PART ONE INTRODUCTION

CHAPTER 1 PURPOSE, SCOPE, AND FORMAT

1. Purpose and Scope

a. This manual provides all published order of battle (OB) information on the Aggressor Armed Forces as of June 1965. It is intended for use in developing Aggressor order of battle data for all types of training exercises and as an aid to training in order of battle intelligence. It is further suggested as a type order of battle book for those units or activities which must prepare an order of battle book in actual operations. Master order of battle files containing complete OB on all Aggressor units are prepared and maintained by the U.S. Army Intelligence School, Fort Holabird, Maryland. Exercise directors and scenario writers for USCONARC or DA directed exercises are invited to contact the U.S. Army Intelligence School for necessary additional elements of Aggressor order of battle which do not appear in this manual.

b. Personnel using this manual are expected to apply the principles and techniques used in the production and dissemination of order of battle intelligence. They should also be familiar with the contents of FM 30-102 and those publications listed in Section II, Appendix IV, FM 30-102 which are concerned with the employment of Aggressor as a maneuver enemy.

c. Users of this manual are encouraged to submit recommended changes or comments to improve the manual. Comments should be keyed to the specific page, paragraph, and line of the text in which the change is recommended. Reasons should be provided for each comment to insure understanding and complete evaluation. Comments should be forwarded directly to the Commandant, U.S. Army Intelligence School, Fort Holabird, Maryland 21219.

2. Format

The order of battle information in this manual is presented in four parts as follows:

a. Part One, Introduction.

- (1) Chapter 1—Purpose, Scope, and Format.
- (2) Chapter 2—General. Information in this chapter consists of definitions, an explanation of the Aggressor unit designation system, and a recapitulation of identified Aggressor units.

b. Part Two, Organizational Holdings.

- (1) Chapter 3—Regional Command ATLANTICO. Known units, histories, personalities, code names, code numbers, and organizational structure of the entire regional command.
- (2) Chapter 4—Regional Command PACIFIKO. (Same as (1) above.)
- (3) Chapter 5—Regional Command AZIO. (Same as (1) above.)
- (4) Chapter 6—Regional Command NOVAKOMMANDO. (Same as (1) above.)
- (5) Chapter 7—Regional Command HEJMKOMMANDO. (Same as (1) above.)
- (6) Chapter 8—General Headquarters Units. (Same as (1) above.)

c. Part Three, Reference Data.

- (1) Chapter 9—Personalities. This chapter contains an alphabetical roster showing rank and present position of identified commanders, staff officers, and other personalities of the Aggressor Armed Forces.
- (2) Chapter 10—Code Names. This chapter contains an alphabetical listing of identified code names.
- (3) Chapter 11—Code Numbers. This chapter contains a list of identified Aggressor unit code numbers, in numerical order.

d. Part Four, Index of All Identified Units. All identified Aggressor units shown elsewhere in this manual are listed in this part by size and type and are cross-referenced to the appropriate paragraph, or subparagraph, and page where all other known order of battle factors concerning each unit may be found.

e. Abbreviations not listed in AR 320-50.

CHAPTER 2 GENERAL

3. Definitions

a. GHQ Units. These units, which comprise those ground and air force elements designated as the strategic reserves, are directly subordinate to the Ministry of Armed Forces. Their primary purpose is to provide a combat-ready strategic reserve to be used as the Minister of the Armed Forces may direct. GHQ units may be transferred to the regional commands or army groups to replace units which have been withdrawn for reorganization, refitting, or retraining, as well as to reinforce existing army groups. In addition to the type of units normally found in operational regional commands, GHQ has such special type units as long range SSM and SAM units presently integrated in the overall Homeland defense scheme.

b. Regional Command. It is organized to control operations in a particular area and consists of two or more army groups. The regional command is directly subordinate to the Ministry of the Armed Forces.

c. Army Group. Although any organizational structure is possible it normally consists of two combined arms armies, one tank army, an air army, one artillery division, one airborne division, one SSM division, two SAM brigades, and army group support units. The army group is usually part of a regional command but may be directly subordinate to the Ministry of Armed Forces.

d. Army. There have been three types of armies identified. Combined arms armies usually consist of two mechanized divisions, one tank division, one SAM brigade, one SSM brigade, two mixed artillery brigades, an antitank regiment, and army support units. Tank armies usually consist of two or more tank divisions, one SAM brigade, one SSM brigade, a heavy tank regiment, and army support units. Air armies normally consist of two fighter divisions, two bomber divisions, two ground attack divisions, helicopter regiments, air transport regiments and other support units. Armies are usually directly subordinate to an army group. In practice it has been found that the composition of Aggressor armies varies widely in time and place.

e. Task Force (Batalgrupo). Aggressor occasionally forms special purpose task forces to conduct operations in a specific area or to accomplish a specific mission. The size and composition of these forces varies with the type of mission, terrain, and expected duration of operations.

f. Division, and Lower Level Units. These units have a fixed organization which varies only between types. Detailed organization is depicted in FM 30-102. There seems to be a recent trend to vary the equipment of otherwise standard divisions to adapt them for use in special environments. A case in point is the tank division employed in Southeast Asia which has replaced medium tanks with the new light ETA tank.

4. Types of Units and Designation System

a. Types of Units. The branch and/or type of a unit is usually reflected in the unit designation. Example: 1 Tank Army, 10 Bomber Division, 20 Propaganda Company, 15 Rifle Division (Mountain). For types of Aggressor military units see FM 30-102 or the index of this manual. The term Fusilier, a designation of elite troops, is awarded to any type of division size or smaller (except airborne, already considered elite), which distinguishes itself in battle. Fusilier is used in combination with the unit designation. Example: 14 Fusilier Artillery Division. Fusilier units may be also designated by utilization of the letter F in place of the entire word Fusilier. Example: 13 F Mechanized Division, 2 F Heavy Tank Regiment. All subordinate elements of any unit bearing the fusilier designation are also considered as elite although the designation does not appear in the title of the subordinate element. Example: The fact the the 15th Mechanized Regiment is subordinate to the 6th F Mechanized Division establishes that regiment as elite. The Fusilier designation may be awarded to a particular subordinate unit of a major organization.

Example: The 3d Mechanized Division may have one of its regiments designated as Fusilier.

b. Designation System. Although any language may appear in the designation of Aggressor units, Esperanto is normally used. Designation patterns are noticeable although no rule is established that will apply in all cases.

- (1) Regional Commands. There are five identified Regional Commands in the Aggressor military establishment. These are designated by region name or function in Esperanto, except NOVAKOMMANDO.
- (2) Army Groups. At least 15 Army Groups have been identified. They are designated by the area name or function in Esperanto. Generally the name will be preceded by the letters AG. Example: AG GOLFO.
- (3) Armies. Armies are designated by combinations of Arabic numerals and letters denoting the type of army. Abbreviations are commonly used in the designations. The following list reflects the types of armies identified, the abbreviation used, and the lowest and highest numbers identified.

Type of army	Abbreviation	Lowest number	Highest number
Combined Arms Army	CAA	1	49
Tank Army	TK A	1	50
Air Army	Air A	1	32

- (4) Task Force (Batalgrupo). These forces are usually designated as Batalgrupo (Task Force) followed by a word denoting either the environment or the geographic area of expected employment. Example: Batalgrupo Schnee (snow) was formed in 1949 for operations in Alaska; Batalgrupo Panama was formed in 1946 for operations in Panama.
- (5) Divisions. All divisions are designated by Arabic numerals and the branch, mission, or type of equipment. Each type of division is numbered in its own series probably beginning with the number 1, thus rifle divisions have one separate series for mountain and one for jungle divisions.
- (6) Brigades, Regiments, and Battalions. These units are designated by Arabic numerals and branch, mission or type of equipment. However, mechanized, tank, and air battalions organic to regiments are numbered consecutively within each regiment beginning with the Arabic numeral 1, thereby necessitating inclusion of the parent unit designation in order to fully identify the specific battalion. Example: 1st Mechanized Battalion, 15th Mechanized Regiment; 3d Tank Battalion, 301st Tank Regiment; 2d Fighter Battalion, 3d Fighter Regiment.

- (7) Companies and Batteries. Designation is effected by Arabic numerals and/or branch, mission or type of equipment. Companies and batteries not organic to battalions are numbered separately. Mechanized, tank, artillery and air companies/batteries organic to battalions are numbered consecutively within each battalion beginning with the Arabic numeral 1. Positive identification of a given company must therefore include the designation of the battalion and regiment. Example: 1st Mechanized Company, 3d Mechanized Battalion, 101st Mechanized Regiment; 1st Battery, 2d Howitzer Battalion, 341st Artillery Regiment.
- (8) Platoons, Sections, and Squads. Designations are by Arabic numerals and/or branch, mission or type of equipment, much the same as for companies, batteries, and like units.

c. Miscellaneous.

- (1) An interesting feature is noticed in the designation of certain artillery units. All identified artillery units carrying the designation of gun-howitzer are equipped with an artillery piece which has the capabilities of a field gun as well as the high angle fire of a howitzer.
- (2) Headquarters units and service units have no numerical designation. They are identified by reference to their parent unit, i.e., Service Battalion, 9th Fusilier Mechanized Division; Headquarters Battery, Mechanized Division Artillery, 9th Fusilier Mechanized Division.

5. Recapitulation

The following is a recapitulation of identified major units by type showing the regional command in which they have been identified. The numerical designations of all units listed below have not necessarily been identified. However, the existence of these units in the regional commands indicated is firm. Parenthetical figures denote the estimated number of additional units believed to be in the regional commands.

ORGANIZATIONAL HOLDINGS
CHAPTER 3
REGIONAL COMMAND ATLANTICO

Section I. GENERAL

6. General

This regional command was activated in 1948 to direct Aggressor operations in the Atlantic and gulf coast areas of the North American continent and in the Caribbean area. AG KARIBO, AG ST LAURENCO and Task Force Panama were placed under its command. In 1951 AG GOLFO was added to the regional command. In 1958, as a result of the loss of the Panama Canal Zone, Task Force Panama was deactivated. Until 1965 the forces of RC Atlantico, after their initial successes, had not made any substantial gains. The few real victories in the early 1950's were more than offset by the severe defeats of the late 50's and early 60's. In 1964 the entire regional command was reorganized. In 1965 it resumed the offensive on all fronts and by May had made considerable gains. AGSL was successfully pushing southward while AGK was advancing northward along the U.S. Atlantic seaboard. In Texas AG GOLFO was also meeting with success in its advance into Oklahoma. As the regional command forces spread out of their lodgement areas one thing became apparent. Unless soon reinforced by additional forces from the Homeland they would be spread too thin to hold their initial gains. If the arrival of a new combined arms army in Texas is confirmed this would indicate that the need for reinforcements has been recognized and appropriate action is being taken. The prospective for continued success however, is threatened by the increasing effectiveness of U.S. interdiction of the Atlantic sea and air lines of communication through which the needed reinforcements must arrive.

8. Miscellaneous Regional Command Units

A large number of SAM units are deployed throughout the Caribbean to protect the regional command headquarters and rear units. Quantitatively they appear to be evenly divided between DUSAMO and BULTURO units. None of their numerical designations have been identified. One U/I SSM Division has been tentatively reported in Cuba. Naval forces available to this regional command include missile-armed cruisers and submarines. The normal complement of headquarters and service units, to include large medical facilities, is deployed primarily in Cuba and Haiti.

Unit History. Organized as AG XII in 1946. Landed in New Brunswick in the fall of 1947 and by the end of the year it had occupied northeastern Canada and the New England states. In 1948, redesignated AG ST LAURENCO it was placed under Regional Command ATLANTICO. The 21st CAA joined the group in 1950. In July 1951 it launched a major offensive southwest of Montreal making limited territorial gains in northern New York. From 1952 to 1958 it consolidated its hold over occupied areas and it avoided major engagements. Reinforced by the arrival of the 16th Tk A in 1957. From 1958 to 1961 it made repeatedly unsuccessful attempts to push southward. In September 1961 its 16th Tk A was practically annihilated in northwestern New York. The entire AG was forced to pull back into Canada. In 1963 the 16th Tk A was reconstituted in the Homeland and rejoined AG ST LAURENCO in 1964. By November 1964 the entire AG had been reorganized and re-equipped. In May 1965 it began a successful drive southward reoccupying New England and most of New York state.

Unit History. Organized in the Homeland in 1952. Participated in the 1954-55 European campaigns. Returned to the Homeland in 1956. Reassigned to AG ST LAURENCO in Canada in 1957. Was not committed in the 1959 and 1960 offensives. Spear-headed the 1961 offensive. In September 1961 while massing to exploit a breakthrough in U.S. lines it was hit by a devastating nuclear attack. A subsequent U.S. Army armored counterattack succeeded in surrounding the remnants of the 16th Tk A and completing its destruction. A new tank army was formed in the Homeland in 1963. It was given the 16th Tk A designation and in 1964 sent to join AG ST LAURENCO. In May 1965 the new 16th Tk A was committed and in a short time its divisions were streaming down the Hudson Valley headed for New York City.

16. Miscellaneous Army Group Units

Extensive artillery and armor concentrations in the Schenectady-Albany-Troy area of New York. These units appear to range from company to division size. No identifications, nor subordinations, have been reported. However, the following confirmed observations indicate that these concentrations may be merely parked equipment which is in need of repair or has been repaired and is awaiting pickup by, or shipment to, using units.

a. The U.S. Army Arsenal at Watervleit, N.Y., the U.S. Army General Depot at Schenectady and Voorheesville, N.Y., and the ALCO tank manufacturing plant, Schenectady, N.Y., were captured virtually intact by Aggressor. These installations have major repair capabilities for armor and artillery.

b. The dispersion of the parked equipment is not in accordance with Aggressor tactical principles.

Unit History. Organized as Army Group GOLFO in 1950 in the Homeland and sent to reinforce Regional Command ATLANTICO in 1951. In September 1951 it successfully invaded Texas. In 1956 it failed in an attempt to invade Oklahoma. In 1957 it repulsed a major U.S. offensive. In March 1958 elements of its 6 CAA temporarily linked up with elements of Army Group KARIBO on the Mississippi-Louisiana border. In late 1958 it was reinforced as a result of the deactivation of Task Force Panama. In 1961 its 5th CAA again attempted to invade Oklahoma but did not succeed. An attempt in June 1961 to push westward and link up with Army Group KALIFORNIO also failed. Reorganized in 1964. In June 1965 launched a major offensive along the Texas-Oklahoma border.

Unit History. This is one of the oldest units in the Aggressor Army. Its traditions go back beyond the founding of the pre-Circle Trigon Aggressor republic. Formerly the 3d Republican Guard Division traditionally stationed in the Homeland capital, it was redesignated the 3d Presidential Rifles in 1946 and was the backbone of the amphibious force which invaded the Antilles and Panama. In 1948 it was returned to the Homeland where it was reorganized, re-equipped and redesignated the 3d Fusilier Motorized Rifle Div. In 1950 it was assigned to the 5th CAA and sent to take part in the Texas invasion in 1951. Participated in the 5th CAA offensives of 1956, 1961 and April 1965 with great distinction. Redesignated 3F Mech Div in 1964.

Unit History. Formerly the 15th Rifle Div it was assigned to the 5th CAA in 1950 and in 1951 participated in the Texas invasion. In 1955 redesignated 15th Mtr Rfl Div. In 1956 at the onset of the first northward offensive it broke through U.S. lines and by mid-November its 281st Regt was deployed along the Arkansas River line. For these actions it was awarded the Fusilier designation. In April 1961 it again broke through U.S. lines and pushed into Oklahoma. When the 5th CAA had been forced to back into Texas this division was withdrawn from the Oklahoma sector and sent to western Texas where in June 1961 it took part in the westward offensive. Returned to the 5th CAA sector in 1962. Reorganized, re-equipped and redesignated 15th F Mech Div in 1964. Took part in the April 1965 offensive.

Unit History. Formerly the 80th Terr Gd Cav Div it was converted to a tk div in 1949. After a period of intensive training, in 1950 it was assigned to the 5th CAA and took part in the invasion of Texas a year later. It has been in every combat operation of the 5th CAA since 1951. During the 1961 offensive it successfully exploited the breakthrough by the 15th F Mech Div and won the Fusilier designation. When the 5th CAA was forced to withdraw from Oklahoma the division acted as a covering force, two of its regiments were encircled but managed to break out and rejoin the retreating 5th CAA. Due to the severe losses sustained in that campaign the division was out of action for several months. In 1964 it was re-equipped. In April 1965 it again went into action in the third northward offensive.

Unit History. Organized in 1950 as a subordinate command of AG GOLFO. Participated in the 1951 Texas invasion. In April 1952 it was forced to withdraw from the Texas-Louisiana border into east-central Texas. In 1953 mounted a successful eastward offensive invading western Louisiana. In 1954 held on to its territorial gains repulsing a U.S. counteroffensive. In 1958 its forces temporarily linked up with the advancing AG KARIBO's 3d CAA. In the 1965 campaign it executed a successful holding action in Louisiana while the 5th CAA was pushing northward into Oklahoma.

Unit History. Organized in 1950 in the Homeland and assigned to AG ALARMO. Transferred to AG GOLFO in 1952. In 1953 participated in the invasion of western Louisiana. In 1961 it was shifted to western Texas and in June of that year, reinforced with the 15F Mech Div, it launched a westward offensive in an attempt to link up with AG KALIFORNIO forces. In September 1961 after a series of decisive defeats in rapid succession it was forced to withdraw to western Texas. During the withdrawal the 181st Hv Tk Regt smashed a U.S. airborne force blocking the route of withdrawal and won the Fusilier designation. Reported on maneuvers in the El Paso area in 1964. Two of its divisions were identified in April 1965 in the 6th CAA sector in western Louisiana.

Unit History. Organized in 1950 and assigned to the 2d Tk A. Identified on the Texas-Louisiana border in March 1953. In June 1961 spearheaded an armored offensive in western Texas and by July 1961 penetrated U.S. defenses in Arizona. In August 1961 was awarded the Fusilier designation. In September 1961 it had overextended its lines of communications. U.S. airborne forces succeeded in cutting it off from the rest of the 2d Tk A. Forced to fight on two fronts the division suffered severe losses and only 20% of its combat strength was able to rejoin the retreating 2d Tk A. The division was reconstituted in 1964 and participated in Army maneuvers around El Paso that same year. No recent identifications of this unit have been reported.

Unit History. Organized in 1946 as AG XI. Re-designated AG KARIBO in 1948 and placed under Regional Command ATLANTICO. Its forces invaded Florida in 1950. In 1951 it gained an additional foothold on the North American Continent by invading S. Carolina. It suffered a severe defeat in September 1957 and was almost pushed back into the sea in S. Carolina. Heavily reinforced in 1958, it conducted a successful campaign in the southeastern United States effecting a linkup of its forces in Florida and the Carolinas with the forces of AG GOLFO. In July 1961 it failed in an attempt to retake the Panama Canal Zone. Made limited gains in the 1962 Carolinas campaign. It was fully reorganized in late 1964. In May 1965 it initiated a major offensive completing the occupation of N. Carolina.

Unit History. Activated as 1st Army in 1945 to command and control the 48th and 3rd Rifle Corps. In 1946 assigned to AG XI and sent to the Caribbean. Contributed in the formation of task forces which harassed the North American Atlantic coast area from 1946 to 1948. In 1948 the rifle corps were deactivated and the 1st Army was reorganized, redesignated 1st CAA, and placed under AG KARI-BO. In 1951 it made a successful amphibious landing in S. Carolina. Since 1951 the 1st CAA has been fighting in the Carolinas with distinction. It spearheaded the 1965 northward offensive and its advanced units have crossed into southern Virginia.

Unit History. First identified in 1951 as the 125th Rfl Div in the amphibious landings in S. Carolina. Participated in the 1953-1954 Aggressor offensive into N. Carolina. In 1957 the division was responsible for a large sector of the Aggressor northern perimeter defending the Carolina lodgement area. In September 1957, under attack by U.S. forces the division's positions were overrun and it suffered severe losses of personnel and equipment. No identifications of this unit were reported for the period 1957-1962. Identified again in August 1962 as the 125th Mtr Rfl Div, it participated in the 1st CAA's northward push. Reorganized and redesignated 125th Mech Div in 1964. Identified in southern Virginia in 1965.

Unit History. A division of the pre-Circle Trigon Aggressorland Army, it was formerly known as the 25th Homeguard Division. In late 1957 it was reorganized, modernized and redesignated the 25th Mech Div and sent to Cuba to form the nucleus for the organization of the 3d CAA. Identified in western S. Carolina in 1958. During the westward offensive of March 1958 the division executed the breakthrough which permitted the 3d CAA to sweep through the southern U.S. to link up with AG GOLFO. For this action the division was awarded the Fusilier designation. Later that same year it was forced to withdraw into eastern Georgia. Credited with successful holding action in Georgia in the 1965 campaign.

Unit History. First identified as the 32d Mtr Rfl Div in Panama in 1956. Severely weakened during the 1957 Panamanian campaign, it was withdrawn to Cuba where it was reorganized and re-equipped. In 1958, redesignated 32d Mech Div, it was assigned to 3d CAA and sent into S. Carolina. Its advance elements linked up with elements of the 12th CAA in southern Georgia as a result of the successful 1958 offensive. In 1965 was holding the southern portion of the Aggressor line in southeastern Georgia.

Unit History. Activated in 1949 and assigned to AG KARIBO that same year. In 1950 it executed a successful landing in Florida and by May 1950 it had completed the occupation of the Florida peninsula. In 1958 its forces pushed into Georgia and linked up with the 3d CAA. From 1958 to the present it has primarily been engaged in occupation duty in Florida. Its only major combat action was the ill fated attempt to retake the Panama Canal Zone in 1961.

Unit History. The division was formed by expanding the very old and tradition laden 171st Chasseurs à Pied Regiment and redesignating it the 171st Rfl Div in 1948. In 1949 it was assigned to AG KARIBO's 12th CAA. Participated in the landings and subsequent occupation of Florida. Redesignated 171st Mtr Rfl Div in 1959. In 1961 it was identified in the attempt to retake the Panama Canal Zone. In August 1961, after having suffered high casualties and abandoning most of its equipment the division was withdrawn to Haiti to be reorganized and re-equipped. Redesignated 171st Mech Div it was sent into N. Carolina, temporarily attached to the 1st CAA, in 1965. In May 1965 identified west of Winston-Salem, N. Carolina, acting as flank guard for the 1st CAA's push northward.

Unit History. Formerly known as the 9th Homeguard Air Comd stationed in the Homeland. Transferred to the Caribbean in 1946 to support the operations of Aggressor forces in that area. Re-designated 9th Air A in 1948 and placed under AG KARIBO. It has undergone two major reorganizations, one in 1955 and the other in 1964. Its subordinate units are scattered throughout the Antilles and the Carolinas. It lost up to 75 percent of its helicopter strength in 1961 in Panama but it has been brought back up to full strength with modern aircraft as a part of the 1964 reorganization.

31. Miscellaneous Army Group Units

The following units have been located in the Wilmington-Fayetteville-Goldsboro area of North Carolina. Subordination of these units is undetermined at this time. They may, in fact, be subordinate elements of line divisions currently identified in the 1st, 3d, or 12th Combined Arms Armies, or they may be elements of an unidentified mechanized division. These units appear to be undergoing extensive training and there is considerable evidence of supplies, equipment, and personnel being moved into their locations.

CHAPTER 4 REGIONAL COMMAND PACIFIKO

Section I. GENERAL

32. General

Organized in 1953 to direct Aggressor operations in the north and eastern Pacific theater of operations. Until 1965 its forces had met with limited success. The 1961 defeat in Alaska forced it to abandon plans for the total occupation of that state. By April 1965, however, its forces were in the offensive on all fronts and making good headway. Supplying the offensive is a serious problem due to the activities of U.S. air and naval forces based in Hawaii. There are reports that an additional army group, now being formed in the far eastern Homeland, will be assigned to this regional command in 1965.

Unit History. Organized in 1952 in the Homeland. Assigned to Regional Command PACIFIKO in 1953. In March 1953 executed multiple simultaneous landings on the west coast of the United States. By September 1953 had completed the occupation of California and Oregon. From 1954 to 1961 consolidated its hold on the occupied areas and set up a strong defense along the borders of California and Oregon. Reinforced by the arrival of the 6th Tk A in 1960 and the 4th SSM Div in 1961. In June 1961 launched a major offensive from southern California into Arizona. The offensive was initially successful but was halted in August in central Arizona. In September a U.S. counteroffensive pushed the AG back into California. From 1962 to 1964 the AG avoided major engagements while undergoing intensive training and being re-equipped. In April 1965 it launched two offensives contemporaneously. While the 15th CAA began a northeastward push into Washington, the 16th CAA and 6th Tk A pushed into Arizona up the Gila valley.

Unit History. Organized in 1952 in the Homeland and assigned to AG KALIFORNIO. Participated in the landings on the west coast of the United States in 1953. In the course of that operation it experienced considerable difficulty in securing its objective and was almost forced off the beaches by resolute U.S. counterattacks. The subsequent landings of the 20th CAA relieved the pressure on its perimeter and the 16th CAA was able to break out of the beachhead. During the consolidation phase it was assigned to southern California. Two of its mechanized divisions were replaced during the same period. In 1961 it participated with the 6th Tk A in the first eastward offensive but by September of that year it had been pushed back into California. In April 1965 it broke through U.S. lines on the California-Arizona border creating a wide gap through which the 6th Tk A pushed into Arizona.

Unit History. Organized in 1948 and assigned to AG Orients. In 1960 it was reassigned to AG KALIFORNIO. In 1961 played a major role in the first eastward offensive. Its tank divisions carried the offensive deep into Arizona. When the U.S. counterattacks forced Aggressor to withdraw from Arizona the 6th Tk A deployed its divisions in a covering action which permitted an orderly withdrawal with a minimum loss of personnel and equipment. In April 1965 it again took the offensive exploiting a breakthrough by the 16th CAA, and pushed up the Gila Valley into Arizona.

Unit History. Activated in northeast Asia in 1957. In 1958 its airborne brigades were dropped in the Fairbanks area following a nuclear attack delivered by 6th Air A units from bases in the North Pacific. In 1958 and 1959 engaged in applying a constant outward pressure which succeeded in enlarging its Alaskan airhead permitting it to air land the bulk of its 7 CAA in 1960. In 1961 its 7th CAA was ordered to take the offensive but the results were disastrous. No more attempts were made to further reinforce the Alaskan airhead after 1961 and the 7th CAA reverted to a defensive posture. In 1964 the airborne brigades and the 7th CAA's tank division were withdrawn from Alaska. In April 1965 4 AG Airborne divisions were dropped behind the U.S. coastal defenses while the 24th CAA was making amphibious landings along the Bellingham-Tacoma coastline of Washington. By the end of April the 24th CAA, reinforced with AG forces, had driven a wedge running generally NW to SE deep into Washington hoping to link up with AG KALIFORNIO forces moving north from Oregon.

Unit History. Organized in 1957 in northeast Asia. Its units spent 3 years training in air-landing techniques and for subsequent operations in rugged terrain in an arctic environment. Air-landed in Fairbanks, Alaska, area in 1960. Ordered to take the offensive in May 1961. Determined U.S. opposition combined with a high rate of equipment failure disrupted the offensive and U.S. counter-attacks in October 1961 forced the 7th CAA to retreat to its original lines of departure abandoning large quantities of equipment and sustaining heavy casualties in the process. Since there the 7th CAA has limited itself to defending the Fairbanks airhead. In 1964 the 219F Tk Div was withdrawn from Alaska.

Unit History. Organized in 1948 as a rfl div and assigned to AG VII. In 1949, as part of Task Force SCHNEE, made amphibious landings in the vicinity of Anchorage, Alaska. Won the Fusilier designation during the first Alaskan invasion. Evacuated to the Aleutians in October 1949 and transferred to the Homeland a few months later. Reorganized in 1957 as a modified mechanized division, with light tanks, redesignated 215F Mech Div and reassigned to AG KOLUMBIO. Trained in air-landing techniques and arctic environment tactics until it was air-landed in Alaska in 1960. Did well initially in the 1961 offensive but lost 70 percent of its mechanized equipment and 50 percent of its personnel in the October retreat. Identified still in the Fairbanks area in 1965.

Remarks. Equipped with ETA tanks in place of the standard Aggressor medium tanks.

Unit History. Organized in 1954, took part in the first European campaign winning the Fusilier designation. Returned to the Homeland in 1958 where it was reorganized and re-equipped with light tanks in place of its standard medium and heavy tanks. Transferred to northeast Asia and assigned to AG KOLUMBIO in 1959. Trained in air-landing techniques and arctic environment tactics until it was air-landed in Alaska in 1960. In the 1961 campaign the division was caught by surprise while attempting to cross the west fork of the Gulkana river and it suffered such heavy losses that it was not able to provide an effective covering screen for for the 7th CAA's retreat. The division was withdrawn from Alaska in 1964 and sent to the Homeland where it was reorganized and re-equipped. In April 1965 it was identified in the vicinity of Kennewick, Wash. still reportedly subordinated to the 7th CAA.

Unit History. Organized in 1957 in northeast Asia on a cadre basis with a reduced strength headquarters and some support units. Began to receive some combat units in the early 60's. By 1963 it was up to its present unit strength and it began an intensive training cycle. In April 1965 it made amphibious landings in the Bellingham-Tacoma area of Washington. By the end of April, reinforced with 4 AG airborne divisions and an additional tank division from the 7th CAA, it had pushed into Washington in a triangular wedge—with a base line between Sumas—and Tacoma and the vertex at Kennewick. Less than 50 miles separated its lead units from those of AG KALIFORNIO.

Unit History. This was one of the first Aggressor rifle units to be converted for airborne employment.

As the 7th Parachute Brigade it saw action in Europe in 1954-55. Assigned to AG KOLUMBIO in 1957. Very successful in securing its assigned objectives when air dropped in the Fairbanks, Alaska area in 1958. Committed repeatedly in 1959-1960 in operations to enlarge the Fairbanks airhead. Withdrawn from Alaska in 1964 and returned to northeast Asia. Reorganized and expanded to division size assuming its present designation in 1965. In April 1965 made another successful landing behind U.S. coastal defenses in Washington. Employed as a rfi div in the subsequent operations in Washington, it was last identified near Ephrata, Washington at the end of April 1965.

CHAPTER 5 REGIONAL COMMAND AZIO

Section I. GENERAL

49. General

This is the newest of the Aggressor regional commands. It was activated in the Asiatic Homeland in 1964 and it took over from AG ORIENTO responsibility for operations in SE Asia. In addition to its three known army groups it has some yet unidentified GHQ ground and air units. It appears to have been formed with the intent to effect the occupation of the Philippines and Burma. As a result of the nuclear neutralization of the Philippines, the invasion effort was shifted to Indonesia. GHQ units were employed to occupy SW Celebes prior to the landings on Java. The reason is not known for AG BIRMO'S invasion of Thailand where all pointed to its having been groomed for an attack on Burma. In April 1965 indications were that preparations for such an attack were being made in southwestern Thailand.

50. RCZ Order of Battle

CODE NAME BRUTO
 CODE NUMBER 000003
 AREA OF RESPONSIBILITY Southeast Asia
 Hq: Vietnam

Commander: Marshal SNYDER, Charles W.
 Deputy Commander: G/A's IMAGAZU, A.
 Chief of Staff: VAdm ZOSHCHENKO, Alexei Subordinate Army Groups:

AG BIRMO (AGB).
 AG JAVO (AGJ).
 AG MALAJO (AGM).

51. Miscellaneous Regional Command Units

a. This regional command has been reinforced by an estimated force of two mountain and/or jungle divisions, one or two airborne divisions, several medium and heavy helicopter units, one air transport regiment and an unknown number of ground attack battalions. It is believed that those reinforcements are all GHQ units. None of them have been positively identified.

b. The regional command headquarters and rear area installations are protected by two or three SAM brigades, mostly DUSAMO. Several rifle regiments have been reported to be employed in local security and antiguerrilla activities. These could be part of the unidentified rifle division; mountain or jungle, or separate rifle regiments. Most rear echelon service installations are concentrated in Laos and Vietnam.

c. Naval forces available to the regional command include large numbers of medium and heavy transports, a large flotilla of landing craft, an unknown quantity of missile cruisers and a large quantity of missile-armed patrol boats.

Unit History. Organized in the eastern Homeland in 1964 as AG SUDORIENTO. Conducted large scale maneuvers in the South China Sea coastal areas with emphasis on amphibious landings. In February 1965 the entire army group moved out by sea heading for Celebes. On 27 February the 18 CAA made a surprise landing near Surabaya in the island of Java. The army group was apparently redesignated just before the Surabaya landings. When the advance of the 18 CAA became stalled

59. Miscellaneous Army Group Units.

a. Considerable military activity was reported in Bangkok during the Spring of 1965. Additional personnel and all types of equipment were arriving both by air and sea from the Homeland.

b. A unit, probably of division size, with the code number 905654 is located in Nakhon Pathom, about fifty kilometers west of Bangkok.

c. Combat personnel on occupation duty in eastern Thailand were relieved by personnel from the Homeland and departed for Uttaradit early in 1965.

near Surakarta, the 44 CAA was also landed at Surabaya and sent to assist the 18 CAA. On 10 March 1965 the advance was resumed. After taking Surakarta, the army group forces began a two-pronged push for Djakarta. By 20 March, the 18 CAA had taken Tjirebon on the north coast and the 44 CAA had advanced to Bogor, only 25 kilometers South of Djakarta.

Unit History. Organized in 1963 and assigned to AG JAVO, formerly AG SUDORIENTO, in 1964. Conducted a cycle of intensive jungle and mountain warfare training followed by one in amphibious landing techniques. Alerted for landings in Celebes in February 1965, received a change of orders while at sea and landed near Surabaya, Java, on 27 February. Meeting light resistance at first, it advanced rapidly along the Surabaya-Surakarta axis but was stopped by determined resistance outside of Surakarta. Reinforced by the arrival of 44 CAA forces, it resumed the advance on 10 March and took Surakarta the next day. On 13 March it took Semarang. Advancing along Java's north coast, it occupied Tjirebon and by 20 March 65 was closing on Djarkarta from the East.

Remarks. Equipped with ETA tanks.

Unit History. Date and place of organization unknown. Identified as a new army group only after the Gulf of Siam landings. In January 1965, it landed the 28 CAA near Singorar, Thailand, and the 29 CAA near Kota Bahru, Malaya. It achieved total surprise by selecting least likely areas on an undefended coastline facing shallow and very difficult waters. At first met only light and disorganized opposition so that it succeeded in reaching Gemas on 25 January 1965. The impracticable eastern coastal areas were bypassed. Spreading its two armies along the Malacca-Mersing line, it began to push southward. Allied resistance had been stiffening constantly and by 30 January AG MALAJO'S southward offensive had been stopped between Gemas and Johore Bahru.

CHAPTER 6

ARMY COMMAND NOVAKOMMANDO

Section I. GENERAL

72. General

Activated in 1958 to direct Aggressor operations in Europe. It has no official command responsibility for satellite forces but in practice directs their operations as well. In 1964 and early 1965 it heavily reinforced its AG NORDO with a preponderance of tank forces. It has no resupply problems and can count on further reinforcements from Hejmkommando. AG ALARMO deployed a short distance to its rear. Its April 1965 deployment and activities present the picture of the classic Aggressor basic offensive maneuver of single envelopment with the main effort being prepared in AG NORDO's sector while AG OCCIDENTO acts as the pivot to pin allied forces against the southern Alps.

 Chief of Staff: G/Air LIAO, Kang
 Subordinate Army Groups:

AG NORDO (AGN).
 AG OCCIDENTO (AGO)
 AG SUDO (AGS).

74. Miscellaneous Regional Command Units

No unit designations of regional command forces, other than those subordinate to the three army groups, have been reported. It is known that these forces include SAM units, mostly Dusamo, communications, medical and other service units. In addition there are two unidentified divisions of anti-guerrilla forces protecting the command's lines of communications. Available naval forces include a small number of troop transports and an undetermined number of missile armed patrol boats.

Unit History. Organized in 1958 in the Homeland and assigned to HEJMKOMMANDO. Originally had one combined arms army and one tank army. In June 1960, it was reassigned to NOVAKOMMANDO and sent to replace AG SUDO in south central Europe. In November 1960, in coordination with AG OCCIDENTO, it launched a major offensive and succeeded in reaching the Danube river line before being stopped. In 1961, moved into the northern sector of the western European front replacing satellite forces. Received an additional combined arms army in May 1961. In September 1961, it launched a large scale offensive across the Elbe. By November it had reached the Weser river line where it was forced to halt. An allied counter-offensive in November forced the army group to withdraw and by the end of December it was back behind the Elbe. In 1964 it was reinforced by the arrival of another combined arms army and a second tank army. In 1965 it received a third tank army and another air army while divisions were added to its existing armies. Reported to be massing its forces in April 1965 presumably in readiness to take the offensive.

a. An unidentified surface-to-air missile brigade is reportedly deployed in the vicinity of Oranienburg.

b. Large number of both heavy and medium pontons, possibly organic to an engineer ponton regiment, are located in the vicinity of Lavenberg, about 40 kilometers Southeast of Hamburg on the Elbe.

c. A large concentration of amphibious vehicles, more than the amount organic to an engineer amphibious regiment, is located in the vicinity of Wittenberge on the Elbe.

d. Activity at the docks at Rostock increased in April and May 1965. Reports indicate the unloading of engineer type equipment, primarily amphibious vehicles and pontons, is the reason for the increased activity.

Unit History. Organized as Alianco Support Command in 1956 to command and control all Aggressor forces in satellite countries of Europe. Given additional mission to train satellite forces. Reorganized in January 1960 and redesignated AG SUDO. Assumed responsibility for Danube section of European front in March 1960. While still in the process of replacing satellite units in that sector with its own units, it was hit by a surprise Allied offensive and suffered such severe losses that it could no longer be counted upon to hold its assigned sector. Replaced by AG NORDO and AG OCCIDENTO, it was returned to the Homeland after being stripped of the few remaining units with an acceptable degree of combat effectiveness. Reorganized and re-equipped in 1963-64, it underwent intensive training in a mountainous area of the Homeland. In 1965, arrived in Southeast Europe to replace satellite forces in that sector.

Unit History. Organized in 1958 and assigned to HEJMKOMMANDO. Reassigned to NOVAKOMMANDO, it moved into South-central Europe to relieve AG SUDO in July 1960. In November 1960, in coordination with AG NORDO, launched a major offensive and succeeded in regaining the ground lost by AG SUDO. In January 1961 the 8 CAA, and the 3 Air A were assigned to the army group, and it was designated to man the south-central European sector. In September 1961 launched a limited offensive north of Regensburg, in connection with AG NORDO's large scale offensive. The offensive was repulsed by the Allies but their subsequent counter-offensive was halted by the 5 Tk A. In 1963 and 1964, its several attempts to cross the Danube between Passau and Regensburg were not successful.

Unit History. Past history unknown. First identified in the 1961 campaign as the 2 CAA's left flank division. The failure of the adjacent 18 Mech Div, to continue the offensive left the 22 Division exposed in a salient and the subsequent Allied counterattack threatened to cut it off from the rest of the army. The intervention of 5 Tk A units erased the threat of encirclement, but the loss of men and equipment was high. In April 1965 reported to be the left flank division of the 2 CAA's first echelon.

CHAPTER 7

REGIONAL COMMAND HEJMKOMMANDO

Section I. GENERAL

102. General

Activated in 1950 to command and control the home groups in the Homeland. Has overall responsibility for the defense of the Homeland and to provide combat ready forces to back up those regional commands in the combat zones. Supervises the research and development effort intended to provide special types of units for operations in special environments. In 1965 known to have directed this effort to prepare some of its forces for extended operations in a desert environment. It also appears that it is training a large force in the far eastern Homeland with major emphasis on amphibious tactics.

103. RCH Order of Battle

CODE NAME DEFENDI
 CODE NUMBER 000004
 AREA OF RESPONSIBILITY Aggressor Homeland-Hq: Aggressor Capital
 Commander: Marshal BROWN, Gordon

Deputy Commander: VAM KRONEBERGER, W. E.

Chief of Staff: G/A HARRIS, M.P.

Subordinate Army Groups:

AG ALARMO (AGA).
 AG FLUGO (AGF).
 AG ORIENTO (AGO).
 AG VIGLIO (AGV).

104. Miscellaneous Regional Command Units

The location of this command makes for a low percentage of identifications and a scarcity of confirmed information on the activities of its units. No identifications are available beyond what is listed under each of the four subordinate army groups. A very large force, of army group size, is known to be in training in the eastern Homeland. It does not appear as if it is intended to remain under HEJMKOMMANDO once it has completed its training. No units within this force have been identified, but the name USONO is reportedly associated with it.

In 1961 it was redesignated AG FLUGO after being thoroughly reorganized and considerably increased in strength. It is claimed by Aggressor to be completely air-transportable and capable of reaching any part of the globe in a very short time in full combat readiness. In addition to its own two Air A it is known to have first priority on Aggressor GHQ strategic air transport units. Although based in the western Homeland, its units undergo continuous air mobility training and in 1965 an entire CAA was reported in the southeastern region for a short period of time. Only one of its present subordinate units, the 75 Mech Div, 46 CAA, has been known to have been airlifted to a foreign country.

133. Miscellaneous Army Group Units

a. The following units have been reported in the south-central region of the Homeland. They are believed to be AG VIGLIO units but their immediate subordination is not known:

- 198 Mech Regt.
- 208 Mech Regt.
- 332 Mech Regt.
- 52 Med Tk Regt.

b. A division size mechanized force, known only as the Adler unit is reported to be preparing for an overseas movement. This name could be either the code name or the name of the commander of the unit concerned. It does not, however, appear in the listings of presently identified code names or personalities.

CHAPTER 8 GENERAL HEADQUARTERS (GHQ) UNITS

134. General

The units listed in paragraph 135 through 138 inclusive below have been identified as GHQ units. Due to the special security cloaking the identity and activities of these forces, only a relatively small number have been identified. The Homeland is given as their location, however, they may appear in any theater of operations at any time. The commander of GHQ forces is confirmed to be Marshal WOLF, Arthur E. The deputy is reported to be G/A's SALLEY, William H.

PERSONALITIES

139. General

a. This chapter contains an alphabetical listing of those Aggressor armed forces officers currently identified. The name, rank, branch, and present assignment are listed. Abbreviations of rank designations are defined in Appendix I.

b. This list is current as of 1 June 1965. Numerous changes to this list can be anticipated as a result of the effects of war as well as Aggressor administrative actions. Revised lists will be published in future changes to this book.

CHAPTER 10 CODE NAMES

141. General

a. Code names are permanently assigned to regional commands, army groups, armies, divisions, and brigades. Subordinate elements of these units, not normally assigned a code name, share the code name of their parent organization.

b. Code names are usually single words and are selected under no identifiable system. For security reasons, Aggressor units in the field are sometimes referred to by code name only. Code names often appear as part of the unit mailing address replacing the unit's numerical designation. In identifying units by their code name, care must be taken to insure that the word being analyzed is in fact a code name since the name of the commander is also often used to refer to a unit.

CHAPTER 11 CODE NUMBERS

143. General

a. Code numbers are permanently assigned to each unit at army level and below. Aggressor, for security reasons, often refers to specific units by their code number.

b. Aggressor utilizes a code number system within which each unit is assigned a six-digit number. It is believed that the code number system can be broken and personnel utilizing this manual are encouraged to conduct their own analysis of currently identified code numbers and attempt to break the code. To date it has been determined that there is a correlation between the fourth digit and the size of the unit.

c. Aggressor mail addresses may utilize a combination of unit designation and/or code numbers or code names coupled with area designations.
