Personal project

Lazaretto

Reflecting my own contemplation of the white desert in Egypt.

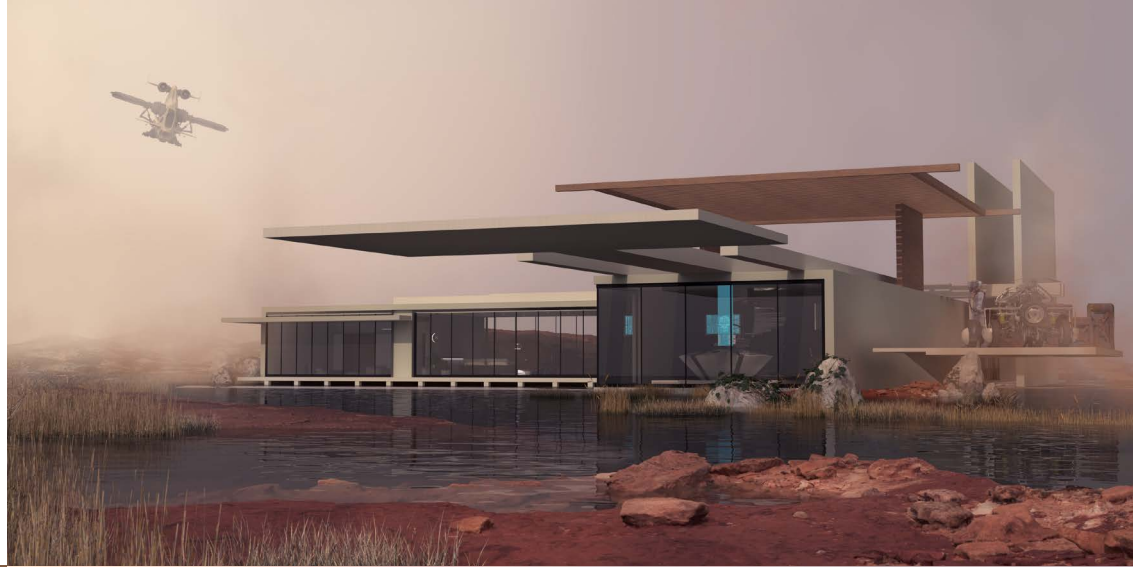

Quarantine, confinement, people has given it many names we call it ——— "Lazaretto"

Context:

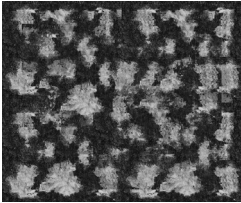

It's 2089, White desert, Egypt.

A plague that came upon the world, cities were all destroyed from a survival war.

The son of a Bedouin Sheikh developed this home to survive what has become of the world.

SKETCHES

Commercial work

Building plots 8,9,10,11

Visualization

The project is designed by Architects Anais and Laila, located in el Sherouk city.

They wanted a more sketchy approach to show their design rather than the hyper-realistic renders.

Academic work
Zafarana feild research station

A research center located in Hurghada, Egypt, the design was inspired from how sand particles evolve and adapt with different materials. leaving traces behind to create different shapes.
