

INANIWA YOSUKE

稲庭養助

What is Inaniwa Udon ??

The production of Inaniwa udon requires careful selection of ingredients and human effort, so they cannot be made in large quantities.

Because of that, the majority of people did not have a chance to eat them back in the old days.

In fact, it was only after the Meiji era that udon became known as the local specialty of Akita prefecture.

Their name spread after they were offered as a gift to the Imperial Household Agency and won awards at various expositions. In 2007, Inaniwa Udon was chosen as one of Japan's 100 Best Local Dishes of Rural Areas by the Ministry of Agriculture, Forestry and Fisheries.
