SAINT COSTUME IDEAS!

- This is just an inkling to the possibilities. ...find out more about any Saint online: http://saints.sqpn.com Patron Saints Index. A Great resource of information & images! Let you child pick out a costume, then find a Saint to match!
- With any costume: think of the time period, country, religious order & have fun!
- Check out the used clothing stores for inexpensive costumes you can work with. Go to local art, craft & party stores for making or buying accessories.
- ALL SAINTS CAN WEAR HALOS!: Use gold pipe cleaners to bend into halos to put on any saint! Or gold, star, bendable wrapping ribbon wire.

Our beloved St. Therese dressed as St. Joan of Arc for a play she wrote and performed for the sisters. Imitation is good!

ALTAR BOY: St. Dominic Savio:

Died age 15, patron saint of boys, altar boys, & choirboys. Pictured as altar boy or in suit with bow tie.

ANGEL: Adult T-shirt(toddlers) or a dress, sash or belt at waist and sandals. For halo see HALOS. For wings use cardboard, wrapped in tin foil, attach elastic to go over the shoulders or buy. Archangel Gabriel: with a horn at the belt. St. Michael the archangel: see KNIGHT/AMOUR or just put sword in belt. Cherubim or Seraphim- instrument hanging from belt. Also see WINGED CREATURE for St. Mark.

APOSTLE / BIBLICAL: Adult T-shirt(for toddlers), put rope, sash, or belt around the waist, sandals, and there is your costume! Take a piece of material, fold in half and cut a hole in the top for the head to go through. Use face paint for beard.

David

St. Peter: have keys or net hanging at his waist

Great St. Joseph: foster father of Jesus, carpenter by trade, hang a hammer from the belt

Joseph: coat of many colors

BEGGAR: St. Benedict Labre "Beggar of Rome", homeless (1700's) very shabby clothing, long beat up coat, messy hair

BISHOPS: Adult white T-shirt for toddlers with sash, rope, or belt. White graduation gown will work for bigger kids. Wear a cape.(Tree skirts work great!) To make a miter (the hat) go to www.StNicholasCenter.org, they have a miter pattern. Crozier (the staff) can just be a walking cane for little ones or go to the site again for a plastic top, just add PVC piping & spray paint. Many other costume suggestions for Ol' St. Nick that can be used for any bishop!

St. Patrick: colors: green, white (shamrocks, Celtic cross)

St. Nicholas: Santa Claus was actually a bishop from Myra: colors white, gold, red

St. Isidore: of Seville leading candidate for patron saint of computer users & the Internet

St. Valentine: (Yes, the Feb.14th one!) pictured in reds/whites

BURIAL SHROUD: Lazarus could be wrapped in strips of burial cloth (an old sheet) starting to trail off...of course paper towels/TP will work too if you use clear tape.

CANDLE CROWN: Saint Lucy of Syracuse, also known as Saint Lucia, (283-304) was a rich young Christian martyr. A white robe or dress, a crimson sash, and a crown or wreath of greenery with candles. The candles symbolize the fire that refused to take her life. (Attach battery powered candles to a wreath-no real flames please! Or make one out of paper: Cut a wide strip of heavy paper or railroad board long enough to go around your child's head and adhere together with staples, glue or all head-pieces can be made adjustable with Velcro. Cut out holly leaves, red berries, white candles and orange flames and then attach to strip.)

CHAINS: St. Vincent de Paul, ragged clothes and in chains (captured by pirates, sold as slave)

CHINESE LAYWOMAN: St. Agatha Lin: a martyr for teaching the faith in the 1800's. Wear a tunic or jacket, dark pants, tabi socks (any socks will do), flip-flops and a conical rice hat (Hat is easily made with a large piece of paper: cut a circle, then a cut to the center, over-lap the cut edges and adhere to form a flattish cone)

DOCTOR: St. Gianna Beretta Molla, Italian. She died in 1962 to save her daughter. Wear doctor's (lab) coat and stethoscope around neck. She also liked to mountain climb and ski!
