ITALY INQUIRES

The Lynching in Louisiana May Become An International Matter.

AN ITALIAN OFFICIAL ACTS

The State Department Requests the Governor of Louisiana to Report All of the Details in the Case
At Once.

Washington, July 22.—The lynching
of five Italians in Louisiana yesterday promises to assume an international aspect through the action of the Italian government. Count Venechi, Italian charge d'affaires, called at the state department this morning and made representations concerning the atrocity in Louisiana. In order to get full information as a basis for action by this government, Secretary Hay telegraphed to the governor of Louisiana, requesting all facts.

Lynched in Missouri.

Mexico, Mo., July 22.—Frank Embree,
a negro, charged with assaulting 14-
year-old Miss Dougherty, near Benton, was taken from jail here to-day, and while en route to Fayette to be tried was taken from the officers by a mob at Steinhilmet and hanged to a tree. He denied his guilt.

The Epworth League.

Indianapolis, July 22.—To-day was a big day at the Epworth League convention. Every minute was occupied by regular sessions and committee meetings, beginning with three sunrise prayer meetings. Ten thousand visitors throng the city to-day.

Weekly Bank Statement.

New York, July 22.—The weekly bank
statement shows the following changes:
Surplus reserve, increased, $1,356,850;
loans, decreased, $8,828,600; specie, decreased, $664,400; legal tenders, increased, $1,015,300; deposits, decreased, $12,023,800; circulation, decreased, $22,
600. Banks hold $12,055,600 in excess of requirements.

Cattle Company Incorporated.

The Victoria Land and Cattle Company, organized under the laws of California, this morning filed incorporation papers at the office of the territorial secretary. The company designates Donning as its headquarters in New Mexico, and Thomas Marshall as its resident agent. The capital of the company is $200,000, divided into 20,000 shares. The directors and incorporators are Lloyd Tevis, Edward J. McCutchen, F. G. Drum, T. E. Winn, of San Francisco, and Thomas Turner, of Alameda.

Crop Prospects Good.

A Springer dispatch says: July has so far been a season of almost continuous rains. Farmers are insured of a splendid crop of alfalfa and prairie hay.
Three weeks ago meadow hay was selling for $10 per ton, while today there is no market for it. Cattle are beginning to get round and fat and lambs growing fast. There will be a prosperous season for Northern New Mexico.

COURT CASES.

Answer of the Woodmen—Two New Suits
Are Filed.

A. B. Renahan, an attorney for the sovereign camp of the Woodmen of the World, to-day filed answer to the complaint of Josephine and Malinda Digneo against said order for damages on the insurance policy of Louis Digneo, deceased, for $2,100, denying liability in the premises because, as the defendant claims, Louis Digneo feloniously committed suicide.

Mr. Renahan also filed a complaint for Zephorah G. Renahan and Clayton G.
Coleman against Antonio Trussello, of Cerrillos, for specific performance of a contract for the sale of the O'Mara coal mine, accounting of profits, injunction against working said property, appointment of a receiver, sale of the property,
division of proceeds among owners, alleging wasteful operation of that mine
by Trussello among other causes of action.

Mr. Renahan also filed a suit in attachment for S. Raunheim against Joseph H. Lurie for $1,500 damages for money paid and loaned for and to the latter.

MISSOURI POLITICS.

Republicans for McKinley and Both Parties
Endorse the Philippine War Policy.

Hon. Matthew G. Reynolds and son
Matthew arrived in Santa Fe Thursday night from St. Louis, and are guests at the Sanitarium. Mr. Reynolds came to attend to a large amount of detail in connection with the work of the court of private land claims. In speaking of the political situation in Missouri, he says the Democrats are at present squabbling, and the Republicans are lying low to watch the outcome. Both parties are, however, heartily in favor of upholding the administration in the Philippine war until the sovereignty of the United States has been established.
Ex-Governor Stone in no uncertain tones told his party that for the present
the president must be supported in the Philippines.

The Republicans of Missouri are practically a unit for President McKinley.

1:49 2-5. Davidson won by 5 yards.

In the long jump Vassall led off with 22 feet 5 inches, followed by Roche with 21 feet 7 inches. Bevan, who followed, did not make 20 feet, and the jump was not measured. Daly came next, with 20 feet 6 1/2 inches. In the second trial Vassall's jump was 22 feet 4 inches. Both Roche and Bevan failed to do 20 feet.
The third trial Vassall made 22 feet 6 inches and Roche 21 feet 9 inches.

The high jump was won by A. N. Rice,
Harvard. Rice cleared 6 feet; C. M.
Roth, Harvard, was out at 5 feet 11 inches. The other three continued the contest.

The three-mile run was won by H. W.
Workman, Cambridge; C. K. Palmer,
Yale, was second. The others did not finish. Time—15:24 1/2.

In the high jump H. R. Adair, Oxford, was marked for 5 feet 11 inches. C. M.
Roth, Harvard, for 5 feet 10 inches, and
W. Paget Tomlinson, Cambridge, 5 feet
5 inches.

In the fourth trial Vassall made a splendid jump of 23 feet, Roche, Bevan
and Daly, all failing to reach 20 feet.

In the fifth and last round Vassall and Bevan were both under 20 feet, Roche fell back and was not measured. Daly did 22 feet 3 inches, and the English flag was hoisted to record the first victory.

In the 100-yard dash Blunt got first away and led for 40 yards, when Quinlan and Thomas drew even. Quinlan, with a splendid spurt, won the exciting
race by half a yard.

Tremendous waving of American flags
and shouting of the Harvard and Yale
yell greeted the victory of the Harvard man.

In the one-mile run Freemantle took the lead, going a good pace, and led for the first two laps. Hunter closely following, with Smith and Spitzer next and Dawson at the rear.

On the last lap Freemantle retired,
and Hunter, running strong, soon put a wide gap between himself and the others, Dawson going up to second place.
Hunter won by 30 yards.

In the hurdles Fox led from start to finish, and won by 2 1/2 yards, there being a half yard between Paget Tomlin-son and Parkes.

In the half-mile run Streuben led the first lap; followed by Adams, Graham and Burke in the order mentioned. Graham went to the front, and won by 8
yards; Streuben second, Adams third.
Burke did not finish.

There was a level start for the quarter-mile run, and Boardman cut out the pace at a tremendous rate, entering straight for home. Hollins just led Boardman, with Davidson last. About 70 yards from home Davidson came up with a tremendous rush on the outside and won by 5 yards.

TROOPS ON DUTY

The Mayor of Cleveland Calls Out
Four Companies to Suppress Disorderly Mobs.

ALL QUIET IN NEW YORK

The Strike Not to Go On Because the Unions Will Not Support the Strikers
in Idleness, Says the Grand Master Workman.

Cleveland, July 22.—Orders were issued to-day for assembling four companies of the 5th regiment of the Ohio national guard, located at Cleveland, to do strike duty in the city during the present street railway strike. The decision to call out the 5th was made after a long conference between Mayor
Farley and Director of Police Barrett.
It was decided that it was absolutely necessary, not only for the safety of the street railway company and the lives of its employees, but lives and property of citizens, extra military service be called in addition to service of naval reserves.

A serious rear-end collision occurred on Ontario street to-day between a Scoville avenue car manned with a non-union crew and a Woodland avenue car.
Four passengers were badly hurt. The Woodland avenue car stopped to take on passengers. The Scoville avenue car closely following crashed into the Woodland avenue car at full speed.

A non-union motorman on a Pearl street car fired half a dozen shots this afternoon into a crowd of boys near a bridge in South Brooklyn. None of the shots took effect. The car was in a blockade, and the boys were jeering
non-union motormen and conductors.

NEW YORK STRIKE ENDED.

New York, July 22.—The street railway men's strike in Manhattan and Brooklyn is past. The time schedules of the various surface railroads to-day are practically restored. General Master Workman Parsons said: "No more men will be called out, for the reason that it will be unwise to ask them to quit work when we have not sufficient money to give them living expenses."

Trial of Wardman Rioters.

Wallace Ida, July 22.—This morning
Judge Stewart held Coreoran's testimony taken before the coroner's jury inadmissible. In ruling, he said he had grave doubts as to correctness, but he preferred in a matter doubt to give the benefit to the defendant. The state has only one witness left to prove the running time of the train on the day of the riot.

Rose Sullivan, the comedienne, and her new company will play here next week with a change of comedies nightly.

AFTERNOON FIRE.

It Is Yet Burning, But Under Control—
Loss Nearly $200,000.

Chicago, July 22.—A fierce fire broke out in a 5-story building at the northeast corner of Wabash avenue and Monroe street at 1 o'clock to-day, and for a time threatened to consume the larger part of the block. By 2 o'clock the fire department claimed to have the fire under control, and expected to confine it to one building. The structure is occupied by Carroll & Lancaster, carpet dealers. The estimated loss aggregates $180,000; fully covered by insurance.

IS YOUR HAIR TURNING GRAY?

What does your mirror say?
Does it tell you of some little streaks of gray? Are you pleased? Do your friends of the same age show this loss of power also?
Just remember that gray
hair never becomes darker without help, while dark hair rapidly becomes gray when once the change begins.

Ayer's Hair Vigor

will bring back to your hair
the color of youth. It never fals. It is just as sure as that heat melts snow, or that water quenches fire.
It cleanses the scalp and prevents the formation of dandruff. It feeds and nourishes the bulbs of the hair making them produce a luxuriant growth. It stops the hair from falling out and gives a fine soft finish to the hair
as well.

We have a book on the Hair and

If you do not obtain all the benefits
you expected from the use of the

SATURDAY, JULY 22.

The banks are now in the same condition as many people—short of paper money.

Secretary Alger may be said to have retired from the firing line, as firing was certainly practiced in his immediate neighborhood.

Of 2,000 cows examined in Illinois, 400 have been found affected with tuberculosis. It is a very sickly country where even the cows need a family doctor.

General Otis should make haste to arrange a treaty of peace with the press correspondents, or he will find the tide of public opinion too strong for him to successfully combat.

The street car strikes may be regarded as an argument for public ownership. Somehow people who labor for the public do not have to strike, for the public is generally just, and does not wish laborers squeezed.

General Otis is not the first man to find out that muzzling correspondents and keeping them in the dark cannot be done very long, and that confidence in them with requests for co-operation would be more effective.

The moral effect of the peace congress is good. The Democratic national committee met in Chicago, and there were no hostilities. The Bryanites had everything their own way so completely that they fear the full roll precedes a storm.

Certain Democrats have gone mad, evidently, as one of their number has been sent across the ocean to ask Admiral Dewey if he would accept a nomination for the presidency. The admiral should throw the messenger into the salty deep.

The discovery of the diary of Lieutenant Gilmore, found in a Filipino prison, shows that the insurgent army makes no pretense of good treatment of the brave prisoners. They have been starved, beaten by guards, and stoned by people in towns through which they have passed.

Hell used to be considered a long way off, but Sam Jones said the other day that it was not far from St. Louis. Wherever the irreverend Georgian goes he states that there hell is, so it would seem that he carries it along with him, or else has the faculty of raising it from a proper old-time location.

The normal temperature for the last week reported upon was 69 degrees at Santa Fe, 73 at Denver, 82 at El Paso, 90 at Phoenix, 92 at Yuma, 67 at San Diego, 68 at Los Angeles. Santa Fe, as usual, made a better show than any place except those very far northward or on the coast.

There is a drought in the interior of Cuba, and farm crops are suffering. That is one evil thing that cannot be improved by the United States, but if poor crops result the Cuban counterpart of the Populists of Nebraska will blame the "Yankies," doubtless, for people are prone to blame.

Over at Trieste somebody congratulated Dewey upon his heroism at Manila. "I do not see any occasion to say that I manifested heroism," answered the admiral. "I was very seasick that morning, due to nervousness and a bad cup of coffee." In the eyes of a naval commander no one is a hero when seasick. But if seasickness can make a man do what Dewey did it has its uses in time of war.

General Alger said he would not retire under fire. It is pretty certain that he resigned because he had a tip that it would delight the president to have him do so. The secretary was invited to spend Sunday with Vice President Hobart, who has several times helped the president in delicate matters. The invitation was accepted, and the next morning after the visit the resignation was written. The vice presidency under Hobart has proved to have utility.

The killing of 115 Filipino robbers by one company of soldiers is sure to be condemned by the complaining faction and to be cited as proof that the soldiers are doing cruel things. But there is only one cause of complaint from the people in general, and that is that two-thirds of the robbers escaped. The islanders whom these men have been abusing must undoubtedly regret that the entire band was not exterminated.

A tabulated statement for forty-five cities shows that in the past six months the increase in building operations far exceeded that of any similar period for many years. The same table shows that realty transfers in cities broke the record. It took a year of increasing prosperity to silence the sneers and settle doubts of Democratic papers, but all of them now print such facts as the above and admit the existence of general prosperity. Yet they attach no political significance, preferring to be silent upon this point. Well, it is better to be dumb than to lie.

The African Methodist Episcopal church has a missionary society and sends a bishop to Africa to feed and clothe benighted people, who are, of course, ready to eat missionaries or other things, but many of whom are not worshipping for clothing. Every southern city has thousands of poor and ignorant people of African descent who need aid more, perhaps, than do foreigners, and they should be first looked after. The preachers seem to go on the theory that the soul of an untutored savage, who has not heard of sin and religion, is worth ninety and nine of those who are sinners knowingly and willfully. The colored church is not the only one whose zeal has led it to forget its aim to combat those in foreign lands.

The Year's Trade Record.

The exports for the year ending with June were over a quarter of a million dollars in excess of a billion in value. Even in the great year of 1896 the exports amounted to only $4,000,000 more, although that year's business was swelled by the fact that Europe had but a small wheat crop, and had to get a supply from this country. No year but 1898 has been near to 1899, in the record, the best being $175,000,000 short. The combined export and import trade was $77,000,000 greater than for 1898. For the first and only time the balance of trade was against America in 1899, as she bought $18,000,000 more than she sold. In the year just ended the balance was $59,000,000 in favor of the United States. The total trade for the past two years exceeded that of every other country in the world.

Bryan on Tariff and Trusts.

Candidate Bryan does not wish Haymeyer, who is an anti-free silver Democrat, to push the anti-trust agitation ahead of free silver, so combats the claim made by the king of the sugar trust, that repeal of the tariff would starve trusts. Mr. Bryan, citing the fact that American steel rails are sold to Europe for $15 per ton, says that if steel rails can be produced in the United States as cheaply as elsewhere, a steel rail trust could be formed without the aid of any tariff wall, and a trust organized under those conditions would be able to control the price of the product, as well as fix the rate of wages and the price of raw material. He holds that whenever an article can be exported in competition with foreign products a trust formed in that article can collect from the consumer the foreign price plus the cost of transportation. As the number of manufactured articles that can be sold abroad profitably is rapidly increasing, the increase of trusts in such articles follows, without the aid of import duties. Hence, "tariff reform, or even free trade, would be only a partial remedy."

Free Water in Cities.

The Washington Post, in an argument for municipal ownership of water works and public baths, says that there are in that city several thousand people whose average use of water does not exceed half a gallon per day each. This is carried home from hydrants in pails by women and children. The death rate among these people, who are mostly negroes, is large. Plenty of water supplied free to the people of cities would perhaps be economy in the long run. New Orleans has decided to compel every household to be connected with a sewer and to supply water free through service pipes in all houses. This is a practical method to check mortality, and particularly to bring about a sanitary condition that will prevent further ravages by yellow fever. Boston has carried the reform to the extent of providing baths in the public school buildings for children who have no facilities at home. In the cities of the country there must be millions of people who secure all of the water they use from street hydrants and carry it home in small quantities. They have no bathing facilities, and neglect this necessary manner of securing cleanliness. The results are disease, filling of poor houses and pauper graves. The doctrine of cleanliness could be advanced more by a plentiful and convenient supply of water than by a century of lecturing upon sanitation. Man naturally takes to water like an animal, and if it were always easy of access and possible to have bathing few would neglect it.

Head of the Irrigation Bureau.

State Engineer Elwood Mead, of Wyoming, has resigned in order to take charge of the United States bureau of irrigation, for which an appropriation was made at the last session of congress. He is the foremost western authority, and has done more by argument and practical methods to induce the government to take up this subject actively than almost any other man. He has been at the front of the movement in which Senator Warren has been spokesman in the United States senate. It is understood that headquarters will be at Denver. New Mexico will be sure to receive due attention from the bureau. It is undoubtedly the intention of Mr. Mead to do all in his power to hasten the day when the government shall store the flood waters of western streams and provide for redemption of arid land now unproductive. Recently he has been offered a commission in California to devise a more perfect system for that state, which once was the leader in the irrigation movement. To him alone is Wyoming indebted for her lead as a model in this line. Success in the narrow field has won him recognition as the most practical expert and broad authority, and he will have a life work before him in the broader field. The establishment of the bureau was hardly more important to the west than that the right man should be chosen to conduct it.

Audience Needed Enlightenment.

At a recent religious gathering at Chautauqua the minister conducting the meeting passed a hat among the congregation of women in order that written questions might be received concerning moral topics, which he expected to answer. The majority submitted showed that the assemblage, which was composed of moral people, if dull, were given to the consideration of trivial matters, and evidently not to thinking upon abstruse topics. Probably more intellectual questions would have been asked by a theater audience. The average assembly anywhere, however, is generally composed in the main of persons who do no serious thinking. The following are samples of the subjects the hearers desired to hear the minister discuss:

"If Jesus were in my place, would he wear a trained dress on the streets and sweep up microbes?"
"If he were overlooked by a street car conductor, what would he do?"
"Would he deceive a railroad company in regard to the age of a child?"
"Would he try to get into Chautauqua without buying a ticket?"
"If he were an American, would he love the Spaniards?"
It is needless to say the minister was disgusted with the trifling inquiries.

THE TERRITORIAL PRESS.

EL PASO'S DAM FOOLISHNESS. (Albuquerque News.)
From a recent article in the Irrigation Age we are able to pick the meats out of the present status of the Elephant Butte dam case.

It is generally understood in New Mexico that the whole animus of the opposition of the El Paso people to the erection of the dam is spite, malignity and cunningness, coupled with a bull-headed ignorance of what is for their best interests. The article is accompanied by two illustrations, the first representing the Rio Grande at flood tide. The second sketch shows the river as dry as an El Paso newspaper, whereas, if the flood had been stored and gradually let loose upon the fertile valleys, it would have returned to the bed of the river and caused a constant flow of the stream and deprived the Tejanos of an excuse for not having washed their faces since the 25th of last May.

TWO NEW ROADS.

(Alamogordo News.)
Two new railroads are talked of for New Mexico, which, if built, will open up some of the best and most productive portions of the territory. One of the roads it is proposed to run from Albuquerque to Durango, Colo., passing through San Juan county, now without transportation facilities except those furnished by the wagons of freighters and settlers. San Juan county has long been noted for its fruit and agricultural products, and in the past two years has been settled up rapidly by a progressive class of people. A railroad through that section would result in building up one of the most populous and prosperous communities in the entire southwest. The other road is to be built from Las Vegas to Taos by the way of Mora, county seat of Mora county. The country which would be traversed by this line is rich in timber, minerals, sheep and agricultural products, and following the construction of the road would come a large population of new settlers. The lack of transportation facilities has held the Mora country back, but it would not be long until it would step into the front rank of the prosperous portions of the territory if the road goes in.

PRESS COMMENTS.

THE NEXT STATE.
(Merced, Pa. Dispatch and Republican.)
Governor Roosevelt, of New York, while in New Mexico recently attending the reunion of the rough riders, told the New Mexicans that if they desired statehood he himself would go to Washington and plead in their behalf. The generous offer is richly merited, according to the opinion of the Buffalo Express. New Mexico does desire statehood. It has been an applicant for years. It has long had a population much greater than has sufficed for the admission of other states. It earned statehood so long ago as during the civil war, when it remained loyal to the Union and paid the penalty thereof by being compelled, in its isolated position, to fight out a little war of its own with the Texans that resulted, after reinforcements at last reached the territory from Colorado, in driving back the Confederate forces. This loyalty was ill-rewarded, yet New Mexico in the recent Spanish war came to the front again with no less patriotism, furnishing a large proportion of the men who made up the famous rough riders.

The fact that New Mexico's population is still largely of the Spanish type is a petty one to urge against these services. The people may preserve the Spanish speech and many of the Spanish institutions, but they are loyal Americans. The next congress should promptly give them their rights as such.

EL PASO LEARNS.

(El Paso Graphic.)
Of the Times' proposition to hold a convention in El Paso to consider the irrigation problem, the New Mexico papers have said a great deal, and they think the proposition as coming from the Times is preposterous. In fact, the senseless and uncalled for course of that paper upon the dam question has done El Paso an unquestionable injury.

COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION.

Local Commercial Bodies Should Compile Information.

John A. Davis, the industrial commissioner of the Santa Fe, who is now in New Mexico, is quoted as saying: "It is not lack of resources that is crippling New Mexico. It is absolutely impossible to get reliable information of the kind that is most needed, whether mines, manufacture or agriculture be the subject under consideration. For instance, I have been traveling through the territory with Mr. Weinrich, representative of the American Beet Sugar Company, who is seeking for a location in which to build a 3,000-ton factory. Nowhere has data been available regarding the amount of land under cultivation, the acreage that can be irrigated, the exact nature of the soil, etc. When it comes to minerals, the situation is little better. I could send men here with millions to invest if they could secure beforehand the definite authentic information needed."

IS IT RIGHT

For An Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for 20 years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past 20 years. For sale by A. C. Ireland.

STORAGE RESERVOIRS

THERE SHOULD BE SEVERAL CONSTRUCTED.

Enough Water Passes Down the Valley to Irrigate the Land—Refers to Some Facts of History.

In the El Paso Times is a communication by J. L. Campbell, civil engineer, on the subject of dams on the Rio Grande, as follows:

The article entitled "Government Aid Wanted," appearing in your issue of Sunday, has induced some reminiscence. In view of what I have to say, let it first be distinctly understood that the writer fully concurs with your correspondent relative to the gravity of the status of the water problem of the Rio Grande, and in so far as they may stand at present as the opponents of a liberal, fair-minded and comprehensive policy touching the proper solution of said problem, they have his hearty endorsement and support. I say this advisedly, as I believe that such a policy, had it been pursued in the past by the self-constituted champions of the people of El Paso, would not have obstructed the legitimate and bona fide enterprise for the solution of the problem in question with which I have had the honor to be connected during the past six years.

On the contrary, had not the narrow-minded and ridiculous policy of the advocates of the projected international dam at El Paso been maintained in opposition to the Elephant Butte dam, the latter would now be obtaining some of the surplus waters of the Rio Grande and delivering it past El Paso in lieu of the present absolutely dry river bed. This would have been accomplished without impairing any of the possibilities for the construction of the El Paso dam.

We are all agreed on the question of government aid. But there are some people in this valley who, from past experience, will want to know what kind of aid is going to be given them. The Rio Grande Dam and Irrigation Company has had government aid to help them not to build their dam. They included $500 of El Paso county money, which, I believe, was illegally appropriated by the county authorities to fight a company in a foreign jurisdiction.

The interests of the people of New Mexico and their experience in this matter have been and are identical with those of the above company. They are to-day painfully aware that governmental aid has been invoked by mistake. El Paso interests to defeat the best prospects for an adequate water supply that they ever had.

Now it is possible that El Paso has come to her senses and experienced a change of heart in this matter. When she has demonstrated this to the satisfaction of the people of New Mexico the proposed appeal to them for aid will come with better grace. They are likely to be suspicious and may want "plans and specifications" in detail as to what is desired by El Paso. They will want to know whether the latter is still interested in and working only for the international dam; or does her philanthropy now also contemplate other dams and storage higher up by which only could New Mexico desire any benefit?

In view of past misunderstandings it would be well for the success of so laudable a proposition that the proposed call for a mass meeting be set forth in a sufficiently specific and comprehensive manner that will reveal its real desires and purposes. Notwithstanding that one or two of your correspondents were inclined to indulge in "glittering generalities," platitudes and some "gush," it is possible that they have studied the question in an impartial and broad-minded way, and are able to offer a plan and specifications that will guarantee a proper care of all the interests involved. New Mexico will honor the man who does that.

On behalf of El Paso, I am happy to state that I know that her obstructionists are in the minority, while the large majority of her people desire and will welcome any enterprise that gives reasonable guarantee of a better water supply.

I note that one of your correspondents in this matter has not been identified with the majority, and is now author of the statement that foreign capital cannot come to solve this problem. If such were really true, he would be one of those whom we would have to thank, as he has aided and abetted the suit of the government which involved the silly and dishonest contention that the Rio Grande is navigable in New Mexico. In view of the fact that said suit to enjoin the Rio Grande Irrigation and Land Company is not finally decided, but has, except in one point still open, resulted entirely favorable to the company, and since the question of fact as to the effect of the condition of the river in New Mexico on the limited navigation below Rio Grande City will unquestionably develop triumphantly for the company, and remove all existing subtleties to prevent building the Elephant Butte dam, it is surprising and unaccountable, except on the ground of partisanship, that a gentleman who, it is presumed, should have some judicial capacity, should anticipate the verdict of the courts.

I am not pleading for the Elephant Butte dam, but simply referring to some facts of history. I am very much afraid that the opposition to the former has practically accomplished its object by the complete demoralization of the financial backing of that enterprise through the delay incident to the suit. Let us hope that the next promising enterprise in this direction will not suffer a like fate from similar causes.

If governmental aid can be enlisted to attempt a comprehensive development of the water resources of the Rio Grande (a forlorn hope in my opinion), well and good, but it behooves the inhabitants of the valley generally to see that the direction of such an enterprise is not controlled by the men who have already demonstrated their narrow-mindedness and apparent inability to grasp the broad principles underlying the problem.

They have persistently maintained throughout there is room for one reservoir only, and insist in placing it in the middle of the valley, thereby rendering one-half of the resources thereof nil.

ELY'S CREAM BALM is a positive cure. Apply to the nostrils. It is quickly absorbed. 50 cents at Druggists or by mail; samples 10c. by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., New York City.

The writer maintains that the true solution of the problem will be in the creation of a half dozen reservoirs, if you please, distributed throughout the length of the valley. This theory is based on the fact that at one time or another during each year enough water passes down the valley to irrigate all the land. It can not be stored in any one reservoir of practicable dimensions, and if it could it would be folly to bottle it up in the middle of the valley, where it at once becomes useless for the land above, and more than sufficient for the land below.

El Paso should have a reservoir of her own, certainly—a proposition no one has ever opposed—but not so at the expense of every other point above.

The ideal and attainable condition for the water supply of the Rio Grande valley will be a chain of storage reservoirs beginning as high up as may be necessary and extending below El Paso. Such a system would distribute the storage in the places and proportions needed. Such control and equitable distribution of the water as would follow would in a few seasons convert the whole valley into one vast storage reservoir; the duty of water for irrigation would rise as the land became saturated and a much reduced quantity would become necessary; the flow of the river would become more equitable, and if it were a question of navigation the latter would inevitably improve rather than impair, as has been insincerely contended. The El Paso dam would be but one link in the chain.

If she is willing to do nothing more than create that one link let her refrain from the creation of others by other means. So far from being a menace, additional reservoirs above will be so much added guarantee that El Paso will have a great storage that will eventually serve her.

Thousands are Trying It.

In order to prove the great merit of Ely's Cream Balm, the most effective cure for Catarrh and Cold in Head, we have prepared a generous trial size for 10 cents. Get it of your druggist or send 10 cents to ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren St., N. Y. City.

I suffered from catarrh of the worst kind ever since a boy, and I never hoped for cure, but Ely's Cream Balm seems to do even that. Many acquaintances have used it with excellent results. —Oscar Ostrum, 45 Warren Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Ely's Cream Balm is the acknowledged cure for catarrh and contains no cocaine, mercury nor any injurious drug. Price, 50 cents. At druggists or by mail.

WANTED INDEMNITY.

KNOW HE HAD A CAUSE FOR COMPLAINT AND SAID SO.

Not Only That, but Prepared a Bill For the Edification of the Secretary of War, and Vowed That He Would Collect It.

He was wandering around the corridors of the state, war and navy building, and his face wore an anxious expression. He had nearly completed his fifth round of the place and was gravely reading the inscriptions above the numerous doors when an attendant approached and asked him if he wanted something.

"In course I do," said the visitor. "Do you think I'd come to town less'n I wanted 't see some one?"

"Well, who are you looking for?" said the attendant.

"I reckon I want to see Secretary Alger."

"Go up to the next floor," directed the attendant.

The visitor made his way to the floor above with much laborious shuffling, and his cowhide boots seemed to trip over the stone flags. He finally discovered the doorway leading into the sanctum of the secretary of war and was approached by the porter who sits and guards this door.

"Who did you want to see?" said the porter.

"Waal, I reckon Secretary Alger 'ud do for what I want," quoth the visitor as he toyed bravely with a long, much creased slip of paper.

"The secretary is busy," said the porter, "and I doubt if you can see him this morning."

"Waal, I got to see him, an' I'm goin' to see him. They ain't goin' to work no funny business with me. I read in the papers how they don't see no one less'n they see a pull, but I cum 't town 't see him, an' I'm goin' to see him."

"Tell me your business," said the porter, "and perhaps I can get him to do something for you."

"Waal, it's like this. 'Yee I got a bill here shet the government owes me, an' I want the money. When the dern soldiers was at Manassas an' comin from Camp Alger, they stalled the mules along the road by my farm, an' I reckon they didn't feed them mules, fer they e't up about 200 yards of my wire fence, an' as they was army mules the war department hez 't pay fer it. I got the bill here, made out accordin' t' law, an' I want the money."

"How could the mules eat a wire fence?" asked the porter.

"I know that they did eat it, an' it was good, hard wire fence at that."

"I think you'd better come around this afternoon when the cashier is here," said the porter. "He'll attend to your bill all right."

"Waal, all right. I'll come round this afternoon. They can't fool me on no business. I know my wire was e't, an' I know them mules e't it."

The porter smiled as the visitor plodded down the corridor, but the latter was still clinging carefully to his bill. —Washington Times.

A Paradox.

I notice those women of the International Congress spend most of their time running down the men.

Yes. The trouble with them is that they can't catch any. —Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Mrs. Sanders had ten hemorrhages and people here said she would never be well again."

W. A. Sanders, Esq., of Hern, Mason County, W. Va., writes: "My wife had hemorrhages of the lungs. She had ten hemorrhages and people here said she would never be well again. But she began to take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and she soon began to gain strength and flesh. After taking ten bottles she was entirely cured. If you think this will do you any good to publish just use it, and if it does you no harm, it is a most omniscient medicine. They may enclose a self-addressed envelope with stamp, and I will answer."

When anything is wrong with the lungs there is no time to lose. The steps are easy and quick from a "slight cold" to bronchitis; from bronchitis to pneumonia; from pneumonia to permanent weakened lungs, and from that to dread consumption itself.

The time to cure consumption is before it gets a start. Take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery on the first appearance of cough or cold, and you will never have a hemorrhage or a tubercle. The "Discovery" is the greatest health builder in the world. It first straightens out all digestive disorders, and aids the body in ridding itself of poisonous effluvia. It tones up the stomach, invigorates the liver and in connection with Dr. Pierce's Peppermint Cure keeps the bowels open and regular. Don't let an unscrupulous medicine dealer foist some substitute when you want Dr. Pierce's medicines. Assert your rights—get what you ask for, and be well.

HERMIT OF THE ORGANS.

Story of the Life and Death of Father Matteo.

One of the most mysterious and at the same time pathetic figures that ever appeared upon the Santa Fe trail was a gentle, saintly, self-sacrificing priest, familiarly known as "El Solitario," who for several years lived in a cave in the Rincon range of mountains, N. M., and in his honor the Mexicans have christened the highest peak "El Cumbre del Solitario"—the hermit's mountain.

He was always reticent about himself and seldom spoke of his past life, but allowed it to be known that his exile and self-denial were not involuntary, and that his sacrifices for his fellowmen were to expiate some great crime. He was of Italian birth, and his name was Father Matteo. Many romantic tales of his early life were in circulation. Most of them were inventions or speculations to account for his presence in the mountains. It was generally understood among the frontiersmen that he had fought with Garibaldi and had fled from Italy under the curse of the pope. He was also the hero of a romantic love story, and his tragic death was attributed to the brother of a girl in Naples. But whatever his former life may have been there was no doubt of his piety, and he lived like a saint, administering consolation and offering hope to the unhappy, blinding up wounds and healing the sick in body as well as in soul.

The fact that he maintained no relations with his priestly duties and was never known to communicate with Bishop Lamy at Santa Fe, who was himself a conspicuous and picturesque character of long experience upon the frontier, was accepted as evidence that Padre Matteo had been deposed and perhaps excommunicated. But that made no difference with his ministrations, and even increased his popularity. His profound sorrow, his unremitting zeal, his complete sincerity were enough to satisfy the rough miners and herdsmen to whom he ministered and the suspicion that the church had refused him absolution aroused sympathy for a fellow-sinner. Father Matteo was highly educated. He spoke all languages. He had a knowledge of all literature. No foreigner ever came into the Rincon country but the priest could talk to him of his home in his own language. Besides his prayer book and his breviary, the only article that seemed to be associated with his past life was a much battered mandolin, upon which he played both secular and religious airs, to the great enjoyment of his parishioners. He was a master of the instrument, and it was the only diversion this gentle man of sorrow ever indulged in.

His familiar and beloved form had been missed from its usual haunts for a week or ten days when a party of miners found his lifeless body lying on the rugged trail that led to his cave. A rumored danger of unusual design and evidently of Italian manufacture had been driven between his shoulders into his heart. The assassin had attacked him from behind, and apparently had escaped without meeting his eyes. His rosary, that always hung about his neck, was firmly clasped in his fingers, and the expression upon his face was one of holy resignation. No trace of the assassin was ever found, but it was the general impression that the murder was committed by one of a large gang of Italian railroad hands, and was the result of a vendetta.

On the walls of his cave the miners carved an inscription which read:

"Matteo Boccaglia. Josu Maria." The humble Mexican herdsmen, who idolized the priest, erected a semi-circle of crosses before the entrance, twelve in number, typical of the twelve apostles whom he so faithfully served. On the anniversary of St. Matthew, who was his patron saint, the natives always visit the cave, and for the lack of any other methods of expressing their regret and remembrance build a big fire. The Indians and the miners also reverence his memory. He was well known along the Santa Fe trail from the Missouri river to the Rio Grande. —Wm. E. Curtis in Chicago Record.

THE ERA OF THE COW.

Her Supremacy Today in That "Garden Spot of Agriculture," the Middle West.

(Harper's Weekly.)

Ten years ago in the middle west an average horse would bring the price of at least a half dozen average cows. Today, side by side, an average cow is worth more than an average horse. Indeed, a span of good horses is often sold for the price of an average cow.

So, ten years ago, if the average farmer took to market a bushel of oats, he received for it as much money as he commonly got for five or six pounds of butter. To-day a single pound of his butter—he having meantime learned the secret of making it good—is worth two bushels of oats. Similarly the wheat market has declined, so that the farmer no longer cares to raise that cereal, though he might do so did he choose in many regions where fifteen years ago the crop failed. Then it seemed an awful calamity that wheat failed to grow abundantly. Now no one really cares whether it will grow or not, for the greater value of the cow's contributions to the economy of farming has been demonstrated. Fifteen years ago the prairies were great waving seas of wheat fields, interspersed at most with insignificant and apologetic pastures, in which grazed a few neglected cattle. To-day the same prairies are checked with great rolling fields of timothy and gigantic stretches of rustling corn fields, and in the abundant pastures of literal thousands of rolling hills, sleek cattle, to which all those other things are tributary, by their suggestive even if unwitting presence, announce their victory and their supremacy.

Whatever the future may hold for the middle west, the present era in that "garden spot of agriculture" is the era of the cow.
