Online Databases @ SIM Libraries

Online databases are useful tools for locating journal articles, reports, statistics, dissertations fast with the added advantage of allowing one to search from many access points such as author, keyword, title, etc. Articles selected from online databases may be downloaded, printed or even emailed to your own account.

You may access the online databases from home or office using either the Members' Hub (if you are a SIM Individual Member) or Student Portal (if you are a SIM Student).
