A+ Teachers, div. of Abel Personnel

A+ Teachers, a division of Abel Personnel, Inc., was established in 2007. For 13 years, A+ Teachers has been dedicated to creating a division which emphasizes supporting various school districts by providing them with top quality substitute teachers. A+ Teachers focuses on meeting the staffing needs for school districts of southcentral Pennsylvania by providing substitute teacher services, as well as the recruitment for full time and part time teachers, para-educators, nurses, and other personnel required by school systems.

Type of School District: Private

Demographic Area: Urban

Full Time, Substitute/Per Diem and Long Term: We are continually seeking and recruiting Pennsylvania certified teachers for all disciplines and grade levels to serve as substitute, long term, and permanent teachers in Dauphin and Schuylkill Counties. As a part of the A+ Teachers team, substitute teachers provide support to the students, teachers, and school districts, all while building their classroom management skills, and creating a safe and fun learning environment for the students. Being an employee of A+ Teachers enables our candidates to demonstrate their teaching abilities to potential employers and provides them with a variety of classroom experiences. A Pennsylvania teacher certification is required and our program includes clearance reimbursement incentives. Healthcare is available.

Camelot Education

Camelot Education is deeply committed to the academic achievement, social, and life success of our nation's most underserved students. With our social emotional learning-centered school design model, our work focuses on helping school districts support students who are grappling with the effects of extreme poverty, trauma, and insecurity. Often these students struggle to engage successfully in school or have already disengaged from the educational process. Camelot's services include a full range of solutions tailored to the varying needs of our district partners. Our solutions include setting up and running high-performing schools for our district partners, setting up and running classrooms or programs embedded in the district's existing schools, embedding key staff to help districts address acute challenges, and providing comprehensive professional learning solutions to help the district's existing staff develop a stronger school culture of connection, belonging, engagement, and academic achievement for their most challenged students.

Eastern Lancaster County School District

Eastern Lancaster County School District is a moderately-sized rural school district with suburban and urban influences. We recognize that our beliefs, our values, and all that make us a unique community is, in fact, a part of the larger global community. As such, we are keenly aware that "school" cannot look or feel like the schools that many of us experienced only a decade ago. The tradition "silo" paths to successful futures are blending creating combinations of the more traditional formal post-secondary experiences with micro-credentialing and niche certifications. A myriad of entirely new and unique educational paths to successful family thriving careers are emerging as the rapidly changing world economy evolves. Our graduates must be "global ready" so they can successfully participate in this economy and act responsibly with insight regarding the politics, cultural, and social issues of our time and of our future. Finally, we recognize that exponential technological advances and prolific access to information, fundamentally changes the purpose of "school" as it has been the last century. Our learners must be engaged far more often in higher levels of thinking, not yet mastered by artificial intelligence and our learners more often must be the authors of their own original ideas and concepts in our classrooms.

Easterseals of Southeastern Pennsylvania

Celebrating its 100th year this year, Easterseals has been helping people with disabilities gain greater independence. Our mission is to provide exceptional services to ensure that all people with disabilities or special needs and their families have equal opportunities to live, learn, work, and play in their communities. Easterseals of Southeastern Pennsylvania services include approved private school, special classrooms, summer programs, assistive technology, early intervention programs, and various outpatient speech, physical, and occupational therapy programs. Children who receive these services are challenged with a variety of disabilities including autism, cerebral palsy, downs syndrome, spina bifida, and physical and developmental delays. We strive to hire those who are passionate about the pediatric special needs population, have strong communications skills, enjoy a team environment, and want to make a difference in the lives of those they assist. Funding for programs and services comes from a variety of sources. Over $1 million of our annual operating budget comes from charitable contributions with support coming from corporate and foundation grants, individual gifts, and special events. Our locations include Philadelphia,

Frederick County Public Schools

Frederick County Public Schools (FCPS) is a successful school system in a diverse and growing community. Frederick County bridges rural, suburban, and urban lifestyles near both the Washington DC and Baltimore metropolitan communities. Enrollment for 2017 was 42,204 students, an increase of 826 students over the year before. Frederick County is home to 67 schools, including 37 elementary schools, 13 middle schools, ten high schools, three public charter schools, an alternative school, a special education school, flexible evening high school, and a career and technology center. Plans are underway to add one more elementary school next year. We balance top-rate academics with the personal, caring, and individual attention you would expect in a small town community. In FCPS, we understand that the children we educate today will be the adults caring for our community's health, homes, businesses, and neighborhoods tomorrow. Frederick County's investment in public education is an investment in our future.

Hamburg Area School District

Hamburg Area School District works to make a lasting difference through mission work in public education. At Hamburg Area School District, we are evolving to meet the current reality of the learners we are charged with serving. We acknowledge that the world has changed, and that our kids require a very different kind of education than merely following the well-worn path of standardized testing. We place our compelling purpose at the forefront of all we do. Our compelling purpose is to ensure that all children, without exception, find that place where their talents and passions come together. Doing so gives every student his or her best chance to make meaningful contributions to the world and to live a life of significance and meaning.

Hamburg Area School District offers a unique, future-focused learning environment where teachers are encouraged to share their ideas and develop their own talents in support of its approach to learning. Our staff are our most valuable contributors. We seek educational leaders who bring positivity and enthusiasm to our culture, and who desire to be part of an educational system that engages learners meaningfully and prepares them to meet the challenges and opportunities of the future!

We are a small, rural school district with a lot to offer! Our district is comprised of four buildings, including two elementary schools, one middle school, and one high school. We employ approximately 325 staff and support just over 2,100 students. Nestled in the rolling hills of Berks County, Hamburg is a rural community offering a small hometown look and feel with many conveniences typical of an urban setting. Hamburg's beautiful, rural landscape offers access to nearby attractions such as hiking the Appalachian Trail, biking the Schuylkill River Trail, or sightseeing at Hawk Mountain Sanctuary. Situated just off I-78, Hamburg's convenient location offers quick and easy access to the city life, given its central location to Philadelphia, King of Prussia, Reading, Allentown, Harrisburg, and more.

Indian River School District

Indian River School District (IRSD), located in southeastern Sussex County, is one of the largest school districts in the state of Delaware. Formed in 1969 by the consolidation of several smaller districts, Indian River School District serves the towns of Selbyville, Frankford, Dagsboro, Fenwick Island, Bethany Beach, Ocean View, Millville, Clarksville, Gumboro, Millsboro, and Georgetown. IRSD's encompassing area based on enrollment, Indian River is the fifth largest of the state's 19 school districts. Geographically, it is the largest non-technical school district in Delaware, covering more than 365 square miles. A ten-member elected Board of Education serves as the main governing body.

The district consists of seven elementary schools, three middle schools, two high schools, two special schools, a kindergarten center, an arts magnet school, and an outdoor education center. Its schools serve over 11,000 students and its workforce is among the largest in the state. The district has nearly 900 teachers and 180 para-professionals. Indian River School District has nine National Blue Ribbon School awards and five National Distinguished Title I Schools. Its students annually achieve some of the state's highest test scores. In 2012, Susan Bunting was one of four finalists for the National Superintendent of the Year Award sponsored by the American Association of School Administrators. These accomplishments, along with 22 state Superstars in Education awards and numerous other accolades, make Indian River one of the finest public school districts in the state of Delaware.

Lake Forest School District

Lake Forest School District, serving more than 3,800 students, is located in southern Kent County, Delaware, 15 miles south of Dover. Its western boundary is the state of Maryland, and its eastern boundary is the Delaware Bay. It includes the towns of Bowers, Felton, Frederica, Harrington, and Viola. The name, Lake Forest, is derived from the several lakes and the large amount of forest in the area. It also relates to a forested state park containing a lake that adjoins the high school property. The metropolitan centers of Baltimore, Washington, Wilmington, and Philadelphia are two hours or less away. Less than one hour away is the resort areas of Rehoboth Beach, Bethany Beach, and Ocean City, Maryland. The "Big Apple," New York City, is less than four hours away.

Lake Forest is organized on an elementary, middle school, and high school concept. There are three elementary schools (grades K-3), one elementary school (grades 4-5), one middle school (grades 6-8), and one high school (grades 9-12). Recent additions and/or renovations have occurred at our schools. The high school additions include a performing arts wing, and a strength and conditioning center. The high school also participates in the 1:1 Technology Initiative Program designed to make technology a more integral part of the classroom. Students from our high school have been awarded scholarships to Ivy League schools and have received numerous extracurricular achievement awards in FFA, BPA, and other clubs. Three of our six schools were recognized in 2016 for closing the student achievement gap. Lake Forest North was nationally recognized as a Title I school in 2016, and Lake Forest East was recognized in 2015. The personnel of the school district are progressive and dedicated to the total education of our children. We are

Mastery Charter Schools

Mastery Charter Schools is a nonprofit network of more than 24 schools serving over 14,000 students in Philadelphia and Camden. We are the largest turnaround school operator in the nation and have been lauded by President Obama and the US Department of Education for our ability to dramatically boost academic achievement in historically low-performing schools. We believe educational inequity is the most pressing social problem facing our country and the civil rights issue of our day. Mastery exists to help solve this problem. Our ultimate goal is to create a model urban school district that serves all students with excellence. We are organized around one driving mission: all students learn the academic and personal skills they need to be truly prepared for postsecondary success and able to pursue their dreams. To fulfill this mission, we attend to the whole child – academically and emotionally – matching high expectations for students with high levels of support.

New Hope-Solebury School District

New Hope-Solebury School District, formed in 1942, is composed of New Hope Borough and Solebury Township in the eastern part of Bucks County, along the scenic Delaware River. The rural countryside in Solebury Township, with a population of about 8,692, is dotted with historic stone farmhouses, small picturesque villages with clusters of vintage buildings and small developments of newer homes. The village of New Hope, which is a little more than one square mile in size with a population of about 2,528, is a pre-Revolutionary town perched on the banks of the Delaware. It boasts a commercial downtown area with a variety of small shops, boutiques, art galleries, restaurants, and antique emporiums attractive to tourists. The two communities have been well known for years as a center for the arts, with many painters, sculptors, writers, musicians, and other artists making New Hope and Solebury their homes. The area is primarily residential with a large portion of its residents, commuting for work to Philadelphia, New York, and the Princeton areas. Many area residents, however, are engaged in commercial and service trades or professions, with a large number self-employed in small shops, businesses, and the arts. The communities of New Hope and Solebury offer a number of cultural, religious, and athletic opportunities for families and individuals.

Polk County Public Schools

Polk County Public Schools' history stretches back more than 150 years, to a time when students studied in one room schoolhouses and the school calendar was built around the strawberry harvest. The Polk County Board of Public Instruction, which later became the Polk County School Board, was formed in 1869. By the turn of the century, the school district had grown to over 80 schools – and the growth hasn't stopped. Today, Polk County Public Schools are one of the largest school districts in the nation, encompassing more than 150 schools and serving more than 100,000 students through both traditional K-12 schools and a variety of other programs. While expanding its physical footprint, Polk County Public Schools have also built a reputation for educational excellence, as evidenced by its more than 20 nationally accredited workforce academies, five Florida Arts Model Schools, and rising number of schools offering Advanced Placement and Cambridge International programs. In 2018, Polk County Public Schools garnered national attention for becoming one of the first districts to launch a school safety guardian program. Developed in conjunction with the Polk County Sheriff's Office, the guardian program ensures every campus has either an armed school district employee or law enforcement officer on site. As it grows and innovates, Polk County Public Schools remain true to its mission of delivering a high-quality education to every student ... because at Polk County Public Schools, students always come first.

St. Coletta of Greater Washington

St. Coletta of Greater Washington is a non-profit organization, which serves children and adults with intellectual disabilities, autism, or multiple disabilities. Our special education school serves students ages 3-22 years old. Each student has an Individualized Education Plan (IEP), and in addition to participating in classroom activities, is able to receive various forms of therapy on campus. Our core program includes: functional academics, skills of daily living, community based instruction, adaptive physical education, arts education, computer skills, and vocational training. The school is located in Washington DC, and community based instruction is an important part of the programming, as are activities focused on teaching vocational and life skills. Our adult programs offers adults ages 18 and older opportunities to participate in vocational / pre-vocational training, supported employment, life skills training, and community integration in order to achieve greater independence.

Type of School District: Public

Demographic Area: Urban

Full Time: We are recruiting special education teachers who, under general supervision of the special education coordinator, are responsible for teaching and supervising a class of special needs students utilizing various techniques to promote learning. Duties include: planning, organizing, implementing, monitoring, and evaluating class activities, developing IEPs, and working with assigned staff, therapists, and students to achieve the IEP goals and objectives. The candidate is responsible for supervising assigned students and classroom staff insuring that students and staff are compliant with all school policies and procedures. This position requires close supervision of students. The ability to keep up with running children and/or to lift or assist with lifting students is essential to perform this task. An important aspect of the job is gaining knowledge of and implementing the assigned student's IEP goals and objectives as well as ensuring accurate data collection and documentation of same.

Let Your Creativity Shine at Hamburg Area School District!

At Hamburg Area School District, we are evolving to meet the current reality of the learners we are charged with serving. We acknowledge that the world has changed and that our kids require a very different kind of education than merely following the well-worn path of standardized testing.

What Makes Hamburg Area School District Unique? We place our Compelling Purpose at the forefront of all we do. Our compelling purpose is to ensure that all children, without exception, find that place where their talents and passions come together. Doing so gives every student his or her best chance to make meaningful contributions to the world and to live a life of significance and meaning.

How Does Our Compelling Purpose Support Learners? Our faculty are preparing students to thrive in an evolving and unpredictable job market by helping them discover for themselves: the things they are great at doing, the things they love to do, and how to connect with others on a human level. In short, we are preparing meaningful contributors for the 21st century.

How Does Our Compelling Purpose Support Faculty? To prepare learners for a variety of life roles, we must educate the whole child. At Hamburg, we take pride in cultivating habits of mind by offering a comprehensive liberal arts education and encouraging our learners to further explore areas of interest. Faculty are encouraged to foster a holistic learning environment through support of unique and effective classroom practices like active learning spaces, where seating configuration and styles may be customized to facilitate an optimum learning experience. Additionally, our faculty are encouraged to become designers of learning through customized learning practices. Whether that means a class trip to a water treatment facility to understand how rainwater is turned into drinking water, or a trip to the World War II battlefield using Virtual Reality technology, teachers are no longer confined to teaching within the constraints of four walls.

Why Pursue a Career at Hamburg Area School District? Hamburg Area School District offers a unique, future-focused learning environment where teachers are encouraged to share their ideas and develop their own talents in support of its approach to learning. Our staff are our most valuable contributors. We seek educational leaders who bring positivity and enthusiasm to our culture, and who desire to be part of an educational system that engages learners meaningfully and prepares them to meet the challenges and opportunities of the future!
