

Entrematic launches heavy-duty commercial door

In January, Entrematic introduced the Amarr 2743 heavy-duty 3" polyurethane-insulated commercial door. The Amarr 2743 is designed for high energy efficiency, durability, and strength.

Its construction bonds the insulation to the steel skins, creating a 3"-thick monolithic panel that offers strength and energy efficiency. The section joint incorporates a combined bulb seal and HMA thermal break that creates a barrier against wind and weather, reducing thermal transfer.

The Amarr 2743 is offered in true white, sandtone, commercial gray, and commercial brown.

Overhead Door introduces Miami-Dade approved doors

In December, Overhead Door expanded its wind-load rated door products by introducing four commercial sectional steel garage doors. Models 421, 423, 427, and 429 were introduced to help protect the building envelope during extreme high-wind events.

Each door is tested to meet the strict wind-load requirements of Miami-Dade and Broward counties in Florida and approved for use in Florida's High Velocity Hurricane Zone (HVHZ).

The new doors are ideal for commercial applications requiring wind-load approval and offer a variety of features such as steel thickness, backing material, insulation, and impact-rated glazing. www.overheaddoor.com ■

Clopay announces QuietFlex hinge

In January, Clopay introduced QuietFlex, a hinge designed to be two times quieter than a standard metal hinge.

The new QuietFlex hinge is made of 14-gauge steel and features self-lubricating nylon bushings that help eliminate metal-to-metal contact, and reduce noise, binding, and daily wear and tear on the door.

The QuietFlex hinge is available as an upgrade on all Clopay residential garage door models, including WindCode. www.clopaydoor.com ■

Clopay introduces ebony finishes for residential doors

In January, Clopay introduced two new factory-finish stain colors, dark oak ebony and ebony wash, for its Reserve Wood and Classic Wood collections.

Clopay's ebony stain has a multi-dimensional look with a grain pattern and knots. It can skew rustic, modern, or traditional, depending on the wood species, door style, and finish chosen.

The difference between the two colors is the opacity. Dark oak ebony is a deep, rich stain with less visible grain. Ebony wash is more transparent.

There are nine standard stain colors now available: natural light, natural, cedar, teak, mahogany, butternut, dark oak, dark oak ebony, and ebony wash. www.clopay.com ■

Nortek launches three new accessories

In January, Nortek Security & Control released three new accessories for Linear's new LDCO850 and 852 garage door operators: the MTR1 and MTR3 transmitters and the LPWP wireless keypad.

The MTR3 is a three-channel visor transmitter that activates up to three operators. The MTR1 offers similar features but is designed for one operator receiver. Both transmitters can be programmed to more than a million different codes. Once a code is stored into memory, it is retained, even in a power outage.

The LPWKP is a wireless keypad designed to activate garage door operators. Features include backlit keys, auto-learn programming, and wall mounting options.

These new accessories are compatible with all Linear garage door operators, including Linear's LDCO850 and LDCO852.

LiftMaster extends rail sizes for overhead operator

In January, LiftMaster announced its HCTDCUL specialty overhead operator is now available with 14' and 16' rails that can accommodate up to 1,000-lb. doors and gates.

The HCTDCUL is ideal for high-traffic parking garages in multi-family residential applications. The extended rail size options make the HCTDCUL a perfect solution for commercial applications such as car dealerships, fire stations, and warehouses.

Additional HCTDCUL features include integrated battery backup, selectable speed control, real-time diagnostics, and smart access control. www.liftmaster.com ■

Clopay showcases new wood-look doors at 2019 IBS

In February, Clopay introduced two low-maintenance wood-look garage door collections at the 2019 International Builders' Show (IBS) in Las Vegas: the Canyon Ridge Louver Series and the Reserve Wood Collection Limited Edition Series with Extira.

The Canyon Ridge Louver Series is a collection of shutter-style garage doors available in 12 different designs. The doors are constructed with moisture-resistant woodgrain and can be factory-stained or painted in six colors, including black.

Additional door features include energy-efficient, 2"-thick-polyurethane-insulated steel core and built-in WindCode reinforcement for hurricane-prone regions.

The exterior-rated wood composite, Extira, is now a standard option on Clopay's Reserve Wood Collection Limited Edition Series paint-grade doors. Extira is made from eco-friendly materials and is moisture, rot, and termite resistant. www.clopay.com ■

Raynor adds Woodtones options

In June, Raynor added Distinct Finish Woodtones to their Aspen series doors. The new dual-direction Woodtones are offered in mocha and auburn and simulate the look of an authentic wood door on a steel door base. Oak woodgrain patterns run vertically and horizontally between the embossed panels with the rails to create a true woodgrain appearance. www.raynor.com ■

TNR enhances ChillFast freezer door

In October, TNR Doors released several improvements to its ChillFast high-performance freezer door. One key feature is the curtain retention system using TNR's Curtain Lok design. This reduces the door's wear and increases its resistance to blow-out.

Further upgrades to the door system's heating and insulation components were included to improve performance and reliability in the demanding freezer environments of the food distribution industry. www.tnrdoors.com ■

Raynor adds Coastal Package feature

In November, Raynor announced that a Coastal Package option is available for their insulated and non-insulated rolling steel flat slat doors. The new Coastal Package is designed to withstand environments that lead to seaside corrosion by incorporating corrosion-resistant features. www.raynor.com ■

BEA updates laser scanner

BEA announced that its LZR-H100 sensor is now housed in a NEMA 4 rated enclosure. The laser-based sensor is designed for gate and barrier applications and offers a non-contact solution to induction loops in applications with pedestrian traffic.

The LZR-H100 is ideal in environments where cutting into the ground is inconvenient, restricted, or expensive. The sensor has two relays for detecting motion or pedestrian presence of up to 32' by 32". It also provides flexible configurations such as opening an operator arm or triggering a warning indication device. www.beainc.com

Raynor adds panel option

In November, Raynor launched a colonial recessed grooved panel option for its BuildMark and TradeMark product lines. The new RCG panel design is similar to the colonial recessed grooved panel design available on the Aspen series doors. The new option is ideal for homeowners interested in a high-definition, carriage-style appearance.

Entrematic adds medium-duty sectional door

In January, Entrematic introduced the Amarr 3040 medium-duty 1" polyurethane-insulated commercial sectional door.

Its construction bonds the insulation to the steel skins, which creates a strong monolithic panel that has strength and insulation values comparable to polystyrene doors that are twice as thick.

The Amarr 3040 is available in true white, sandtone, commercial gray, and commercial brown.
