

Lesson 7

Active and Passive Voice

Introduction

Sentences can be stated in the active voice or the passive voice.

- In the active voice, the subject of the sentence clearly performs the action.

subject    action
 [Maddy] won the All-Around Student Achievement Contest.

- In the passive voice, the subject receives the action expressed by the verb. The verb consists of a form of the helping verb be plus the past participle of the main verb.

subject                    helping verb    past participle
 The [All-Around Student Achievement Contest] was won by Maddy.

- In the passive-voice sentence example, the subject of the sentence changed, but the overall meaning did not. Maddy performed the action of winning, but she was not the subject. The contest, which was the direct object of the action in the first sentence, is the subject of the second sentence.

Guided Practice

Underline the simple subject in each sentence. Then write A for active or P for passive to identify the voice of each sentence.

Hint

In the passive voice, the person who performs the action isn't always identified.

Example:

The award will be presented on Friday.

The sentence doesn't tell who will present the award. Award is the simple subject, but it doesn't perform the action.

- Maddy is considered one of the best writers in school. _____
- She writes amazing articles for the school newspaper. _____
- Her report on ways to reduce waste in the cafeteria was chosen as Article of the Year. _____
- This year's spring play was also written by Maddy. _____
- The eighth grader even excels in math and science. _____
- Last year, she received a chance to go to Science Camp in Washington, DC. _____
- Camp applications were distributed to all students. _____
- Many students took advantage of the opportunity and applied. _____

Independent Practice

For numbers 1 and 2, which is the best way to change the voice in each sentence from active to passive without changing the meaning?

- 1 The committee chose three students to attend Science Camp.
- A Science Camp was chosen for three students to attend.
  - B Three students were chosen by the committee to attend Science Camp.
  - C Science Camp was chosen for three students by the committee.
  - D Three students who attended Science Camp were chosen by the committee.

- 2 The Science Camp sent the students a letter of acceptance.
- A The Science Camp was sent a letter of acceptance for the students.
  - B A letter of acceptance to the students was received from the Science Camp.
  - C A letter of acceptance was received by the Science Camp for the students.
  - D The students were sent a letter of acceptance by the Science Camp.

Lesson 13

Using Context Clues

 Introduction Sometimes as you read, you may come to a word or a phrase that you don't understand. Often, you can determine the meaning of an unfamiliar word from its context, the words and sentences around it.

- Different kinds of context clues help readers figure out the meanings of words.

Context Clue	Signal Words	Example
Definition	is, or, which is, means	The land pulls in opposite directions along a fault , which is a crack in the earth's crust.
Example	for example, for instance, such as	Geoscientists, such as geologists and seismologists , study earthquakes.
Comparison	like, similar, also, as well	Like a large earthquake, smaller seismic events may also be destructive.
Contrast	but, or, yet, in spite of, however, whereas, although	In spite of the chaos caused by an earthquake, order is eventually restored .

- A word's position and function in a sentence can also be a clue to its meaning. What is the meaning of geometrogomy in this sentence?

Scientists measure the geometrogomy of earthquakes.

Geometrogomy isn't a real word! But if it were, you could figure out something about its meaning from its use in the sentence. Since it comes after the word the, you know that geometrogomy is a noun. And because of its use in the sentence, you also know that it is probably an observable "thing"—something scientists can measure.

 Guided Practice Underline the context clue that can help you figure out the meaning of each underlined word or phrase. Write the meaning on a separate piece of paper.

Hint

A context clue is often in the same sentence as an unfamiliar word. The clue may also be in a sentence that comes before or after the sentence that includes the difficult word.

Before they strike land, tornadoes can often be detected by Doppler radar, an electronic system that measures wind speeds. A tornado begins when a wind system forms a huge vortex. This formation is similar to water swirling toward a drain. This condition may trigger multiple tornadoes, which may occur simultaneously or one after the other. Whereas many regions are fairly safe from tornadoes, others are susceptible to them. Communities in tornado-prone areas try to mitigate their risk. For instance, they establish public warning systems.

Independent Practice

For numbers 1–4, use context clues to answer the questions about each paragraph.

The wind velocity, or speed of motion, in a violent tornado can reach 300 miles per hour. The effects of such a storm can be catastrophic, killing people and destroying wildlife. Within as little as a few seconds, a tornado can devastate a town in its path.

1 What does the word velocity mean in the paragraph?

- A position
- B change in direction
- C swiftness
- D size of something

2 What does the word catastrophic mean in the paragraph?

- A dynamic
- B productive
- C tragic
- D plentiful

Answer Form

1 (A) (B) (C) (D)

2 (A) (B) (C) (D)

3 (A) (B) (C) (D)

4 (A) (B) (C) (D)

Number Correct

When weather forecasters predict a tornado, it is advisable for people threatened by the storm to find safe shelter. If the storm destroys property, emergency workers will do their best to accommodate storm victims. For example, they will set up shelters for those who lost homes.

3 What does the word accommodate mean?

- A to provide with something needed
- B to soothe and comfort
- C to give necessary information
- D to investigate in order to report on

4 What words from the paragraph helped you figure out the meaning of accommodate?

- A "When weather forecasters predict a tornado"
- B "people threatened by the storm"
- C "emergency workers will do their best"
- D "set up shelters for those who lost homes"

Determining Theme

Theme: Teamwork

You may read fiction for pleasure or entertainment. But did you know that most stories also provide lessons about life? These lessons are expressed through the themes, or messages, at the heart of what the author writes. Even your childhood stories have themes. For example, the story “Pinocchio” may have taught you the important lesson about honesty.

To identify a theme, connect ideas conveyed through the story’s setting, plot, and characters.

Study the image and caption below. Think about the message being conveyed.

A blind runner and his guide approach the finish line during a paralympic event in Malaysia.

Now, suppose the people in the picture are characters in a story. Consider what they are doing. Circle any details in the picture and caption that suggest a message or life lesson.

Read the chart below to see how analyzing details can help you determine a theme.

Character Details	Setting Details	Action Details	Theme
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• one sighted runner, acting as a guide</li> <li>• one blind runner who wants to be in a race</li> </ul>	a track and field event for people with disabilities	the two runners are approaching the finish line	No matter what obstacles they face, people can accomplish amazing things through teamwork.

Whether you read for pleasure, entertainment, or a school assignment, you can learn valuable lessons from stories. Thinking carefully about a story’s characters, setting, and plot—and how they work together—will help you figure out, or infer, the story’s theme.

Read the beginning of a story about a boy named Holden and his grandfather.

Genre: Realistic Fiction

Holden and Pops by Evan Gerlachen

“When you’re at your grandfather’s after school, be sure to do something other than sit by yourself playing video games, Holden.”

“I know, Mom, but what else is there to do?” whined Holden, washing cereal bowls.

“Have you ever tried to show him one of your games? At least you’d be doing something together,” Mom suggested.

“Oh, Pops wouldn’t be interested,” Holden shrugged as they headed out to the car. “Plus he’d never catch on—you know how he is about big, scary technology.”

As Holden got out of the car, Mom tried once more. “You know, Pops might surprise you. Keep your options open. You might even ask him about ‘big, scary technology’ some time.” Holden puzzled over her words on the way into school.

Explore how to answer this question: “What do the details in this part of the story suggest about how people sometimes judge others?”

In most stories, authors do not state a theme directly. To figure out an author’s message, you need to look for key details and see how they develop over the course of the text.

Identify key details about each character’s attitudes and opinions. Then complete the chart below.

Character	Comments About Pops	Attitude Toward Pops
Holden	Says Pops wouldn’t be interested in games and thinks technology is scary
Mom	Suggests that Pops might be interested in video games and know something about technology	Seems to feel Pops is more interesting than Holden thinks

With a partner, read aloud and act out the story’s beginning paragraphs. Then take turns explaining a theme, or lesson, that the author may be starting to develop in this part of the story.

Close Reading

On page 70, Holden doesn't want to spend time with Pops. On this page, circle words that tell how Holden's feelings change. Noticing how a character changes can help you understand a story's theme.

Continue reading about Holden and Pops. Use the Close Reading and the Hint to help you answer the question.

That afternoon, Holden sat hunkered over his video game controller making vintage airplanes swoop across the screen.

"Whatcha doin', Son?" Pops asked.

"Just a game," Holden answered distractedly. Then, remembering Mom's advice, he made himself ask, "Wanna see?"

Pops settled next to Holden and immediately exclaimed, "Say, is that plane a Tomahawk? You know, she can go up to 20,000 feet to evade that enemy fighter."

Holden pivoted to gape in shock. Pops shrugged and said, "Didn't I ever tell you about the Tomahawk I flew in '41?"

Hint

Which choice helps explain why Holden's attitude toward Pops changes?

Circle the correct answer.

Which statement best expresses the theme of the story?

- A Strong family bonds can develop only through shared interests.
- B People from different generations have little in common.
- C Children should always listen to advice from their parents.
- D Assuming things about people may stop us from really knowing them.

One Word of Advice by Charles Mills

- 1 Angie was worn out preparing for the school career fair, which was her brainchild and her responsibility. She'd spent hours researching companies, contacting executives, and making sure the school had the technological capability to handle state-of-the-art presentations. With three days to go, she whisked into the media center and greeted her friend with, "Karim, I've been multitasking like crazy, and I still can't imagine how I'll get everything done."
- 2 Karim leaned over and said, "Delegate. Plenty of friends have offered their help, and you need to take them up on it."
- 3 Angie winced and clutched her clipboard more tightly. Deep down she was certain she was the only person who could get everything right. But Karim grabbed Angie's clipboard from her and flipped through the pages. "So. What seems most overwhelming to you?"
- 4 Angie groaned and sighed. Then she responded, "I'm not really sure how to evaluate the server's capabilities or the sound system's amplitude, and I don't know when I'm going to put together the introductory video."
- 5 Karim nodded, pulled a few pages out of the stack, and penciled names on each one. Then he handed them to Angie, and said, "I know people. Now delegate."
- 6 On the day of the fair, Angie looked as if she were having the time of her life when Karim saw her.
- 7 "Oh, Karim, did you see Danny's introductory video? Wasn't it fantastic? I could never have come up with that myself," she gushed. Angie realized that she needed to give credit where credit was due.
- 8 "From now on, call me Angie the Delegator; the best thing I ever did was hand that clipboard to you!"

from “The Canoe Breaker”

by Margaret Bemister

1 Once in a certain tribe there was a young man who had no name. For it was the law in that tribe that every youth had to do some deed that would give to him his name. This young man had tried in many ways to do something that would make the chief tell him that he was a great warrior. Several times he had tried to kill a bear, but had failed. He had gone forth in battle, hoping to kill some powerful enemy, but no one had fallen under his tomahawk. He had gone on long hunting trips, hoping to bring home the skin of some wild animal, but had always returned empty-handed. So his brave, young heart felt very sad, for the young men of the tribe laughed at him for not having won a name for himself.

2 One summer day, the tribe left their camp on the lake shore and went back among the hills on a hunting trip. After they had gone some distance, the young man left the others and wandered off by himself, hoping that this time he would kill some animal, and so be no longer scorned by his companions. He tramped for many hours through the forest and over the hills, without catching sight of anything. At length, he climbed one hill which was higher than the others, and from here he could see the small creek which flowed through the hills down to the lake. As he was looking at it, he thought he saw some dark objects along the shore of the creek. They seemed about the size of canoes. He scanned the hills anxiously, and at length could see a band of Indians making their way along the trail made by the hunters in the morning.

3 At once the young man knew there was great danger ahead, for these Indians, the Shuswaps, were the enemies of his tribe and now were following their trail, and when they found them, they would kill them. Quickly the young man made his way down the hill, and through the forest to the spot where the hunters had camped for their evening meal. Running up to them, he cried, “Return at once to your lodges. Our enemies are now on our trail. They are in the forest on the other side of this hill. I shall return and delay them while you reach your lodges in safety.”

4 Then, without waiting for a reply, he turned and ran back in the direction from which he had come. By short cuts through the hills, he made his way to the creek and found, as he expected, that the Indians had left their canoes tied at its mouth. Seizing his tomahawk, he began to break the canoes, and soon had a hole made in all of them except one. Leaving the creek, he mounted the hill and from there could see the Shuswaps. He began to wave his arms and call wildly to attract their chief. At last they noticed him and began to make their way towards him. The young man was delighted, for now he knew that his tribe could escape in safety, while their enemies were returning towards the creek. Soon the Shuswaps neared the top of the hill, and he knew he must think of some plan to delay them here. Suddenly he dropped to the ground and lay there as though insensible. With a run the Shuswaps gained the summit and surrounded him. He lay face downwards with his arms stretched out. They turned him over on his back and peered into his face. Not a muscle moved; not even his eyelids quivered. Then the chief bent over him and felt his heart. “He [is not dead], he said, “but the Great Spirit has called his spirit to go on a long journey. . . . Let us place his body under the pine-trees, there to await the return of the spirit.”

5 The Indians lifted the body of the young man, carried it to a clump of pine-trees and laid it down. Then they walked some yards away and held a council.

6 As soon as they were a safe distance away, the young man jumped up. He ran down the hill, and reaching the canoes, jumped into the unbroken one and began to paddle down the creek.

7 The Shuswaps turned and saw him. With fierce cries, they began to race down the hillside, and when they arrived at the spot where they had left their canoes, and saw what had happened, they filled the air with their angry yells. The young man was now out on the lake in the canoe, and they were unable to follow him, as all the other canoes were wrecked. They ran angrily along the lake shore, thinking he would land on their side, but instead, he made his way across the lake to the other side.

8 When the young man reached the shore, he again seized his tomahawk, and this time broke the canoe with which he had saved his life. The defeated Shuswaps, standing on the shore, saw him do this, and again they filled the air with their angry yells. There was nothing for them to do but to return to their camp, while the young man made his way along the lake shore to the village of his tribe. When he reached there, he found that he was no longer a man without a name. His brave deed had won for him the name of Kasamoldin—the canoe breaker—and ever afterwards in his tribe, and to others, he was known by this name.

The Battle Picnic

by Jonas Sellers

- 1 [Scene: a well-furnished drawing room in a fancy Washington D.C. home, July 16, 1861.]
- 2 MANFRED [Excitedly.] Well, the war with the Confederates has finally begun! We are determined to march to Richmond, and we will certainly overcome those rebels before the month has ended. Our victory will be swift, and the rebels will learn that they should not have unleashed Pandora's box with their traitorous ways.
- 3 JENNY [Distressed.] I believed that the war had already started in April, when the Confederate soldiers fired boldly on Fort Sumter. Surely that was an easy victory for them, and thankfully no one was killed on either side. But with all the volunteers President Lincoln gathered, why would the Confederate forces try to attack us now? I have heard officials say that our display of strength would frighten the Confederates into submission. [Pausing briefly in thought.] I am anxious about beginning a war; surely, many people will be harmed by such a serious act.
- 4 MANFRED [With a knowing smile.] I believe, sister, that you are less worried about war in general than about the safety of your own dear brother. Do not waste a moment worrying on my account; we will reward those Southern soldiers with a hearty beating, bring the black sheep back into the Union, and be at restful, even boring, peace again before you notice I am gone. By fighting, we will show our strength and our well-deserved confidence because we are battling on the proper side.
- 5 JENNY When must you leave?
- 6 MANFRED I came to say farewell, dear sister, as we march as soon as we are gathered. [Manfred walks over to the window and looks out.] Look at all the fine and fancy carriages filled with townspeople, determined to travel the road with our troops. What a stirring show of public support!
- 7 JENNY [Joining him at the window.] What can they be thinking of, to so merrily follow troops into battle?
- 8 MANFRED They are thinking that the battle will offer rewarding entertainment. They are thinking they will see our troops easily march to victory, just as I am thinking.
- 9 [Scene: July 21, 1861, along the Bull Run River, near Manassas Junction; there is a mass of confusion, with sightseers grabbing baskets and jumping into carriages; soldiers running toward the road heading back to Washington, and many soldiers dead and dying on the battlefield.]
- 10 JENNY [Totally distraught, staring toward the field.] Father, where is Manfred? Can you see Manfred anywhere on the battlefield?
- 11 MR. BENJAMIN [Demandingly.] Manfred will have to take care of himself. Sit down and get settled now, quickly as you can. The road is already filled to overflowing with panicky people.
- 12 JENNY Father, this is the most horrifying experience of my life. Why did we come? Why did so many people come, to picnic at a battle?

Go On

- 13 MR. BENJAMIN [Squarely facing Jenny.] Look at the growing hoards of Confederate soldiers, advancing so quickly. Our troops are fleeing off the field like bats from hell, hurrying back toward Washington, dropping their goods and guns so that they can run even faster.
- 14 JENNY I do not think they are cowards, Father. Who would stand at such a show of force?
- 15 MR. BENJAMIN We must go. We can talk later. Before long, the Confederates will be chasing us back to Washington, and who could imagine what might happen if they were to apprehend us?
- 16 JENNY I knew we should not have come!
- 17 MR. BENJAMIN Yes, I see that now.
- 18 JENNY [Solemnly.] I hope that Manfred makes it home safely. I hope . . . but I am not at all certain.

11

At the beginning of the play, Manfred says, "Our victory will be swift, and the rebels will learn that they should not have unleashed Pandora's box with their traitorous ways." Read this telling of the Greek myth "Pandora's Box."

Pandora's Box

Long ago, the god Zeus was angry with two brothers named Epimetheus and Prometheus. Zeus, who was the most powerful of all the gods, had a plan to get even. He ordered another god, Hephaestos, to make a very beautiful woman out of clay. This woman, Pandora, was sent to Earth by Zeus to marry Epimetheus. As a wedding gift, Zeus gave Pandora a box but made her promise never to open it.

Pandora was very curious by nature, and after resisting for as long as she could, she finally opened the box. Out flew all the horrors and evils of the world—hate, disease, misery, poverty, envy, and more—which Zeus had hidden away in the box. Frightened by all the evil rushing out, Pandora quickly closed the lid, not realizing that there was one thing still trapped inside. That thing was hope.

What does Manfred suggest through his reference to Pandora's box? Use details from both "The Battle Picnic" and "Pandora's Box" in your answer.

The Gift of the Flute

a Brule Sioux legend retold by Isabella Stroud

1 Long ago, in the land of the Sioux, there was a time before the People had flutes. They had drums made of wood and animal hide, and rattles made of gourd; but they had no flutes, for they had never seen or heard one.

2 One day, a young hunter left his village to follow the fresh tracks of an elk. He carried with him a new wooden bow and a deerskin quiver holding arrows carved of wood, with fine feathers and flint stone arrowheads as sharp as glass. Into the mountains he followed the tracks of the elk, who remained always just out of sight, so that the hunter never caught a glimpse of him. The elk's tracks led deep into a forest—where, as night fell, both they and the elk disappeared.

3 As darkness filled the woods, the moon did not rise, and the hunter was forced to admit that until daybreak he was lost. He ate a little of the wasna—dried meat, mixed with berries and fat—that he carried in his deerskin pouch, and followed the sound of water to a cold stream, from which he drank. Then he wrapped himself in his fur robe and tried to sleep. But the night sounds of the forest were ones of animals calling, and owls hooting, and trees groaning, and instead of sleeping the hunter lay wakefully listening. The more he listened, the more he heard, until he realized that he was hearing a sound he had never heard before. It was a sound of wind—though not only of wind—and it was strangely lovely, yet dry and mournful, like the whistle of a ghost. And it was somewhat frightening. With a shiver, the hunter gathered his robe closer about him and took a long, long time to fall asleep.

4 When the hunter awoke with the sun, he looked up and saw wagnuka, the redheaded woodpecker, on a branch of the tree under which he had slept. The bird flitted to another tree, and to another, each time looking back as if to say, “Follow!” Again the hunter heard the lovely, strange sound of the night before, and he took up his bow and quiver and followed the woodpecker from tree to tree through the forest, until the bird came to a great cedar. There it paused on one hollow, slender branch, and began hammering with its beak at holes it had pecked in the wood. When the wind entered the holes the woodpecker had carved, the branch whistled with the lovely, strange sound. “Kola—friend,” said the hunter to the woodpecker, “permit me to take this branch back to my people!”

5 So the hunter returned to his village with no elk meat, but instead with the first flute: a gift of the tree, of the wind, of the bird, and of one who had learned how to listen.

A student is writing a report about Christopher Columbus. Read the following paragraphs from two of the student's sources. Then answer the questions that follow.

Article 1

Christopher Columbus was one of the most brilliant navigators in history. In 1492, he “sailed the ocean blue,” heading west from Spain and into the unknown. On October 12, he sighted land in the Caribbean Sea. He didn't know it at the time, but he had discovered a part of the world Europeans did not know existed. He created a small settlement and then, on a second voyage in 1494, founded a Spanish colony. Four years later, he sailed south, exploring the northern coast of South America. Most importantly, Columbus found a reliable sailing route from Europe to America. He did what no man before him had done, and so changed the world forever.

Article 2

Christopher Columbus changed the world—for the worse. The consequence of his adventures was the deaths of millions of men, women, and children living in the Americas. How did this happen? Before Columbus, Europe and the Americas had long been separated. There had been no contact of any kind for hundreds of thousands of years. Then Columbus and his followers arrived. They brought with them new people, new plants and animals, and new diseases. This so-called Columbian Exchange led to 95 percent of all Native Americans living in Central and South America dying of disease. And those who did not die of disease were made slaves by men like Columbus. Columbus knew how to sail, but his skills brought only disaster.
