Fall 2016

Spring 2017

Introduction

The University of Arizona, College of Education is committed to providing our students with a positive, professional, and practical student teaching experience. University supervisors, along with cooperating/mentor teachers, are the professionals who work with student teachers to help them have a successful student teaching experience which will encourage them to enter the education profession as enthusiastic and effective teachers who focus on the right work with students.

This edition of the “Student Teacher Guidebook” is meant to be a resource guide with practical information to help student teachers and cooperating/mentor teachers understand their roles and responsibilities. The University of Arizona, College of Education has many different models of Student Teaching. The Student Teacher Guidebook is not meant to be comprehensive. We will be revising information as we receive your feedback and updated information. It will be the student teacher, cooperating/mentor teacher, and University supervisor’s responsibility to obtain any additional information they feel is necessary to be successful.

As the Director of Field Experiences, I want to welcome you to the University of Arizona, College of Education student teaching semester and thank you in advance for your commitment to make the Teacher Preparation Program and specifically the Student Teaching Experience, a positive, professional and practical experience, which will prepare teachers for future success in the classroom.

The University of Arizona Teacher Preparation Programs Professional Standards

Overview

The University of Arizona has a responsibility to the educational community to ensure that individuals, who are recommended to the State of Arizona for teaching certification, are worthy to join the teaching profession. In order to communicate the expectations for students, the faculty has adopted the InTASC Standards, which the Arizona Department of Education (ADE) will be using as professional teaching standards. “The Interstate Teacher Assessment and Support Consortium (InTASC) is a consortium of state education agencies and national educational organizations dedicated to the reform of the preparation, licensing, and on-going professional development of teachers. Its work is guided by one basic premise: An effective teacher must be able to integrate content knowledge with the specific strengths and needs of students to assure that all students learn and perform at high levels.” More information on the InTASC Standards can be found at:

http://www.ccsso.org/Documents/2011/InTASC\_Model\_Core\_Teaching\_Standards\_2011.pdf. In addition, the University of Arizona Teacher Preparation Program Professional Standards include the International Society for Technology in Education Teacher Standards created by the International Society for Technology in Education (ISTE NETS•T). More information can be found at: http://www.iste.org/Libraries/PDFs/NETS-T\_Standards.sflb.ashx Finally, the University of Arizona Teacher Preparation Professional Standards include additional requirements specific to our programs.

Upon admission to a Teacher Preparation Program (TPP), students receive a copy of the TPP Professional Standards and the related referral forms. The TPP Professional Standards are the expectations for University of Arizona students who plan to become teachers. All students in any TPP at The University of Arizona are expected to demonstrate that they are prepared to teach children and youth. This preparation results from the combination of successful completion of coursework and display of important human characteristics which teachers should possess. Because the TPP Professional Standards are used throughout the certification programs from admission to graduation, some criteria will be more relevant when students are in fieldwork and some when students are completing coursework. The areas that the TPP Professional Standards address are (I) Learner and Learning, (II) Content Knowledge, (III) Instructional Practice, (IV) Professional Responsibility, (V) Educational Technology, and (VI) additional academic and professional requirements specific to the University of Arizona.

UA students, faculty, staff, and supervisors, as well as cooperating teachers involved with teacher preparation programs are provided copies of the TPP Professional Standards. As needed or required by each TPP, both UA and field-based professional educators may initiate the form for “Identification of Students Exhibiting Outstanding Performance” and the form for “Identification of Students with Performance Concerns.” These referral forms allow the programs to identify students who display outstanding knowledge, skills, and dispositions that deserve recognition. The procedure is also used to identify students whose performance is raising concerns about their ability to successfully complete the program. Students with performance concerns may be placed on a Professional Growth Plan, with completion of the program dependent on successful adherence to the plan. Student appeals of this process must follow university policy.

Professional Standards

I. The Learner and Learning

- InTASC Standard #1: Learner Development. The teacher understands how learners grow and develop, recognizing that patterns of learning and development vary individually within and across the cognitive, linguistic, social, emotional, and physical areas, and designs and implements developmentally appropriate and challenging learning experiences.
- InTASC Standard #2: Learning Differences. The teacher uses understanding of individual differences and diverse cultures and communities to ensure inclusive learning environments that enable each learner to meet high standards.
- InTASC Standard #3: Learning Environments. The teacher works with others to create environments that support individual and collaborative learning, and that encourage positive social interaction, active engagement in learning, and self-motivation.

II. Content

- InTASC Standard #4: Content Knowledge. The teacher understands the central concepts, tools of inquiry, and structures of the discipline(s) he or she teaches and creates learning experiences that make the discipline accessible and meaningful for learners to assure mastery of the content.
- InTASC Standard #5: Application of Content. The teacher understands how to connect concepts and use differing perspectives to engage learners in critical thinking, creativity, and collaborative problem solving related to authentic local and global issues.

III. Instructional Practice

- InTASC Standard #6: Assessment. The teacher understands and uses multiple methods of assessment to engage learners in their own growth, to monitor learner progress, and to guide the teacher's and learner's decision making.
- InTASC Standard #7: Planning for Instruction. The teacher plans instruction that supports every student in meeting rigorous learning goals by drawing upon knowledge of content areas, curriculum, cross-disciplinary skills, and pedagogy, as well as knowledge of learners and the community context.
- InTASC Standard #8: Instructional Strategies. The teacher understands and uses a variety of instructional strategies to encourage learners to develop deep understanding of content areas and their connections, and to build skills to apply knowledge in meaningful ways.

IV. Professional Responsibility

- InTASC Standard #9: Professional Learning and Ethical Practice. The teacher engages in ongoing professional learning and uses evidence to continually evaluate his/her practice, particularly the effects of his/her choices and actions on others (learners, families, other professionals, and the community), and adapts practice to meet the needs of each learner.
- InTASC Standard #10: Leadership and Collaboration. The teacher seeks appropriate leadership roles and opportunities to take responsibility for student learning, to collaborate with learners, families, colleagues, other school professionals, and community members to ensure learner growth, and to advance the profession.

V. Educational Technology

- NETS·T #1: Facilitate and Inspire Student Learning. Teachers use their knowledge of subject matter, teaching and learning, and technology to facilitate experiences that advance student learning, creativity, and innovation in both face-to-face and virtual environments.
- NETS·T #2: Design and Develop Digital Age Learning Experiences and Assessments. Teachers design, develop, and evaluate authentic learning experiences and assessment incorporating contemporary tools and resources to maximize content learning in context and to develop the knowledge, skills and attitudes identified in the NETS·S.
- NETS·T #3: Model Digital Age Work and Learning. Teachers exhibit knowledge, skills and work processes representative of an innovative professional in a global and digital society.
- NETS·T #4: Promote and Model Digital Citizenship and Responsibility. Teachers understand local and global societal issues and responsibilities in an evolving digital culture and exhibit legal and ethical behavior in their professional practices.
- NETS·T #5: Engage in Professional Growth and Leadership. Teachers continuously improve their professional practice, model lifelong learning, and exhibit leadership in their school and professional community by promoting and demonstrating the effective use of digital tools and resources.

Application Process and Eligibility for Student Teaching

The application process for student teaching begins the semester before student teaching. Students are informed by site coordinators of upcoming important dates relating to the application process.

The first step in the process involves students attending an “Application Meeting” at their field based site. All application meetings are held at the Field Based Methods school sites. The meetings are held at various times to accommodate class schedules and also to allow time to answer questions in small group situations. Application meetings are held in September for spring semester student teaching and in January for fall semester student teaching. Students will receive an application packet/online information at the meeting and have the opportunity to ask questions.

The second step in the process is for the students to complete the online application and corresponding paperwork which includes a registrations form and a resumé. Some school districts may require additional paperwork. The application includes general information needed to place students in the best possible classroom situation which will assure a positive student teaching experience. The Office of Field Experiences works with the site coordinator to find the best placement for the teacher candidate. Placement preference is given to mentor teachers with whom the teacher candidate has done practicum work with in the past. In this way, stronger mentor/mentee relationships are forged. Additionally, the teacher candidate benefits from the previous understandings gained in the earlier placement and can begin teaching more fully earlier in the semester.

The third step may be required in the application process. A student may be required to meet with the Director of Field Experiences in the College of Education to discuss his/her application.

Eligibility is essential and confirmation of a 3.0 GPA will be required from the student’s academic advisor before the student teaching semester begins.

Eligibility Requirements

You must have a current valid Arizona State Department of Public Safety IVP fingerprint clearance card to be eligible to student teach.

More information can be obtained on the DPS website at <http://www.azdps.gov/services/fingerprint/>.

You must maintain a 3.0 GPA in your overall coursework and within your major to be eligible for student teaching.

Policy Regarding Placements

It is a College of Education policy that student teachers not be placed in schools where their child or relatives attend or work. Student Teachers may not be placed where they have been employed. However, individual student requests will be considered in the cases described above.

The Director of Field Experiences will work with the school district administrators to place student teachers with Supervising Practitioners who are qualified and available.

Accessibility and Accommodations

Our goal in this course is that learning experiences be as accessible as possible. If you anticipate or experience physical or academic barriers based on disability, please let me know immediately so that we can discuss options. You are also welcome to contact Disability Resources (520-621-3268) to establish reasonable accommodations. For additional information on Disability Resources and reasonable accommodations, please visit <http://drc.arizona.edu/>.

Nondiscrimination and Anti-Harassment Policy

The University is committed to creating and maintaining an environment free of discrimination, <http://policy.arizona.edu/human-resources/nondiscrimination-and-anti-harassment-policy>

This course provides an experience where everyone is encouraged to express well-informed opinions and their reasons for those opinions. We also want to create a tolerant and open environment where such opinions can be expressed without resorting to bullying or discrimination of others.

Information contained in the course syllabus, other than the grade and absence policy, may be subject to change with advanced notice, as deemed appropriate by the instructor.

This course is offered within the Department of Teaching, Learning and Sociocultural Studies which has an established Social Justice Statement which is part of the course syllabus.

Calendar Information

Student Teacher Semester Requirements

Student teachers are required to student teach for a minimum of 75 days and have full or co-teaching responsibility for the classroom, planning and instruction for 20 days. Students in specific schools or content areas may be required to complete the school district semester.

Substitute Teaching

Student teachers are not allowed to substitute teach during their required 75 days of student teaching. Special exceptions may be considered and approved by the Director of Field Experiences for a very small portion of this time.

Semester Calendar Guidelines

Student teachers are required to report to their school when their cooperating/mentor teacher reports to the school. Please remember that this date is usually earlier than the official first day of class for University of Arizona students. School district calendars vary and it is the student teacher's responsibility to make sure they have a copy of the district calendar. The ending date of student teaching may vary according to school district policies. Although students are encouraged to complete the school district semester, the University school semester will usually end earlier and the majority of student teachers will end their student teaching by the official last day of University of Arizona classes.

Student teachers who are assigned to schools on year round or modified school calendars must develop an individual plan with their cooperating/mentor teacher and university supervisor to make sure they will complete the required 75 days. Student teachers will follow the holidays of the school district in which they are teaching, not the University of Arizona. (Example – spring vacation). All exceptions must be approved by the Director of Field Experiences.

Attendance

Required Daily Hours

Student teachers are required to be at school the same hours required for their cooperating/mentor teacher. Any adjustments to this must be approved by the university supervisor and cooperating teacher.

Absences

Student teachers are required to notify their cooperating/mentor teacher and their university supervisor as early as possible if they are going to be absent or tardy. Excessive absences and tardies may be cause for removal of a student teacher from their student teaching assignment. Supervisors may ask for written medical verification and in some circumstances days may be added at the end of the year to make up days.

COUNTED AS STUDENT TEACHING DAYS (Teachers spend the whole day at school or workshops)	NOT COUNTED AS STUDENT TEACHING DAYS

Responsibility Schedule
Information

RESPONSIBILITY SCHEDULE INFORMATION

The Responsibility Schedule is a suggested four part sequence for the student teacher and cooperating/mentor teacher. It is a norm from which the cooperating/mentor teacher, student teacher and university supervisor will work when structuring the student teacher's semester. In instances where the student teacher has had previous field experiences in the cooperating teacher's classroom, the schedule might be accelerated; in instances where a student teacher is progressing slowly, the schedule will be adjusted accordingly. In all cases it is essential that the cooperating/mentor teacher remain actively involved in the instructional program, monitoring the student teacher's progress closely. The university supervisor will collaborate with the team to insure that the student teacher does meet the minimum four weeks requirement of maximum teaching responsibility and completes 75 days of student teaching. It is important to remember that student teacher calendars will need to be monitored and adjusted throughout the student teaching experience as this is good teaching practice.

All student teachers are required to fill out a Responsibility Schedule and get it approved and submitted to their university supervisor as early in the semester as possible. This schedule will be kept on file in the Office of Field Experiences.

Cooperating/Mentor Teacher Information

Selection Process

The process of selecting cooperating/mentor teachers involves collaboration between site coordinators, the Office of Field Experiences, school district administrators, principals and practitioners in the field. Using a geographic boundary of less than a 30 minute drive from the teacher candidate's host practicum coursework site, we make inquiries of school districts, schools and teacher practitioners about their interest in participating in our student teaching program. Most often, and ideally, teacher candidates are placed with teachers with whom they have worked with during a practicum phase of their program. In this way, teacher candidates have one full year of learning with a mentor teacher. A historic process of identifying mentor teacher is still in place as a reserve list of mentor teacher possibilities. A school district list of available and qualified teachers is submitted at least once a year to the Director of Field Experiences by areas school districts. These lists include mentor teachers who have been approved by their principals and school districts. In some districts, mentor teachers must be included on these lists to participate as mentor teachers during the student teaching phase of the program. The Director of Field Experiences will work with school administrators to ensure that this occurs when required. The lists are updated throughout the school year. The number of student teachers each semester will determine the number of mentor teachers invited into the program.

Supervising Practitioner/Cooperating Teacher Feedback

Evaluation as a Continuous Process

Feedback and support from the University Supervisor and cooperating/mentor teacher is essential. Suggestions, ideas, and strategies will help student teachers to continue to grow throughout their experience.

1. The time and location of conferences should be planned in advance, if possible. The setting should be informal and in a location where few interruptions are likely to occur.
2. The conferences should be characterized by a free exchange of ideas. It is helpful if many of the topics are problem-centered in terms of seeking answers to methodological or curriculum problems. Alternative solutions to such concerns should be analyzed with both the student teacher and cooperating/mentor teacher offering ideas. The use of video or audio taping can provide data for the conference.
3. The conferences should contribute to the student teacher becoming increasingly self-directive and self-reflective.
4. Analysis of the student teacher's performance or personal qualities should achieve an appropriate balance between strengths and areas in need of further development.
5. Cooperating/mentor teachers should offer suggestions and learning environment ideas. Student teachers appreciate the time the cooperating/mentor teacher takes to show them instructional materials, curriculum guides, diagnostic and assessment instruments and the modeling of effective instructional strategies.

Daily Conferences

Daily conferences of comparatively short duration will give attention to matters of immediate consequence such as: adjustment of plans, coordination of instruction, the identification and solution of daily issues, and instructional feedback. The timing of such conferences may vary from day to day.

Weekly Conferences

Weekly conferences have many uses including: weekly co-planning, cooperative evaluation of the student teacher's competence and growth, analysis of the classroom teacher's instructional and classroom management procedures, and development of in-depth understanding of student performance in relation to instruction.

Video Taping

Video and audio recording may be used to as opportunities to self-reflect on professional practice. When recordings are used, student teachers will work with their cooperating/mentor teacher to strictly follow all school and district guidelines.

Conferences with the Program Supervisor

- The initial on-site visit constitutes the first conference.
- Observations usually begin the second week of student teaching and continue every two to three weeks throughout the semester.
- The observations continue and the midterm conference is scheduled to include the student teacher and cooperating teacher/supervising practitioner. At the conference the midterm assessment instrument will be discussed.
- The final conference brings closure to the student teaching experience.

Compensation for Cooperating Teachers

The stipend for hosting a University of Arizona student teacher is five hundred dollars ($500.00) each semester. All cooperating teachers are required to fill out a compensation card at the beginning of each semester. Mentor Teachers also earn 30 professional development credit hours that may be used for Arizona State recertification for their work with student teachers.

University/Program Supervisor Information

Office of Field Experiences

Qualifications

Supervisors are “Teaching, Learning and Sociocultural Studies Department” full and part time College of Education faculty members, faculty members from specific content area colleges and departments within the University of Arizona, and teachers in residence professors who are master teachers from local school districts.

Program / University Supervisors work together with student teachers and cooperating/mentor teachers to form a valuable support system to assure a successful student teaching experience. University supervisors have expertise at the elementary level and expertise in specific program areas.

Overview of Requirements

Supervision of teacher candidates involves a variety of strategies and assessments. Throughout the required 75 days, supervisors make weekly contacts, which are essential in order to assure two-way communication. Classroom observations are required every two to three weeks, in an ongoing way throughout the semesters, to evaluate the student teacher’s progress in all areas, not just instructional and classroom management strategies. Supervisor seminars are designed to meet the needs of the students throughout the semester. Supervision includes the important element of coaching as one goal of our program is to develop teachers who are reflective practitioners. A variety of assessment instruments are used during the semester. These include: Informal and formal observations, midterm and final conferences involving the Program/University supervisor, Supervising Practitioner/Cooperating Teacher, and teacher candidate, portfolio assessment, and a time card which documents attendance and other requirements. The supervision of teacher candidates is a supportive, informative, and caring process.

Student Teacher, Mentor/Cooperating Teacher & University Supervisor Three Way Meetings

#1 Initial Meeting/Orientation – This is an orientation meeting which is scheduled with the Supervising Practitioner/Cooperating Teacher and the Teacher Candidate by the Program/University Supervisor. At this meeting, student teaching expectations are reviewed, and the business of coursework is conducted. As an example, at this meeting, supervising practitioners fill out paperwork for their financial compensation. Teacher Candidates may be asked to stay longer than the supervising practitioner to review course requirements in more detail.

#2 Mid-Semester Evaluation Conference – This is the midterm evaluation meeting that is scheduled with the Supervising Practitioner/Cooperating Teacher and the Teacher Candidate by the Program/University Supervisor sometime during the 7th or 8th week of the semester. This is a three way conference; that is, input from the university supervisor, mentor teacher and the student teacher is included in the assessment.

#3 Final Conference – This is the end of the course evaluation meeting that is scheduled with the Supervising Practitioner/Cooperating Teacher and the Student Teacher by the University Supervisor during the last two weeks of the student teaching experience. This is a three way conference; that is, input from the university supervisor, mentor teacher and the student teacher is included in the assessment.

Initial Visit to the Classroom

This visit is scheduled at the beginning of the semester and is the first opportunity for the supervisor to visit the classroom. The supervisor will meet the office staff and if possible the principal. The opportunity to see the classroom “with students” is ideal but not always possible. The student teacher or cooperating/mentor teacher will introduce the supervisor to the classroom and students.

- It is important to find a place in the classroom that can be used for written communication so when supervisors are visiting the school and need to exchange written communication, they will not need to interrupt the instruction. (For example: tray, folder, and counter area)
- This is a good time for the supervisor to be given a school handbook, which will include important practical information such as a map, school calendar, hours, and names of staff.

Scheduling

University of Arizona supervisors are not required to schedule observations but it is highly recommended that observations be scheduled. Due to the complicated school and classroom schedules when students may not be in the classroom it is more productive for time management to schedule observation times.

Amount of Time

The amount of time a University Supervisor spends observing a student teacher in a classroom will depend on the objective of the observation. Early in the semester, the supervisor may drop in to get to know the learning environment and observe the student teacher interact with students and may only stay a short while. As the student assumes a larger role in instruction, the observation time should increase.

Please note that it is very important to schedule some coaching time after each observation, regardless of the amount of time the student was observed. Remember that good teaching includes timely feedback. Supervisors will decide the appropriate amount of time to schedule. For example: 45 minutes of observation with a 30 minute debriefing/coaching. Times vary.

When the student teacher is in the midst of his/her 20-day full responsibility requirement, it is very important to schedule observations on different days and at different times of day in order to have the opportunity to observe the teacher facilitate learning in different contexts, and use a variety of instructional strategies and classroom management techniques.

It is expected that each teacher candidate will be formally observed a minimum of six times during the semester within every 2-3 weeks.

Weekly Contacts with Teacher Candidates

Supervisors will make weekly contacts with teacher candidates throughout the semester. This will give supervisors a chance to answer individual questions and establish two-way communication strategies. Weekly contacts may include university meetings, seminars, conferences, e-mail, phone or written communication. Students may be required to keep a journal.

Seminars

Seminars are meetings scheduled by the university supervisors to meet with their assigned student teachers. Student teachers may need to be out of the classroom for a short time to attend these meetings due to scheduling. Seminars are opportunities for teaching and answering student teacher's questions. As the semester begins, student teachers will have many questions about their requirements, school procedures, classroom management strategies, and scheduling.

Seminars may be combined with other activities. For example: Two supervisors may decide to cover the same topic and want to combine their groups of student teachers or a guest speaker may be scheduled for several groups. The University of Arizona may have certain events or workshops which may be counted as a seminar, with the approval of the supervisor. Sometimes individual school seminars are held due to the number of student teachers in different locations. Seminars are considered one of the "weekly contacts."

POLICY FOR STUDENT TEACHER DISMISSAL/REASSIGNMENT

In certain situations, a student may need to be moved to a second teaching assignment or removed totally from student teaching. Difficulties, which the student cannot overcome, such as: personality conflicts, conflicting expectations, excessive absences, inadequate performance, and insurmountable discipline problems are some of the typical causes.

IT IS IMPERATIVE that the University/Program Supervisors identify these difficulties early in the semester and notify the Director of Field Experiences as soon as the problem becomes evident. The following action should be taken without delay:

- I. If appropriate, a notice of concern is written and should the issue continue, a professional growth plan will be developed by the university/program supervisor and the supervising practitioner/cooperating teacher, which will be signed by the university supervisor, the supervising practitioner/cooperating teacher, the student teacher at a conference with the Director of Field Experiences.
- II. Should the concern continue, despite the professional growth plan, the supervising practitioner/cooperating teacher and the university supervisor will recommend removal from the placement and document the reasons for these recommendations. A recommendation for removal shall be submitted to the Director of Field Experiences. Please note, the school site reserves the right to end the placement at any time. The placement could also end abruptly should a grievous concern arise which necessitates removal.
- III. The Program/University supervisor and Director of Field Experiences will:
  - A. Make a decision regarding withdrawal from student teaching or reassignment of a placement.
  - B. A conference will be held with the student teacher, university supervisor, and the Director of Field Experiences to discuss the needs and responsibilities of the student teacher and to review the documentation.
    - A. If the reason for removal is justified, and a second placement is an option, a written contract may be drawn up outlining university expectations for future development. In some cases, remediation may be required, and placement will be delayed. The Director of Field Experiences will review the outcome of the remediation experience to determine if a second and final placement will be awarded.
    - B. All second placements are contingent on petition approval.
    - C. If a second placement is approved, this placement will be considered a final placement, and will be approved for the next semester.
    - D. All students will be referred to their academic advisor or the Director of Admissions, Advising and Student Services to discuss their options.

Assessment of Student Teacher Performance

Office of Field Experiences

Assessment of Teacher Candidate Performance

Grading

The teacher candidate who successfully completes student teaching requirements will receive the grade of “P” (pass) indicating he/she has received the prescribed units of credit for the course. The student who, in the judgment of the cooperating/mentor teacher and university supervisor, has failed to progress sufficiently during the student teaching experience will receive the grade of “F” (fail). Neither a passing nor a failing grade is included in the computation of the graduation grade average. All required materials must be received in the Office of Field Experiences before grades will be posted.

Required Assessments

1. Teacher Candidate Midterm/Final Evaluation, which is a performance based instrument.
2. Portfolio Assessment: Artifacts contained within support the criteria evaluated on the Teacher Candidate Midterm/Final Evaluation. This portfolio is reviewed and evaluated by Program/University Supervisors
3. Teacher Candidate Time Card
The Teacher Candidate Time Card will confirm attendance, observations, supervisor seminars, or conferences and provide documentation of completed requirements.
