Stroke Support Groups Help

Stroke Survivors and Their Families

When a stroke happens, lives can change forever, not just for the stroke survivor, but for family members as well. The journey to recovery can be difficult, but survivors and family members don't need to manage alone. To help make the journey easier, People Who Care is sponsoring once a month Stroke Support Groups, featuring experts in family therapy, social work and nursing.

The groups focus on ways to cope with the challenges and communicate with others facing the same circumstances.

For stroke survivors, the meetings provide an opportunity to talk with other stroke survivors. "People who have had a stroke understand me better," said one participant. "People at the group have patience with my slow speech – other people don't," another group member said.

For family members, the groups provide a way to share with other family members. "Other family members understand what I'm going through," said a participant. Another family member said, "The family group helps me understand my spouse's stroke better."

The groups are facilitated by Gayla Allen, Retired Medical Social Work, Laura Crimmins, Family Therapist, Susan Moore, RN, Mindy Rubin, Retired RN, Susan White, Retired RN.

Attendance is free. For more information, call People Who Care at 928-445-2480.

The Sky This Month

Welcome to our night-time sky. Please enjoy this month's tidbits of knowledge. We are lucky to live in a dark-sky area where the heavens can shine through. I hope you enjoy the sky and perhaps learn a thing or two. Happy star gazing, and remember to call us for all of your real estate needs.

back into the shining Sun. Because the Earth's atmosphere bends Sunshine around it, the Moon will not go completely dark, but will turn a dark reddish hue. Why? The molecules in our atmosphere are about the same size as the wavelength of blue light, which causes blue light to be scattered away while the longer wavelength red light gets sent on its merry way to hit the Moon and reflect back to us.

Guarda la bella luna! May brings an exciting event to us – my birthday! Apart from that, there is an eclipse of the Moon on May 5th.

How does an eclipse work? Imagine a home movie projector with your Uncle Ernie's big head blocking some of the light. Then imagine a moth circling above Uncle Ernie's head with the light from the projector reflecting off of the moth. When the moth circles above the head it stays illuminated. On occasion, the moth dips into the head's shadow and becomes dark because the projector light is blocked by the head. Think of the Sun as the projector, the Earth as Uncle Ernie and the Moon as the moth. Like the moth, the Moon will fly through the Earth's shadow at 7:27 pm on February 20. The Moon will take about an hour before it is completely in the shadow and will remain totally eclipsed for another 80+ minutes before it starts moving

Two for one! While you're out enjoying the eclipse, take a look at the stars surrounding the Moon. Do they look like two twins? The constellation of Gemini surrounds the Moon during the eclipse. In Greek mythology, a woman named Leda was married to the king of Sparta and conceived a son who was later named Castor. Apparently on the same night that Leda and the king were 'getting along' so to speak, Zeus came to Leda in the guise of a Swan, and the two shared another intimate moment. Their child was named Pollux and was immortal, while Castor was merely the son of a king. When Castor was killed, Pollux asked Zeus if Castor could share his immortality. Zeus acquiesced and placed them both in the sky as the constellation Gemini.

A Taste of Wine

Celebrate May with a New Wine

At a recent dinner party Petite Sirah was served. It had very traditional flavors of “Jam, Black Pepper, and Cedar with high Tannin.” Interestingly, the wine comes from the grape called Durif which is primarily grown in Australia, California, France, and Israel. However, in the United States and Israel the grape is not called Durif, instead it is labeled “Petite Sirah.”

Taste and Texture – Petite Sirah grapes are very small so when wines are made from these grapes there are more skins, seeds (or pips), and stems. Tannin is a substance that exists naturally in the skins, seeds (or pips), and stems of grapes. To generalize a bit, tannin is a backbone of red wine (acidity is a backbone to white wine). Because red wines are fermented with their grape skins and pips, and because red grape varieties are generally higher in tannin than white varieties, tannin levels are far higher in red wines than in white wines. When you taste Petite Sirah, you will notice how the texture of tannin dries your mouth out and sits on your tongue (and sometimes teeth). If this is something you like, you will find yourself attracted to other high tannin wines such as Nebbiolo and Tempranillo.

Petite Sirah versus Petite Syrah - Petite Sirah is sometimes mistakenly spelled “Petite Syrah,” which has historically referred to a small berried clone of the Syrah grape by Rhone growers. In California, immigrant vine growers introduced Syrah in 1878 and used the phrase “Petite Syrah” to refer to the lower yields that the vines were producing in California. Actual Petite Sirah (i.e., Durif) was introduced in 1884.

Food Pairing – With its bold character, Petite Sirah necessarily pairs well with flavors of similarly bold character. Its acidity and astringency cleanse the palate of the heavy oils common in fatty and spicy foods, making it a good choice with grilled meats or spicy cuisines like Mexican dishes. Petite Sirah also nicely complements strongly flavored spices like oregano and sage, as well as heavy red sauces like tomato salsas or barbecue. If pairing the wine with cheese, the strong flavors in the wine demand a strongly flavored cheese. It pairs especially nicely with robust hard cheeses like sharp cheddar or aged Gouda.

Happy tasting!

PV Chamber Report

 Mark Your Calendar for PV Days!

It's the Merry Month of May! And soon to be official planting season! I am excited to plant my garden again this year. I started in 2020 as a hobby when we were 'covid limited' from having activities and since then I have doubled it size and gotten creative with vegetables and herbs. It's a fun and delicious way to enjoy the summer!

We are happy to be celebrating the 44th Prescott Valley Days coming up May 5 - 8. How Mother's Day Started in the United States

The real history of Mother's Day in the United States might surprise you. Three women—who championed efforts toward better health, welfare, peace, and love—contributed to the day we all celebrate on the second Sunday in May each year.

The Mother's Day holiday in the United States wasn't born out of a desire to simply treat mothers to a day off or to buy them gifts! It essentially began as a women's movement to better the lives of other Americans.

The creation of a national Mother's Day is primarily attributed to three women: Ann Reeves Jarvis, Julia Ward Howe, and Ann's daughter, Anna M. Jarvis.

Known as "Mother Jarvis," Ann Reeves Jarvis was a young Appalachian homemaker who taught Sunday school lessons. She also was a lifelong activist who, in the mid-1800s, had organized "Mothers' Day Work Clubs" in West Virginia to combat unsanitary living conditions and teach young mothers how to safely care for their children. During the Civil War, Mother Jarvis had also organized women's brigades, encouraging women to help without regard for which side their men had chosen. After the war, she proposed a Mothers' Friendship Day to promote peace between former Union and Confederate families. "I hope and pray that someone, sometime, will found a memorial mother's day commemorating her for the matchless service she renders to humanity in every field of life," Ann Jarvis once said. "She is entitled to it."

Julia Ward Howe was a famous poet and reformer. During the Civil War, she volunteered for the U.S. Sanitary Commission, helping them to provide hygienic environments for hospitals and ensure sanitary conditions during the care of sick and wounded soldiers. In 1861, she authored the famous Civil War anthem, "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," which was first published in February 1862.

Around 1870, Julia Ward Howe called for a "Mother's Day for Peace" dedicated to the celebration of peace and the eradication of war. As expressed in what is called her "Mother's Day Proclamation" from 1870, Howe felt that mothers should gather to prevent the cruelty of war and the waste of life since mothers of mankind alone bear and know the cost.

Howe's version of Mother's Day was held in Boston and other locations for about 30 years, but died a quick death in the years preceding World War I.

Nothing new happened in this department until 1907, when a Miss Anna M. Jarvis, of Philadelphia, took up the banner.

After her mother, Ann Reeves Jarvis, died in 1905, Miss Anna Jarvis from Philadelphia wished to memorialize her mother's life and started campaigning for a national day to honor all mothers. She bombarded public figures and various civic organizations with telegrams, letters, and in-person discussions. She addressed groups large and small. At her own expense, she wrote, printed, and distributed booklets extolling her idea.

In May of 1907, Anna memorialized her mother's lifelong activism with a memorial service held at the Methodist Church in Grafton, West Virginia, where Anna's mother had taught. The following year, on May 10, a Mother's Day service was held at that same church to acknowledge all mothers. Thus was born the idea that the second Sunday in May be set aside to honor every mother, whether living or deceased.

Her efforts came to the attention of the mayor of Philadelphia, who proclaimed a local Mother's Day. From the local level she went on to Washington, D.C.

While West Virginia was the first state to officially adopt the holiday, others followed suit. Proclamation of the day by the various states led Representative J. Thomas Heflin of Alabama and Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas to present a joint resolution to Congress that Mother's Day be observed nationwide. The resolution was passed by both houses.

In 1914, President Woodrow Wilson signed a bill designating the second Sunday in May as a legal holiday to be called "Mother's Day"—dedicated "to the best mother in the world, your mother."

According to many sources, Ann simply wanted to honor her mother and the work she had done, and claimed that her mother was the originator of the real Mother's Day. She was dismayed to see Mother's Day become more commercialized with the sending of cards and gifts and used as a way to promote other causes. Sadly, Anna spent the final years of her life trying to abolish the very holiday that she had helped to establish!

Mother's Day endures and evolves. Just as Mother's Day was the creation of multiple women, the modern Mother's Day celebrates the varied roles of mothers today. We commemorate the many ways mothers have fought to better the lives of their children, from social welfare to non-violence. We also honor the way mothers have raised and nurtured their children with love and courage.

Jewelry Reflections

Butterflies, Birds & Blooms

The signs of Spring are everywhere – butterflies are flitting, birds are chirping, and flowers are blooming. A mama hummingbird has her nest under my patio roof. This is the third time the nest has been used and it looks like there's one baby in it. My deep purple iris is blooming in the backyard and soft blue periwinkle is blooming in the front yard. The air even smells of spring!

I look for ways to create jewelry that conveys that feeling of spring. My favorite is to use metal, snippets of greeting cards, and resin. My sister-in-law, Susan, is a fabulous painter who turns her original works of art into greeting cards. Her use of color and pattern is simply intoxicating. I search through her cards to find just the right combination of pattern and color and then cut out butterfly, robin, swallow, and flower shapes.

The cut-out shapes are then sealed on all sides with three coats of Mod Podge. Once sealed, each shape is attached to a correspondingly shaped metal blank. Finally, I apply a coat of resin which adds dimension and protects the snippet of greeting card. This process takes several days.

Once the resin is cured, I turn the butterflies, robins, swallows and flowers into earrings and necklaces. Butterfly or bird necklaces feature one bird or butterfly hanging from a fine chain. Flower necklaces feature either just one flower hanging from a fine chain or a centerpiece of multiple flowers.

As I work, I'm captivated by the colors and patterns of each butterfly, bird, or bloom. Each piece reminds me of the power of nature to enhance our lives.

While my butterflies, birds and blooms may not look like those in nature, I hope they evoke some of the same responses – a smile, a feeling of happiness, and enjoyment of something beautiful. See for yourself at SlinkyLynnxChic.com.

The Herbalist - What Does an Herbalist Do?

I've been writing to you all for a few years now, sharing my love of herbs. I really enjoy discussing the world of Herbalism but I've never filled you in on what an Herbalist actually does.

There are many roles for those of us who have delved into the world of plant medicine for a variety of reasons. Some explore the science and biology, some become growers and some become manufacturers. I have chosen to work as a clinical herbalist since most of my adult life I have worked with clients and patients in various settings. This is where I am most comfortable. I like to meet with clients in an effort to help others make changes and find ways to improve their health.

What I'd like to explain is what that looks like and what people can expect if they choose to visit an herbalist at some time.

Just like any medical visit, there are client questionnaires to fill out. You will answer questions about your health history, and that of your family. Eating habits, lifestyle choices, sleeping patterns, support systems and current physical issues that brought you to where you are. The questions go into a bit more depth than you may expect. Because Herbalists like to put together puzzles, we see patterns within your answers.

Next would be an office visit. I'm going to ask even more questions and find more patterns. This visit will probably be 60-90 minutes. I will look to see what kinds of changes you would be willing to make and try to encourage an approach that you are comfortable with. Are you willing to make dietary changes? Drink herbal tea? Add medicinal herbs to your cooking?

After the assessment I will write a treatment protocol that includes lifestyle, dietary and herbal suggestions. This takes about two hours on its own. As you can see, there is a lot of attention paid to the individual's constitution. Herbs don't work exactly the same in everyone so your protocol would be specific to you. Then we would meet again and I would present the protocol and suggestions as to where you can find the herbs and supplies. The client is in the driver's seat. Are you comfortable with the plan? Are there things you don't believe you could follow up with? Let the herbalist know so your plan can work for you.

Often there is also a follow up visit to evaluate the success of the plan. Do things need to be changed, eliminated or increased? This is all client driven because no matter how good the medicine is, it doesn't work unless it's being used.

I've always believed in the wonder of plant medicine and after my years in the medical and counseling profession I felt this was a natural transition for me. Herbalism isn't a substitute for good medical care but can work alongside it to provide optimum health.

Stay healthy out there!

BROKERS ARE BETTER!

On Facebook, there is a group I joined called “Brokers are Better.” It’s a great group to be able to learn how different Loan Officers and their services can be based on which company they work.

When it comes to getting a home loan, you may have heard me say that you don’t go to a “depository” to get a home loan. In brief, a depository takes your money (ie, in the form of deposits) and then uses that money to “make money”. They make money by offering a suite of products including credit cards, car loans, business loans, home loans, equipment loans; you get the picture. Not being an expert in any one financial product, most importantly home loans, is a disadvantage to the consumer. Enter the Mortgage Broker!

Why are Mortgage Broker’s better? For one, they have easy access to all types of loan programs including unconventional programs like bank statement and asset backed loans. If it’s real estate, they can most likely get you the loan or at least point you in the right direction. A bank on the other hand is motivated to sell you only what they offer. Because they have to yield the highest rate of return for their investors, they tend to charge higher than market rates & fees for their products. They “bank” on the relationship with their customer to drive sales and assume they won’t shop around.

Brokers are better because they can pick the mortgage lenders they want to deal with. No relationship with them is forced! If a lender fails to what is necessary to both their and the broker’s customers, they simply stop sending business to them. There is a universe of wholesale lenders for Brokers to choose from all of which the general public does not have access to. This is a huge benefit to the consumer for several reasons including keeping the cost of mortgages low and the ease of adding new lenders when market conditions change.

Brokers are better because they are independent owners and work for the consumer. They tend to work outside banking hours and provide a personalized experience during the home loan process. They are THE point of contact for nearly ALL communication throughout a transaction! You can think of them as the quarterback of the team. The coach may call the plays, but the quarter back is who conveys the play to the team.

Finally Brokers are better because often times they are local. Brokers tend to setup offices close to where they live, which makes them a perfect advocate for their clients. They understand local customs and can relate to the other professionals in the area (ie Real Estate Agents and Escrow Officers). Their license covers the entire State they chose to work.

AZ Medical Marijuana Program Over 10 Years in Action

ASK MA AT MJ CONSULTING LLC

Question: How does the Medical Marijuana Program work?

Answer: Voters approved a ballot initiative (prop 203) in 2010 to have a medical marijuana program. The initiative required the Arizona Legislators to write laws A.R.S. 36-2801 thru 2819, based on the wording in the initiative. Those laws authorize the Arizona Department of Health Services to write Rules R9-17-101 thru 323 to administer the program. AZDHS is the ONLY Arizona Dept. who can write rules and policy. Not DES, AZLTC, DDD, AHCCCS, MH, Housing Authority or any other social service program.

ARS 36-2813 (A) Discrimination prohibited: No School or Landlord may refuse to enroll or lease to, and may not otherwise penalize a person solely for his status as a cardholder...

ARS 26-2813 (B)...an employer may not discriminate against a person in hiring, termination, or imposing any terms or conditions including failing a drug test...

ARS 36-2805 (A) Any nursing care institution, hospice, assisted living center, assisted living facility, or adult foster care home, licensed under title 35, chapter 4, can write reasonable restrictions or write no restrictions for a registered medical marijuana patient use of their medicine.

ARS 36-2805 (C) A facility listed in subsection A may NOT unreasonably limit a registered qualifying patient's access to or use of marijuana authorized under this chapter.

These statutes do say unless failing to do so would cause the employer, landlord, or facility to lose funding or licensing benefits under Federal law.

There are no Federal Laws that manage a State's Medical Marijuana Program, no funding or licensing privileges have been lost, no funding for social services programs in any state, have ever been eliminated because of a medical marijuana patient authorized use, in 25 years.

This circle of protection for those participating in the Arizona Medical Marijuana Program do include protection for licensed: patients, caregivers, dispensary agents, lab technicians, and people who are around a patients' use of marijuana medicine, including a landlord and business property.

Likewise, a registered patient and caregiver do have responsibilities under AMMA =Arizona Medical Marijuana Act. They must have a valid card that is not expired, must report an address or name change within 10 days, report a lost or stolen card as soon as they are aware it is missing, have only 2.5 oz. of usable medicine, purchase no more than 2.5 oz. every 14 days, not drive if they are incapacitated, not sell marijuana although they can share with another registered patient, not grow more than 12 plants if authorized to cultivate, provide false information to the department or law enforcement to hide a crime, not use at work or in public places.

If you would like more information visit MJ Consulting LLC every Monday at 12:00 for a free class on, "I have my card, now what"? Our classes are designed to educate before you medicate. There is no marijuana on the property, so it is a safe place to come learn.

Adopt Today!

Dog of the Month

My name is Woody, I'm a 5-month-old Border Collie mix. I came into the rescue with my mom and 3 other siblings. All of my siblings and my mom have found their forever homes and now I'd love to find mine. I have all my age-appropriate shots, know how to use a dog door, and can take walks on my leash. I was also born with a lump on my chest, it has been tested and is not cancer. If you were to adopt me all of my approved medical, (if needed), associated with this would be covered by the rescue. We are still finding out if the lump can be or needs to be removed. This does not affect my behavior at all, I'm still all puppy. If you would like to meet me, please call the rescue to set up a time and day to come out. 928-925-7219. A home check is required before I can be adopted.

Cat of the Month

Rainbow is a very special cat who has worked hard her whole life in an important position of horse stable mouser. She is a 16 year old, beautiful, domestic long hair calico. She is ready for retirement in a quiet home as an only pet. She can be picked up and handled, she purrs and likes attention, but she isn't necessarily a lap-cat.

She has had recent blood work completed and the results were good. She has a bit of arthritis, but is otherwise very healthy. To prepare for this move she has learned to use a litter box and has discovered the luxury of a heated pad and is now an indoor only cat.

She is very sweet, but really gets stressed around other cats and dogs and in new situations. Being a long hair she requires a daily brushing to prevent hair mats. She also requires a dental which United Animal Friends will schedule and take care of. We are hoping to find her a loving home where she can spend her remaining years.

Rainbow is current on vaccinations, tested negative for FeLV/FIV/Heartworm and is spayed.

If you feel you are Rainbow's forever person, or if you have questions regarding Rainbow, please fill out the Cat Matchmaking Questionnaire which can be found online at www.UnitedAnimalFriends.org. Filling out this form does not obligate you to adopt. Or you can contact Kris at kristinegruda@gmail.com.
