REGIONAL GRANTS: <http://www.aetna-foundation.org/foundation/apply-for-a-grant/regional-grants/index.html>

(read more about Aetna Regional Grants in Regional Grants section)

The Aetna Foundation's mission is to promote wellness, health, and access to high-quality health care for everyone, while supporting the communities they serve.

To improve the quality and delivery of health services to everyone, and to drive improved health status for the American public, the health care system must be repaired. The Aetna Foundation seeks national and regional partners with the vision to make these goals a reality.

Types of Projects Aetna Seek to Support:

- Community-based nutrition education and exercise programs for children and families
- Efforts to increase the availability or affordability of fresh fruits and vegetables
- Programs that help families to select and prepare healthy foods on a limited budget
- Community gardening and urban farming activities
- Innovative approaches to making physical activity accessible, affordable and fun (e.g., digital solutions)

The Aetna Foundation's national grants support research, programs and policy analysis that have implications to improve people's health, wellness and access to high-quality health care across the United States.

Allen Foundation

WEBSITE: <http://www.allenfoundation.org>

Established in 1975 by agricultural chemist William Webster Allen and based in Midland, Michigan, the Allen Foundation makes grants to projects that benefit human nutrition in the areas of education, training, and research.

The Allen Foundation gives preference to proposals that train children and young adults to improve their health and development so that they can form good nutritional habits at an early age. Proposals will need to contain a nutritional focus, such as building a playground as part of a health and nutrition program to teach healthy lifestyles to children.

Preference may be given to proposals that include matching funds from the institution or other partners including in-kind contributions.

Allstate Foundation Grants

WEBSITE: <http://www.allstatefoundation.org/>

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.allstatefoundation.org/grant-focus-areas>

Since 1952, Allstate Foundation has invested more than $275 million in funding in communities across the country to address key social issues.

Grantmaking priorities fall into three categories:

1. Safe and Vital Communities. The Allstate Foundation is dedicated to fostering safe and vital communities where people live, work and raise families.

Funding priorities are:

- Teen Safe Driving: helping to save young lives and instill a lifetime of safe driving attitudes and behaviors.
- Catastrophe response: rebuilding lives after a natural disaster strikes.
- Neighborhood revitalization: nurturing safe, strong, and healthy communities.

2. Economic Empowerment and Tolerance. The Foundation is committed to empowering Americans with the economic resources and knowledge they need to make informed decisions about their financial future.

Funding priorities are:

Domestic Violence: helping survivors live free and stay free from violence by building their financial security.

Financial and economic literacy: building a more secure financial future for Americans.

3. Tolerance, Inclusion, and Diversity. The Allstate Foundation believes that in order for a community to be strong, it has to recognize and value all of its members. That's why they are committed to programs that bring tolerance, inclusion, and value to people of all backgrounds regardless of ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender, age or physical challenges.

Funding priorities are:

Teaching tolerance to youth: fostering a generation free of bias and intolerance.

Alleviating discrimination: encouraging communities to be free of prejudice.

The Annie E. Casey Foundation

WEBSITE: <http://www.aecf.org/>

GRANT AMOUNT: average grant amount - $112,000

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.aecf.org/about/grant-making/>

Founded in 1948, the primary mission of the Annie E. Casey Foundation is to foster public policies, human-service reforms, and community supports that more effectively meet the needs of today's vulnerable children and families. In pursuit of this goal, the Foundation makes grants that help states, cities, and neighborhoods fashion more innovative, cost-effective responses to these needs. They do not fund many unsolicited requests.

The Annie E. Casey Foundation is limited to initiatives in the United States that have significant potential to demonstrate innovative policy, service delivery and community supports for disadvantaged children and families. The Foundation's approach to grant making focuses on commitments that enable them to invest in long-term strategies and partnerships that strengthen families and communities. The Foundation invites grantees to participate in these projects.

In 2013, the Annie E. Casey Foundation provided grants to nonprofit organizations in 50 states, the District of Columbia, Puerto Rico and the U.S. Virgin Islands.

The Kresge Foundation

WEBSITE: <http://www.kresge.org/>

DEADLINE: Rolling

GRANT AMOUNT: $150,000-$600,000

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://kresge.org/grants-social-investments>

The Kresge Foundation is a U.S. philanthropic private foundation headquartered in Troy, Michigan. The foundation works to expand opportunities in America's cities through grantmaking and investing in arts and culture, education, environment, health, human services and community development efforts in Detroit.

In 2013, the foundation's Board of Trustees approved 316 awards totaling $122 million; $128 million was paid out to grantees over the course of the year. Kresge's Social Investment Practice made another $17.7 million available to organizations whose efforts support foundation goals through program-related investments.

Kresge has practiced strategic philanthropy since completing a historic transition that began in 2007. Long known for its exclusive use of the challenge grant to help local communities raise funds for major construction and renovation projects, it now employs an array of funding methods to address and advance a set of narrowly defined programmatic objectives. It awards grants and makes program-related investments. Some grants are awarded for a single year; others are for multiple years. Some of its programs accept applications on an ongoing basis. Others proactively invite or solicit applications.

- Youth Summer Camp: Since 2004, MWYF has hosted “Camp Northbound,” a one-week, recreational, summer camp in Bridgestone, ME. The camp serves 150 youth each year from Boston’s inner city communities. The camp also engages alumni campers by hiring them as junior counselors for the week.
- Afterschool Programs: MWYF provides grants to Boys & Girls Clubs and other after school programs across the country. Annually, MWYF hosts a holiday party and gift giveaway for more than 250 underserved youth. Other partners include Reach Back L.A., an educational program in South Central L.A. that was recently awarded an MWYF grant toward a new youth center.
- School Support: MWYF is committed to giving inner city kids equal access to education and provides grants to support school computer labs and educational scholarships. One of its recent partners include the Dorchester Alternative Youth Academy, which serves teens who are discharged from traditional school settings and need help functioning successfully in school.
- Graduate to Go Campaign: MWYF has joined the Taco Bell Foundation for Teens to support Graduate to Go, a long-term initiative raising awareness and funds to combat America’s high school dropout crisis. This year, more than $4 million will be distributed to nearly 350 organizations to fund real world experiences that inspire teens to stay in school. The partnership also includes the launch of Graduate to Go Studios, state-of-the-art music and film studios built in Boys & Girls Clubs across the country.

Tony Hawk Foundation for Skate Park Grants

WEBSITE: <http://tonyhawkfoundation.org/>
GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://tonyhawkfoundation.org/grant-application/>

The Tony Hawk Foundation seeks to foster lasting improvements in society, with an emphasis on supporting and empowering youth. Through special events, grants, and technical assistance, the Foundation supports recreational programs focusing on the creation of public skateboard parks in low-income communities, and other causes in the US and overseas. The Foundation favors programs that clearly demonstrate that funds received will produce tangible, ongoing, positive results.

The foundation primarily considers skatepark projects that:

- are designed and built from concrete by qualified and experienced skatepark contractors.
- include local skaters throughout the planning, fundraising, and design process.
- are in low-income areas and/or areas with a high population of “at-risk” youth.
- can demonstrate a strong grassroots commitment to the project, particularly in the form of fundraising by local skateboarders and other community groups.
- have a creative mix of street obstacles (rails, ledges, stairs, etc.) and transition/vert terrain (quarter-pipes, bowls, halfpipes, etc.)
- don’t require skaters or their parents to sign waivers.
- encourage skaters to look after their own safety and the safety of others without restricting their access to the park or over-regulating their use of it.
- are open during daylight hours, 365 days a year.
- don’t charge an entrance fee.
- are in areas that currently have no skateboarding facilities.

WalMart Foundation

In 2013, Walmart and the Walmart Foundation gave $1.3 billion in cash and in-kind contributions around the world, surpassing 2012's total by more than $244 million. Global in-kind donations accounted for $1 billion, while $316.3 million was given in cash globally.

Pillars of giving supported by Walmart and the Walmart Foundation

The Walmart Foundation meets the needs of the underserved by directing charitable giving toward core areas of focus:

- Hunger Relief & Healthy Eating
- Sustainability
- Women's Economic Empowerment and Career Opportunity.

W.K. Kellogg Foundation

WEBSITE: <http://www.wkkf.org/>

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.wkkf.org/what-we-do/overview>

The W.K. Kellogg Foundation (WKKF) places the optimal development of children at the center.

Concentrating its resources on early childhood (prenatal to age 8), within the context of families and communities, this foundation offers the best opportunity to dramatically reduce the vulnerability caused by poverty and racial inequity over time.

There is strong evidence that optimal child development means providing children with the stimulus, tools and support necessary for their emotional, intellectual, physical and cultural growth. To achieve this, W.K. Kellogg Foundation organizes its work and investments toward attaining three strategic goals:

- Educated Kids: Increase the number of children who are reading-and-math proficient by third grade.
- Healthy Kids: Increase the number of children born at a healthy birth weight and who receive the care and healthy food they need for optimal development.
- Secure Families: Increase the number of children and families living at least 200 percent above the poverty level.
- Community & Civic Engagement
- Racial Equity

Kellogg Foundation takes a place-based approach to their work, concentrating as much as two-thirds of their grantmaking in a limited number of specific places where they believe they can have maximum impact.

Women's Sports Foundation

WEBSITE: <http://www.womenssportsfoundation.org/>

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.womenssportsfoundation.org/home/programs/grants>

Founded in 1974 by tennis legend, Billie Jean King, the Women's Sports Foundation is dedicated to advancing the lives of girls and women through sports and physical activity.

Behind every Women's Sports Foundation grant lies one concrete objective: provide girls access to sport and physical activity despite background or financial ability. Grants are awarded to girl-serving organizations who strives to provide diverse, underserved populations of girls ages 8 to 18 with a way to get involved in sport and physical activity.

GOVERNMENT GRANTS

Community Development Block Grant Program

WEBSITE: <http://www.hud.gov/offices/cpd/communitydevelopment/programs>

The Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program is a flexible program that provides communities with resources to address a wide range of unique community development needs. Beginning in 1974, the CDBG program is one of the longest continuously run programs at HUD. The CDBG program provides annual grants on a formula basis to 1180 general units of local government and States.

HUD determines the amount of each grant by using a formula comprised of several measures of community need, including the extent of poverty, population, housing overcrowding, age of housing, and population growth lag in relationship to other metropolitan areas.

Community Facility Loans Grants United States Department of Agriculture Rural Development

WEBSITE: www.rurdev.usda.gov

GRANT AMOUNT: up to 75% of project costs

INFORMATION ON GRANTS: <http://www.rurdev.usda.gov/ProgramsAndOpportunities.html>

COMMUNITY FACILITY GRANTS http://www.rurdev.usda.gov/HAD-CF_Grants.html

Community Facility Grants, administered by the United States Department of Agriculture, are given to rural communities with populations of 20,000 residents or fewer. Smaller communities with lower income levels will receive a higher percentage of the grants. Eligible applicants include local governmental bodies, nonprofit organizations and tribal governments. Eligible activities include new construction, improvements of existing facilities or the expansion of facilities, and eligible facilities include those that will be used for health care, the community and safety. Equipment may also be purchased using grant funds. Grant amounts will depend upon the median household income for the area and the total population where the facility will be located.

USDA Rural Development has a $181.1 billion portfolio of loans and will administer $38 billion in loans, loan guarantees and grants through our programs in the current fiscal year.

Fund Uses: Grant funds may be used to assist in the development of essential community facilities. Grant funds can be used to construct, enlarge, or improve community facilities for health care, public safety, and community and public services. This can include the purchase of equipment required for a facility's operation. A grant may be made in combination with other CF financial assistance such as a direct or guaranteed loan, applicant contributions, or loans and grants from other sources.

The Community Facilities Grant Program is typically used to fund projects under special initiatives, such as Native American community development efforts; child care centers linked with the Federal government's Welfare-to-Work initiative; Federally-designated Enterprise and Champion Communities, and the Northwest Economic Adjustment Initiative area.

Department for Natural Resources

Division of Technical & Administrative Support for Grants

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.arc.gov/grants>

Grant program for Appalachian Communities.

The Appalachian Regional Commission awards grants and contracts from funds appropriated to the Commission annually by Congress. Program grants are awarded to state and local agencies and governmental entities (such as economic development authorities), local governing boards (such as county councils), and nonprofit organizations (such as schools and organizations that build low-cost housing).

Contracts are awarded for research on topics that directly impact economic development in the Appalachian Region.

The Appalachian Regional Commission's programs address:

- 1) Increase job opportunities and per capita income in Appalachia to reach parity with the nation;
- 2) Strengthen the capacity of the people of Appalachia to compete in the global economy;
- 3) Develop and improve Appalachia's infrastructure to make the Region economically competitive;
- 4) Build the Appalachian Development Highway System to reduce Appalachia's isolation.

Each year ARC provides funding for several hundred projects in the Appalachian Region in a wide range of program areas:

- asset-based development;
- community infrastructure;
- education and training;
- energy;
- entrepreneurship and business development;
- export and trade development;
- health;
- leadership development and capacity building;
- telecommunications;
- tourism development; and
- transportation and highways.

Special resources are targeted to the most economically distressed counties. The projects funded in these program areas create thousands of new jobs; improve local water and sewer systems; increase school readiness; expand access to health care; assist local communities with strategic planning; and provide technical and managerial assistance to emerging businesses.

Land and Water Conservation Fund

WEBSITE: <http://lwcfcoalition.org/>

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.nps.gov/ncrc/programs/lwcf/grants.html>

The Land and Water Conservation Fund (LWCF) is a Federal program that was established by Act of Congress in 1965 to provide funds and matching grants to federal, state and local governments for the acquisition of land and water, and easements on land and water, for the benefit of all Americans.

The main emphases of the fund are recreation and the protection of national natural treasures in the forms of parks and protected forest and wildlife areas. The LWCF has a broad-based coalition of support and oversight, including the National Parks Conservation Association, Environment America, The Wilderness Society, the Land Trust Alliance, and The Nature Conservancy.

The program is divided into two distinct funding pools: state grants and federal acquisition funds. The distribution formula takes into account population density and other factors.

State Assistance Program

The LWCF state assistance program provides matching grants to help states and local communities protect parks and recreation resources. Running the gamut from wilderness to trails and neighborhood playgrounds, LWCF funding has benefited nearly every county in America, supporting over 41,000 projects. This 50:50 matching program is the primary federal investment tool to ensure that families have easy access to parks and open space, hiking and riding trails, and neighborhood recreation facilities.

Regional Grants: <http://www.aetna-foundation.org/foundation/apply-for-a-grant/regional-grants/index.html>

National Grants: <http://www.aetna-foundation.org/foundation/apply-for-a-grant/national-grants/index.html> (read more about Aetna National Grants in National Grants section)

The Aetna Foundation's mission is to promote wellness, health, and access to high-quality health care for everyone, while supporting the communities they serve.

To improve the quality and delivery of health services to everyone, and to drive improved health status for the American public, the health care system must be repaired. The Aetna Foundation seeks national and regional partners with the vision to make these goals a reality.

The Aetna Foundation Regional Grants Program – GoLocal: Cultivating Healthy Communities – funds community wellness initiatives aligned with their Healthy Eating and Active Living focus area in the designated funding locations. Grants will support local initiatives that promote eating fresh fruits and vegetables and being physically active, which can help to prevent obesity and many chronic health conditions. Grants will target underserved, low-income and minority communities where healthy food can be difficult to buy, and where social and environmental factors may limit people's ability to be physically active.

The PNC Charitable Trust Grant Review Committee serves over one-hundred and fifty perpetual charitable trusts and private foundations for which PNC is trustee. The Committee distributes grants from these charitable trusts to worthy 501(c)(3) non-profit organizations at local and regional levels.

Grantmaking Priorities:

- Organizations that are direct providers of services, with projects and programs that meet our donors' intent.
- Programs in communities where donors lived and/or engaged in their grantmaking activities.
- Applicant demonstrates a capacity to meet the stated objectives of the request; and those objectives are clearly articulated and measurable.
- The critical nature of the need being addressed by the proposed program.
- Organizations with strong leadership, diversified income streams, and long-term sustainability that have demonstrated efficiencies in delivering their services.

The PeyBack Foundation

WEBSITE: <http://www.peytonmanning.com/>

DEADLINE: February 15, 2015

ELIGIBLE STATES: Colorado, Indiana, Louisiana, and Tennessee.

GRANT GUIDELINES: <http://www.peytonmanning.com/peyback-foundation/grants>

Denver Broncos Quarterback Peyton Manning established the PeyBack Foundation in 1999 to promote the future success of disadvantaged youth by assisting programs that provide leadership and growth opportunities for children at risk. The PeyBack Foundation has provided more than $10 million of impact to at risk youth through its grants and programs since its inception to Colorado, Indiana, Louisiana and Tennessee.

The PeyBack Foundation focuses primarily on economically disadvantaged youth. Emphasis is placed on programs that have a direct benefit to children through relationships and activities. Programs that are intended to enrich the lives of disadvantaged youth through activities conducted outside the typical school day (i.e., after-school and summer programming) are particularly favored by the Foundation.

Field of interest is in youth development:

Leadership and Life Skills - interactive programs that develop leadership skills and enhance character.

The PeyBack Foundation (continue)

Mentoring – programs that provide a caring adult who is working with disadvantaged youth.

After School/Summer Programming – The Foundation is especially interested in supporting programs that occur outside of a typical school day; i.e. after-school and summer programming.

Healthy Living – programs that engage youth in physical activity and provide nutritious snacks and/or meals for youth participants.
