December Book Club

“First Wednesday was Book Bitches (contemporary fiction).

Second Wednesday was Sneaky Spinsters (Golden Age mysteries).

Third Wednesday was District Zero (young adult fiction).

Fourth Wednesday was Electric Sheep grazing Club (science fiction).

If there was a fifth Wednesday in the month, she would wing it, because she liked to live dangerously. Book nerds are daredevils, as you know.”

The Bookish Life of Nina Hill by Abbi Waxman, page 46.

What better way to end the year than to read a book about people reading books? The Bookish Life of Nina Hill did just that and more. It was quirky, funny and loving with a main character we all wanted to be friends with. And to make it even better, we discussed December's book with a wonderful lunch at the Telegraph in Bremer Bay. Book presents, champagne and laughter were exchanged as we celebrated Christmas, books and friends.

We also had the important task of voting for our favourite Book Club books of 2020. In first place was The Dictionary of Lost Words by Pip Williams, equal second was Boy Swallows Universe by Trent Dalton and The Unhoneymooners by Christina Lauren, and third place went to Good Girl, Bad Girl by Michael Robotham.
