Commencement Speaker

Dr. Barbara Moran, the inaugural Louis Round Wilson Distinguished Professor, joined the faculty at the UNC School of Information and Library Science (SILS) in 1981 and served as dean of the School from 1990 to 1998. She has written more than 85 journal articles and book chapters, written or edited four monographs, and co-authored Library and Information Center Management, a textbook used by library science programs worldwide that will be published in its ninth edition later this year.

During her tenure as dean at SILS, she enhanced technical resources, added an undergraduate minor program, and increased graduate enrollment by 32 percent. She hired the school's first development director, established the first board of visitors, and doubled the school's endowment. She increased the international involvement of SILS and began the very successful London and Prague Summer Seminars.

Since 1999, Dr. Moran has been an active member of the SILS faculty continuing her teaching and research. She has taught primarily in the areas of management and academic librarianship and her research has focused on various aspects of management including leadership, organizational structures, and career progression patterns.

Dear 2017 Graduates,

Congratulations! The entire SILS community is proud of you and applauds your achievements.

We want to stay in touch with you after graduation, providing news about the school, special events, and professional opportunities. To ensure you always receive these communications, please keep your contact information current. When you need to make a change, go to <https://portal.dev.unc.edu>, click the link for the General Alumni Association Directory, and log in to update your address, email, and other details.

To continue receiving the news@sils e-newsletter and occasional emails about upcoming SILS and SILSAA events and opportunities, join the SILS alumni listserv by sending an email to contactsils@unc.edu with the word SUBSCRIBE in the subject line.

If you haven't already, please like the UNC SILS Facebook page at www.facebook.com/uncsils and follow us on Twitter at twitter.com/uncsils. Connect your profile to the UNC SILS LinkedIn page (pdf directions at <http://bit.ly/sils-linked-in>) and request to join the SILS Alumni Association LinkedIn group at <http://bit.ly/silsaa-linked-in>.

As the months and years progress, let us know whenever you have news such as a new job, honor, recognition, or life change by sending an e-mail to contactsils@unc.edu or by dropping by Manning Hall. We love for alumni to come home!
