The six daughters of the deceased, namely, Mrs. N. Butler, Vankleeen Hill; Mrs. Ryan and Mrs. McGregor, of Fournier, as well as three nephews, were all present at the funeral. A WISE SELECTION.

In the opinion of Glengarrigians generally, and of the rank and file of the Liberal party in particular, Sir Wilfrid Laurier has made no mistake in going outside of the House of Commons to secure a successor to the Hon. Mr. Emmerson to fill the important portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals...

POLITICAL PLATFORM.

Newspapers should feel grateful to a man who issues a political platform in the dog-days, for political platforms furnish material for endless discussion. It is doubtful whether they are of any great practical importance...

That a platform contains a great deal of matter that is not striking or original is a very common but not very reasonable criticism. If a leader of a party undertakes to cover the whole political field, he is bound to say a good many things that are obvious or that have been said before...

The platform issued by the Reform Convention of 1893 attracted more than usual attention, partly because it was followed in three years by a great Liberal victory. But the victory, if connected with the meeting at all, was due rather to the convention itself than to its formal deliverances...

But there were other more potent causes of the Liberal victory. Personally, the Liberal party was at its strongest and the Conservative party at its weakest in the elections of 1896. Sir John Macdonald had died, and his successor in the place of uncrowned king of the Dominion was taken by Sir Wilfrid Laurier...

The progress of the country in trade, population and settlement of the West had been slow and the figures of the census of 1891 were disappointing in the extreme. The Manitoba School question was one of exceptional difficulty...

THE NEW MINISTER OF RAILWAYS.

To Mr. Graham has been assigned the Department of Railways and Canals in the pending reconstruction of the Dominion Cabinet. The public, as well as the political prophets, will be startled but not displeased by this announcement...

The responsibility thus thrust on a new Minister, who is not even a member of the Dominion Parliament, is very great. The department is one of the most difficult in the public service to administer, and the fact that he has assigned Mr. Graham to it shows the high estimate in which he is held by the Premier...

Mr. Graham is old enough to remember that the chief Government railway was built as an interprovincial necessity. It was so indispensable a condition of the confederation of the provinces forty years ago that Mr. George Brown publicly avowed his willingness to build "six intercolonial railways" rather than have the scheme of federal union fail...

During the past two years the management of the Intercolonial has been greatly improved and an approach has been made toward the complete commercialization of the system. It will devolve on Mr. Graham to continue the improvement, and take the Government railways still more out of politics...

BEHIND IN WAR BALLOONS.

England Has Been Inactive Says Major Baden-Powell.

"If a war were to occur in the near future between Britain and another power should we be found wanting, and consequently handicapped, in the matter of airships?" Such was the question put to Major B. E. S. Baden-Powell, the well-known aviator, recently.

"France," said Major Baden-Powell, "has made great headway. Germany has now shot suddenly forward, but England will not be left behind. The authorities are keeping their eyes open to all new developments, and though I would not divulge any information of a technical character, I think I may state that experiments have been attended with good results."

Major Baden-Powell, however, reluctantly admitted that the English experts had gained no practical experience. In their quarters at Aldershot they have plans and models in abundance, but never once has a military airship been sailed in England.

"As to the utility of these for combative purposes, however," continued Major Baden-Powell, "I am rather dubious. For scouting purposes they should prove of inestimable service in procuring information as to the disposition of the enemy's force. But the limited amount of ammunition which they can carry will render them almost useless for any other purpose. Dropping a bomb into the middle of a fort will do little harm. It would be extremely difficult for them to hit a gun."

HEROINE IN ALMSHOUSE.

Brave Crimean Nurse Now Living on Public Charity.

The most interesting personality in the workhouse at Minster, in Kent, is Miss Emma Page, who is in her 81st year, and who half a century ago was one of the devoted band of nurses who, under the banner of Florence Nightingale, tended our wounded soldiers in the Crimea.

Miss Page earned her living by nursing in various parts of East Kent, but a time came when her health broke down. She had to give up nursing, and spent some years as an indefatigable seamstress. Age crept on her, however, and work became irksome. So, 22 years ago, when she was something over 60, she gave up the struggle and sought the shelter of the Minster workhouse.

There is this day, she is in charge of the making of flannels for the infirmary. For vigor has not entirely left this slight woman with the snowy white hair, the undimmed blue eyes and the touch of color in her cheeks.

John Bull's Peculiar Way. A thoroughly British bit of political procedure is the pardoning of Col. Lynch, who after leading the Irish brigades against England in the Boer war, was elected to Parliament from an Irish constituency, was tried for high treason, sentenced to death, had his sentence commuted to a term of imprisonment, and was released under conditions after a lengthy period of captivity.

That in which Britain may resort to the mailed fist when she deems it necessary, as in Zululand, to a minor degree in India, at the present time, without incurring the charge of odious tyranny, from which Germany, for instance, contented to suffer, Great Britain does not seem to do not seem to foolish little joggles about royalty and government, and whip bad little boys for picking stones over them; and when these warrants it will indulge in a striking act of magnanimity, as in the Lynch affair. It may be only a prelude to the groundlings, but it is effective in maintaining an historical reputation for unexampled leniency views in politics. Col. Lynch would probably enter Parliament now, which is as if Samuel Mahomed, late of Georgetown, South West Africa, were to be elected to the Reichstag. Prized would wonder if Franco would ever show the traveler a scene such as he had witnessed in England—an anarchist orator denouncing Queen Victoria in the foulest terms, and two policemen by his side to protect him against the fury of the mob.—New York Sun.

Manuscripts Sold for £2,354. The remarkable craze that exists at present for original manuscripts of famous authors was well exemplified at Sotheby's rooms recently, when the library of Mr. Stuart M. Samuel, M.P., which included manuscripts in the autograph of Burns, Byron, Pope, Tennyson, Dryden, Lamb and Shelley, came up for sale. High prices were the order of the day all through the sale, and the 150 lots sold no less than £2,354.

The chief lot was Pope's original manuscript of his famous "Essay on Man," which, from an opening bid of £100 was eventually secured by Mr. Babbin for £235.

MOVE ON! MOVE ON!

We have been doing police duty in every department. All Laggards and Loiterers given the "MOVE ON" sign. We must compel all Tog Ends, Oddments and Endments to "MOVE ON" Remember also it's time for all Summer Goods to go. Fall goods are pushing them from behind. They must "MOVE ON". We're after all these fellows with a Big Stick, and prices are radically and effectively lowered. What is the natural result? What happens to Seasonable, Desirable, Fashionable Goods when they are priced far below regular? They "MOVE ON" and move at a lively gait. These are the facts of the story we have to tell today, but the figures are the interesting part. The Movement is on

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

SHOWS AND SHOWING

Competitive exhibitions, it will be generally acknowledged, have played an important part, in this, as in other countries, in stimulating to improvement in live stock and many other products of the farm.

While all farmers or all artisans may not be in a position or have the desire to enter the field of public competition with their products, most of those who attend the fairs are likely to carry home some ideas new to them, which, to some extent they can put to profitable use.

The successful exhibitor, as a rule, needs no pointers; he has noted and supplied the requirements for success, and, if wise, profits by his victories in efforts to hold the position he has gained.

THE VIRTUES OF PAINT.

Certain seasons of the year are peculiarly suited to the performance of certain work. What we have in mind now is painting—not the exercise and development of that delicate talent that so readily discriminates in color exposed woods with a mixture of oil but the rough-and-ready covering of oil and solids—the painting which is more essentially utilitarian.

WHERE BARNS CAN BE IMPROVED.

The great question confronting dairy farmers is, how best can we produce sanitary milk. No one item has a more direct bearing on this question of stable construction.

Formerly the paramount point in stable construction was that of warmth. Light, ventilation, comfort and economy often were sacrificed for this one thing, and much to the detriment of the quality of milk, butter or cheese produced.

There are a number of ways in which the average dairy barn can be vastly improved. The chief requisites are light and ventilation points, the value of which is frequently underestimated in the building of stables.

Another matter, which has considerable bearing on the quality and cleanliness of the article produced, is the construction of a ceiling between the floor of the mow and the cow-stable.

The modern standard of barn construction is not to be taken for granted. It is a result of the experience of many generations, and it is not to be taken for granted. It is a result of the experience of many generations, and it is not to be taken for granted.

ful and slovenly practice of throwing it out of the windows should have no place in the modern farm management. The advent of the litter carrier has made possible the handling of the manure in a clean and systematic manner, economically and with the exercise of little hard labor.

AUTUMN SOWN CROPS.

The area used for sowing wheat and other autumn crops was somewhat greater throughout Ontario in the fall of 1906 than in that of 1905. At the Agricultural College this year winter wheat and winter rye have produced large yields of grain which is above the average in quality, but the winter barley and the hairy vetches have given results somewhat lower than those of 1906.

Each of eight different selected strains of Dawson's Golden Chaff wheat gave a yield of over 70 bushels of grain per acre in 1907. Some of the most promising hybrids, which are constant in type this year, are those produced by crossing the Dawson's Golden Chaff with the Bulgarian and with the Turkey Red.

The result of many tests conducted at the college indicate the importance of sowing with a grain drill, large, plump, sound, well matured seed wheat at the rate of about a bushel and a half per acre on well prepared clover sod, and earlier if possible than the 10th of September.

The recent tests at the college of other classes of autumn sown crops show the following varieties to be the heaviest average yielders of grain per acre; Mammoth White Winter Rye, 62 bushels; Tennessee Winter Barley, 53.4 bushels; Hairy Vetches, 5.7 bushels, and Black Winter Emmer, 5.7 bushels.

In the co-operative experiments conducted throughout Ontario in 1907, under the direction of the Experimental Union, the average yields of grain per acre were as follows: Winter wheat—Imperial Amber, 22.2 bushels; Abundance, 37.7 bushels; Mingan Amber, 20.3 bushels, and of winter rye, Mammoth, 26.4, and common 21.1 bushels.

As long as the supply lasts, material will be distributed free of charge in the order in which the applications are received from Ontario farmers wishing to experiment and to report the results of any one of the following tests: 1, Hairy Vetches and winter rye as fodder crops; 2, three varieties of winter wheat; 3, five fertilizers with winter wheat; 4, autumn and spring applications of nitrate of soda and common salt on winter wheat; and 5, two varieties of winter rye. The size of each plot is to be one rod wide by two rods long. Material for numbers 3 and 4 will be sent by express and that for the others by mail.

BRONCHIAL COUGHS

Breathe Hyomei's Healing Air and All Irritation Will Be Quickly Cured.

The most irritating and annoying form of cough is that termed bronchial. People subject to bronchial troubles whenever there is a change in the weather or they are exposed to a draft will "catch" a bronchial cough, which is very disagreeable, irritating and annoying.

Bronchial troubles cannot be cured by stomach dosing. The medicated air of Hy-o-mei is the only treatment that reaches the affected parts and gives relief and cure. It destroys all the disease germs that are present in the nose, throat and lungs, soothes and relieves the irritated mucous membrane in all parts of the bronchial tubes and quickly overcomes the irritation.

Bronchitis is really an inflammation of the mucous membrane lining the air passages and is purely a local disease, so that it needs a local treatment like that afforded by Hy-o-mei. We do not want anyone's money unless Hyomei gives relief and cure, and we absolutely agree that it will be refunded unless the remedy gives satisfaction.

All druggists should be able to supply you with Hyomei or we will send it by mail on receipt of price, $1.00, and every package is sold with the distinct understanding that it costs nothing unless it cures. Booth's Hyomei Company, Buffalo, N.Y.

Women Pay More

Why Insurance Companies Discriminate Against the Gentle Sex

Medical examiners of insurance companies say that the reason a woman pays more for the privilege of insurance than a man, is from the fact that women more readily fall victims to indigestion and stomach troubles and the fatal ailments that spring from these causes.

All persons, they say, who have a weakened digestive system and suffer from sick headache, dizzy spells, distress after eating, specks before the eyes, bloating, nervousness, sleeplessness, and the many other symptoms of indigestion, soon lower the tone of the whole system and are most susceptible to a fatal illness.

For curative power in all stomach troubles, nothing else is as safe yet effective, nothing else can be thoroughly relied upon to relieve all troubles from indigestion as Mi-o-na. It is unlike any remedy heretofore known and is really one of the valuable discoveries in modern medical science.

It is not the acute attacks that influence the insurance examiners alone but the constant feelings of weakness, headaches, indigestion and stomach troubles—these things, physicians say, kill more people than many more serious diseases.

We absolutely agree that your money will be refunded should you buy a 50c. cent box of Mi-o-na stomach tablets and not be satisfied with the results. Mi-o-na is sold by druggists everywhere, or will be sent by mail on receipt of price, 50 cents. Booth's Mi-o-na Company, Buffalo, N.Y.

"I may have saved your life," declared Aviee earnestly. "What's life when your boots are muddy and no chance to get them cleaned?" scoffed Ned Hastings. "I'd rather take chances on walking under a ladder than going out in the muddy street to escape the hoodoo."

"ARE YOU ESNAH, SON OF HAMID?" SHE DEMANDED. "I don't know," she replied. "I don't know what he will do. That is what makes it so terrible."

"I don't know what he will do. That is what makes it so terrible." "And you mean to say that he has frightened you into taking the pocket-book back tonight? Give it to me, and I'll take it over in the morning. I'll take chances on the hoodoo."

Following Bigger's Example. By JAMES REILLY. Copyrighted, 1907, by Mary McKoon.

Temple slipped off his coat and threw it beside the camera case, with a "Watch it" to the white bulldog that sat gravely at the foot of the tree. Bigger exhibited his teeth in a smile intended to be pleasant and stretched himself out beside the case on the soft mat of pine needles.

"I don't see what you mean," she said, with a puzzled knitting of the brows. "Like Bigger, I want to hold on to you," he said as he possessed himself of her hand, "only I want to keep you forever. May I, dear?"

Lincoln's Reason. One afternoon when Lincoln was president, word came to the war department from the provost marshal at Portland, Me., that Henry Jameson, the Confederate secret service agent, was on his way to New York, where he had engaged passage for England.

On Feb. 23, 1863, Lord Maitland called the attention of the house to a speech delivered by O'Connell at a political dinner in London in which he asserted that the spy election committee of the day—or the committee appointed by that house to be election petitioners—a practice which has since been abolished—had stooped to "foul perjury" in order that their friends might retain their seats.

With a terrific roar, the southern half of the mammoth bridge in course of construction across the St. Lawrence just above Quebec City, collapsed shortly before 8 o'clock Thursday night of last week, and the structure lies a complete ruin, just one mass of twisted and bent steel.

Little or no damage was done to the hotel.

Premier Whitney has done most of the work of his Government by commission as the public expense. Now Mr. Borden has caught the commission tables and wants the Dominion Government run on similar lines. The reports made to the Government show that diphtheria continues to be the most fatal of the contagious group of diseases in this Province, with typhoid fever, influenza, scarlet fever, whooping cough, measles and smallpox following in the order named. The figures for tuberculosis are startling. They show that 79,546 have died of the disease in the thirty-four years since 1870. The counties with the highest death rate are those contiguous to the St. Lawrence river. It is not surprising, with such an exhibit, that a determined effort is being made to secure the establishment of municipal sanatoria. They cannot come too soon. The Directors of the Glengarry Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Coy held their usual monthly meeting on Saturday and much business of importance was transacted.

Mr. Murdie Stewart brought to town on Wednesday some samples of stone which, if they did not contain silver such as found in Cobalt, proved intensely interesting. It appears Mr. Wm. McLeod, with a couple of neighbors, was recently engaged in putting in a bridge opposite his well known blacksmith shop at Dunvegan. One of the field stones being found too large for the place it was intended for, was reduced in size by the hammer. Upon picking up the pieces the workers were surprised to find imbedded therein a portion of a newspaper containing both the English and French languages. Under a magnifying glass it stands out quite clearly and the puzzle has yet to be solved. Mr. I. B. Ostrom has the samples at the present moment.

The justly popular Irish drama, "Kerry Gow," attracted a large and appreciative audience at Alexander Hall Saturday evening. This play, made famous by Joseph Murphy, was in good hands, and was presented in a capital manner. Mr. Bernard Daly assumed the role of the Kerry Gow, adding much to the charm of the character by his sweet singing, each time receiving hearty applause. Miss Nani Hewins rendered the part of Dan's sweetheart very acceptably, and his chum was well presented by Lee Miller. The part of the cruel man who plotted against Dan was acted ably by J. H. Huntley, and another unfortunate role, Nora's father, fell into the competent hands of Harold Graham. The racehorse, Killarney, and the doves performed all that was expected of them, and their appearance on the stage added much realism to the performance.

Mr. Daly being a Knight of Columbus, the Sir Knights residing in town, at the conclusion of the performance, entertained Mr. Daly at an impromptu supper, which was thoroughly enjoyed by all who participated therein. They also presented the star, over the footlights, with a box of cigars.

Word was received at The News on Sunday afternoon of the death that morning of the Rev. John Alexander Macdonald, S.J., pastor of the English-speaking section of the parish of the Immaculate Conception, Montreal. His sudden end is attributed to heart failure.

The deceased was born in Bermuda, May 11, 1840. He was the son of Roderick Charles Macdonald, lieutenant-colonel of the Castle of Floram Regiment of Highlanders, P.E.I., chief of the Highland Society of Nova Scotia. The deceased Jesuit was consequently the grandson of Colonel John Macdonald, representative of the Glengalade branch of the great Clanranalds who disposed of his estate in Scotland and emigrated to Prince Edward Island with his dependents, in 1773. Father Macdonald's mother was Elizabeth, daughter of Alexander Ranaldson Macdonell, 18th chief of Glengarry.

The heavy continuous downpour on Monday afternoon, prevented the officers of the Turf Club holding, for the moment, their annual fall races, much to the disappointment of the gentlemen particularly interested, and hundreds of spectators, who had come to town from Montreal, Valleyfield, Cornwall and the several districts throughout the county to enjoy an afternoon of good sport. There were some thirty horses here to participate in the events, many of them that have won high laurels. Every little detail that might go to ensure a good meet had been attended to but the clerk of the weather had decided otherwise, and sent rain which was much needed in the country. The same programme as had been arranged for Monday and Tuesday, will be carried out on Sept. 23rd and 24th, and it is gratifying to learn that the horsemen, who had entered for the races, left their entry money as good as their faith of their return at later dates to compete. The Turf Club is composed of men who can take a set back, such as that of Monday, like men and start right in on a new deal. It is therefore to be hoped upon the next occasion they will be accorded fine weather, have a large attendance of spectators and a full entry list for each event.
