CHINESE SUSPECTED OF FIRING SHOT

Charged With Murder of Countryman on 7th Inst.

NATIVE SAYS FELLOW HAD GUN WITH HIM

THREE MEN SENT OVER BANK BY ONE SHOT—NAIL USED IN CHARGE OF SHOT—SOME OF THE DETAILS.

A Chinese taro planter living in the Lihue district some distance up the river from Niumalu, has been arrested by Sheriff Coney on the charge of having murdered a countryman on the night of the 7th inst. No details of the crime came to Honolulu until yesterday.

It appears that on the night of August 7, three Chinamen went from their places up the river, to some place farther down or probably to Lihue. Each man carried a lantern and, on account of the narrowness of the pathway, walked along Indian fashion and very close to each other.

Suddenly a shot from the shadow of a clump of trees near by rang out on the still night air and, simultaneously, all three Chinamen rolled over the bank. It did not take long for two of the number to jump up and run away, one up and the other down stream.

The third man did not get up. He had been killed instantly.

The other two Chinamen spread the alarm and Sheriff Coney and a posse were soon on the spot making investigations.

The dead Chinaman was examined and it was found that his back was literally covered with small wounds from which over 125 shot were picked out.

What killed the man was a large nail with which the gun used in the onslaught was loaded. This missle entered the man's neck and came out in the region of the mouth. Undoubtedly the shot was fired at him for he received nearly the whole charge of the gun while walking in between his companions.

The other two men did not escape without injury. The back of each was peppered with shot and this is what caused them to fall over the bank.

The police worked steadily on the case but could not locate their man, although suspicion rested on a certain taro planter, it having been learned that he and the murdered Chinaman had had a serious altercation over certain leases which ended in a very stormy scene.

This, however, was not evidence enough on which to arrest the Chinaman but the police kept up the good work. Finally, on Tuesday last, a native gave the sheriff the details of his meeting with the Chinaman under suspicion on the night of the murder, not very long before the fatal shot was fired.

Undoubtedly, the Chinaman was then proceeding on his way to the spot where he expected his victim to pass. The native, knowing the Chinaman well, accosted him but the fellow did not reply and went stoically on his way down the stream. In his hands was a muzzle loading shot gun such as is used by the Chinese rice planters to scare birds away when the crops are ripening.

The prisoner has said nothing to the police about the affair, they believe they have the right man.

SPAR WAS SIGHTED

Captain Mosher of the steamer Hanalei reports that on the recent trip of that vessel a timber about 90 feet long and looking like the topmast of some vessel, was sighted in latitude 25N., long. 169W. The spar looked as if it had been in the water only for a short time. While some wreckage from the Ceylon was found floating near and on the beach of Laysan Island, Captain Mosher is positive that the spar mentioned did not come from the Ceylon as it would be impossible for it to get to that position.

Nearly all the cases in the Police Court this morning were continued. Ah Foo was assessed $5 for using profane language and Yamana had to pay $100 for selling beer without having a license. Yamani sold the beer in his store in Kalihi, where he was caught in the act by Officer McDuffie. An appeal was noted.

THOMAS LLOYD DEAD

HAD BEEN PROSTRATED THE PAST SIX MONTHS

BORN IN LONDON FIFTY-EIGHT YEARS AGO—LIVED HERE FORTY YEARS—HELD PUBLIC OFFICES.

Thomas Alfred Lloyd, one of Honolulu's oldest and most esteemed citizens, died at his residence, Kalihi, at 5:30 o'clock this morning. He was born in London in 1844, being in the 58th year of his age at death. Six months ago Mr. Lloyd sustained a stroke of paralysis, which laid him prostrate until the end came.

The late Mr. Lloyd came to the Hawaiian Islands around Cape Horn forty years ago. His career has been industrious and useful. Many years ago he engaged in sugar planting on this Island. Eighteen or twenty years ago he was road supervisor for the Kona district outside of Honolulu and the highways under his jurisdiction were the admiration of all who traveled them. Later he was connected with the Tax Assessor's office and when stricken with his last illness was road supervisor for Honolulu.

He leaves a wife and seven grown-up children—James, Thomas, Albert and Arthur, sons, and Mary, Lucy and Edna, daughters. The three eldest sons hold responsible positions in Honolulu. James is with Alexander & Baldwin, Thomas with the B. F. Dillingham Company and Albert with the Metropolitan Meat Company. Mr Lloyd was a man of splendid physique, his athletic figure making him conspicuous in any group. In every relation of life he was exemplary, and he had a genial disposition that made friends of all who knew him.

The funeral will take place from the family residence to Nuuanu cemetery at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

A SECOND FIRE

At about 4:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon while Wm. Savidge was sitting in his office on Merchant street, he smelled something like burnings rags and went out back of the building to see what the matter was. Upon his arrival there he saw volumes of smoke coming out of one of the windows of the Hawaiian Hardware Co.'s store rooms. He climbed the ladder near by and, looking in, discovered that some of the bags of waste which had probably been smouldering since the fire on Saturday, had begun to burn again in great shape.

Savidge notified the watchman and he in turn notified the police officer on duty outside. The three soon got to work and soon had a couple of the buring bags of waste out of the room and into the alleyway between the buildings.

A hose was procured and the fire could easily have been put out by the volunteers. However, John Effinger appeared at an upper window at just about that time and, saying that in case another fire should break out he would be blamed because he knew of it, he had an alarm turned in from box 13. The chemical engine responded and soon had the fire out.

Had this second fire started in the night time there is no question whatever that there would have been another serious conflagration.

INSURANCE IS HEAVY

In the fire of Saturday last the Hawaiian Hardware Company, which suffered almost a total loss, was insured for $53,500 in the following companies and for the following amounts: Trans-Atlantic, $13,500; Greenwich Insurance Co., $6,500; Niagara, $4,250; Traders', $1,750; Royal, $3,000; Scottish Union, $5,000; Insurance Company of North America, $2,500; Agricultural, $2,500; National, $3,500; London & Lancashire, $5,000; Harttord, $3,000; and Caledonian, $3,000.

The insurance on the whole building affected by the fire amounts to $25,000, divided as follows: Trans-Atlantic, $5,000; Liverpool, London & Globe, $5,000; New Zealand, $5,000; St. Paul, $4,500; Niagara, $3,000; and Providence, $2,500. It is estimated that the loss on the building will not be more than 5 or 6 per cent of the total amount of insurance.

David Lawrence's stock of cigars, tobacco, etc., is insured for $6,000 and the fixtures for $2,500. This brings the total of the insurance to $87,000. Besides this, there are smaller amounts of insurance which will probably bring the grand total up to $90,000. J. W. A. Redhouse, the watchmaker, had $1,000 in the Phoenix and $500 in the Traders' Insurance Co.

Wailuku Fusion Plans Are

MUCH DESIRED BUT

Meeting Many Difficulties

Wailuku, Aug. 23.—In response to the urgent request of many Republicans and also of the delegates who will go to Honolulu next week to the Territorial Convention, Chairman Pogue has called a meeting of Wailuku and Hamakua precincts, for next Thursday, for the purpose of nominating candidates for Representatives from these precincts, as each of them are entitled to one candidate.

Sam Kalama, deputy sheriff of Makawao, is considering the request of the most influential voters of his precinct to run for Representative and he may give his consent. Sam is very popular from Huelo to Ulupalakua, and is a very intelligent and capable young Hawaiian.

J. K. Kahookele is canvassing for names from among his Wailuku admirers for a seat at the coming Legislature to represent Wailuku Republicans. He has succeeded in having his list signed by over seventy bona fide voters of Wailuku district, some of them Home Rulers, Democrats and Republicans, and a few have no right to vote at all. Wailuku might be forced to accept Mr. Kahookele as there is no other available candidate from Wailuku, a very sad state of affairs for the leading town of Maui, the supposed seat of learning.

Lahaina has two candidates anxious to be nominated, A. N. Hayselden and Philip Pali, both of them excellent men. Hana has three eager to get the one place—J. K. Iosepa, W. P. Haia and Rev. E. M. Hanuna. Molokai has two—D. H. Kauhaulelio and Joel Nakaleka. Makawao and Kula have their choice in Edgar Morton. Wailuku is still hunting for a candidate, one that is sure of winning. Sam Kellinoi does not aspire to the place and other prominent Republicans are likewise averse to going to the Legislature with small capital, for it takes a Home Ruler to go to the Legislature with nothing. The Republicans are willing to accept T. B. Lyons if he will run on the Republican ticket for Wailuku, but both Mr. Lyons and Attorney J. L. Coke, the Wailuku Democratic boss, will not consent to run on the Republican ticket as Republicans. Either is willing, however, to run as a Democrat and affiliate with Republicans in everything even in voting against obnoxious measures by Home Rulers, but will not lose identity as a Democrat. Mr. Lyons seems to think there is no political faction like the Democrats. The Democrats would fuse with the Republicans only in voting the ticket but are not willing to sign the roll for they argue that would mean foreswearing their allegiance to the Democratic party. Bryan and the brilliant host of Democratic leaders. That's the rub. The sympathies of the Democrats, all their interests are with the Republicans, and they feel that Wilcox should not be returned, but when it comes to signing the Republican roll, they would rather stay by and see Wilcox march victoriously to the ballot box. The Democrats realize that their interests in this fight for supremacy in the Territorial Legislature are identical, but to enroll is very bitter and cannot be endured for party pride cannot be effaced.

11. That Mrs. S. D. Heapy be transferred from the Kaahumanu school to be principal of the Pohukaina school in place of Mrs. R. C. L. P. Perkins, resigned.

12. That Miss Ethel Wolfe be transferred from the Pohukaina school to be an assistant in the Kaahumanu school in place of Mrs. Heapy transferred.

13. That Mrs. Ellen Kenway, formerly Miss Ellen Cook, be appointed assistant in the Pohukaina school, in place of Miss Ethel Wolfe, transferred to Kaahumanu.

14. That Miss Louisa Pihi be transferred from the Wailuku school to be an assistant in the Lahaina school.

15. That Miss Rowena Richardson be transferred from the Lahaina school to be an assistant in the Wailuku school. (In other words, Miss Richardson and Miss Pihi exchange places.)

16. That the resignation of Miss Adeline O. Clark of the Normal school be accepted to take effect August 31st.

A STABBING AFFRAY

At about 8 o'clock last Saturday night a knifing affray occurred in the messroom of the soldiers on the transport Buford, which is now in port. Two of the men, Will Neale and Geo. E. Patterson, were playing monte when a dispute arose over fifty cents, and after a few heated words, Neale drew a knife and stabbed Patterson in the groin, inflicting a quite serious wound.

Neale was put in the guard house and will probably be court-martialed in San Francisco. The wounded man was taken to the military hospital on Wyllie street.

LETTER FROM MOLOKAI

Deputy Sheriff Chas. Chillingworth has received the following letter from the president of the Baseball League Association in Kalaupapa:

Kalaupapa, Mol., Aug. 21, 1902.

Chas. F. Chillingworth Esq., President Honolulu Baseball League.

Dear Sir:—The Molokai Baseball League, which will meet tomorrow, August 22d, for the purpose of arranging a series of games for the coming winter season, begs me to ask of the Honolulu League Association if they can render any assistance in the shape of donating such baseball material as the Honolulu League may have no use for, especially books on rules, immaterial of what year. Knowing you to be a gentleman who has always shown the greatest interest in baseball and other sports, we therefore feel assured that our prayer will not be in vain.

We sincerely believe that we have material here that can out-play any team that is now playing in the League in your city. If our team could only go down or one of the Honolulu League teams could come up here, we could demonstrate this fact. Respectfully yours, DEMITRI H. PEIRCE, President Molokai Baseball League Association.

Mr. Chillingworth states that he intends to send the league a good bag full of baseball traps if he has to purchase them himself.

Capt. Willer Says Ceylon Was Seaworthy

On Saturday evening the steamer Hanalei returned from Laysan Island bringing the captain and crew of the bark Ceylon and the news that that old vessel had been abandoned to her fate in a sinking condition.

The Ceylon left Laysan Island for this port on July 23. She was not leaking when she left but on the second day out, the water came in at a rate of fifteen inches an hour and in view of this Captain Willer decided to return to Laysan. As, however, westerly winds sprang up which would give him a fair passage to Honolulu, Captain Willer changed his mind and held his course for this port.

The steam pumps were started to work but as these soon broke down, the crew had to be put to work on the hand pumps. All hands were put to work even Mrs. Willer and the cook assisting, but still the water came into the hold faster than it could be pumped out.

On July 2 matters became still worse the winds shifting and heavy seas being encountered. The bark was then about 300 miles from Niihau and Captain Willer decided to put back to Laysan.

By this time all on board were exhausted by strenuous work put in by them at the pumps. The vessel's hold was full of water and as the pumps were clogged with guano they were now rendered useless. Under these depressing circumstances, Captain Willer called a meeting of those on board and it was decided to return to Laysan. The following day matters were still worse and all hopes of saving the old vessel were abandoned.

The next day, the morning of July 4, the Ceylon was left to her fate. Three boats were put in the water but as one of them was swamped only two remained for the passengers and crew to get away in. Besides the crew, Mrs. Willer, her young son and six Japanese passengers were on board the Ceylon. Captain Willer, his wife, child, the second mate, three sailors and four Japanese. First Mate Lorenzen and the remainder occupied the second boat. Captain Willer had his nautical instruments with him and lead the way, a bright light being burned from his boat at night to show the mate's boat the way.

The voyage back to Laysan in the open boats was necessarily full of hardships. Salt water soaked the food and to add to the troubles Captain Willer's boat began leaking, making it necessary to keep two men bailing all the time.

After four days and three nights of this the Laysan Island light was finally sighted on the evening of the fourth day. With joy in their hearts the shipwrecked people steered for the light and soon climbed up on terra firma once more.

They stayed on Laysan six weeks until the steamer Hanalei arrived. The Hanalei returned to Honolulu after a stay of about a week, with a full cargo of guano. She brings back with her, besides the crew and passengers of the Ceylon, Captain Schlemmer, the manager of Laysan, and some Japanese.

H. A. Isenberg when asked this morning about the facts concerning the Ceylon stated that the facts were very much different from those given by the Advertiser this morning. "If you want the facts," he said, "you just state the opposite of what the Advertiser says and you will have the correct story. People, however, ought to know by this time how much that paper can be believed."

The Advertiser states that the Ceylon was in a bad condition when she started on the trip. This is utterly false. The Ceylon underwent extensive repairs before she left and was, according to Captain Willer's own statement, a much better vessel than she was the year before. The insurance on the vessel was given up the trip before the last. This was done upon the recommendation of Captain Willer, who said that the vessel was good enough to stand many a voyage. He looked upon the insurance as lack of confidence in him on the part of the firm and as the insurance on account of the vessel's age was very high, namely 20 per cent we stopped insuring her. The Ceylon was owned by the firm in the name of J. F. Humburg, who is an American citizen. The loss of the firm amounts to $7000. The cargo was insured for $2000 on an open policy.

Captain Willer, when seen this morning, was very much incensed at the report of the morning paper which accredited Mrs. Willer with the statement that the captain knew that the vessel was unseaworthy before she started on the voyage.

"My wife never said such a thing," said the captain. "The vessel was in good condition. She did not draw one inch of water in two weeks. I am willing to swear to this and so is every members of the crew."

STRIKERS ON WIRELESS

LANAI OPERATORS TIE UP INTER-ISLAND SYSTEM

The wireless telegraph system has been tied up since Friday by the most thoroughly modernized strike the Territory has been treated to for some time. From all that can be learned, Operators Andrews, Wagner and Hagerman have organized an operators' union, of which they are members and officers. Andrews and Wagner are the regular operators at the Lanai station. Hagerman was released some weeks ago for leaving his station. His compatriots now demand his reinstatement and until this is done refuse to allow messages to pass over the line. According to the reports sent to Manager Cross, these men refuse to work their station or allow any one else to work it. A message came from one of the men that he was afraid to go to work for fear of being attacked.

As all messages over the system have to pass through the Lanai station, the "operators' union" for the time being is monarch of all it surveys. The situation, however, has ceased to be funny in Manager Cross' estimation. After getting the message that the strikers refused to allow others to work their station, he went to High Sheriff Brown, who promised the assistance of officers of the law if required.

Manager Cross, with the necessary additional operators, will leave in the steamer tomorrow for Lahaina, whence he will go to Lanai in company with two Maui deputy sheriffs. He expects the line to be open for business in comparatively short time after his arrival on the scene of action, as none of the other operators on the line have shown any desire to co-operate with the strikers.

GRAND JURY HAMPERED

A grand juror said this morning that it was not the Circuit Judges but the Attorney General's department which caused needless expense. In proof he stated that the grand jury would have long since completed its work for the present term if it had been properly assisted by the Attorney General. Mr Douthitt was specially commissioned as Deputy Attorney General to wait on the grand jury, but he is ill and the grand jurors are standing around idle because nobdy has been detailed to take his place.

NO APPROPRIATION IN BAILIFF ACT

Pay of Bailiff's Properly Charged Against Expenses.

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS RULING OF THE AUDITOR

THE LEGISLATURE AND EVEN THE CIRCUIT JUDGES VIRTUALLY CONSTRUED ACT. JURISDICTION.

"No appropriation was made by Act 10 of the laws of 1901 for payment of the compensation of the bailiffs whose appointment was thereby provided for nor was the Treasurer by that Act authorized to pay such compensation."

The foregoing is the syllabus of the Supreme Court's decision on the appeal of Judge Humphreys from the ruling of Auditor Austin with regard to court expenses. Justice Perry and Messrs. W. O. Smith and J. T. De Bolt of the bar constituted the court, whose opinion affirming the ruling of the Auditor is written by Justice Perry.

Readers of the Bulletin are familiar with the extended reports of the argument given in a previous issue. Quoting the crucial section of the Act, that fixing the pay of bailiffs, and the title upon which Judge Humphreys laid stress, the opinion proceeds with observations of which the following are extracts:

"It is to be observed that the section does not expressly, by apt or usual words, appropriate money for the payment of the compensation specined or authorize the Treasurer to make such payment. Such appropriation or authority, if it is made or granted at all by the section, is to be found only by inference from the fact that the section provides the rates of compensation and makes it the duty of the Auditor to draw warrants for the same upon the order of the judge making the appointment. The argument advanced is that the Legislature could not have intended to direct the issuance of warrants without also intending that such warrants should be honored at the Treasury; that the provision that the bailiffs shall be paid for their services at and after the following rates' is in itself an appropriation, and that the last clause of the title of the Act shows that it was the intention of the Legislature to make an appropriation in the Act itself.

"The inference just referred to, assuming it to be a possible one, is not a necessary one. It would be competent for the Legislature to provide in this Act the rates at which certain officers were to be paid and also the procedure necessary to be followed in order to make it the duty of the Auditor to issue warrants, and to leave the making of an appropriation for such payments to another Act."

The provision of the Audit Act requiring the Auditor to secure vouchers for all payments is quoted, also the regulation made thereunder directing heads of departments to furnish lists of permanent employes monthly. It is held the bailiffs appointed under the Act were to be employes of the Judiciary department, so that there would have been reason for argument that Circuit Court bailiffs would not be entitled to receive warrants for their salaries without first obtaining the approval of the Chief Justice as head of the department.

CELEBRATE CORONATION

The Sons of St. George had a fine time at their smoker in San Antonio Hall Saturday night in celebration of the coronation of King Edward. There were in the neighborhood of a hundred people present. S. R. Jordan presided as master of ceremonies. After a number of musical selections, W. R. Hoare, British Consul to Hawaii, responded to the toast, "Their Britannic Majesties King Edward VII. and Queen Alexandra," as follows:

Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen: — I need not say that wherever British subjects may be gathered together, this toast will be at all times received with the greatest enthusiasm. But it has a greater and far deeper significance at this present time, when His Majesty — thank God!—is recovering from very serious illness.

The very thought of his recent peril must intensify our wishes and our solicitude for His Majesty's health, and with regard to his noble Queen who has shown such untiring devotion during her recent trial, a Queen whose goodness and sweetness of character has endeared her to all, we should be wanting if we did not, on this occasion, testify our admiration for her true, womanly and gracious qualities.

We are thankful to be able to felicitate ourselves on His Majesty's continued progress toward recovery and also upon the successful consummation of his coronation. Let us then unite in wishing Their Majesties long life and a happy and prosperous reign.

There was a goodly attendance also at the smoker of the Scottish Thistle Club in their headquarters by way of celebrating the coronation of King Edward. There was no set program but many of those present made speeches, sang songs or told stories.

SEPTEMBER SEA WINDS

The following notes are from the Pilot Chart of the North Pacific Ocean for September:

In Honolulu the average prevalence of the trades during September is 26 days. Tedious calms, often extending over several days in succession, will be met throughout the belt 0°-10° N., 120° E.-180°; also throughout a triangular area, the base of which rests on the American coast from Cape San Lucas to the Gulf of Panama, the vertex lying in latitude 5°N., longitude 130°W.

North of 45° the prevailing direction of the wind will be NW. Light southeasterly winds will be met immediately under the coast, and southwesterly winds will be frequent beyond the meridian of 130°W. To the southward of 45° the prevailing direction will be NNW., with the winds from this quarter attaining a mixmum frequency between 125°-130°. The strongest winds will be from the north, rarely attaining gale force.

Continuing southward, northwesterly winds may be expected between the coast and a line drawn from 35°N., 125°W., to 20°N., 115°W. South of 20° and under the coast northeasterly winds will blow. Off the coast and as far west as 120° the prevailing direction is southwesterly, becoming successively southerly and southeasterly as the equator is approached.

Occasional cyclonic storms of no great intensity (agles of force 10) may be expected between the parallels of 10° and 20°N. along the route between San Francisco and the line.

CUSTOMS DROP INTO LAST PLACE IN LEAGUE STANDING

People who attended the baseball games on the Punahou campus Saturday afternoon were treated to two of the best exhibitions of the season. With the exception of a few excusable errors the boys put up excellent baseball so that from 1:40 o'clock, the time when the first game started, until the end of the second game, interest was not relaxed for a moment.

In the first game—Honolulu vs. Kamehameha—Joy made a record for himself. Only one hit was scored off him and this was a single by Lemon in the ninth inning that dropped just a little beyond short stop. It was strange that Lemon should have done this for he had not been hitting the ball at all.

Joy's work was superb. The Kams could not by any possibility hit safe, the balls came along with such lightning speed and with such well directed curves. Had it not been for Lemon's little hit in the nineth, not a Kamehameha player would have seen the home plate.

Cunha behind the bat did just as good work in his place as Joy in his. The Kamehameha players got so that they were really afraid to leave their bases. Not a man was allowed to steal without the ball being sent after him. If the third baseman and even the second had done better work, there would have been a higher percentage of put outs credited to the Honolulus. Bolster at third seemed to make it a point to muff every ball thrown to him by Cunha.

Leslie at first proved himself the best first baseman in the league. Nothing got past him.

For the Kams, as usual, Lemon did most of the playing. He invariably backed up his men and saved a much larger score.

Wise at third—a new player—was absolutely useless. He let ball after ball go past him and did not try to go after anything. However, the team as a whole did excellent work and had they been able to bat a little, there would have been some fun for the Honolulus.

In the second game—Punahou vs. Custom House—the college boys again showed their head work and won from their opponents to the tune of 6 to 1. Cunha, a brother of the Honolulu catcher, did excellent work out in the field and lined out a two-bagger just where it was needed. Castle in the box showed a steadiness that marks him as one of the best players in the league and Steere at second was everywhere as usual, backing up his men and playing an errorless game

First—Quick Play.

Gleason for the Honolulus went out, second to first. Louis struck out. Williams went out, short to first.

Reuter for the Kams struck out. Koki went out, short to first. Vanatta got base on balls and Wise struck out.

Second—Another Short Story.

Cunha for Honolulus sent a neat single into center. Joy hit an infield fly which Lemon muffed but got to second in time to catch Cunha. Aylett made a single into center. Leslie flew out to right. Hansman flew out to left.

Lemon for the Kams went out on a grounder to first. Richards got base on balls but was caught by Cunha's watchfulness, the runner going a little bit too far toward second. Jones got base on balls. Yates flew out to first.

Third—A Three-Bagger.

Bolster for the Honolulus made a single into right. Gleason went out on a sacrifice to second, to first. Louis made a hit into right and while the ball was being sent home for Bolster, he took second. Bolster remained safe at third. Williams flew out to catcher on an infield fly. Cunha made a three-bagger into the jungle in left and Bolster and Louis came home. Joy hit to Yates for an error and Cunha came home. Aylett made a three-bagger into right and Joy came home. Aylett came home on a wild pitch. Leslie went out, pitcher to first.

Kekuewa and Reuter for the Kams struck out. Koki went out, pitcher to first.

Fourth—Fine Foul Catch.

Hansman for the Honolulus flew out to center. Bolster went out, third to first. Gleason struck out.

Vannatta went out on a foul to Cunha, this play being one of the best of the day. The ball went far up into the air and fell close to the backstop. Cunha caught the ball between his hands and chest and froze to it. Wise flew out to Aylett in center. Lemon struck out.

Fifth—Pitcher Does Work.

Louis and Williams for the Honolulus both went out, pitcher to first. Cunha flew out to second.

Richards for the Kams flew out to second. Jones struck out. Yates went out, second to first.

Sixth—Lemon Was Everywhere.

Joy made a base hit into left and got second on a slow field. Aylett flew out to Koki in center. Leslie did the same thing and Joy went to third. Had it not been for Lemon who backed up the third baseman Joy would have comeh home for Wise let the ball go past. Hansman went out, pitcher to first. Kekuewa went out, pitcher to first. Reuter got first on an error by Gleason in right. This was the first error for the Honolulus during the game. Reuter stole second on an error by Louis who fumbled the ball when thrown to him by Cunha. Reuter got third on an error by Bolster who muffed a fine ball that was thrown by Cunha. Like Louis, he had plenty of time to catch the ball and get his man out. This was most discouraging playing for the catcher. Once again Cunha had Reuter at third but once again Bolster dropped the ball. Koki got base on balls and stole second. Vannatta struck out. Wise struck out, the third ball being so far up in the air that it bounced out of Cunha's hands but he was quick in his movements and caught it again before it touched the ground. In this inning, the Kams had every chance of making a run but they were held down too close by Joy and Cunha both of whom did magnificent work.

Seventh—Two Strike-Outs.

Bolster for the Honolulus struck out. Gleason got first on an error by third. Louis flew out to Vannatta at second. Williams went out, second to first.

Lemon and Richards for the Kams struck out. Jones got first on an error by Louis who was suffering from a very sore leg. Yates flew out to Aylett in center.

Eighth—Another Three-Bagger.

Cunha for the Honolulus made a three-bagger into right. Joy hit to Vannatta who thew to first for an error. Cunha came home. Aylett hit to Vannatta who just got his hands on it and that was all. Lemon threw to third who let the ball go by him and Joy came home. Aylett went on to second and then to third. Leslie struck out. Hansman hit to Vannatta who threw to first for an error and the runner was safe. Aylett came home. Bolster struck out. The ball was thrown to first, to second, catching Hansman.

Kekuewa for the Kams struck out. Reuter flew out to short, Williams running far backward for the ball. Koki hit to Louis who threw wild to first and the runner was safe. Richards flew out to Leslie at first.

Ninth—Kams Score One.

Gleason for the Honolulus went out, third to first. Louis flew out to Koki in center. Williams hit to first, the baseman there going off to get the ball. Williams beat him out getting his foot on the bag first. Cunha hit to pitcher who threw to second, catching Williams.

Wise for the Kams went out, short to first. Lemon made the first base hit of the day out into right and ran around to second while the ball was being fielded. Richards went out on a foul to Cunha behind the bat. Lemon went to third on a bad error by Bolster. Jones got base on balls, the last ball being very wild and going over Cunha's head, thus allowing Lemon to come home, scoring the first run of the day for the Kams. Yates went out on a grounder to first and the game was over.

It was about 3:30 o'clock that the Custom House and Punahou teams got to work.

First—Punahous Score.

Steere for the Punahous got base on balls and stole second. Raven being unable to throw decently in that direction. Marcallino made a single into right that was beautifully fielded by Bowers. Waterhouse flew out to right and Steere came home. Cunha struck out. Castle went out, short to first.

Tucker for the Customs flew out to Steere at second. Bowers flew out to Cunha. Lishman got first on an error by Babbitt at third. Anderson got first on an error by the baseman there. Marcallino fielding the ball. Willis went out, pitcher to first.

Second—King Scores.

Soper for the Punahous flew out to first. J. Marcallino flew out to Tucker in left. Babbitt went out, short to first.

Kiwa flew out to A. Marcallino at short. King made a three-bagger into center. Duncan hit to Babbitt who threw wild to the plate and King came home, leaving Duncan safe at first. Raven made a base hit past first. Tucker hit to pitcher who threw to third for Duncan, out on a force. Bowers hit to Babbitt at third who held the ball for Raven out.

Third—Lishman Too Anxious.

Hemenway went out, short to first. Steere flew out to Bowers in center. A. Marcallino flew out to Lishman at short.

Lishman made a base hit to left and tried to get second but was caught. Anderson went out, second to first. Willis struck out.

Fourth—A Short Inning.

Waterhouse for the Punahous went out, short to first. Cunha made a single into right but was caught out in attempting to steal second. Castle went out, second to first.

Kiwa went out, pitcher to first. King made a single into center. Duncan hit to third who threw to second for King out. Raven struck out.

Fifth—Several Flew Out.

Tucker for the Customs went out second to first. Bowers made a single into left and stole second. Lishman went out, third to first. Anderson flew out to center.

Sixth—Punahous Bunch Hits.

Steere flew out to Duncan. A. Marcallino made a single between short and third and stole second. Waterhouse made a single over second, bringing Marcallino home, but was caught stealing second. Cunha made a two-bae hit into left field. Castle went out, pitcher to first.

Willis for the Customs went out, short to first. Kiwa got base on balls but was caught stealing second. King bunted, the catcher threw wild to first and the runner got second. Duncan struck out.

Seventh—Some Good Fielding.

Soper for the Punahous flew out to Anderson in right. J. Marcallino made a single between short and third and stole second. Babbitt went out, pitcher to first and J. Marcallino went around to third. Hemenway went out, short to first.

Raven for the Customs flew out to Cunha in center. Tucker struck out. Bowers flew out to J. Marcallino in left.

Eighth—Determined Playing.

Steere for the Punahous made a two-base hit into right field. A. Marcallino made a single into left but was caught stealing second. Waterhouse went out on an infield fly to short. Cunha went out, short to first.

Lishman for the Customs went out on a fly to short. Anderson went out, second to first and Willis went out on an infield fly to pitcher.

Ninth—Punahous Score Four.

In the ninth, Castle for the Punahous made a single between short and second. Soper made a base hit into center and J. Marcallino got base on balls. Babbitt hit to short, to home, catching Castle at the plate. Hemenway flew out to Willis at first. Steere made a base hit between short and third, bringing both Soper and A. Marcallino home. J. Marcallino hit toward pitcher and beat the ball out to first. Steere stole home. Waterhouse struck out.

Kiwa for the Customs went out, short to first. King struck out. Duncan got base on balls. Raven hit to second for Duncan out at that base.

The high dive act as a means of escaping officers of the law was discredited by Sunday's Aala incident. Even Tracy in all his wild career assiduously avoided attempts at flying.

The Ministerial Union was not so far off after all in registering a protest against a possible street fair, judging from the action of the Grand Lodge of Elks. The Elks have found that the street fairs have developed on lines which will not justify further sanction by that organization.

Mark Twain's "Huckleberry Finn" is in a fair way to have another big sale. The Denver public library has excluded the book from its shelves on the ground that it is immoral and sacrilligious. Denver must be experiencing one of those waves of morality that furnish amusement for the reading public.

The fire laddies seem to be the only ones who make anything out of the serious conflagrations but those who observe the character of their work have no doubt that every check presented in recognition of their services is richly deserved. Whatever shortcomings this city may have there can be no doubt of its fire department taking a place with the best any city of the Mainland can offer.

The Young Men's Republican Club ought to take advantage of the postponement of ex-Senator Thurston's speech to secure if possible a larger meeting place than the Orpheum. This opening rally will be the most largely attended of any likely to be held during the campaign and ample provision should be made for the crowds. Senator Thurston is a man whose oratory will attract men of all parties and the largest assembly hall of the city will be none too extensive to accommodate his audience.

WHAT FUSION MEANS.

Wailuku Republicans and Democrats are having the old time struggle with the problem of fusion that has worried the minds of politicians since the game began. Both sides believe fusion necessary to success. Both object to surrendering party identity. The stronger Republican wing wishes to avoid giving new strength to a party which may become a vigorous opponent in the future, and the numerically weak Democratic wing refuses to forego its party integrity and be swallowed up by its more powerful friend. And there you are.

And there you will continue to be unless the leaders of the movement get down to the bed rock object of a fusion program, and allow the party individuality to remain unmolested. Fusion which demands that candidates shall sign any other party rolls than their own is absorption. Strict party men can hardly be expected to accept sluch a proposition. This is the fusion that leads to confusion, division of forces and the election of Home Rule candidates.

As the Bulletin understands the situation, the single object in view is the defeat of the Wilcox ticket, it being taken for granted that a combination between Democrats and Republicans is necessary to defeat the Home Rule candidates. If such is the case, the only basis of successful fusion is an agreement on the proportion of representation to be granted the contracting parties. Party platforms, party pledges and even party principles must be overlooked to a certain extent. It amounts to an endorsement of individual Democrats by the Republicans and a like courtesy extended to the Republicans by their, for the time being, Democratic friends.

The most distinct pledge that can properly be asked of a fusion candidate is that he will not be party to wasting legislative time foolishly. And this pledge supposedly goes without saying. The only questions Republicans have to decide is whether they require Democratic assistance and whether the additional votes to be gained warrant putting aside one of their own party men. Quibbling over signing the rolls or acceptance of a party platform is so much time wasted since it brings up a series of party differences as old as the hills and supposed to be inbred in the character of party men.

CONSPIRACY CHARGED

MRS. GERTZ ACCUSES MR. MAGOON IN COURT

LANAI SALE CONFIRMED BY JUDGE GEAR — ATTORNEYS SHUT OFF IN THE ORDER OF BUSINESS.

Judge Gear this morning confirmed the Lanai property sale by A. Barnes, commissioner. There was much prior argument by attorneys for the several parties, consuming the larger part of the morning. It was after 12 o'clock when the court announced an end of chambers and probate matters, and formally opened the term session.

A dozen attorneys were standing on the floor at once, half of them talking in concerted discord. The court sat on them all, as the time had elapsed. Mr. Magoon persisted in asking for leave to introduce some matter, and was disposed of by receiving an order to present the matter to George Lucas, clerk, within one minute. As the clerks on duty leave at 12 sharp unless otherwise directed, the order was too late to be of use.

Before the order of motions was closed, Mrs. C. Gertz appeared in person to file an amended bill in equity for revocation of foreclosure of mortgage. The foreclosure in question was executed seven years ago and has been confirmed by the Supreme Court on appeal.

Judge Gear informed the suitor that her motion was made too late. He expressed sympathy for her and knew of no way to have the case reopened.

Mrs. Gertz in some excitement demanded her rights under the constitution and going back to a table where she had been sitting all morning picked up a law book and called the court's attention to a marked passage in it. She declaimed against J. Alfred Magoon as having been the author of a conspiracy to deprive her of her property, pointing her finger at the attorney named who was standing by the jury box. Turning round she indicated Cecil Brown as knowing all about the conspiracy.

W. O. Smith intervened to say that, as attorney for Mrs. Forbes, purchaser of the foreclosed property at Kawaiahao, his investigations convinced him that the transaction was straight so far as his client was concerned. At the same time he would be very glad if it were at all feasible to give the petitioner a rehearing. She had a grievance and he sympathized with her.

Mrs. Gertz made another impassioned appeal for justice, having in the first place noted exceptions to the court's ruling. She quoted the constitution and invoked the name of President Roosevelt in behalf of her rights. Mrs. Gertz administered a sharp rebuke to several lawyers who were laughing, and finally insisted on filing her amended bill, which Judge Gear ordered the clerk to receive, at the same time promising to take the document under consideration.

JUDGE LITTLE'S STATEMENT

Editor Hilo Tribune:—I wish to say to my friends throughout the Territory who have been kind enough to consider my name in connection with the nomination for Congress: That I have not, am not, and will not be a candidate for the Republican nomination as Delegate to Congress, and my name will not go before the Republican Territorial Convention for the nomination. While I am a stalwart Republican yet, since assuming the bench, I have not taken any part in politics whatever, and, whenever I conclude to do so, my friends will not be left in doubt as to the course I shall pursue or the platform upon which I shall stand. Very respectfully,

G. F. LITTLE.

Hilo, Hawaii, August 21, 1902.

A HARMONIOUS CHANT.

[Hilo Tribune.]

To come down to the strict truth, politically, who can boast of a willingness to harmonize all factions? This question applies both to Republicans and to people of all parties. There are several loud voices lifted just now, all chanting harmony. Harmony means union, unity of purpose.

In Hawaiian politics divisive strife is the predominant feature. This is explained by the fact that every man or coterie of men in politics in this Territory harbors the idea that in the success of their own individual wishes is to come the greatest good that can be gained by the Hawaiian public. Within the different parties, each worker or gang of workers is thoroughly convinced that in the achievement of personal plans is to be found the highest party glory.

This is as illogical as it is dertimental to the public good. It may be a condition from which there is no escape, but it is a condition, which, so long as it remains with us will make politics in Hawaii the peanuttiest politice under the flag.

There can be no headway in the direction of harmony unless those who are proposing harmonious action show some disposition to concede.

The Last Straw.

"Bankruptcy stares me in the face!" he groaned.

"And is there no hope?" asked his sympathetic friend.

"Just one," replied the unfortunate man, "and yet my father often told me never to sacrifice the roof above my head. But this is the bitter end. I am going out to mortgage my Panama hat!"

The last bark Ceylon was the vessel that brought the organ for St. Andrew's cathedral here from Boston around Cape Horn in the year 1881.

A NATIVE JUMPS OUT INTO SPACE

Yesterday afternoon at about 2:30 o'clock, Aka, a Hawaiian, made a leap from a 50-foot roof with about a thousand spectators to witness it.

Aka, who lived with his wife in a tenement house adjoining the old Chinese theater, Aala lane, had had some trouble with her, and, by brooding over it, had gone suddenly insane. As he threatened to do violence, the police were dispatched to take him in charge yesterday morning, but Aka escaped, and, climbing through a skylight in the roof of his house, went out on the roof of the adjoining building. The police tried several times to come near him, but owing to the peril of the situation nothing was accomplished before Officer McDuffie arrived at about 2 o'clock.

In vain did the police try to induce Aka to come back. The Hawaiian kept a close watch on the officers and would not let them approach. He threatened that in case any one came after him he would throw that man and himself over the edge. "Give me a gun and one shot. That is all I want," said the fellow.

In the meantime a large crowd had collected near the building and the situation became so intolerable that McDuffie decided to put an end to it. He and Officer Duncan climbed up to the top of the roof and from there they lowered Manuel Garcia, the Porto Rican interpreter, down the roof by a rope.

The events which followed were watched with breathless excitement by the crowd. Garcia pluckily went for Aka, who, catching hold of Garcia, tried to pull him down. Garcia's position was a very dangerous one. He was kept from death only by a thin clothes-line and McDuffie and Duncan had to strain every muscle to hold their man back from the edge of the room.

Finally, Officer Silva went to the aid of Garcia. As soon as Aka saw him, he threw himself flat on the roof and peered for a moment into the depth below. Then he suddenly raised himself and, throwing his hands up above his head, threw himself headlong into space as gracefully as if he were performing a high dive.

Aka only escaped death by a miracle. He was falling head downward when his mouth struck a wire clothesline with such force that the line snapped. This broke much of the force of his fall and turned his body around.

A Hawaiian who was standing close by caught him and further broke the fall. A broken hip and a few scratches was all the injury Aka obtained from his terrible leap.

Aka is a well-known Hawaiian in the Aala neighborhood. He is known as a good baseball player and has long held the position of shortstop in the Aala nine.

Immediately following Aka's sensational leap two more exciting incidents happened. As Officer Silva was descending from the roof, he was suddenly attacked by three Chinese, one of whom broke a thick hau-wood stick over his head. Silva, however, soon overpowered his assailants, who were placed under arrest and taken to the station.

Hack-driver Mike Costello was driving from Aala lane across the Rapid Transit track when his rig was struck by an electric car. The hack was smashed and Costello had his right wrist injured. A passenger in the hack escaped without injury.

the Supreme Court and the Circuit Judges to appoint such additional number of bailiffs as may be deemed necessary and while providing the rate of compensation per day for such additional officers, does not limit the amount which may be expended for this purpose during the biennial or any period. This fact furnishes strong reason for believing that it was not the intention of the Legislature to authorize, by Act 10 itself, the payment of any of the salaries or compensation named. It is not to be presumed that the Legislature intended to leave it to an executive or to a judicial officer to determine without limitation, the amount to be expended for a certain purpose. We think that the limitation was, as usual, prescribed, and that it is to be found in the item of $36,000 above referred to appropriated in Act 4 of the extra session.

The clause in the title, "and providing for the payment of such compensation," is held not sufficient to outweigh the considerations in favor of the view that the Act made no appropriation and gave no authority to the Treasurer to pay. It is regarded probable, further, that the Legislature itself practically construed Section 5 of the Bailiff Act within three months after its passage, when in Act 3 of the extra session it passed an item for salary of the Supreme Court bailiff as if to show that it did not consider any appropriation was made in the Bailiff Act. Moreover, it is taken that the Circuit Judges themselves have similarly construed the Act by approving vouchers for salaries of bailiffs drawn against the expense item of $36,000.

The contention against the authority for filling the vacancies in the court made by the absence of Chief Justice Frear and Justice Galbraith is regarded as raising a question of "considerable importance," affecting, as it does, in addition to this class of cases, causes submitted under Act 18 of the Laws of 1898," and the court says it "deserves careful and elaborate argument. No such argument has been presented. In agreed cases submitted under Act 18 just referred to, the practice has been to appoint substitute justices. Under all of the circumstances, we follow the past practice and assume jurisdiction."

SCOTTISH THISTLE CLUB CELEBRATES

The Scottish Thistle Club had on Saturday night last one of the best times in the history of the organization. It was a very quickly gotten up affair and, like impromptu events generally, it proved a great success. There was a large representation of the members of the club present. Chief T. M. Rae acted as chairman, opening the evening's session with the following remarks:

"We meet here this evening as Scotchmen with our friends to mark with our hearty good-will the crowning of our King and his gracious consort Queen Alexandra.

"The sad illness of His Majesty, necessitating the postponement of original plans for the coronation on June 26, came to us as a dark cloud out of a clear sky. We were stunned as though a member of our own family was threatened with death. The nation as one man turned to God, and prayers poured forth from every heart asking for his recovery, and, thank God, these prayers have been answered.

"'God works in a mysterious way
His wonders to perform.'

"And what was looked upon as a national calamity has doubtless turned out to be possibly a blessing in disguise, and has offered the opportunity to let loose from millions of his subjects shouts of loyalty and acclamations of joy.

"From all accounts received the coronation on 9th inst. passed off with a magnificence and medieval glory such as the world has seldom seen. The solemn ceremony at Westminster Abbey was duly and worthily celebrated, shortened to some extent to prevent the possibility of fatigue to His Majesty. It is said the King looked royal every inch of him, and entered with majestic energy into all the service.

"Queen Alexandra, the personification of queenly dignity, looked her very best, and proud must have been King Edward to be accompanied by such a consort."

IF NOT, THEN WILCOX.

[Maui News.]

Island politics are assuming an acute phase on Maui, and within the next few weeks some very interesting history will be made which will have a direct bearing on the welfare of the Islands for some years to come. Two years ago, the plea of the News for intelligent fusion was totally disregarded, and this year the same plea meets only a half-hearted response. The Republican party is finely organized and self-reliant, the Home Rulers have closed up their ranks for the battle, and the Democrats are wandering aimlessly around without a leader. Now there is no question but that the interests of the Islands would be jeopardized by the election of the Home Rule ticket. It is no less true that the Hawaiians, regardless of party affiliations, are a unit in favor of county government. Consequently, if the Republicans would win, they must put a plank in their platform favoring county government. If they would retain power indefinitely, they must pass such a bill, to take effect immediately after the adjournment of the Legislature. The bill should provide that the Governor temporarily appoint all county officers, to serve until the next regular election in 1905, after which all such officers should be elected. If the Republicans are long-headed, large-hearted and wise enough to do all this, the future of the Islands will remain in their hands indefinitely. If not—Wilcox.

MR. DAMON'S VIEW.

[Hawaii Herald.]

S. M. Damon, the able financier, takes a cheerful view of the future and so expresses himself in a Honolulu newspaper. He sets the date for better times after the harvest of the next sugar crop, about ten months hence. Mr. Damon is probably correct, for in the interval there will be a session of the Legislature and of Congress, and one or both of these bodies may do something for the Territory, and this, followed by a good crop of sugar at better than the present prices, will do much toward putting Hawaii once more on her feet.

BASEBALL THE ISSUE

SEASON'S GREAT GAME TO BE PLAYED SUNDAY

KAHULUI VS. WAILUKU — MAUI LEAGUE HAVING AN INTERESTING CHAMPIONSHIP CONTEST.

Wailuku, Aug. 23.—The game of baseball between the Waikapus and Maui Alerts at Wells' Park last Sunday, Aug. 17, was easily won by the Waikapus, the score being 26 to 2. The Waikapus had a walk-over. The Alerts will play against the Morning Stars tomorrow, and if they fail to win that game, the Stars will lay claim to the elegant silver cup now on exhibition in the window of Hoffman & Vetlesen. If, however, by some hook or crook, the Alerts win, then the Stars will have to play with the Waikapus to decide the championship of Maui and the possession of the trophy put up by the Maui Athletic League.

The Stars have not changed the personnel of the team since the start of the league series, while the other teams have been looking around for players, and in their eagerness to defeat the Stars, even went to the extent of accepting Honolulu players who were here for pleasure or business. Notwithstanding such excellent acquisitions, the Stars always came out victorious excepting the game of two weeks ago when the too confident Stars were defeated by the Waikapus, who have been steadily improving. That defeat was too much for the Stars to stand, but they will have an easy thing with the Alerts tomorrow. The public, however, would like to see the Alerts win, so that the Waikapus may have another chance of playing with the Stars and perhaps defeating the Stars, for Willie Searle, pitcher of the Waikapus, has improved considerably, while Jackson has been weakening as proven by the game with the All-Honolulu and with the Waikapus. Searle may some day become a phenomenal pitcher and when he goes to Honolulu again, the city teams may scramble to get him.

The talk of the town these days outside of politics, is the expected great game between the Married men of Kahului and the Benedicts of Wailuku, the losing team to pay for a swell dinner at the Maui hotel. This great game will come off at Wells' Park on Sunday, August 31. Lots of money is already up on the game with the Wailukus in the lead. The members have gone to to the expense of supplying themselves with sporting shoes, masks, for the majority of them will have to wear masks. They admit never having been on a diamond before, and the nearest to a game some of them have been was looking over a fence. The line-up will be as follows:

Wailuku—W. E. Bal, W. T. Robinson, Jas. L. Coke (captain), Sam Kellinoi, pitcher; W. H. Cornwell Jr., catcher; Manuel Faustino, D. Crowell, G. B. Robertson, shortstop; W. F. Pogue, Subs. T. B. Lyons, M. L. Decker.

Kahului — Jas. Kirkland, T. M. Church, J. J. Carroll, J. J. Walsh, C. B. Cottrell (captain), J. H. Walker, W. Nawai, N. E. Lemmon, R. A. Wadsworth, shortstop. Subs. Ned Kruger and Dan Quill.

Sheriff Baldwin was asked to join the team for he is quite an athlete himself and president of the Maui Athletic Association, but the sheriff seems to think that he will need the whole force out that day not only to preserve the peace but to take care of the families of the players who will gather at the grandstand. A band of voluntary nurses will be arranged for during the coming week to attend to the wounded and disabled.

BALLOON WENT UP.

Wailuku, Aug. 23.—Prof. Leonard, the aeronaut, made his promised balloon ascension last Sunday afternoon. The balloon was inflated in the empty space in the rear of the Knights of Pythias building on Mill street. At exactly 6 o'clock, Prof Leonard gave the order to let go and in a few seconds he was seen in mid air sitting on the trapeze of his parachute. The balloon made a very slow ascent, and when it reached an altitude of about 650 feet it began its descent. It was then that the professor was seen to make a leap with his parachute, and in less than fifteen minutes from the start he was on terra firma again. Some of the Japanese who were around when the balloon was being filled with gas could not be induced to hold the ropes for fear of being carried up when the airship was ready to start. Efforts to convince them otherwise were unavailing. Prof. Leonard realized a little over $100 by this exhibition.

WORK OF REFORESTATION.

Commissioner Wray Taylor is sending to Maui, for reforesting purposes, seedlings of the lama tree propagated in the Government nursery up Nuuanu valley. This is a very hard wood, which was used by the ancient Hawaiians for building heiaus, or temples of refuge. Its seeds are edible, being eaten by the natives. The lama is one of the indigenous trees of these islands, which are receiving special attention from the Commissioner of Agriculture and Forestry in the work of reforestation.

DEWEY CRATER SMOKING.

Hilo, August 22.—Manager Waldron of the Volcano House reports to the Tribune that for several days a pall of smoke has hung over the region of the Dewey crater on Mauna Loa. He states that the column of smoke is distinctly visible each evening when the weather is clear, and that in his judgment activity of a more pronounced character may be expected at any time.

Ladies will hold the fort at the Officers' Club tomorrow night. The whole place will be thrown open and, amidst the playing of popular airs by band and quintet club, the crack ping pong players of the city will show what they can do.

According to letters received from Kauai in the Mikahala yesterday, the Circuit Court of that Island is also in a bad fix, there being but a very few cents left in the treasury. As there are a number of very important cases to be brought up before the Grand Jury every effort will be made to get money to tide over.

In the matter of the estate of Robert William Holt, deceased, Kinney, Ballou & McClanahan, attorneys for Hawaiian Trust Co., trustee for George A. Aldrich, have filed a motion to intervene in the matter of the petition of James R. Holt and others for revocation of probate of will. A demurrer to the petition is also filed.

B. D. Pender, carpenter U. S. N., who has been connected with the local Naval Station for the past few years, has received orders to go on to San Francisco to be put on inspecting duty at the Union Iron Works in connection with the building of the cruiser Dakota, the battleship Ohio and the armed cruiser California. While Mr. Pender has been in this city he has won many friends by his courtesy and capability.

Two members of the Honolulu Athletic Club baseball team are around today finding out who made the hit for the Kamehamehas in the game of Saturday. Joy is of the opinion that Lemon did not make it and Gleason has wagered that he did. The matter has not been settled yet, since it is the desire of both that the official scorer be seen first. Upon the decision of Mr. Andrew's rests a shaved head for one of the two players.

HATTIE WAS LUCKY.

Hattie Manu, the young lady who was alleged to have sold liquor without a license in Kakaako a few weeks ago, appeared in the Police Court this morning to answer to the charge. Fortune smiled upon the fair defendant, who was defended by F. M. Brooks.

The prosecution had to enter a nolle prosequi, the principal witnesses for the prosecution being absent. These are sailormen who have been flitting back and forth on the blue water between the islands ever since the case began. The deputy sheriff tried in vain to find them but ever elusive, they flitted like gilded butterflies from place to place. The case was continued from time to time until the prosecution finally gave up the chase and the fair Hattie got out scot free.

PING PONG PLAY.

The ping pong players in the Officers' Club tournament did not do very much Saturday on account of the counter attractions in the way of sports. Messrs. Horner and Loucks and Dr. High are the farthest advanced and the semi-finals can hardly be reached by tomorrow night, the time set for the ladies' reception.

George Waterhouse should play F. H. Armstrong and Prince David Kawananakoa, Lieut. Davis, this afternoon or evening.

F. M. Brooks will play the winner of the Blackman-Hawes contest and Wilder the winner of the E. J. Waterman-Girvin contest.

NEW ENGINE ON HILO RAILROAD.

Hilo, August 22.—The Hilo Railroad Company has added another Baldwin locomotive to its motive power equipment, and it is probably the best engine ever brought to Hawaii. The locomotive is No. 3 and will be used on passenger trains.—Herald.

Another Dividend For Steel Barons

New York, August 15. The sum of $10,000,000 was divided yesterday among the members of the United States Steel Corporation underwriting syndicate. Checks aggregating this enormous amount were distributed from the office of J. P. Morgan & Co.

This makes $50,000,000 in profits that have been paid to the capitalists who compose this great syndicate.

Considering that the syndicate was organized only a year ago last February and that its membership was called upon to put up but $25,000,000, which sum was paid back a very short time later, this record is a world beater.

The investment has netted 12 per cent in a little more than a year and a half. Three dividend payments of $10,000,000 each have now been made. More will follow, it is said.

This gigantic syndicate was formed in February, 1901, to provide $100,000,000 in cash and securities and to guarantee the success of the refunding operations of the United States Steel Corporation, commonly called the Billion Dollar Steel Trust.

J. Pierpont Morgan was the chief figure in the syndicate, but associated with him were many other distinguished capitalists. Leading financial interests throughout this country and Europe are represented by the financial company.

A $200,000,000 fund was subscribed, but only $25,000,000 of that sum was really paid in. That sum was paid back in November 1901. The syndicate managers no longer needed it, but instead went with an enormous profits which had accumulated, which now, it is estimated, approximate $50,000,000.

These vast profits represented marvellous in the purchase and resale of stock on breaks and the proceeds of the sale of steel given to the syndicate as a bonus. An official statement has never been made in connection with the items received by the syndicate, but it has been stated unofficially many times that it received $50,000,000 in stock, divided equally in common and preferred.

J. P. Morgan & Co., who managed the organization's affairs, received no direct compensation for their services as syndicate managers.

No financial organization of modern times, or in fact ever in history has had the success which has attended the workings of this syndicate. Its functions consist, of course, in financing big companies, and its charge for so doing is by no means small.

It was generally believed that when the financing of the steel company was completed the affairs of the syndicate would be closed, but it is now stated this action will not be taken for some months at least.

Before its affairs are closed, it is said by persons in a position to know, several other dividends of $10,000,000 will be distributed among the stockholders.

No list of these stockholders has ever been made public. Great financial interests, rather than individuals, control the syndicate. When a dividend of $10,000,000 is declared, more than $1,000,000, it is said, remains in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co.

The Campbell Block BADLY GUTTED With Fire and Water

Bigger fires have tested the capacity of the Honolulu Fire Department in the little more than half a century of its existence, but never a tougher one for the area covered by the enemy than the little volcano that raged in the heart of the Campbell block for about four hours on Saturday afternoon. It is doubtful, too, if the history of fires in this city contains an instance of so many white men, business and professional, directly sustaining inconvenience and damage as on this occasion. At the same time, probably, seldom if ever has a fire caused so little loss of property in proportion to the time and trouble required to put it out.

Still another remarkable feature of the event is that while the symptoms, hour after hour from the first, were that the entire block was doomed from insidious crawling of hidden flame between the lower ceiling and the upper floor, the upper ceiling and roof, and wall interstices, not one in a thousand of the multitudes gazing at the contest waged by the firemen saw the slightest flicker of flame. Few even of the hundreds who swarmed to the work of salvage in the interior, though their noble exertions took them close to the firemen at the nozzles, saw much fire.

Origin of Fire.

Where and how the fire started did not long remain a mystery. Early in the first confusion, Abraham Fernandez, manager of the Hawaiian Hardware Company, made a statement to High Sheriff A. M. Brown in presence of John A. McCandless, which made the matter clear. He stated that a native employee of the company had entered the warehouse to procure a supply of gasoline for Young Brothers, for use in their gasoline launch. The place is dark with the shutters closed and the man carried a lighted lantern. No sooner had he begun to draw the volatile fluid than its fumes became ignited from the flame of the lantern. There was an explosion and fire leaped to inflammable merchandise piled on all sides.

People at the fire early could not understand the word going around that the fire had started in the premises of the Hawaiian Hardware Company, as its store front and second story windows with those of M. Phillips & Co. beyond at the corner of Queen street, emitted none of the smoke that was pouring out here and there all along the rest of the Fort street frontage. The hardware store is in the Beaver block aligning with the Campbell block. Both blocks belong to the James Campbell Estate.

Focus of Flames.

The explanation of the wonder mentioned is that the warehouse where the fire started as described lies in the rear of Nolte's restaurant, Martin's tailor shop, the Inter-Island Telegraph Company's office, a staircase from Fort street and the Lawrence tobacconist store. Where the explosion occurred and the goods caught fire is behind the sixth door from the retail store of the Hawaiian Hardware Company. There is a private stairway from the street to sleeping rooms over Nolte's making another door besides those already mentioned. Between the restaurant premises and Martin's is a brick party wall, but the Hawaiian Hardware Company's warehouse is also with a shed back of the restaurant kitchen. Had the fire got beyond control, therefore, it might have attacked Nolte's and the Hawaiian Hardware Company's store from the rear.

The heart of the fire was directly behind the store of David Lawrence & Co. A brick wall up to the ground floor ceiling prevented it from breaking into that store and also getting hold under the adjacent staircase. Yet the flames worked between the ceiling and the floor, reaching a point over the rear of Lawrence's. It was directly over the burning merchandise, however, that the fire gained most headway under and above the second floor. Goods, largely composed of wooden implements, clothespins, cordage, etc., reached from the lower floor to the ceiling. When holes were cut through the upper floor the flames were encountered in these stacks of goods. The fire was fought from above and below.

Surprised Beehive.

It was shortly before 2:30 o'clock the alarm was given. This is dead low-water time on Saturday in Honolulu's business (excepting for a portion of the retail trade. Most of the population is then attending outdoor sports or taking other recreation away from the scenes of their avocations. At this particular time in the whole week the Campbell block is practically dead to the world. Some of the tenants had on this occasion closed their doors for the day. Others were taking it easy within hail if wanted. So sudden was the invasion of smoke to the premises of a few who were not far away that they could not remove their effects until the deluge of water came.

J. S. Martin was temporarily absent from his store at the moment of the outburst of flame and smoke from the warehouse in rear. J. A. McCandless and other friends were in the store, however, when the first outcry was made in the warehouse directly across a narrow courtyard. Almost instantaneously a volume of pungent smoke poured into the store and all hands sprang to the salvage of goods. When the proprietor returned on the run a few moments later he found his stock in trade and everything portable from his store heaped up in Nolte's restaurant.

L. C. Ables, real estate agent, and F. L. Winter, insurance agent, whose offices are in the rear of the store next door, were taken by surprise. Mr. Ables, on rushing to secure books and papers, was driven back by the vivid smoke of burning oils, paints and cotton waste. Not until the whole place had been deluged with water could he reach any of his effects.

In the front of the same store, on either side, the tenants were the Inter-Island Telegraph Company and J. W. Ai Redhouse, watchmaker. F. J. Cross and the operating staff managed to remove the greater part of the wireless telegraph equipment to the Spreckels building opposite.

By telephonic and other means most of the tenants of the block were quickly on the scene and the interior became for all the world like a startled beehive. Scores of willing helpers joined those whose belongings were threatened and corridors and staircases swarmed with burden bearers. Furniture, cases of documents, typewriters, letter presses, maps and pictures were carried out and stored wherever a place could be found. Business and professional men in adjacent blocks were prompt in tendering room for this purpose.

Even the tenants on the Merchant street ground floor either removed their effects or had them made ready for quick removal.

David Lawrence & Co. did not begin to clear out their stock until 3:20, or nearly an hour after the alarm. Then they secured the assistance of one or two score young men and boys, who in untimarched in continuous procession across Fort street until the large stock had been deposited in the Judd building. Later the stock was trucked by the Union Express Company to the Chilton building. Quite a deal of small packages of tobacco, besides a quantity of loose cigars, was lost in the muck of the street at the first removal.

Occupants of Block.

To give an idea of what a popular hive of business the Campbell and Beaver blocks are, the following list of tenants is printed:

Queen street—M. A. Gonsalves & Co.

Queen and Fort streets, two floors—M. Phillips & Co.

Fort street, two floors—Hawaiian Hardware Co., H. J. Nolte, J. S. Martin; ground floor; Inter-Island Telegraph Company, J. W. A. Redhouse, L. C. Ables, F. L. Winter, David Lawrence & Co. (Then comes a now vacant store formerly occupied by the First National Bank.)

Fort and Merchant streets, ground floor—H. Waterhouse & Co.

Merchant street, ground floor—Cecil Brown; Grinwood, Richardson & Holloway; Harry Armitage; J. O. Carter, N. Fernandez, H. C. Carter, F. H. Burnette, German Alliance Insurance Company, Wm. Savidge.

Second floor—Hind, Rolph & Co.; F. W. Hankey, Hawaii Land Co., Bituminous Rock Paving Co., R. R. Robiford, Webster & Bartlett, Fred. Harrison, W. C. Achi, W. C. Achi & Co., Achi & Johnson, J. M. Monserrat, M. D. Monserrat, Hawaii & South Seas Curios Co., John Effinger (The Guide), Fulton & Scott, N. W. Grimwold, A. M. Moore, Garrett R. Gray, P. E. R. Strauch, Q. H. Berrey, A. R. Bindt, Honolulu & Hawaiian Paper Co., Ayres & Saleh (The Mirror), Kobayashi.

For understanding the battle waged by the firemen something about the construction of the building should be known. It is somewhat of a maze on the ground plan. Taking the Campbell and Beaver together, the block is a hollow square whose front extends on Fort street from Merchant to Queen street, with wings fronting on Merchant and Queen and middle extensions reaching back halfway to Kaahumanu street. Between Merchant street and the middle structure is a narrow alleyway ending at Bishop & Co.'s bank building, corner of Merchant and Kaahumanu streets. On the opposite side the middle structure abuts on a courtyard about thirty feet square behind Martin's and the telegraph office stores. All the exterior walls are of brick with iron shutters on some of them and fire wall cables inside. Exteriorly it is a fireproof building like the entire square of structures bounded by Fort, Queen, Kaahumanu and Merchant streets, of which it is the greater part, the others being the extensive group of Theo. H. Davies & Co., the stores of Macfarlane & Co., Bishop's Bank and the Bishop Estate buildings. The second of the two floors of the Campbell block is divided into offices with wood and glass partitions.

After the arrival of the first section of the Fire Department there was some little delay in getting on water. Then there was difficulty in finding advantageous points for attacking the fire. It was not very long however, before two engines were each serving double lines of hose. The chemical engine was on hand but could do nothing. From Fort street streams were conveyed through Martin's and the telegraph office, also up over the edge of the roof, several changes being made as the action of the fire was better ascertained. Ultimately, on that side, the deluge was mainly delivered through a window from the courtyard and through holes chopped in the second floor from a line carried up the stairway. The store floors were several inches under water most of the time.

At the Merchant street end a powerful stream was played from the alleyway into the windows of the middle extension. For the first while, however, this water was directed against the closed shutters as if to keep them from bursting with the internal heat.

One of the most effective streams, however, proved to be from a line carried in from the Queen street end. It was a good while after the first water when this direction was taken. J. A. Kennedy, who hurried into town from the baseball game, found the way. Along with Mr. Bath, the plumber, he groped his way along a narrow lane between the piles of merchandise into the warehouse until he came right in close view of where the flames were eating away at the inflammable merchandise. Chief Engineer Thurston was speedily apprised of this route to the very heart of the conflagration and promptly had a line run to the spot.

Mr. Kennedy was astounded to find cases of turpentine and paint materials piled up not more than fifteen feet from the spot where the flames were raging. Had the fire eaten backward along the lane mentioned, the consequences when it reached such inflammable material may only be imagined.

With the sent of the fire being attacked now from above and below, it was only a matter of time for the conquest. A general alarm had early been sounded and four engines were pumping at their best. No. 2, the new machine, was at Hackfeld's corner. No. 1 was at Fort and Merchant streets. No. 4 was at Schaefer's, Merchant street, head of Kaahumanu. No. 3, the Makiki engine, was at Irwin's warehouse on Merchant, between Fort and Alakea streets.

It was 6 o'clock, with all the deluging, that the fire was pronounced practically dead, and half an hour later only the engine at Hackfeld's was in operation.

What Was Feared.

Up to the last there was reason to fear that fire might be smouldering somewhere under the upper floor or under the roof and suddenly assumed volume and vigor at a distance from where the firemen were working. Until the final hour, indeed, to the crowds in the streets a formidable outbreak seemed imminent from abundance of visible symptoms.

At 3:15 smoke was streaming rankly from ventilating apertures over the old National Bank front. This emission continued strong for an hour. After 4 o'clock, even, all four stores between Waterhouse's office and the Fort street staircase were stiflingly filled with smoke. Clouds of smoke were constantly rising from the roof. Those who penetrated to the interior, however, saw that it all came from the fire in the warehouse, as the flames that destroyed portions of the upstairs construction had long since been extinguished.

Damage to Building.

When the notes for the foregoing particulars were taken, the full extent of the damage to the building could not be ascertained. What a Bulletin reporter could see in the murky atmosphere around where the firemen were working on the upper floor proved that only a splendid fight made by them saved the whole interior between Nolte's party wall and Merchant street.

Where a hole was cut on a line with the head of the Fort street stairway, the flooring above the rear of Lawrence's was burned nearly through. A few feet back, above the hardware warehouse, when the floor was chopped open near the hole made for the hoser in the first instance, the startling discovery was made that the joists were burned clear through under the very spot where the firemen had been standing for the previous two hours. And they were heavyweights, at that. The flooring of the

The Happy Man!
The Man With Force!
The Man With Grit!

The man whose look and action show him to be one of nature's models, the man who grasps your hand with a strength and a smile that say, "I am a man." Show me the man with confidence in himself, the man who does not hesitate to do what he thinks is right, and I will show you a man you can trust.

I ADMIRE MEN OF POWER!

And I have devoted my life to developing them. I know that Electricity is the force that makes vitality, and I use it to build up men who are nervous, hesitating, sleepless, failing in memory, losing self-confidence, weak in heart and stomach, losing youthful ambition and courage. Men like that, or those with pains in the back, rheumatism, sciatica and those other troubles which follow a loss of nature's vital power, I can cure. I can make them feel young, strong and energetic with my Electric Belt. If you are such a man come to me. My belt is in a class by itself. I take the other kind in trade.

Get my book. It has facts you will be interested in. It is free if you enclose this ad.

THE CAMPBELL BLOCK

WITH FIRE AND WATER

entire open area, for about twelve feet square, was charred away almost to shingle thickness. Inside of offices on different sides the flooring had been similarly removed as blows of an axe revealed.

The interior of a water closet, at an angle of the corridors, was completely burned out.

Scenes and Incidents.

The sidewalks on Fort and Merchant streets were densely crowded with spectators from first to last. It was a most orderly multitude, though wonderfully mixed in color and race, and the police had no difficulty in keeping the coast reasonably clear inside the ropes.

The lack of proper ladders was most obvious when it came to leading hose over the eaves. Nothing longer than 16-foot ladders were there, new and good of the kind though they were.

P. M. Pond, the real estate man, and others assisted by Japanese had a gay frolic with brooms on the second floor, brushing the water back from offices where it would do no good.

Captain Dabel witnessed an amusing sight while taking observations on the roof. Through a scuttle over where the United States Consulate used to be there came protruding the Stars and Stripes. Close behind the banner of freedom appeared a man, who ran to the parapet and threw the roll of bunting to the street. There was nobody below so patriotic as to look after the rescued symbol of freedom and it lay in a bedraggled heap all the afternoon.

High Sheriff Brown and Deputy Sheriff Chillingworth were creditably busy throughout the crisis. The Deputy Sheriff was upstairs with the nozzlemen in the thick of battle.

Fire Commissioner J. H. Fisher and Andrew Brown were on the burning deck.

A. R. Gurrey, the executive officer of the Underwriters, was on hand, doubtless collecting many valuable pointers for use in future rating.

The tramcars had their cross-town route broken in two during the fire.

W. G. Irwin was the central figure in a group viewing the combat from the top of the Spreckels building. In the windows of the Judd building were observed, besides several ladies, P. C. Jones, W. A. Bowen, J. A. Gilman, Judge Gear, A. V. Gear, Gen. A. Davis and Emmet May.

A Bulletin reporter picked up a promissory note for $250.00 and another for $40, neither of them endorsed or cancelled. He handed them to Frank Andrade, the lawyer, for the use of a new speakthrift trust. Another find was a receipt for a block of Kihei stock. This was tossed angrily in the gutter.

Two garden hose streams were turned down a ventilator in the H. H. Co. warehouse shed whence smoke was issuing.

The Mirror editors saved their books but left their chairs and desk to the flames. Their sanctum was about the first place hit.

Fred. Harrison left a hefty bag of coin lying in the middle of his office floor. There was not even a string on its mouth. A young man kept watch over it until another one came along, tied it up and carried it to the owner.

M. D. Monsarrat had many valuable maps in his office, including some of his latest lithographs of Honolulu. Before he arrived friends had removed most of his belongings to a safe place.

F. W. Makinney had a large oaken case with glass front packed with the abstracts of titles representing his labor for eight years. It stood unharmed at the end, though the office door was between fire and water through out. A large tin box filled with Makinney's books and papers was carried out after the smoke had let up, one or two gallons of water being poured out of it at the head of the stairs.

Some of the Q. H. Berrey's books and papers were removed after the firemen made it possible to enter his office. At the entrance of this apartment the floor was practically all gone below and beat like cardboard under tread.

So Many People are Exposed to rain, cold and storms, that it is necessary that they should have something to counteract the effects. A mixture of a teaspoonful of PAIN-KILLER in water sweetened, will stimulate the system and ward off any possibility of cold. It has been used for sixty years all over the world, and millions testify to its sterling worth. There is but one Pain-Killer, Perry Davis' Price 25c and 50c.

Most people imagine that Lord Wolseley, who completed his 69th year on June 4 is an Irishman. As a matter of fact, the ex-Commander-in-Chief, although born in the Emerald Isle belongs to an ancient Staffordshire family.

People who have experienced extreme cold say that it is very similar to extreme heat.

THE CANAL COMMISSION

SENATOR JONES THE ONLY NEW MEMBER

ADMIRAL WALKER WILL RETAIN HIS PLACE—HANNA FAVORED THE SELECTION OF SENATOR JONES.

Washington, August 15.—According to reliable information from Oyster Bay, the President has decided on the personnel of the commission which will have immediate charge of the construction of the isthmian canal.

The only new member who will be appointed is Senator Jones of Arkansas, who, it will be recalled, threw his vote and influence for the Spooner Panama bill and thereby assured the passage of that measure. Three members of the present commission will not be reappointed. They are Professor Emory Johnson, Louis M. Haupt and former Senator Samuel Pasco of Florida. All of their colleagues the President has decided to reappoint, after the fullest possible consultation with political friends and advisers.

Rear Admiral John G. Walker, chairman of the present commission, will be retained as chairman of the new commission. The President was inclined at first to drop Walker, but acting on representations by Senators Hanna and Spooner he changed his mind. They said Walker had done more for the isthmian canal project than any other man in public office, and to deprive the commission of his services at the inception of the actual construction operations would be a serious blunder. The President was persuaded to take this view of the matter, and Walker's retention is now a settled fact.

The other members of the commission who are retained are George S. Morrison, the famous engineer; Lieutenant Colonel Oswald H. Ernst of the Corps of Engineers, U. S. A.; Alfred Noble, Colonel Peter C. Haines, also an army engineer, and W. H. Burr. With the dropping of Pasco, Haupt and Johnson one vacancy was left in the new commission, and this will be filled by Senator Jones. Curiously the influence behind his selection came from the Republican leaders of the Senate, including Senator Hanna, chairman of the Republican National Committee. Jones is chairman of the Democratic National Committee.

The position of secretary with the present commission is filled by Lieutenant Sidney A. Staunton, who first became known to fame as the author of Sampson's celebrated dispatch making the Fourth of July present to the nation of the Spanish fleet destroyed at Santiago. Staunton was Sampson's flag lieutenant.

Whether the office of secretary will continue to be filled by a naval officer will depend on circumstances. The chances are, however, that inasmuch as the commission is to be a permanent body a civilian will be selected for the place. No candidates have yet appeared, but the President is said to favor the appointment of a well known Washington correspondent, who was identified intimately with the campaign for the selection of the Panama route.

It is not generally known that an ascending the throne King Edward became guardian of his grandchildren, the parents' rights being superseded. This arrangement was established by law nearly 200 years ago, and the right was frequently exercised by the Georges, who had a way of quarrelling with their sons. No member of the royal family may marry without the King's consent; otherwise the marriage is void. The act governing this matter was passed at the instigation of George III in consequence of his brothers marrying subjects.

TAXES OF PLANTATION

CORPORATIONS SAVED THEMSELVES OVER $10,000

RESULTS OF APPEALS BEFORE THE HILO BOARD—WAIAKEA GETS THE LARGEST REDUCTION.

Hilo, Aug. 22.—Four judgments were rendered in the Tax Appeal Court this week with the result that the appellants saved an aggregate of over $10,000 which otherwise would have gone into the treasury. The biggest reduction from the assessor's valuation was in the case of the Waiakea Mill Company which, through W. H. Smith of the firm of LeBlond & Smith, as counsel, secured a shave of $750,000 valuation, the entire amount covered by the appeal.

The Waiakea Mill Company is capitalized at $600,000. The assessed valuation has been raised from time to time until in 1900 the company paid taxes upon a valuation of $1,250,000. In that year the company appealed from the assessor's judgment but the appeal was not sustained. At that time sugar was at the high water mark and the company was distributing in dividends something like $300,000 a year. While this year, sugar is not worth more than two-thirds as much as it was in 1900, and labor is higher and harder to get, the assessment of Waiakea was raised to $2,000,000. The appeal was against this $750,000 raise. While the management of the plantation does not consider that a fair dividend will be paid on $750,000 yet no opposition was entered to paying taxes at that amount. In the course of the hearing, W. H. Smith for appellants made a forceful argument tending to prove that there is no immediate prospect for higher prices for sugar.

The Pepeekeo Sugar Company, with a capitalization of $750,000 was assessed this year at $1,000,000. The company's appeal was for a reduction of $250,000. The same arguments and reasoning applied as in the Waiakea case and the Appeal Board allowed a reduction of $150,000.

The Hamakua Mill Company claimed a reduction of $130,000 from their assessment of $630,000, basing their claim on the ravages of the late drouth as well as upon the low price of sugar. The judgment of the court was for the plaintiff.

One of the interesting cases decided by the Appeal Board was that of O. T. Shipman of Olaa, who appealed in order to determine the Government's policy of taxation of lands, hitherto classed as coffee lands but now have come to be included in the sugar belt. Coffee land in Olaa which was formerly assessed at $4 per acre was assessed this year at $60, because it has been demonstrated that cane may be grown upon it. In Mr. Shipman's case, appeal was taken from an assessment of twenty-five acres of cane land at $60 per acre; twenty-five acres of coffee land at $4 per acre, and forty acres raw forest land at $40 per acre. This classification was objected to on the ground that the land was all coffee land and that cane growing was as much of an experiment as that of coffee. The Appeal Board refused to take this view. It was pointed out by Carl S. Smith, attorney for the Territory, that Mr. Shipman had himself placed a value of $80 per acre on the land in question, having paid that price for it. It was also figured that the assessment averaged only $36 per acre for the whole tract and that the assessment averaged only $36 per acre for the whole tract and that therefore it was not excessive. The judgment of the court was in favor of the Territory.

The Appeal Board consisted of Judge Barnard of Laupahoehoe, Blacow of Hamakua, and L. Severance of this city. Carl S. Smith of Smith & Parsons appeared for the Territory; W. H. Smith of Le Blond & Smith for the appellants.

TAMPICO'S GOOD WORK.

The Globe Navigation Company's steamer Tampico has been doing some pretty rapid work discharging her cargo of coal at the railroad wharf. To do this she uses a derrick and chute arrangement which proves to be very effective. Yesterday she put out 700 tons, and she is expected to put out the rest of her cargo, with the exception of about 400 tons, today. She is posted to leave for Seattle on Wednesday evening. She will not take any freight from here with the exception of some fruit, principally bananas.

For baby carriages and sewing machines and stoves and safes, call on Hoffschlaeger Co., Ltd.

NOTICE.

HEALANI CREWS

For some time there has been a good deal of rivalry between the two scrub crews of the Healani Club both of which are trying to make the freshmen crew. Both crews have been doing well and have had many brushes with each other and the crews of the Myrtle Club.

Yesterday there was a race for blood between the rival crews, as the winning crew in all probability represent the club in the Regatta Day races.

The crews of yesterday consisted of the following men: Crew No. 1—Syd. Crook, W. Crook, Crook, Austin, Barre, Atkinson. Crew No. 2—Bob McCorriston, Ben Clarke, George Desha, John Clarke, Herbert Simpson, Fred Williams. The first crew is a very heavy and powerful one while the second is very light and lively.
