireworks at 9.

For more information about rehearsals and playing with the Millburn-Short Hills Concert Band, Mr. Steier may be contacted at 379-4129.

Siegel sees departure reflecting nation's mood

When he arrived here 10 years ago as the new principal of Millburn High School, Harrin Siegel came with the reputation of being a conservative educator.

As he prepares to leave the principal's office next, Mr. Siegel is, in the minds of many persons, too much of a liberal.

Has the man changed or is philosophical identification in the eye of the beholder?

Referring to the pre-1973 years when he was appointed principal of the local school, Mr. Siegel recalled:

"In those days I was considered a conservative. The school board members who interviewed me wanted me to come to Millburn to get the school back into shape.

"Once I arrived here I found I had inherited a zoo."

The "zoo" climate at the high school to which Mr. Siegel referred was partially attributable to a modular scheduling system then in effect which was far less structured than the mod system of today. And if the class scheduling system of the early 1970's contributed to turmoil, so too did the 5-year period which ended with Mr. Siegel's arrival — a 5-year period in which the school had three different principals.

Today Mr. Siegel apparently feels he is being labeled a liberal, not due to any changes in his personal educational philosophies, but rather to a nation-wide change in educational attitudes — a change

Police seek driver, auto, in Sunday hit-and-run accident

A hit-and-run driver knocked a 7-year-old boy from his bicycle at 3:40 p.m. Sunday near the intersection of Hemlock Road and Bishop Lane. Police are asking the public to assist them in locating the automobile.

The car which struck Mark Shinners of 14 Wayside was a dark brown American-made full size vehicle with a luggage rack on top and blue license plates. Officers said they found paint chips from the auto on the boy's bike. The driver is believed to have been a white youth with dark hair. Anyone with information about the incident is asked to call police headquarters, 564-7001.

The boy suffered facial injuries and was taken to Overlook Hospital by private car. He was released Monday.

A workman at the Short Hills Mall remains in critical condition at Overlook Hospital with severe head injuries received when he fell from a truck moving through a mall underground passageway last Thursday.

Police said Anthony Hunter of Dover was standing in the rear of the vehicle and struck his head on a ceiling beam. The blow knocked the victim to the ground. He was transported to the Summit hospital by the First Aid Squad.

A young moped driver suffered minor facial injuries Saturday when he fell from his vehicle on Rector Street. Gary Chapman of 412 Millburn Avenue was taken to Overlook Hospital with facial injuries.

Two persons were hospitalized Monday following a collision at the intersection of Millburn Avenue and Wyoming Avenue. Driver Joseph Iandoli of Fairlawn suffered facial injury and a passenger in the other car, Stella Ruggieri of Union sustained neck injury. Both were transported to Overlook by the First Aid Squad. Harold Landau of Union, driver of the vehicle in which the Ruggieri woman was riding, sustained minor shoulder injury but was not hospitalized.

Burglars entered six residences here this week. Sunday break-ins were reported on Silver Spring Road and Fenton Drive. Jewelry, coins and cash disappeared from the Silver Spring address where bedrooms were ransacked after the front door was forced open. The owner has not determined what was taken at the Fenton Drive household.

Two Fairfield Drive homes were entered Friday and ransacked. Jewelry and silver disappeared from one, but the owner of the second residence surprised the intruder who fled empty-handed.

Last Thursday homes on Highland Avenue and Grosvenor Road were entered by breaking rear windows. Silver, furs and jewlery were taken from the Grosvenor Road residence, but the Highland homeowner has not determined missing valuables.

A purse snatcher struck last Thursday afternoon in front of a medical office at 116 Millburn Avenue. A Maplewood woman was coming from the building when a youth grabbed her handbag and fled. Though police have a detailed description of the suspect he has not been apprehended.

Police gave credit for quick thinking and concern to John Esposito of 17 Dryden Terrace who witnessed the mugging and came to the aid of the victim and her companion, an elderly woman. The youth chased the suspect but was unable to apprehend him.

Other thefts reported here this week included jewelry from an Oakdale Avenue home, radio equipment from a car parked on Short Hills Avenue and stereo equipment and money from three autos left on Hemlock Road.

Two incidents of indecent exposure came to the attention of police. A Springfield resident and her young daughter were victimized by a youth in Taylor Park. An Elizabeth woman told police a nude man driving a car followed her through a Short Hills Mall parking garage.

South Mountain parent contests Wyoming School adequacy

A South Mountain School parent, whose children are among the 170 students scheduled to be transfered to Wyoming School this fall, plans to initiate a state investigation into the transfer.

Leonard Shapiro of 836 Ridgewood Road maintains Wyoming School's estimated enrollment of 316 students for next fall will fill the building beyond state limitations on square footage of floor space per student. Mr. Shapiro told The Item he has been in contact with officials of the department of education in Trenton and expects to have inspectors tour Wyoming School before the end of June.

The possibility of an independent investigation caught local school administrators by surprise. Both school superintendent Paul W. Rossey and board secretary Ronald Brennan said Tuesday they had not heard of Mr Shapiro's plans previously and would not comment on them.

Asked if state investigators would respond to his invitation even if the school district was not a party to it, Mr. Shapiro said he had been told administration approval for the visit was unnecessary.

A spokesman for the office of the Essex County superintendent of education told The Item such an investigation is requested frequently by citizens, particularly in districts where schools are being closed.

Mr. Shapiro presented his proposal for a state investigation to the Board of Education Monday evening but at that time suggested it be initiated by the board itself.

Dr. Rossey assured Mr. Shapiro at the meeting that 316 students at Wyoming School was well within the capacity of the building and "meet all codes." Board president Sandra Haimoff said the number is "no where near capacity" for the building.

The capacity of school buildings in New Jersey is controlled by a state law which Mr Brennan said apply only to school buildings under construction. Mr. Shapiro contends the rules extend to buildings already in use.

Neither Mr Shapiro nor Mr. Brennan could come up with the state ratio on short notice, but Mr Brennan said it is based on interior square footage actually available for teaching space. This measurement for Wyoming School is 32,820 square feet. Between 800 and 900 square feet must be alloted per student depending on specific grade level. He stressed that in his opinion this ratio applied only to buildings under construction.

Another controversy was resolved Monday night to the satisfaction of a group of parents of special education students. Dr. Rossey announced the neurologically impaired class initially planned for the Wyoming School would be moved to Hartshorn School in the fall. Originally the group of seven or eight youngsters was scheduled to meet in a basement room at Wyoming, and parents declared the location would be damaging psychologically and physically to the children.

In other business the board approved purchase of textbooks. The 1983-84 budget contains $117,000 for textbook purchases.

Also approved was purchase of seven microcomputers and a matrix printer for Millburn High School at the cost of $19,157. This expense will be offset partially by a budget reduction of $7,500 now slotted for computer time-sharing with the Wayne Consortium, Dr. Rossey explained. Terminals now in use at the high school will be sold.

Another expense sanctioned by the board was installation of a lighting control system at the high school that will be provided by Backstage Lighting & Rigging Co at a cost of $34,000. Mr. Brennan noted the existing auditorium lighting system is 27 years old.

The township recycling center is located adjacent to the municipal garage. The area, located off Main Street, north of Essex Street, is open to the public until 3 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

Holiday turnpike drivers may number 2 million

More than 1.9 million vehicles are expected to travel the New Jersey Turnpike during the 5-day Memorial Day Holiday, the first long weekend of the warm weather season.

State police patrols and turnpike toll collectors have been alerted to the projected traffic flow, and instructed to be on the lookout for drivers who appear to be fatigued or under the influence of alcohol or narcotics in an effort to insure the safety and convenience of our patrons.

All motor vehicle laws, including hitchhiking and parking regulations, will be strictly enforced by Troop D personnel, with radar and task force units used to full capacity.

The Turnpike's 13 service areas, open around the clock all year long, are prepared for an anticipated increase in the demand for food and fuel. A full complement of emergency service units will be on hand throughout the weekend to assist motorists with disabled vehicles or other problems, a spokesman said.

The New Jersey State Safety Council said that the National Safety Council estimates that between 350 and 450 persons may die in highway crashes during the Memorial Day weekend. The Council also estimates that between 17,000 and 22,000 persons may suffer disabling injuries caused by highway crashes during the 3-day holiday.

Last year during a similar holiday period, 341 persons lost their lives in motor vehicle accidents. Eight motorists were killed on New Jersey roads.

The Memorial Day weekend marks the beginning of the Council's safety belt usage campaign called "Make It Click — Drive Defensively." Everyone is encouraged to use their safety belts as 14,000 to 18,000 lives could be saved yearly if motorists buckled up at all times. In addition, children under 5 years of age should be properly fastened in child car safety seats as required by law.

Robert Hetzel receives MD

Robert J. Hetzel of 8 Birchwood Drive received a doctorate in medicine May 28 from Georgetown University, Washington, D.C. A 1975 graduate of Millburn High School, he received a bachelor's degree in bioengineering from the University of Colorado, Boulder.

Recently he spent two months in Thailand as part of a medical team treating refugees. On June 28 Dr. Hetzel will begin a surgical residency at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Boston, Mass.

Movie makers to see 2 films

The Millburn Movie Makers will meet June 6 at 7:30 p.m. in Bauer Community Center to see two films made by members. They are "Springtime" by Peter Spahr and "Reflections" by Harry Fiste. The public is invited.

During the summer the group has scheduled two meetings — July 18 and August 15.

The Board of Education meets the second and fourth Mondays of each month during the school year.

Squad recommends pool safety rules

With the warm weather on its way homeowners with pools are preparing them for the swimming season. The Millburn Short Hills Volunteer First Aid Squad issued pool safety suggestions this week.

Squad training lieutenant Joseph Nerenberg said that home pool owners should follow certain rules to prevent accidents. His recommendations include:

"Make sure access to pool is locked when you are not in attendance.

"Know the proper working of your filtering and heating systems. Review them every year.

"Provide a storage place for pool chemicals — cool, dry and safe from children and animals.

"Have a long pole or ring life preserver on a rope as well as a long wooden backboard available for rescue.

"Learn cardiopulmonary resuscitation or at least mouth-to-mouth respiration."

Mr. Nerenberg recommended the following rules for swimmers:

"No running or roughneck playing around the pool.

"Dive only in designated area.

"Never swim alone.

"Keep glass and breakable objects away from pool area.

"Keep electrical appliances including radios and televisions away from the water.

"Get out of pool if there is any thunder or lightening in the area.

"Should there be an accident resulting in injury call the First Aid Squad immediately. The squad is on duty all day, every day."

Mr. Nerenberg outlined some first aid procedures for diving and swimming accidents:

"If there is any reason to suspect neck or back injury (often connected with diver's hitting the board or pool bottom) never drag victim out of the water. If he is face down gently turn him over as a unit, keeping his body in a straight line. Slide a long board under him, bringing the board up from under feet end first.

"If the victim has been submerged and is not breathing begin mouth-to-mouth or mouth-to-nose respiration. Do not waste time trying to drain water from the lungs. Continue breathing for the victim until he resumes breathing on his own or a first-aider takes charge."

The longtime Red Cross volunteer concluded with his favorite first aid reminder: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure." He also said first aid tips will be included in swimming lessons at the municipal pool this summer.

Civic unit to elect officers

Overlook Hospital, Summit, will offer a monthly Prepared Sibling Course, geared toward children between the ages of 3 and 12 whose family is expecting a baby. The next course will be held June 11 from 9:30 to 11 a.m.

Children's anxieties about "mom" going to the hospital will be alleviated as they become familiar with the hospital environment. The morning program includes a tour, a nursery story session and a short film. The young participants also will be able to dress up in little hospital gowns, caps and masks. Instructors will give the children pointers on how they can help out at home once the newborn arrives. "Graduates" of the program will be given buttons announcing "I'm a prepared big sister" or brother, as the case may be.

Mothers and fathers also may participate in the program, with a parents' class held in a room adjacent to the children's. They will learn how to help their children adjust to the new baby.

There is a $10 registration fee for the program. Interested persons may call Overlook's department of community education, 522-2963, for further information.

Dr. Weiss to lecture in China

Dr. Andrew B. Weiss of 66 Slope Drive is traveling through China this week to lecture to orthopaedists in various cities there on the artificial ligament he developed with his colleagues at the George L. Schultz Laboratories for Orthopaedic Research at the University of Medicine and Dentistry of New Jersey — New Jersey Medical School.

Dr. Weiss, who is professor of surgery and director of orthopaedic surgery at UMDNJ-New Jersey Medical School and also maintains an orthopaedic surgery and sports medicine practice at the Roseland Surgical Center Medical Building, was invited by the Association of Orthopaedic Chairmen to present his knowledge of this medical development to the Chinese medical community.

The artificial ligament is composed of carbon fiber filaments coated with a biodegradable plastic. When implanted to repair torn or damaged tendons or ligaments, the artificial ligament is strong enough to substitute for the natural structure it replaces, and also forms a scaffold on which the body reconstructs a new natural ligament. Dr. Weiss has implanted more than 100 ligaments in patients across the United States and in England.

Observatory announces programs

Visitors to the Sperry Observatory on Union County College's Cranford campus will be able to see more than the skies overhead when they come for the public viewings on Friday night during the spring and summer.

The next slide show topic is "Voyager I Encounters Saturn," which is to be featured May 27.

The schedule for June Friday night viewings will include: "Comets and Meteors" June 3; "Space Shuttle 2" June 10; "Black Holes" June 17 and "The Red Planet Mars" June 24.

SAT class scheduled

The Clarion Review Course, directed by A.J. Pantazes of Livingston, is now accepting registration for the 1983 summer session. These classes will be held at Newark Academy in Livingston, from June 27 through July 22.

The session will offer individualized programs in P.S.A.T. and S.A.T. Review. Each student will be tested at the beginning of his enrollment to determine specific areas needing improvement. Because of this individualization, the student may schedule his attendance for any number of weeks during the session.

For further information, persons may call 992-6070.

Parking and Paper Mill

It seems that we never attend a meeting of our Township Committee or one of our other municipal boards when there isn't some discussion of over-strained parking facilities in the town center on those days when the Paper Mill Playhouse has matinees.

Always discussions and never any real action to alleviate the problem which is most acute in the two Essex Street lots.

Merchants talk about the situation and deplore it; commercial property owners talk about the situation and deplore it. Planning Board members talk and deplore and certainly Township Committee members talk and deplore. We join the discussion, not to deplore the situation, but offer a suggestion.

First: There are, as municipal officials recognize, space for Paper Mill patrons to park in the municipal lot on the Glen Avenue side of the railroad station.

Second: The Glen Avenue parking lot is less convenient to the Paper Mill patron than the Essex Street lots.

Third: Since parking for up to 3-hours is permitted in the Essex Street lots, it is logical that theater patrons would rather use those facilities than Glen Avenue.

Solution: Rather than permit 3-hour parking in the Essex Street lots — long enough to attend most matinees, limit parking there to two hours — long enough for most shoppers to shop.

Consequence: Paper Mill patrons will find the walk from Glen Avenue is not as long as the walk to the municipal court clerk's office to pay an overtime parking ticket.

Memorial Day

Although this year will be the first in a long time that the Township has not had a Memorial Day parade, there will be several observances of this patriotic day of mourning.

Mayor Earl W. Cryer will conduct a service in Taylor Park and community churches will hold memorial observances. There will also be cemetery services to memorialize local servicemen.

Even with its sad overtones the Memorial Day weekend marks the joyous opening of the summer season, here and around the country. It is impossible to be living in our town at this time of year without strong feelings of happiness in the burgeoning of spring, without pride in the town and its beautiful streets and homes and without a strong feeling of optimism that the economy is improving, the nation is strong and Americans are people of good will, honoring their dead and looking to a bright future.

'Super Sundae' breaks world's record

SCOOPING — Worker Jennifer Wong, a senior at Millburn High School, dishes out the ice cream for her section of the giant banana split.

Appreciation

Editor, The Item:

On behalf of the class of 1984 I would like to express my sincere appreciation to members of the community for their support and enthusiastic reception of Super Sunday Sundae. I am most grateful to the Mall at Short Hills for providing its beautiful facilities and for the wonderful help from its promotions and security departments. I'd like to thank the many companies for their donations without which we could never have taken on such a project. My thanks also go to the Township Committee, the Board of Education, The Item, The Millburn police department, fire department and First Aid Squad for the numerous services they contributed on our behalf.

I am grateful to our principal, Harris Siegel, for both his encouragement and guidance and to our class adviser, Maria Vasquez, for her dedication and determination. I would particularly like to thank the members of my class, their parents, families and friends whose cooperation, participation and willingness to lend a helping hand throughout the past months constituted the success of this world record-breaking event.

It is a marvelous thing to break a world's record and to put one's hometown on the map. Perhaps though, Millburn's greatest accomplishment was not in making a name for itself but in gathering together as an entire community and combining each one's efforts towards a common goal.

It was wonderful for me personally, to see families working side by side, helping one another. For nearly one hour this past Sunday we were all able to forget the concerns of daily life and just have a lot of fun. It is my most sincere wish that Super Sunday Sundae will be remembered by all as a day when everyone was smiling.

DEDICATING — Junior class president Janie Ferguson, left, announces the record-breaking effort has been dedicated to the Henry G. Stifel Spinal Cord Injury Foundation. Looking on are Henry, who was injured in an auto accident here last year, and junior class adviser Maria Vasquez.

CONFERRING — U.S. Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan checks out the project with son Keith, center, and his classmate John Rafanello.

Gratitude

Editor, The Item:

We were indeed honored to have the junior class's "Super Sundae Sunday" of May 22 dedicated to the Henry G. Stifel III Spinal Cord Injury Foundation. The day illustrated to us just what the youth of Millburn, not to mention the youth of this country, are capable of producing. Congratulations are in order to all who made this a truly glorious and fun day.

The dedication to our son Henry and his foundation is even more appropriate when one considers that the average age of those paralyzed by spinal cord injury is 19 years and that there is an average of some 20,000 individuals paralyzed annually in this country.

It's our feeling that as the seriousness of this spinal cord injury "epidemic" becomes better known in this country, more funds will become available to find a cure from the resulting paralysis. As you know, the foundation is dedicated not only to raising funds for research to develop a cure but also to better publicize nationally this truly critical situation.

Local help and dedication means much to all of us, particularly to Henry.

Siegel views departure as reflecting the nation's mood

which is placing more emphasis on traditionalism, basics and structure.

The net effect of the new attitude, Mr. Siegel believes, will see the learning process at Millburn High School, student enthusiasm and student growth suffering.

The specific circumstances which in another month will lead to Mr. Siegel's departure from Millburn High School remain hidden from the public.

Officially he is relinquishing the principal's office to serve as a "consultant" to the Board of Education for the 1983-84 school year. He will be a consultant without an office and apparently one without duties. As a consultant, under terms of the agreement reached last November between him and the Board of Education, he will be paid at his current salary level — just under $48,000.

That $48,000 salary level, itself, was not set until Mr. Siegel dropped an administrative law suite which he had brought against the Board of Education. As a condition to his dropping the suit, the board reinstated salary increments totaling approximately $8,000 which had previously been withheld and hired him as a consultant for 1983-84 school year. The quid pro quo was that Mr. Siegel submit his letter of resignation as senior high school principal, effective June 30.

As he prepares to leave the principal's office, Mr. Siegel looks to the Millburn High Schol of September, 1983, and beyond. He feels his successor, Keith Neigel, currently junior high school principal, will eliminate much of the free time now available to students and bring back the structured school day.

Mr Neigel already is on record as promising to study the way time is used by high school students and to "maximize" that use. He is yet to define his meaning of "maximize."

Even if "maximize" means a completely structured school day, Mr. Siegel does not expect a revolution on the part of the high school's student body.

"Kids today," according to Mr. Siegel, reflect their parents' attitudes. There will be no walkouts."

It is evident that Mr. Siegel takes pride in his decade-long tenure as Millburn High School principal. Despite criticisms, the retiring principal strongly defends his educational philosophy.

"The (modular) system is controversial, but the darn thing works," he maintains. He believes that the "academic demand" of the school has been upgraded during the past ten years and points to the addition of advanced placement courses to the high school curriculum, weighting of grades in relation to the level of course difficulty and the institution of plus and minus grades on report cards as evidence to that upgrading.

Mr. Siegel speaks of his concerns for the individual student at Millburn High School after he leaves the principal's office.

"This school is an academic pressure cooker," he says. "Often both parents are working and too often they show little interest in their kid's problem. We find that kids come to teachers and counselors for advice. If the atmosphere of the school becomes more formal this won't happen anymore."

Mr. Siegel despite his contract with the Board of Education for the coming school year, does not expect the school board to be making extensive demands upon his time and is planning to open his own business July 1 in Maplewood as an educational and college placement consultant. He said he will offer a "marketing strategy" to enable parents to get their children in the colleges of their choice, beginning to work with students as early as junior high age.

Asked how his plans to program youngsters' academic and job careers fitted into his philosophy of minimum structure Mr. Siegel saw no contradiction.

"Kids welcome the programming if they see where they are going. But there must be trust all around to make it succeed," he said.

Does he have any regrets, looking back over his 10 years at Millburn High School?

Yes, he does.

Several of his proposed innovations were turned down by the administration — shortening of the school day so classes would end at 2:30 p.m., strengthening the content of honors courses, addition of a study of the Western Hemisphere and incorporation of a class on man's interaction with man.

Mr. Siegel also is sorry to see the demise of the annual spring carnival sponsored by the high school.

"Kids and parents worked together who never spoke to each other for the rest of the year. The carnival brought us together and gave students something to do during spring vacation." He predicted the rise in vandalism here next year during the spring hiatus without the carnival to occupy the students' time.

Drinking, not vandalism is the school's biggest problem, according to Mr. Siegel. Use of alcohol by students is on the rise and Mr. Siegel sees no solution to the problem as long as parents look the other way.

In spite of the controversy which has marred Mr. Siegel's final years at Millburn High School, he looks back on the years with pleasure.

"I've worked with an incredible group of kids and parents and we've accomplished a great deal."

He and his family will continue to live in their Old Short Hills Road home, and his wife, Nancy will stay on at Millburn High School as a guidance counselor.

Mr. Siegel said he will miss the school but one facet of his principalship he will gladly do without — being on public display.

"Maybe I will be able to go to the supermarket in peace without being stopped by some parent who wants me to solve his child's problem then and there."

Township, Summit move to combine dispatching

A joint fire dispatching operation serving this community and the City of Summit moved one step closer to reality Tuesday night as the Township Committee introduced an ordinance approving an operating agreement between the two municipalities.

The joint dispatching system, according to Committeewoman Cynthia Q. Fuller will "continue fire service to the township at present levels while providing an opportunity for a reduction in costs." She added that the initiation of the service would represent movement "in the direction of regional cooperation" between municipalities.

The joint service, which has been under discussion here and in Summit for several years, is expected to be in operation during the latter half of the current year. Although no revenue savings are expected during 1983, township officials anticipate some cost reductions in future years.

In addition to introducing the ordinance approving the agreement between the two municipalities at Tuesday night's meeting, the Committee introduced a second measure which authorizes the purchase of a $3,800 base radio unit. That unit will be used to link the Millburn Fire Department with the fire dispatching service which will be located in Summit.

Both ordinances are scheduled for public hearing and final passage at the Committee's June 14 meeting.

Also scheduled for public hearing June 14 is a $440,000 bond ordinance which was introduced by the Committee at its session Tuesday night.

Major items which would be purchased under terms of this measure are a new garbage truck and a front end loader. The bond issue also includes funds for the road department's seal-coating program, reconstruction of the township's storm water system, resurfacing of tennis courts on Taylor Park and purchase of numerous pieces of equipment for the public works department.

Approved on final reading at the meeting were three other bond issues authorizing purchases of equipment and construction projects with a total cost of nearly half-a-million dollars. Included in these ordinances are funds for the reconstruction of sidewalks and curbs in the township's business center, the construction of an off-street parking lot to serve Glenwood area stores and the purchase of various items of equipment for the library, police, fire and recreation departments.

Tuesday night's session also saw the Committee informally agree to offer municipally owned property in the South Mountain area and on Main Street for sale by year's end.

The South Mountain tract is located behind Congregation B'nai Israel and until several years ago was used by the township as a compost area. According to township engineer Anthony J. Isaac the tract could accommodate six 1-family homes constructed on 6,000 square foot lots.

The second property to be sold is the two story building located at 41 Main Street. The property was acquired by the municipality several years ago when it purchased the Monaco tract which, this summer, is scheduled to be developed into a pedestrian mall and off-street parking lot. Under the Township Committee's plan, the Main Street building will be offered for sale following completion of the mall-parking lot construction.

"HOWDY" — Tiny Jan Hines makes the acquaintance of a pony at the South Mountain School Strawberry Festival Friday afternoon. Visitors enjoyed games, sales pony rides and traditional refreshments at the final South Mountain festivity. The school is closing next month.

Citizens favor move of office to school

The relocation of the Board of Education's administrative offices to the South Mountain Elementary School represents the favored future use of that building, according to a survey of area residents.

The survey results were announced today by Steven J. Barach, newly-elected president of the South Mountain Estates Civic Association.

The survey, itself, was undertaken earlier this year by the civic organization shortly after the Board of Education announced its decision to close both the South Mountain and Short Hills Elementary Schools at the end of the current academic year.

Survey questionnaires were mailed to 650 homes in the South Mountain area, according to Mr. Barach, and responses were received from 262 households.

Sixty-nine per cent of the respondents favored moving the school board offices to the South Mountain School and, Mr. Barach said, many of those advocating the action comented the move would protect the character and stability of the neighborhood.

Seventy-nine per cent of the respondents were opposed to constructing townhouses on the site and 53 per cent were opposed to using the school grounds as a location for single family homes.

"Just under half of the respondents (49 per cent) are against a park," Mr. Barach said, "while 45 per cent are comfortable with the concept."

Mr. Barach said that the residents were "overwhelmingly" opposed to demolishing the school building. Seventy-eight per cent of the respondents opposed razing the building and cited potential educational and community uses of the structure, including private schools, adult education classes and private instruction in dance and gymnastics, Mr. Barach said.

The newly-elected civic association president said his organization was hopeful that the Board of Education would find the survey helpful in its consideration of future use of the property.

It is expected that the Board of Education will announce its decision on the future of both the South Mountain and Short Hills School properties by the close of the current academic year. The board has already received a report from a professional appraising firm recommending that both properties be made available for single-family home construction.

Knight errant rides through Paper Mill

By Pat Anderson

"I shall become the most famous knight errant of them all. Come, enter into my imagination and see him."

So begins the journey of Miguel de Cervantes as he creates the character of Don Quixote de La Mancha for his fellow prisoners in a 16th century Spanish jail.

"Man of La Mancha," the musical adaptation of Cervantes' novel "Don Quixote," currently stars Jerome Hines at the Paper Mill Playhouse. Mr. Hines plays the dual role of Cervantes and his hero Don Quixote de La Mancha. He is the Knight of the Woeful Countenance who tilts at windmills, battles imaginary evil giants and strives to right the injustices of the world.

Mr. Hines' renditions of "The Impossible Dream," "Man of La Mancha" and "Dulcinea" are as inspiring now as in his 1971 and 1972 appearances here.

Bernice Massi portrays the reeking barmaid Aldonza who is astounded to be regaled as the lovely "Dulcinea" as seen through the Don's deluded eyes. She has a strong voice and defines her complex character with style. Her reprise of "Man of La Mancha" is most touching.

Providing comic relief is Lou Crisuolo as Sancho, the humble servant who stoutly squires his pixilated master because as he plaintively sings "I Like Him." Appearing as the over-bearing innkeeper is Jack Daddoub who is understudy to the star. Edward Varrato, usually a muleteer, also substitutes as innkeeper. They are effective.

Adding to the production in major roles are Arthur Hunn as Dr. Carrasco; Mariann Cook, his fiancee Antonia; Eleanor Glockner, the housekeeper; Walter Blocher, the padre. They are superb with "I'm Only Thinking of Him." Randy Brenner adds comedy as the barber and Penelope Richards lends sex as the belly dancer.

The single set uses a minimum of props: a trunk of costumes, a few barrels, a board and clover shaped trap door which double as furniture in Quixote's adventures. Outstanding is the stairway that folds down into the dungeon cell from the upstage wall.

An apron extends the stage forward over the orchestra pit enabling the players to exit front and underneath. Displaced thus, the musicians play from the wings.

The choreography is appealing, notably the mule team which steps to the music when transporting the knight and his squire. A battle using a ladder also turns into an entertaining dance.

Credit for the revival of the 1965 musical goes to director-choreographer Rudy Tronto who played Sancho on Broadway and has staged the show many times from coast to coast. Working with him are Rudolph Bennett, musical director and conductor; David Kissel, production stage manager and lighting designer; and Vida Thomas, costume coordinator. The production runs through June 26.

Township ordinance requires that garbage containers be placed at the curb for the twice-weekly pickup. Information on collection days for various neighborhoods may be obtained by calling the public works department, 564-7081.

Views On Dental Health

By HAROLD A. POLLACK, D.D.S.

ANALGESIA: "LAUGHING GAS"

Some patients, for psychological reasons among others, don't take readily to the idea of an injection. What is needed is a form of anesthetic where the patient feels pretty good, where nothing could bother him, not even pain, and where he is completely relaxed.

Dentistry has an agent that can bring a patient to a high degree of relaxation and is easily administered, with almost no side effects. It is nitrous oxide, sometimes called "laughing gas". It has been used by dentists for more than a hundred years. When inhaled with a mixture of oxygen, it will lessen pain sensations and put the patient in a receptive frame of mind for dental treatment.

Nitrous oxide is not ideal for long, intricate procedures. Many dentists start treatment with nitrous oxide, and after the patient has reached a relaxed state, will augment it with a local anesthetic. When the treatment is completed, pure oxygen may be given to flush the gas out of the patient's system, and he immediately recovers to a fairly alert state of mind.

A public service with the aim of promoting a better dental health environment. From the office of: HAROLD A. POLLACK, D.D.S., 280 Millburn Avenue, Millburn. Phone: 467-0720

Berkeley sponsors free blood pressure testing

As part of this month's observation of National Blood Pressure Month, Berkeley Federal Savings and Loan Association is sponsoring a Hypertension Screening Program today in its office at 555 Millburn Avenue.

Richard K. Gartenberg, president of Berkeley Federal, has encouraged the public to take advantage of this free testing which is geared to all persons aged 18 and over. Berkeley recently offered this program in its Union and Newark offices as well as all of its Ocean County branches.

Richard Gartenberg

"We'd like to reach as many people as we can," Mr. Gartenberg said. "We have scheduled the screening at our Short Hills office from 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. and from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. for maximum convenience. Everyone of us probably knows someone who has high blood pressure because it is such a common condition. And when we help people who have high blood pressure to keep it under control, we are helping them to reduce their risk of early death or disability."

Millburn health educator Jerri Abrams will administer the testing. Mrs. Abrams stressed the need to reach those who are in the work force and find it inconvenient to go to a doctor, those unaware of any problems, and those with known problems who need reinforcement and counseling concerning the taking of previously prescribed medication.

"We are very excited about the positive changes in high blood pressure control on the national level. Ten years ago relatively few Americans knew much about the problem; now almost 75 per cent of the total population knows that high blood pressure is a serious condition that increases the risk of heart attack, stroke and kidney failure.

"We are very pleased to have Berkeley Federal Savings sponsor these testings, thereby raising the community's awareness of the problem," Mrs. Abrams said.

Preschool classes to treat hearing loss

Although parents often don't realize it, many preschoolers suffer intermittent hearing loss due to repeated ear infections.

The conductive loss is correctable, but according to Claire Kantor of 168 Sagamore Road, director of the Summit Speech School, it may permanently affect the child's social and intellectual development, because he or she is unable to hear properly for months at a time at a critical stage of language and cognitive development.

"In many cases, these children will be near the bottom of their class, far below their potential," she said. "They may in fact be very bright. They need special teaching during these most crucial years to help them keep up with their peers. And they need proper medical management by a specialist."

Because Mrs. Kantor and her school board are convinced the problem is widespread, they are adding to their curriculum a new Language Stimulation Program to give this group of three to five-year-olds an educational boost. The school, which has served New Jersey for 16 years, will also continue to offer classes for more seriously hearing impaired infants and preschoolers.

Classes in the Language Stimulation Program will be similar to those in a typical nursery school, but with strong emphasis on language development and speech training.

The program will meet five times a week with a maximum class size of eight children per class. Each teacher will be certified for both hearing impaired and preschool education.

Children with normal hearing, for whom this program is also appropriate, will be accepted if space permits. Registration for September classes is being taken during May; for further information persons may call 277-3353.

Summer weather brings out hazards

Rapidly improving weather has not only brought out the flowers and leaves, it has also dotted the edges of the roadways with a growing number of joggers, walkers, bicyclists and moped riders.

"Motorists must be overly careful and alert while driving," said Clifford W. Snedeker, director of the New Jersey Division of Motor Vehicles.

The situation will require even greater care and caution when schools close in a few short days, Snedeker added.

Summer driving patterns are different from those of winter months. Motorists drive more, cover greater distances and tend to explore new areas. This can create a problem when you add the extra pedestrians and cyclists to the already crowded roadways, Mr. Snedeker said.

"Nearly one out of every four deaths on New Jersey roadways in recent years was a pedestrian," Snedeker said. In 1981 (1982 figures are not yet available) 371 pedestrians died in auto accidents and 6,621 were injured — [illegible] of them seriously enough to be permanently incapacitated."

A total of [illegible] bicyclists and seven moped riders were killed in that year, while 4,[illegible] bicycle riders and 1,[illegible] mopeders were injured.

Joggers and walkers should stay off busy roads. If they must go on the road, they should walk facing traffic and stay as far as possible away from the traffic lanes. At twilight and at night, they should wear light-colored clothing or something reflectorized and try to always [illegible] to obey all the laws [illegible]

[illegible] same goes for bicyclists. They are subject to the same rules of the road as motorists, even those riders under age 17.

Under a new law that became effective January 1 of this year, moped operators, bicyclists, and pedestrians under the age of 17 who violate the rules of the road will be treated just like adults with hearings in municipal court.

They will also be subject to the same penalties if found guilty of a violation. That means a youngster riding a bicycle the wrong way on a one way street or against the flow of traffic on any roadway could receive a fine of $50 or more, Mr. Snedeker said.

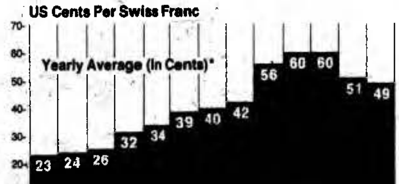
You don't need more life insurance to keep up with inflation ...
Just better life insurance
Introducing Swiss Franc Life
Ordinary life vs. inflation
Guess who wins?
Inflation. It eats away at the value of virtually everything — including your life insurance protection. Providing you with much less real purchasing power than you had planned on. In the past, the only way to keep pace with inflation was to buy more life insurance. Now there's another way ... a better way. Swiss Franc Life.
Swiss Franc Life vs. Inflation
Now you have a fighting chance.
The Swiss have been both politically and economically neutral for two centuries. What's more, they've demonstrated incredible discipline in their efforts to preserve the value of the Swiss Franc, even under the pressures of World Wars and periods of economic chaos.
Let's consider an example:
Had a person bought a U.S. $100,000 life insurance policy in 1971, that policy's purchasing power after only 11 years would have been reduced to approximately U.S. $43,640. The same policy funded in Swiss Francs (SFR 435,000) in 1971 would have held its purchasing power and in 1981 would have been the equivalent of U.S. $243,600*. A parallel effect would have occurred on the policy's cash value build-up.
*This illustration is based on the exchange rates applicable during the period illustrated.



We seek to preserve your purchasing power ... with better insurance.
While we cannot guarantee the appreciation or the stability of the Swiss Franc, it has been one of the most stable currencies in the world and remains so because of the commitment of the Swiss to protect their currency. Swiss Franc can help you preserve the purchasing power of your life insurance.
Swiss Franc Life is now available in the U.S. through The Central National Life Insurance Company of Omaha, the largest company of the Benico Insurance Group, the insurance arm of Beneficial Corporation.
We encourage your inquiry regarding this innovative, sensible policy. Phone The Enterprise Group(201) 993-9100 or Central National Life at (201) 781-4251 for further information.

American music to fill air at Memorial Day fetes

Memorial Day weekend will be marked musically by the New Jersey Pops Orchestra with two programs of American movie and folk music.

Sunday the 50-piece orchestra will perform at 3 p.m. at Waterloo Village in Stanhope. Monday at 3 p.m. the musicians will play at Anderson Park in Upper Montclair.

Billed as "The New Jersey Pops in Hollywood" the program will feature music from "Rocky," "E.T.," Exodus," Star Wars," "Victory at Sea," and "That's Entertainment." In keeping with the spirit of the holiday the orchestra will perform "American Salute" by Gould, "An Outdoor Overture" by Copland, "American Civil War Fantasy" by Bilik and then will lead a patriotic singalong.

The Montclair concert is free and entrance to the Waterloo Village program comes with the price of admission to the historical site.

Township musicians who are part of the pops organization are Phillip Levine, Virginia Howe and Gerard Matte.

Another patriotic highlight of the weekend at Waterloo will be a performance by the Colonial Musketeers of Hackettstown Monday at 3 p.m. The Musketeers, dressed in costumes of the 1700s play fifes and drums.

Township photographers looking for subjects other than Musketeers may want to travel to the Center for Environmental Studies in Roseland Saturday at 9:30 a.m. The center will open its green house to photographers interested in capturing its shapes and forms in black and white pictures. Further information is available by calling 228-2210.

Settling down after the holiday, local gardeners may wish to tour the Rutgers University greenhouse in Newark. The Essex County Department of Parks will sponsor the public event. Cost is $2 and reservations may be made by calling 733-6000.

Once in Newark gardeners with artistic bents may wish to swing by the Newark Museum to see the new exhibit of printmaking techniques called "Working with Paper, Black and White: Selected Artists from the Printmaking Council of New Jersey." The work will demonstrate techniques of etching, drypoint, lithography, intaglio, serigraphy and handmade papermaking.

The show will continue through June 26. Admission is free, and the museum is open daily from noon to 5 p.m.

More music born in America will fill the air a little closer to home June 3 through 5 when the 13th annual June Days Festival of Crafts and Music takes place in the Eagle Rock Reservation in West Orange. The event will include folk music concerts, a craft show and craft demonstrations, music workshops, children's activities and international food.

Admission to Friday and Saturday evening concerts is $2.50 each. The craft show will be held Saturday and Sunday beginning at 11 a.m. Further information is available by calling 482-6400.

American music will give way to American theater in South Orange next week when the Baird Theatre opens its production of Tennessee Williams' "Cat On a Hot Tin Roof." Performances will be given June 1, 2, 3, 4, 8, 9, 10, and 11 at 8:30 p.m. Tickets are $5 and may be ordered by calling 762-9639.

Inter Community ranked in top third of banks

James S. Conway, president and chief executive officer of Inter Community Bank, announced today that statistics compiled by the American Bankers newspaper indicated that the bank in 1982 had increased in deposit size to rank 4,809 (32.5 per cent) of the nation's 14,787 commercial banks.

The bank, which commenced its operation in June, 1974, ended the 1982 year with deposits of $41,031,711 and improved its ranking by 1,279 moving up from 6,088 in 1981.

Mr. Conway stated that the Uniform Bank Performance Report prepared for regulatory agency use indicated that in its nationwide peer group of banks in the $25,000,000 to $50,000,000 asset size, Inter Community Bank's after tax income of $522,038 in 1982 reflected a return on average assets of 1.32 per cent compared to the peer group average of .97 per cent and that Inter Community Bank ranked 209 (top 29 per cent) of the 721 banks in the group. The return on average assets of all 148 New Jersey banks in 1982 was .94 per cent.

Larry Paragano, chairman of the board of Inter Community Bank, stated that the first quarter results for 1983 continued to reflect excellent growth and earnings. For the quarter ended March 31, deposits of individuals, partnerships and corporations increased 5 per cent over year end and net earnings after tax for the first quarter were $186,221, a 34.4 per cent increase over the first quarter 1981 earnings of $158,323.

HERE'S HOW -- Kerri Griffiths, a sixth grader at Pingry School, perfects her tennis service with the aid of Summit YMCA instructor Jeff Kurtz. The tennis instruction is part of an after-school enrichment program at the school.

Pingry offers classes for after-school fun

Magic, tennis, dance, drama, computer programming, golf and creative writing are a few of the courses offered to students in grades kindergarten through six as part of a pilot after-school program at Pingry School here this spring. The new program began in April and is continuing through May. Courses meet five days a week at the conclusion of the school day.

Organized by parent volunteers with the assistance of the Pingry administration and faculty, the courses are designed to present enrichment opportunities to students beyond those included in the school curriculum. Close to half the student body elected to enroll in the program.

Courses include computer programming, soccer, tennis, karate, track, Gymjam, creative writing, golf, photography, art, drama, dance and typing.

Mrs. Paul Christopherson of 2 Cross Gates and Mrs. David Wilson of 294 White Oak Ridge Road are co-chairmen of the after-school program. They are making plans to continue the program next fall.

Far Brook students perform new music

At the traditional "Music Night" at Far Brook School Friday, music director Edwin Finckel provided a surprise ending for the evening.

Music director at Far Brook for more than 30 years, Mr. Finckel composed "Space Journey" for the small Far Brook Orchestra which concluded the program with the new work that night. Township residents in the group include clarinetist David Aaronoff of Wyoming Avenue and flutist Genevieve Baker of Cape Court, both sixth graders, and cellist Mary Adams of Great Hills Road, mathematics and computer teacher.

"The piece was written," said Mr. Finckel, "to expose and involve the children in contemporary orchestral techniques such as erratic rhythms, completely unpredictable thematic sequences and atonal chord clusters." "The music is very difficult," he added.

At times the piece is played in three different keys at the same time. The music demands more of the performer than the standard Baroque and early classical orchestral repertoire, in which the music is usually quite predictable, explained Mr. Finckel.

Planets visited during the "Space Journey" included Mercury, Venus, Earth and Mars. Perhaps the most unusual aspect of the work is that each part was written for a specific student or guest performer at his or her level of instrumental ability. Every day for the past two weeks, Mr. Finckel brought in one or two pages of the new material as he composed it. The final page of music, in which the earthlings leave Mars, was finished the day before the performance.

Mr. Finckel said, "The students have been absolutely tremendous at learning this music. We hope to complete the journey through space for next year."

Before he came to Far Brook, Mr. Finckel played jazz piano and arranged music for such "big band" leaders as Boyd Raeburn, Gene Krupa and Buddy Rich.

During this time his compositions won many awards and were recorded by major recording companies. Since then Mr. Finckel has composed many classical works that are being performed with increasing frequency in professional and university settings.

Memorial Day rites to honor veterans

Mayor Earl W. Cryer today urged township residents to attend Memorial Day ceremonies here Sunday and Monday "in memory of all our veterans who have died in the service of our country."

The American Legion Guy R. Bosworth Post 140 along with members of the Millburn Police and Fire Departments will lead services Sunday at 2:15 p.m. in St. Rose of Lima Cemetery and at 3 p.m. in St. Stephen's Cemetery.

The mayor will conduct a Memorial Day ceremony Monday at 9:30 a.m. in Taylor Park. In past years this morning program preceded the annual parade and was attended for the most part by parade participants. "I hope that many more veterans, families of veterans and others will attend this observance on this special patriotic day," said Mayor Cryer.

"There have been some expressions of disappointment that there will be no parade this year," he continued. "On the other hand there is some feeling that a parade is not as appropriate a vehicle to honor our servicemen as a well attended, somber and respectful ceremony in the park," added the mayor.

St. Rose of Lima Church will offer a Memorial Day mass Monday at 11 a.m. in the church cemetery, weather permitting.

DAR cites town girl for essay

A township fifth grader will receive first prize in the Middle Atlantic States for her American history essay in a competition sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution (DAR).

Laura Ball

The regional winner is Laura Ball, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Ball of Brooklawn Drive. Her winning essay was titled "Communication and Transportation in the Colonial Days." She will receive her prize June 22 at Short Hills School's last awards ceremony. "It's like I was giving my school a going-away present," said Laura.

Her essay first won the Short Hills DAR's All Millburn award and then took first place in state competition. In the regional contest it topped entries from Virginia, Delaware, Maryland and Pennsylvania.

The local student, granddaughter of the late Lester Ball who had been superintendent of schools here, did research for her paper at Millburn Library and at Jockey Hollow. She expects to enter next year's contest.

B'nai Israel slates dedication of 'tree'

Congregation B'nai Israel will dedicate a "Tree of Life" sculpture Sunday at 7 p.m. in the synagogue.

The modern piece will be mounted on a wall of the synagogue's main lobby. Its leaves and branches as well as rocks beneath will be inscribed with individual events of family life, such as a birthday, wedding anniversary, bar or bat mitzvah, marriage or graduation.

According to committee chairman Doris Sugarman, "this symbol of life gives participants the opportunity to link their families perpetually with the congregation and the Jewish people, affording them with a fresh opportunity to reaffirm their roots in Judaism."

MHS netsters tip Morris Hills

By Ram Krishnan

The Millburn High School boys' tennis team, currently ranked 15th in the state and third in Essex County, defeated Morris Hills, 5-0, in the quarter-finals of the North Jersey Section 2 of the State Tournament. The only other match of the week was a 3-2 victory over conference-rival Summit.

Against Morris Hills, the Millers over-powered a very weak team. At first singles, Steve Haskin defeated Steve Faltz, 6-2, 6-1. At second singles, Eric Mirsky earned a 6-3, 6-4 victory over Eliot Bloomberg. At third singles, Brad Rabin downed Darren DaSiova, 6-3, 6-2. At first doubles, the undefeated duo of Jimmy Denburg and Darren Scherago crushed Alan Bonder and Todd Naznitsky, 6-2, 6-0. At second doubles, Parham Ghandchi and Peter Curley, who have been playing well as of late, defeated Rich Puchalski and Bill Fox, 6-3, 6-1, to close out the match.

Against Summit, the Millers gained some revenge from a team who had defeated them 4-1, in the first round of the Newark Academy Tournament. At first singles, a revived Steve Haskin defeated John Christensen, 6-3, 6-3. At second singles, Mirsky dropped a see-saw 3-set match to Dave Hubbard, 6-3, 0-6, 1-6. Rabin dropped a 2-6, 4-6 decision to Pablo Cappello, at third singles. The two key points came at the doubles. At first doubles, Denburg and Scherago scored a 6-4, 6-3 victory over the team of Paul Verderber and Mike Newbold. At second doubles, Curley and Ghandchi earned a 6-3, 6-3 decision from Chris Keating and Andy Rondepierre to close out the match.

The Millers, who have won 20 matches and lost six, are looking to gain a berth in the Group 3 finals of the state tournament for the fourth consecutive year. To repeat this feat, the Millers look to defeat Summit in the North Jersey Section 2 finals.

Elders victorious

In Sunday recreation slo-pitch softball action Cary Heller blasted two home runs, leading the Elders to a 16-11 win over the American Legion. In the first game of the double bill the Legion team emerged a 22-18 winner. Tom Lombardi was the winning pitcher.

A Saturday rain makeup saw the American Legion split two games with Palumbos Auto, losing the first 21-2, but rallying to a 17-4 win in the second game. Sandy Marcketta, George Pittinger and Ricky Kloss led the Palumbo offensive effort.

In Sunday action Palumbo's again split with the Sultans of Swing with a 9-5 loss in the first contest and a 2-1 win in the second game.

Paragano Homes fell behind the Booters 10-0 and fell short with a late rally, losing 16-12. In the second game Dom Paragano homered to pace the Homes team to a 12-11 margin.

In Saturdays doubleheader, Millburn Exxon took two from Paragano 6-4 and 12-1.

YMCA announces camping

Camp Speers-Eljabar, the YMCA camp of the Poconos, which serves northern New Jersey YMCA's, has developed new programs for the summer of 1983.

Windsurfing will be featured this season for campers entering seventh grade and older on Lake Nichechronk, a 42 acre natural lake. Four "Specialty Camp" 1-week sessions are available during the first two weeks in July and the last two weeks in August.

The lakefront area will also be the scene for birling (log rolling) throughout all camp sessions and for two 1 week periods of training on a fleet of mine-fish sailboats culminating in a regatta at nearby Lake Wallenpaupack. This program is open to campers of all ages. Fifth, sixth and seventh graders will have the opportunity to enroll in a 1-week course in river canoeing to sharpen skills for future trips on the Delaware River or other excursions to some of the many exciting rivers in North America and Canada.

For those campers who would like programs other than water sports, the camp is offering a 1-week biking program at the beginning and end of the season. After enjoying two days of instruction in skills, maintenance and safety the participants will bike and camp for three days in the nearby State Parks and Delaware Water Gap National Recreation Area.

Soccer camp is another featured specialty and will be under the supervision of a coach from England. Rocketry, photography, campcraft and nature study are just a few of the choices of daily activities from which the campers may choose.

Atlantics open season Saturday

By James Turner

After more than one month of preseason preparation, the Atlantics are ready to take to the field for the start of the 1983 regular season.

The Atlantics will open with the Maplewood Maples on Saturday, at the Millburn High School field. Then on Sunday they will clash with the Verona Twins also at home. Both games are to start at 5 p.m. On Monday they play Parsippany at home at 6 p.m.

Last season the Maples lost to the Irvington A's in the league championship series and also held a 4-1 edge in games over the Atlantics during the season. The only other team in the league which the Atlantics had a losing record to last year was Irvington.

Verona last year was based in Bloomfield.

This year the Atlantics will be playing a 40 game schedule now that the Parsippany Tomahawks have joined the league adding five games to the Atlantics season.

Last Wednesday against the Madison Pirates the Atlantics pulled off a 4-3 victory finishing their preseason games.

The Pirates have already started their regular season in the Morris-Somerset league and are at full strength. The Atlantics were using pitchers not in the game to fill in right field and second base. Those Atlantics regulars were still in college.

The unusual line up worked as relief pitcher Eric Aubel went 2 for 3, with a double, while being the Atlantics second basemen through the first six innings. In the seventh Aubel picked up his first preseason save as not one Pirate hitter went to first off him.

Each Atlantic starter went two innings allowing a combined three runs, none earned.

The biggest plus on the day was the pitching of Roger Hudgins who only let up two hits in two innings. For Hudgins it was the first time in more than 2 years he has faced a batter in a game situation.

The Atlantics will start Jim Gladson against the Maples on Saturday. Mike Mulcahy will start on Sunday and Hudgins will go up against the Tomahawks on Monday.

Sound-on-Wheels won two big games in the men's weeknight recreation slo-pitch league, 26-7 over Bed-n-Bath and 9-7 over Darren Creations. In the Bed-n-Bath game, Greg Shine homered and Dave Mann had three hits in three trips. In the victory over Sound on Wheels, Jeff Jacobs and Duncan MacLean combined for eight hits and Paul Baker was 3-for-3. Tom Penney homered.

Millburn Plumbing got three hits each from Tony Mecantionio, Ernie Faenza and Bruce Hill as the team blanked Futters 9-0. The winning pitcher was Jim Furman.

Jim Pieper led the Millburn Plumbing attack with three hits in a second win over Chubb and Son. Charlie Triolo exploded with a double and triple while Jim Pittinger turned four double plays in a sterling defensive performance. Pieper was the winning pitcher.

Robins, Reds, Rangers powers of little league

By Dennis Bedell

The strong play of various teams took the spotlight in Little League during the past week. The Robins, Reds, Rangers, Mariners, White Sox and Red Sox each had multiple victories. The scoreboard for the week follows:

In the Major League, The Robins outlasted the Orioles 6-5 in nine innings. In the seventh and eighth innings, the Orioles had the bases loaded with no outs, but the Robins held them both times with flawless ball handling. The Robins passed the Sparrows 5-2 as Brett Schuman pitched a 6-hitter. Paul Arrouet had a live bat and Greg Kahn a sound glove. The Hawks downed the Cardinals 8-3 behind the relief pitching of Chad Means. The timely hits of Danny Milton, Tom Johnson and Ned Southworth helped the winning cause. Richie Dunn had five stolen bases for the Cardinals.

The Hawks triumphed over the Blue Jays 8-2 with Tyler Cluthe pitching for five innings, striking out eight and allowing two hits. The Hawks had an 8-run rally with key hits by Richard Brener and Danny Milton. The Eagles defeated the Blue Jays 6-3 behind the pitching of Brian Garrett who gave up only two hits. Andrew Wayne had three hits, including a 2 run double. Daniel Gitner had two hits for the Blue Jays. The Eagles were shut out by the Cardinals 3-0. Pat Faenza pitched the shut out. The Orioles downed the Buzzards 9-3 with the active bats of Josh Rosner and Vic Desposito. Robert Reuth played well for the Buzzards.

In another game, the Orioles continued winning by defeating the Eagles 6-4. Brian Agnew had a 3-run HR. Eagles Ned Ginty also had a 2-run HR.

International League saw the undefeated Giants downed by the Dodgers 11-3. Shawn Laverty struck out 12 batters and Adam Goldstein had three hits in the victory. In two games, the Reds downed the Padres 11-10 and 14-10. In the first game Mike Weisbart and Doug Spitzer had active bats. In the second, John McGuire was good on the mound and Mike Weisbart again came through at the plate. The Reds also defeated the Mets 9-4 behind the pitching of Steve Jafarzadeh and the hitting of John Lundin.

American Association League saw the Rangers shut out the Cubs 14-0 behind the throwing of Kenny Hughes and the fielding of Richard Saladino, Alex Bernstein and Charles (Tiger) Stanley. The Rangers also defeated the Phillies 13-6. Henry Wester hit a 3-run homer for the Phillies. The Mariners downed the Yankees 10-8 in a 9-inning game. Robert Chesley hurled from the mound and Justin Horner made a key catch to secure the win. The Mariners also downed the Indians 8-6 behind the bat of Mark Wollstein and the hurling of Brian Buchert. Indian Tim Delaney pitched and hit well in the losing cause.

The White Sox paced the Atlantic Coast League with two victories. They defeated the Angels 9-4 behind the hitting of Stuart Zisu and the defensive play of Brian Bernstein. Steven Donofrio turned in a fine performance for the Angels. Against the Brewers, the White Sox ran up a 22-8 victory. Adam Katz was outstanding at bat and in the field, while Danny Rif showed speed on the bases. Debbie Remig played well for the Brewers. The White Sox record now stands at 11-0. The Red Sox downed the Royals 11-4, the Angels 10-5, and the Twins 7-1. Holly Lemkau, Chris Laplante, Hunter Hulshizer, David Pedowitz and Paul Richardson all had good games for the Red Sox, with Hulshizer and Pedowitz each hitting a HR in the Angels game, and Dolansky hitting one in the Twins game. Mark Dubovy of the Royals and James Manda of the Angels sparked the play for their teams.

The Royals, after giving up seven runs in the first inning, came back to defeat the Senators 8-7 behind the strong hitting of Adam Sosnow and David Kronengold and the good defense of Gordon Kaupp. The Senators, however, routed the Twins 17-3. Drew Zimmerman, Robert Donnelly and Andrew Goldstein sparked the Senators' play.

Conference honors 4 cagers

Four members of the Millburn High School girls' basketball team recently were honored with all-conference recognition.

Jackie Holle, holder of many of the team's scoring records including most points in a single season (498), was selected to the first team. Sue Stecher, co-captain, was the leading vote-getter on the second team. Opposing coaches were impressed by her scoring (405 points), rebounding (210) and defense.

Leading the third team was Mary Alice Laverty who broke the school record for most assists in a season (108) and Jennie Kelly who led the team with field goal percentage (50 per cent) and averaged 10 points per game.

According to coach Brent Kitching these girls were the nucleus of a team that produced a school record of 23 victories.

Ann Padgett sets record in county track meet

By Jim Land

Last Saturday selective members of the Millburn track team competed in the annual Essex County meet. Ann Padgett did extremely well in the competition taking third in the 100m with a meet tying time of 12.5. Padgett also set a school record in the 200m with a time of 25.0, which was good enough for another third place. Distance runner Tricia Lowe ran her best time of the year in the 800m as she took fifth finishing at 2:20.9. Eileen Muflett performed well placing fourth in the 100m hurdles and sixth in the 400m hurdles.

In the weight events Laura Shippee and Katie Jones came in fifth and sixth respectively in the shot put. Shippee also took third in the discus with a throw of 104'. Sophomore Debbie Davidson placed fifth in the javelin as another sophomore Ann Song came in sixth.

For the boys' track team Ardy Krichman and Paul Guastadisegni both did a fine job as the took fourth and fifth in the 300m. Gideon Emin ran a personal best in the 400m with a time of 54.8. Glenn Hagmann ran his best time of the year in the 800m finishing at 2:05.5.

Wesley Wolffe ran well in the high hurdles as he completed the competition with a fine time of 15.0. In the pole vault one of Millburn's best athletes, Ross Sullivan, took second as Don Meyer also did a fine job placing third. Paul Song came in third in the high jump with an impressive height of 6', and Hans Willis took fourth in the discus with a throw of 133'.

Suburban girls beat rivals from Maplewood

The recreation department's seventh and eighth grade suburban girls' softball team contributed to roll Tuesday night with a thrilling 8-7 triumph over first place Maplewood. Millburn combined good pitching, outstanding defense and timely hitting to record their fourth consecutive victory.

Kelly Tansey, pitching perfectly, retired the first nine Maplewood batters in the game. With the score 0-0 in the third inning Millburn combined a walk to Lyn Jarkovsky, a Virginia Dunnn single, a perfectly executed Miriam Marcus bunt, two more singles by Thea Rhodes and Jennifer Metzger with Chris Hallad's long triple down the leftfield line to produce five big runs. Key hits by Dunn and Metzger helped produce two more runs in the fourth inning. The eventual winning run socred on a long double by Lyn Jarkovsky over the centerfielder's head in the sixth inning which scored Kelly Tansey all the way from the first base.

Offensively Chris Hallad added a booming double to go with her earlier triple as she continued to pound the ball. Virginia Dunn, Jennifer Metzger and Miriam Marcus each had a pair of hits for the Millers in the game.

Defensively an outstanding over-the-shoulder catch by Miriam Marcus and a running one handed stab by Kristine Kaiser in the outfield cut Maplewood rallies short.

The infield anchored by Virginia Dunn and Catherine Welch at the corners with Lyn Jarkovsky and Thea Rhodes in the middle played flawless ball all evening, as time after time, they turned over plays which prevented Maplewood from getting baserunners or scoring.

The solid play of Suzy Lyon in the outfield also contributed to what was a total team victory.

No smoking program scheduled

Overlook Hospital will conduct a new smoking cessation program, the "Stop Smoking System" developed by the American Health Foundation. Its slogan is "You now can quit smoking in five days. No butts about it."

The program is designed for all types of smokers, including those who have never tried to quit as well as those who have tried hypnosis, group meetings, scare tactics, filters and willpower.

The method is based on scientific research and involves a 5-day multiple treatment approach that teaches participants the necessary skills for achieving permanent smoking abstinence. The program also incorporates specific techniques to help participants avoid weight gain and remain calm.

The introductory session will be May 31, 7:30 to 9 p.m., and the treatment sessions will run June 6 to 9, 7:30 to 9 p.m. All classes will be held at the Overlook Hospital Center for Community Health. Registration fee is $125 which includes the American Health Foundation's copyrighted materials.

Interested persons may register by calling the Department of Health Education, 522-2963.

Tel-Med volunteers needed

Overlook Hospital, Summit, is looking for volunteers to help staff its Tel-Med system.

Tel-Med is a system of educational tapes covering a wide range of medical topics. Persons may call the special Tel-Med number and request to hear a specific tape. Volunteers respond by playing the appropriate tape.

Tel-Med is based at the reception desk in the Center for Community Health. Each volunteer would cover a 2-hour time slot from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. All volunteers will be trained and given an orientation.

Anyone interested in this position should call Linda Banghart, Overlook's director of volunteer services, 522-2096.

YMCA sports clinics to stress five sports

The Summit area YMCA is offering an array of sports and recreation clinics for boys and girls in grades one through eight this summer. The 1-week clinics will feature instruction and skill building in five different sports: soccer, baseball, lacrosse, football and gymnastics.

Either half-day or full-day sessions are available for all sports. Clinics will be conducted at the Hamilton Terrace Field in Berkeley Heights, Memorial Field in Summit, and at the Springfield branch YMCA. The programs include a free T-shirt and daily refreshments, and the afternoon clinics provide an optional recreational swim at the Summit YMCA pool.

The gymnastics clinics will be held at the Passaic Township Youth Center in Stirling for the morning sessions or at the YMCA in Summit in the afternoons. The program is open to boys and girls. Instruction will include fundamentals and techniques for floor exercise, balance beam, still rings, high bar, vaulting horse, and trampoline. Class size will be limited and the emphasis will be on individual instruction based upon the skill level and ability of each participant.

The soccer clinic focuses on both individual and team play, using one-to-one and small group instruction. The lacrosse program stresses fundamentals and strategy; the YMCA will provide sticks, gloves, and helmets.

A new technique will be featured in teaching football; the clinic will be non-contact, however all aspects of the contact game will be taught including passing, running, and blocking, as well as strategy and scrimmage sessions.

The baseball clinic focuses on batting skills, proper fielding methods and correct throwing techniques. A special addition to this year's program is a weekly trip to New York for a night baseball game to see either the Yankees or the Mets. Admission and transportation are included in the regular class fee. Participants need to bring a baseball glove to the clinic; all other equipment is provided.

For more information or a brochure about any of the summer sports programs, persons may call the YMCA at 273-3330.

A 1975 graduate of Upstate Medical School, Dr. Mogan is on the staff of Saint Barnabas Medical Center and Clara Maass Memorial, Belleville, West Essex General and East Orange General Hospitals.

The township recycling center is located adjacent to the municipal garage. The area, located off Main Street, north of Essex Street, is open to the public until 3 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.
