Creating community through literacy

2019

Q&A Ms. Terra Turner

What is your career or profession? I am an occupational therapist who specializes in treatment of people with developmental disabilities and a visual artist.

Tell us about your role on the East Cleveland Public Library Board of Trustees? I am currently the board president which means I approve the trustees' meeting agenda and chair the meeting. Since I have been on the board, I have been focused on establishing a mission and plan for our library that steers us toward services and events that honor both our storied past and our shining future. I also work with the administration and trustees to develop policies and procedures to ensure that the many facets of the library work efficiently.

What book have you read that had the most impact on your life and what are you currently reading? Alice Walker's In Search of Our Mother's Gardens was life-changing for me. I am currently reading a science fiction anthology, Sunspot Jungle that was edited by Bill Campbell and published by his company, Rosarium Publishing.

What kinds of hobbies and interests do you have outside of work? I love to experience art in all of its forms: storytelling, jewelry, architecture, gardens, music.... I am currently learning to make dolls and am a member of Cleveland's African American Quilters and Dollmakers Guild.

Do you have a favorite quote?
"Lose not faith, lose not courage, go forward."
– Marcus Garvey

If Hollywood made a movie about your life, who would you like to see cast as you and why?
Jill Scott!

What is your favorite thing to do in the wonderful city of East Cleveland, Ohio? Sit on my front stoop in the summer and chat with my neighbors.

The East Cleveland Public Library has received a gift of 100 new children's books, ranging from pre-kindergarten through early readers. These books were a donation from the Brownstone Book Fund, a private foundation in New York City, interested in fostering early reading, a love of books and encouraging parents and children to read together. Come to the Library's Children's Department to explore and enjoy this new collection.

JazzLit Program for East Cleveland Schools

The East Cleveland Public Library has a long history of promoting and celebrating a truly African American art form – Jazz. Since 1988 the Library has presented a series of jazz concerts and has a long-standing partnership with the Cuyahoga County Community College JazzFest. The Center is one of the few performing arts center attached to a public library in the country.

The Library received a grant from the State Library of Ohio with federal funds from the Institute of Museum and Library Services. The objectives of this grant project were to:

- Support East Cleveland third graders in their quest for reading proficiency and Ohio's Third Grade Reading Guarantee program
- Celebrate the contributions of African American jazz legends and expose young children to one of America's greatest art forms
- Fulfill the East Cleveland Library's Strategic Plan Objective: "To Build Collections and Programming that Emphasize African American Culture and History."

The program offered sessions three times during this past school year (February – May) at the Greg L. Reese

Performing Arts Center. Third grade students from the four elementary schools were bused to the Library during the school day to attend the programs.

Before each session, classroom teachers were given a book about a jazz legend to share with their classes, and to prepare them for the Library visit.

At the Library program, lasting approximately an hour and a half, the book was discussed and the session was concluded with performances by local jazz musicians or educators that illuminated the music of the jazz legend featured in the book.

The students read books about Art Tatum, Duke Ellington, and Ella Fitzgerald. The sessions featured presentations and performances by Lafayette Carthon, Evelyn Wright, the Dance Artists of Rainey Institute, and the author Andrea Pinkney.
