Aquarius: User Guide

Able to adapt to any situation, Aquarius is a sign that always wants to build its own roots. It is a changing sign endowed with a strong will for independence and affirmation. For Aquarius, the word “freedom” takes on its full meaning. They are original and non-conformist people looking to seize any opportunity offered to them.

Aquarius are unpredictable in every aspect of life. They are cunning and always plan for a way out, even in love. Their main enemy is boredom. Just like Gemini, Aquarius love to keep their mind busy and hate lack of activity. This is a quality that he also shares with every Fire sign, including Aries.

Aquarius are very attached to humanity and believe they have been vested with a noble mission: to offer all the help (and healing) they can to other people. In spite of their very independent nature, Aquarius natives are always surrounded with people and always want to make new friends. They are all willing to fight for freedom and justice. These traits are justified by the symbol of their astrological sign: a water bearer.

Aquarius is someone you should not try to control or cage. They need to move around and talk as they like. Otherwise, another facet of Aquarius will appear. They are said to be cold and distant, but in truth they are mainly cautious about their emotions and feelings. It is hard for them to trust anyone, but once it is done, they are gentle and caring beings.

Aquarius And The World Around Them

Related to the Eleventh House of the zodiac, the house of friendship, the sign of Aquarius is the ideal friend. They adapt perfectly to other people and to the different types of friendly relationships that may arise.

Even though Aquarius are surrounded with many people and has many friends, they keep themselves in check and let themselves keep some distance. Very attached to their freedom, Aquarius people cannot be the kind of friend evolving into something sentimental.

Friendly relations with Aquarius are always intellectual or ideological then. As soon as this line has been crossed or they feel that their freedom is in jeopardy, Aquarius will withdraw. Sentimentalism in friendship makes them uncomfortable. Their best friends are Aries and Sagittarius, two Fire signs, with whom he gets along wonderfully well.

At work, Aquarius are naturally unstable workers. It is hard for them to stand still. Their employers often criticize them for it. However, when Aquarius feel that they learn every day and have a chance to be promoted, they can commit themselves in full.

Aquarius appreciate teamwork, but they mostly like to work alone, because they are attached to their freedom. It is difficult to order them around or tell them how they should work. Overall, Aquarius are original people, who know how to stand out in the professional domain. Many people appreciate them for the way they think «out of the box» and offer ideas that revolutionize and innovate.

As regards their family, Aquarius extend their understanding of the word beyond the ties of blood. It is more about intellectual relationships than about family ties. As parents, many might say that Aquarius are a little lax. They prefer to let their children discover things by themselves, instead of trying to impose them. Aquarius parents are therefore very open-minded, free, and tolerant.

If Aquarius Were...

A VEGETABLE

In general, Aquarius natives have preferences for eccentric plants such as carnivorous plants. Finally, the guardian plant of Aquarius is the Orchid.

AN ANIMAL

Large birds such as the Albatross are the best representation of Aquarius. In general, Aquarius natives are more attached to migratory birds or aquatic birds. The pelican is another animal representing the natives of Aquarius.

A MINERAL

If Aquarius were a mineral, it would probably be the Fire Opal, a lucky charm for them. Aquarius are also in harmony with other precious stones. They bring them many virtues: the purity of Aquamarine, the light of the diamond, the beauty of the pearl or the nobility of the sapphire.

Aquarius And Compatibility With Other Signs

Life is beautiful between two natives of Aquarius. Both of them are free-spirited and are looking for adventure and travel plans, so their relationship is made to last. These are two complementary signs in perfect harmony. In love, two Aquarius have a strong connection and even tend to isolate themselves a little.

For Aries and Aquarius, it is a relationship that looks very positive and especially happy. They both have an innate need for freedom and independence. They are not demanding with one another. Small caveat, these two signs have a very different concept of sexuality. Aries are very sexually active people, while Aquarius see sex as something to be preserved, something sacred. One of them will have to compromise over time.

Aquarius and Taurus are two signs with completely opposite characters. Where Aquarius craves freedom and independence, Taurus isn't independent enough. While they might be drawn to Aquarius, over time they will eventually be disappointed by their partner's lack of attention. Another negative point in this relationship: the excessive jealousy of Taurus people will certainly scare Aquarius away.

Between Air signs, like Aquarius and Gemini, a very strong friendship can be born. They are in perfect harmony and can be excellent companions. They both need freedom and detachment. However, physical attraction is never there and it is difficult for Aquarians to conceive a love story with Gemini.

Aquarius and Cancer are two signs of the zodiac that can get along very well. Aquarius will know how to give Cancer a more creative and dynamic life than what they used to live. However, with Cancer rooted in the past and Aquarius contemplating the future, their relationship could be short-lived. Another negative point is the way Cancer tend to have an almost symbiotic relationship. Aquarius are extremely protective of their freedom, so this is definitely unpleasant for them.

With Leo, a Fire sign, Aquarius can build something serious and lasting. Together, they have the required energy and strength to make their dreams come true. Among the signs of the zodiac, Aquarius is one of those who can and do tame the fiery Leo. These are two complementary signs that can live a healthy and happy relationship.

With Virgo, Aquarius can hardly build a stable and serene relationship over time. Aquarius's thirst for freedom irritates the Virgo. In turn, Aquarius is not a fan of the way Virgo tends to want to impose their rules. Confrontations, arguments and conflicts will certainly be commonplace between these two signs of the zodiac.

For Libra and Aquarius, two Air signs, the relationship is very complementary. Both very creative, they will accomplish great things together. Libra will help Aquarius make their dreams come true and will even be very creative in doing so. This will only make Aquarius fall even more in love. However, the indecisive character of Libra could ultimately fail this relationship. Aquarius will feel like they're carrying the weight of the world on their shoulders.

Aquarius and Scorpio are very passionate beings. They can get along well and build a strong relationship. The dominant tendency of the Scorpio does not concern Aquarius who will not lack imagination to adapt to it. However, one should note the very jealous nature of the Scorpion, which can be a problem for the Aquarius who craves freedom. With some compromises, these two signs are made for each other.

With Sagittarius, a Fire sign, Aquarius as an Air sign can envision quite an interesting relationship in every way. Very social, both signs love to share and so live their relationship in full. As always, Aquarius know how to adapt thus leaving Sagittarius free in their actions. They will be a kind of well-appreciated couple with a lot of friends. It is a relationship that is made to last, an excellent combination.

Aquarius and Capricorn are two signs that are not entirely compatible. Capricorn, typical of an Earth sign, likes to have their feet on ground, anchored in reality. Aquarius, on the other hand, cares about their freedom, dreams about future projects and have a lot of imagination. They don't really appreciate rules especially when they are mandatory, if Capricorn have any say about it. It would take a lot of time and effort, but especially a lot of love, to make this relationship work.

On the same wavelength and sharing many affinities, Aquarius and Pisces were made to be together. It is especially the mysterious side of the native of Pisces that will lure Aquarius in. They are both sensitive and passionate beings. They will make a very beautiful couple and will certainly experience many moments of happiness.
