Welcome to Carol Leigh's Specialties & Hillcreek Fiber Studio

Greetings Fiber Friends

2015 celebrates our 33rd year in business. Carol Leigh's Specialties was founded in 1982 primarily as a custom weaving, spinning and natural dyeing business. As a result of increasing inquiries of "How and where can I learn to do that?," Hillcreek Fiber Studio was added in 1986 to provide workshops, tools, books, and supplies for the growing number of weavers, spinners and natural dyers. In recent years, we've combined the names into Carol Leigh's HILLCREEK FIBER STUDIO.

Our business is family owned and operated, founded originally by myself with continuous support and assistance from my husband, Dennis Kaiser. Denny joined us full-time in 1998, following 25 years as Manager and Comptroller of one of Mid-Missouri's largest contractor equipment sales/rental agencies. His forte is in providing quality customer service. He finishes our various frame looms, ships orders, does the accounting, prepares a hot lunch for workshops, demonstrates triangle weaving, and more. I received my Masters in textiles and have taught weaving, spinning, and natural dyeing around the country. Son Carl Spriggs is a gifted woodworker who was instrumental in developing our patented adjustable triangle loom. He continues to build the Tri-Looms, and now our adjustable square and rectangle looms, as well as Navajo looms, sturdy inkle looms, maru dai, and many of our other spinning and weaving tools. Carl also is the official bobbin maker for the old Reeves spinning wheels no longer in production. After teaching Middle school Science, daughter Rebecca (Bex) Oliger joined us in 1999 as our Sales Manager and Merchandiser. After developing the knitting part of our business, she founded two knitting businesses in town. As of July 2014 she now owns Hillcreek Yarn Shoppe, which she originally founded in 2002, where she carries knitting, weaving, spinning and dyeing supplies. She specializes in teaching beginning through advanced knitting classes and in creating new knitting patterns. Daughter Rose grew up in the family business and has assisted her Mom and sister teaching weaving, spinning and knitting classes. She is a Photo Journalism graduate from the U of Missouri. Following producing the photography, photo-editing and lay out for the 164 color pages in my book, Continuous Strand Weaving Method, she moved with her husband, William Martin, to Florida, where she is pursuing her professional Photography career under Rose E. Martin Photography. She is also producing the photography for my upcoming natural dye book: Nature Provides Dyes for Rainbows of Color. Phil Spriggs, Carl and Rebecca's Dad, is the computer specialist, record keeper, and publisher of our brochures, newsletters, catalogs and Website.

Hillcreek Fiber Studio is located three miles south of Columbia, Missouri, in the Little Bonne Femme Creek valley, looking out on woods, pastures and a state park. We offer private lessons in spinning, weaving (floor loom, Navajo, continuous strand, inkle), and natural dyeing. Bed and Breakfast at the Studio, and airport shuttle service from St. Louis and Kansas City, are available for fiber artists and students.

Our goal is to provide reliable, friendly service with natural, quality products at reasonable prices. We're small enough to provide you with the personal attention and assistance you deserve, yet large enough to offer one of the largest selections of yarns, natural dyes, weaving and spinning tools, equipment, and fiber-related books in the Midwest.

Naturally, Carol Leigh Brack-Kaiser

Continuous Strand Weaving Method

The Continuous Strand Weaving Method is a unique, magically-easy way of weaving whereby the warp and weft directions of the weave structure are created at the same time, with each loop woven and opened across the loom. This technique on the triangle frame loom purportedly dates back to the medieval time period, most likely a peasant way of weaving, as there are no extant records that I have found.

Over the years Hillcreek Fiber Studio has taken this basic concept and expanded it to include many weave structures and color-ways, including tartans (for which it seems this method of weaving on the triangle was made!)

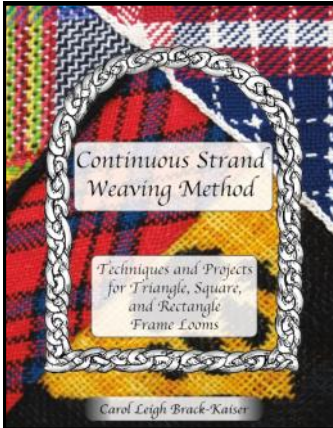

Due to customer inquiries and challenges, son Carl has developed a patented adjustable feature to the triangle, and has developed large adjustable square and rectangle frame looms as Carol Leigh has figured out how to apply the continuous strand concept to these shapes. Each increment on the adjustable square loom matches to the side of its equivalent size on the adjustable triangle. Carl has also developed a unique tripod stand which allows the looms to be held at various heights for comfort, and for its legs to open securely to a variety of foot prints, depending upon available floor space.

Also based on customer requests, we have developed travel sizes of each shape. Carl's mini stands for travel looms automatically securely clamp the loom to the stand when the legs are opened, for setting the loom on a table.

To protect the travel looms, and to keep projects together for convenience and portability, we have heavy cordura travel bags professionally made for the travel triangles and squares.

If you have never tried weaving — or even if you have — you'll be amazed at how easy it is to make fabric using this simple method. In fact, the more you weave, the more ideas will come to you for folding and/or assembling shapes, modular style, to make any article of clothing, accessory, textile for the home, or art piece you can imagine.

Over the years Hillcreek Fiber Studio has shipped our large looms to all 50 States and to several foreign countries. The concept of continuous strand weaving has become an international pastime. Maybe its time for you, too, to give it a whirl!

Techniques and Projects for Triangle,
Square, and Rectangle Frame Looms © 2011
A comprehensive book on a magical way of weaving, whereby the loom dresses itself during the weaving process.

Projects on triangle, square, and rectangle frame looms include simple scarves, shawls, ponchos, floor mats and table runners, to more advanced double-woven blankets, jackets, coats, and more. 468 Pages. Over 100 pages on various techniques, over 190 projects, 164 pages in color, and 175 illustrations. Book $64.00

Author and Illustrator, Carol Leigh Brack-Kaiser

Triangle looms are traditionally used for weaving warm shawls or fashionable body drapes. Basic weaving on the Triangle Frame Loom is a very simple process, excellent for someone who has never woven before, yet it can be challenging for the accomplished weaver through the use of imaginative color sequences, unusual yarns, advanced weaving techniques, or by combining two or more triangles of various sizes to create blankets, ponchos, jackets, wall pieces, and much more.

Unique aspects of using the Continuous Strand Weaving Method include:

No time is wasted measuring warp or dressing the loom - -The warp is laid one thread at a time as two wefts are woven in a loop and spread open across the loom.

It is fast and easy to weave - -An entire 7-foot piece may be woven in one day.

Great for showing off handspun or specialty yarns - - There are no heddles or reeds to abuse the yarns.

No bobbin or shuttle winding - - Weaving is done from a center-pull ball of yarn.

There is no "loom waste" - - Use only the amount of yarn needed. At the 7-foot setting the Adjustable Tri-loom uses only 550 yards, including a 9" fringe.

SPRIGGS ADJUSTABLE HEIGHT TRI-POD STAND

These sturdy stands are designed, with tapered pegs at four heights plus a groove in the top headpiece, to offer 5 settings on which to place the large Adjustable Tri, Square, or Rectangle looms. The lowest setting allows the weaver to sit while weaving. Also, a uniquely designed hingeing device, where the legs join the top, allow the legs to be spread to a variety of openings to provide a stable stand at smaller or larger foot-prints to accommodate available floor space.

Hillcreek Fiber Studio Two-foot and Three-foot TRAVEL TRI-LOOMS

When Harrisville company discontinued providing wool potholder loops for their traditional metal potholder looms, Carol Leigh bought out their remainder of wool loops and has ordered more several times. Wool Potholders make a lot of sense! Wool is fire retardant and much more insulative than other materials. Carol Leigh is now Nature-dyeing wool loops in 10 color ways and in dozens of individual colors. See page 24 for color samples.

NATURAL DYE KITS FOR NATURAL FIBERS

These Natural Dye Kits contain traditional dyes and mordants, and complete recipes to obtain a full spectrum of colors on natural fibers.

CAROL LEIGH'S SAMPLER NATURAL DYE KIT is designed for safe use around children and for the novice natural dyer wanting to sample natural dyeing. CAROL LEIGH'S COMPLETE NATURAL DYE KIT is for the dye enthusiast who wants to sample everything and/or who wants also to work with cotton and linen. The amounts given of fibers which can be dyed with the contents of each kit are understated. Many more pounds of lovely colors can be obtained by continuing to exhaust (use up) each dye bath.

These are the Traditional Dyes, the Ancient ones. The ones that have been used around the world for hundreds, or even, in some cases, thousands of years for their brilliance of color. These are the imported ones used during our colonial period. A few were grown in the United States for a while. Some, such as indigo and logwood have been used by the dye industry into the 1940's and 50's, many years after synthetic dyes were discovered in 1856. Cochineal continues to be used by the food and cosmetic industries as a red dye.

Natural dyes are currently enjoying a resurgence in popularity in the textile industry world wide. This may be a good time to get acquainted with them.

Carol Leigh's

HILLCREEK FIBER STUDIO

offers private lessons in Native Missouri Dyeplants every September and in Ancient Dyes every winter. Please contact Carol Leigh for more information: 573-874-2233
