About

The François-Xavier Bagnoud Center (FXB Center) within the Rutgers School of Nursing is a leader and innovator in the collaborative development of sustainable programs for vulnerable women, children, youth and families, including those infected/affected by HIV. FXB staff work across programs locally, nationally and globally.

Vision

We envision a healthcare system that is able to meet the needs of the most vulnerable populations through equitable, evidence-based, high quality care that promotes optimum health and supports elimination of health disparities.

Mission

Continuing our history as leaders and innovators in the care of women, children, and families living with HIV, our mission is to eliminate barriers to interdisciplinary, client-centered, equitable, high-quality health care for those at greatest risk for socially-determined health vulnerabilities. The FXB Center strives to meet this mission through research, education, and translation of evidence-based findings into practice.
