- Performance: musical practice that involves the voice, instruments and physical movement.
- Psychomotor: contributes to the development of motor behaviours related to general coordination, practical coordination, lateralisation and spatiotemporal perception.
- Creative: specifically working with the creation and composition of music using improvisation as a starting point.
- Notation: the language of music or system of codes with which we represent sound and which is present as an element in the development of musicality.
- Analytical or critical: studying, commenting on and evaluating the musical items which are performed and heard.
