By: Pete McCordic

Beaumont, Texas, (December 3, 2019) – Former PBA member Derek Williams from Groves, Texas, shot 256 the first game of the tournament and continued to out-score the field as he held the lead after each round of the PBA50 Beaumont Southwest Open at Crossroads Bowling Center Sunday, coasting to his first PBA50 Region victory.

Williams, who recorded his eighth overall PBA Regional victory and his fourth win in Beaumont, held a 120-pin lead going into the eight-game round robin finals where he won five of his eight matches to build his margin of victory to 220 pins over PBA Southwest Region Hall of Famer, Rick Lawrence from Waxahachie, Texas. PWBA to Kick off 2020 Regional Schedule in January with 10 Events

By: Emil Williams

ARLINGTON, Texas – The Professional Women's Bowling Association Regional program will hold a minimum of 10 events during the 2020 season, highlighted by six regionals conducted in conjunction with 2020 PWBA Tour stops, and the top 10 regional players will earn a season-end bonus as part of the BowlTV PWBA Regional Cup.

The PWBA Sarasota Regional, set for Jan. 18, 2020, at Sarasota Lanes in Sarasota, Florida, is the first of four PWBA Regional tournaments that will be held prior to the start of the 2020 PWBA Tour.

"The addition of PWBA Regional events to the offseason calendar was a high priority to encourage more athletes to experience PWBA competition," said PWBA Director of Operations Tennelle Milligan. "It is important to provide high-level competitions to women bowlers throughout the year and to offer a starting point for those who want to compete on the PWBA Tour."

The BowlTV PWBA Regional Cup will award season-ending bonuses to the top 10 players, based on points earned in all regional events. The highest points-earner will receive a $3,500 bonus, while 10th place in points will earn $500. The total prize fund for the Regional Cup is $13,000.

All PWBA Regionals are one-day events. The off-season tournaments will take place on either Saturday or Sunday, while the tournaments held

10th Annual Turbo Tech Collegiate Expo Goes West in 2020

CHESTERFIELD, MI - July 5-9, 2020 will be special days for youth bowling . . . they will mark the 10th anniversary of bowling's premier college recruiting event, the Turbo Collegiate Expo, and the first time the amazingly successful event has been staged in the western part of the USA. It will be held at the Gold Coast Hotel, Casino and Bowling Center in Las Vegas.

"This will be our first Collegiate Expo out West," said Turbo President Lori Mraz. "We anticipate a much larger group of student athletes from the region making it an exceptional opportunity for colleges from the east to meet new talent from the western states. It also gives students and recruiters from everywhere a chance to become more familiar with the Western region. We are looking forward to meeting many new families and coaches who haven't been able to attend

The structure of Collegiate Expo X will continue the successful format of on-lane instruction and class-room sessions from top professionals. The 2020 lineup includes:

- The Physical Game and Spare Shooting by Randy Stoughton and Del Warren, Webber International
- A Simple Guide for Choosing a College That's Right for You by Katie Thorton, Head Coach SCAD Savannah University

- A Useful Way to Use Video to Analyze Performance and Getting Ready for the Season – Realistic Goals and Expectations by USBC Gold Coach Bill Spigner

- An Athlete's Perspective on College Bowling by Andrew Anderson, PBA Champion

"I am really looking forward to Expo 2020," said Coach Thornton. "I hope to provide students and parents with some insight on the differences in NCAA, NAIA, varsity, and club programs. More importantly providing a guide to the possibilities with certain majors. I'll also explain the process of financial aid, a driving factor for a college choice. I hope to bringing a new outlook and valuable information on this topic."

As in past events, the Turbo Tech Collegiate Expo Official Photo Booth, sponsored by Columbia 300, will feature a prominent PBA and/or PWBA tour professional with all proceeds from the sale of souvenir photo-booths going to the charity of choice, "Ballard's Vs. The Big C". The BVBC Striking Back to Spare More Lives is a fun bowling event that was developed during long-time friend and Collegiate Expo coach Del Ballard's journey with tonsil cancer. The BVBC is proud to partner with Cancer Care Services, Baylor Health Care and the North Texas Laryngectomy Society.

Everyone involved is very excited to be associated with this very special 10th Annual Turbo Collegiate Expo. "The Collegiate Expo has been a tremendously rewarding experience for our team over the past decade," said Mraz. "Over 1400 students and families have come through our program. It's been exciting to watch them grow in the sport with many being recruited directly from

Kari Smith

Back by popular demand in this column is a regular feature new projects and displays at The International Bowling Hall of Fame and Museum on the Bowling Campus in Arlington. Curator and Program Manager Kari Smith, who took over for Jessica Bell earlier this year, give us her first JPA update into preparations for the PBA Hall of Fame Classic in January and new displays for 2020.

JPA: Thanks for taking time out of your busy schedule, especially at this time of year, to update us on the latest at IBMHoF. Since this is your first time in this column, go ahead and introduce yourself.

Kari Smith: I am the Curator/Program Manager at the IBMHOF. Previously I was Group Tour Director/Gift Shop Manager for four years, focusing on day to day operations like tours, admission sales, and event coordination. This is my first year as Curator, although in past museums I have had curatorial roles.

JPA: The biggest project over the last few years was planning and opening an online display. What has been the response thus far?

Smith: With the support of BPAA, the Bowling Virtual Vault was launched in August and we've gotten a lot of interest so far. For those that don't know, like most museums, a significant amount of the permanent collection cannot be displayed in the museum because of space constraints, etc. One way museums combat that is by creating an online collection, which is exactly what The Vault is. Through this virtual collection, we are able to display items that have never before been seen and is a practical way to serve a wider audience that is unable to visit our physical locations in Arlington or Reno. Even just during this soft opening stage, there's been many inquiries pouring into my inbox looking for further information into specific items on the site. It's been a lot of fun to speak with people so deeply interested in our sport's history.

JPA: What will be the theme of the next display at the National Bowling Stadium in Reno?

Smith: The theme of this year's display at the National Bowling Stadium is Varieties of Bowling. We have cases on ancient forms of bowling, quilles de neuf, candlepin, duckpin, and nine-pin. There are also cases on Bowling Fashion, Cartoons, Toys, Olympics, Scoring, History of ABC, Youth, Science & Technology and the like, so there's a little bit for everyone. We've done the install, but the building won't be open after the larger building renovations are completed in 2020 so stay tuned!

JPA: What film and video pieces have been the latest to be restored in the Frame4Frame project?

Smith: So far this year we have digitized just over 205,000 feet of film. To name a few pieces: footage from the 16th Annual Masters Tournament of ABC from 1966, a narrated feature called "America Bowls" that includes demonstrations from major bowlers from the 1950's, some B-Roll of President Richard Nixon bowling at the White House, Andy Varipapa appearing on "What's My Line" (1957-1961). If you're wondering if they guessed what his occupation, they couldn't figure it out! We are selecting items based on those at highest risk for unsalvageable degradation, and we still have a long way to go, some estimates put us at 1.5 million feet of film for our entire film-reel collection.

JPA: The second year of the PBA Hall of Fame Classic is approaching, involving understandably a great deal of time. What new things can bowling fans and participants expect to see at the Museum for this year's tournament?

JPA: We are looking forward to improving on last year's PBA Hall of Fame Classic, which will be hard to top but we are up to the challenge. The Classic will kick off on January 13th and end with the televised event on Sunday, January 19th on Fox Sports 1. Before the induction ceremony on Saturday, the Museum is hosting a PBA HOF Class of 2020 Inductee exhibition opening, which will be open to the public the following day on Sunday and open through May. This year we are adding a silent auction to our booth at the tournament. We will be auctioning historical bowling keepsakes not in the collection, with all the proceeds going back to the museum.

JPA: Jessica said last year the new interactive portion of the Museum was going over very well. Are there any plans expand it?

Smith: We are always looking for new ways to expand hands-on experiences in the museum. For example, over the past couple of months we have upgraded some television monitors in the museum, and we are in the concept phase of developing a new Science and Technology Exhibition that will be more interactive.

JPA: What's in the pipeline for new displays, whether be in the Museum, online, and remote locations like The Stadium in Reno or the USBC Women's Championships?

Smith: In addition to the PBA HOF Class of 2020 Exhibition, in March, I have planned a new exhibition for the USBC Open and fortunately in 2020 we will have a display at the Women's Championships as well. I just took a trip to Reno to refresh the exhibition space we have at the National Bowling Stadium, and that will be on view starting next year when the building is set to reopen.

JPA: What have been some of the pleasant surprises you've

PBA REGIONAL UPDATE: DEREK WILLIAMS WINS FIRST PBA50 REGIONAL TITLE

Former PBA member Derek Williams from Groves, Texas, shot 256 to begin the tournament and continued to out-score the field as he held the lead after each round of the PBA50 Beaumont Southwest Open at Crossroads Bowling

Center in Beaumont, Texas, Sunday, coasting to his first PBA50 Regional victory.

Williams, who recorded his eighth overall PBA Regional victory and his fourth win in Beaumont, held a 120-pin lead going into the eight-game round robin finals where he won five of his eight matches to build his margin of victory to 220 pins over PBA Southwest Region

Hall of Famer Rick Lawrence from Waxahachie, Texas. Williams collected $2,500 for the win.

- The PBA Regional program concludes its 2019 season with PBA/PBA50 Houston Emerald Bowl Doubles Dec. 20-22 in Houston, Texas. The Southwest Region event is projected to pay a projected $7,000 first place.

experienced in your first year as curator of one of the most unique museums in the world?

Smith: I wouldn't say it's a surprise, but it sure has been pleasant that the Museum's leaders have been so encouraging in the projects the museum is working on. I'm sure you've noticed, but we have a lot of moving parts going on right now and it always helps when people are on board and willing to let you do what needs to be done to make progress.

Secondly, I am continuously pleasantly surprised by how bowlers are committed to doing what it takes to save our sport's history. We receive inquiries on potential artifact donations nearly every day, and although we are very, very selective in what we take into the collection to ensure the best care is given to each item we take, I am not hesitant to say that we are now taking steps to have a more active collection. So far this year we have taken in more items in the collection than in the past six years, and I have no plans of slowing down.

Thanks to Kari Smith for the update. And yes, there soon may even be a new addition to the Museum with a JPA connection. Stay tuned.

Back in the November 21 TBN, I mentioned some of the names from the past who have bowled the PBA/PBA50 Southwest Doubles Open presented by Bowling Dynamix Regional at Houston's Emerald Bowl. A first look at the roster shows more than a few familiar names have signed up for the 2020 edition next weekend.

Among them are multi PBA titlist Dick Allen, past USBC Masters champs Andrew Anderson and Tom Hess, Masters runner up and Rookie of the Year candidate Mykel Holliman, and PBA Hall of Famers Pete Weber and Walter Ray Williams, Jr.

Speaking of the man referred to by many as the G.O.A.T. (Greatest Of All Time), WRW will also be hosting several bowling clinics in Houston, according to Emerald Bowl proprietor Don Ellis and a post on Mike Austin's Bowling Dynamix Pro Shop Facebook page.

WRW is hosting clinics at Bowlero Webster (formerly
