From Our Leadership

In June 2019, TheatreWorks Silicon Valley received the 2019 Tony Award for Regional Theatre, the extraordinary highlight of a year of diverse, award-winning productions, innovative arts education, and exceptional new works that played across the country and around the world. The company hosted over 100,000 audience members, served 13,000 students, and developed over a dozen new plays and musicals.

The season began with the Regional Premiere of Jeannie Sakata's Hold These Truths, the moving saga of a Japanese American who resisted internment during World War II. Lisa Rothe's production won Theatre Bay Area Awards for Outstanding Production, Direction, and Performance by Joel de la Fuente. Native Gardens followed, with Amy Gonzalez directing the comedy of a Latinx couple in conflict with very traditional neighbors. The Jeanine Tesori/Lisa Kron musical Fun Home became our next award winner. Its tale of a lesbian artist's relationship with her closeted father received the Bay Area Theatre Critics Circle Award for Best South Bay Production. The holidays brought the California Premiere of Tuck Everlasting, a family-oriented Broadway musical originally developed in TheatreWorks' New Works Retreat.

The new year saw Leslie Martinson's critically acclaimed Frost/Nixon, a clash between President and press relevant both then and now. The gospel blues of bio-musical Marie and Rosetta followed, with a roof-raising embodiment of African American icon Sister Rosetta Tharpe. In the spring, the best-selling World Premiere of Hershey Felder: A Paris Love Story recreated the life and music of Claude Debussy, and the Regional Premiere of Archduke by Pulitzer Prize nominee Rajiv Joseph explored the origins of World War I under Giovanna Sardelli's inspired direction. When the season began in July 2018, our World Premiere of The Prince of Egypt was playing in Copenhagen and contemplating London's West End; when it ended in June 2019, the Regional Theatre Tony Award brought TheatreWorks' most remarkable year to a glorious conclusion.

The summer of 2018 also featured our 17th Annual New Works Festival, including Paul Gordon's musical of Jane Austen's Pride and Prejudice, and Laura Ollstein's They Promised Her the Moon, about an aviatrix who could have been America's first female astronaut. Both shows are scheduled for premiere productions in our 2019/20 Season. The New Works Initiative has developed over 160 new works for the American theatre.

TheatreWorks for Schools, our arts education initiative, engaged thousand of students, teachers, and families throughout the region, including many young patients at the Lucile Packard Children's Hospital. Our programs help students master core curriculum, develop social and artistic skills, and experience live theatre for the first time—essential to a life-long interest in the arts.

Outstanding professional productions onstage, innovative new works in development, vital arts education in the schools—TheatreWorks is proud to be the cultural centerpiece of our Silicon Valley community.

2018 NEW WORKS FESTIVAL

Our 2018 New Works Festival, the fifth curated by Director of New Works Giovanna Sardelli, assembled exceptional talent from across the country to present innovative new plays and musicals. Over the course of the ten-day Festival, over 5,000 patrons gathered at Palo Alto's Lucie Stern Theatre to experience this artistic highlight of the summer. Writers and composers mounted staged readings of their works, received audience feedback, then refined their pieces with the support of TheatreWorks' performers and directors. Audiences and artists agree that the New Works Festival is unique, inspiring, and a source of great pride for TheatreWorks.

The New Works Festival showcased four works in development, including:

FOR SCHOOLS

Concepts at Play: These action-packed, 10-day residencies integrate the performing arts with science and poetry, while increasing vocabulary retention. Physically we explore complex concepts and engage students' creativity. (Grades K–5)

School Tours: The Oskar Assembly Series directly addresses the social and emotional learning of our students by presenting topics such as bullying, coping with stressors, and understanding gender stereotypes. This touring program makes stops at elementary schools throughout the Bay Area. (Grades K–5)

Student Matinees: School groups and homeschool families make up the audience for these special daytime performances, enhanced by a study guide, in-class visits prior to the matinee, and a post-show discussion with mainstage artists. (Grades 8–12)

The Young Playwrights Project: High school students learn to develop play structure, create characters, and write dialogue during this 10-week residency program which culminates in staged readings presented by professional actors and directors. (Grades 9–12)

Young Storytellers Lab: In this residency, middle school students create their own material and participate in the staging of their work. This work includes text, voice, movement, and sound. Writing in small groups, the class creates a set of 3–4 scenes that are woven together with the assistance of the teaching artist to create an adaptation or a response to a text. (Grades 6–8)

Arts Integration Network: Teachers of the Palo Alto Unified School District receive professional development and ongoing mentorship in arts integration techniques through a partnership with TheatreWorks Silicon Valley, PAUSD, Stanford Live, and the Kennedy Center's Partners in Education program.

FOR YOUTH

Summer Camp: Elementary age students build a foundation of performing arts techniques through acting, playwriting, dance, music, and stagecraft. Over two weeks, campers build theatre and life skills, all while creating original works. (Grades K–6)

Spring Camp: This one-week session during spring break focuses on building acting skills, working together, and having fun while engaging their imaginations. (Grades K–5)

1440 Countdown: Teams of 5–8 students gather for 24 hours in TheatreWorks' rehearsal hall to create their own play based on a theme provided when teams arrive. Students attend workshops in playwriting, directing, and acting. The atmosphere challenges students to exercise their creativity and resilience in a safe environment and provides them with the skills to take risks with confidence. (Grades 9–12)

COMMUNITY PROGRAMS

The Children's Healing Project: Teaching Artists use creativity and self-expression to help aid the healing process for patients at Lucile Packard Children's Hospital at Stanford, the Lucile Packard Comprehensive Eating Disorders Unit at El Camino Hospital, and the Ronald McDonald House.

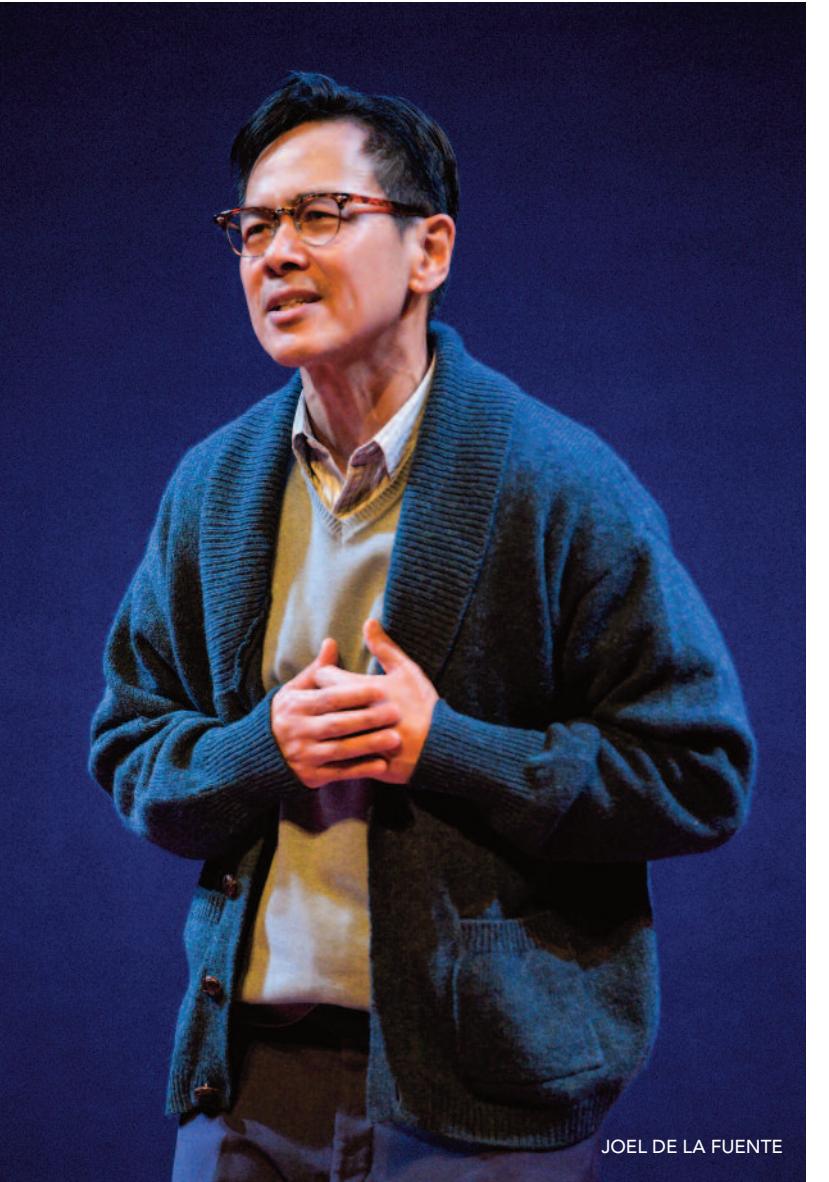

Internships: Exceptional interns share their talents with TheatreWorks staff while earning college credit and learning what it's like to work in a professional theatre company.

TheatreWorks Everlasting Fall Gala

THEATREWORKS EVERLASTING

TheatreWorks Silicon Valley hosted our annual fall gala on November 3, 2018 at the Sharon Heights Golf & Country Club. Titled TheatreWorks Everlasting and inspired by the company's holiday production of Tuck Everlasting, the gala celebrated TheatreWorks role in keeping theatre alive and everlasting through the continual development of new work. The beautiful Sharon Heights Golf and Country Club was transformed into a magical forest, where guests could "time-travel" through the cocktail hour, listening to living music boxes presenting song and dance from other eras. Then on to dinner where table hosts had selected time-period themes for their tables and encouraged their guests to dress to the theme. Auctioneer Chad Carvey brought energy and fun to the evening as guests bid on fabulous trips and one-of-a-kind experiences. The event culminated with a talented cast of artists who presented a mini-musical tale featuring songs from past New Works Festival productions.

TheatreWorks Everlasting was made possible by 208 businesses, individual donors, and attendees, raising a total of $469,183.

SPRING FUNDRAISER—THE LEGENDARY VAULT

On Saturday, April 27, 2019, TheatreWorks hosted our fifth annual spring party, this year themed The Legendary Vault. The TheatreWorks rehearsal space at the Sobrato Center for Nonprofits in Redwood Shores was transformed into "The Legendary Vault," a secret place of memory and magic where the ephemeral moments of theatre lost to the sands of time live on. In The Vault, hosts selected a favorite TheatreWorks production of the past as the theme for their group. The party kicked off with a cocktail reception at The Vault's Food Court where a myriad of delectable treats were offered while guests bid on items at the Treasures From The Vault Silent Auction. After a lively live auction, guest also enjoyed a fabulous dessert buffet. The evening was capped by incredible musical entertainment from TheatreWorks artists presenting "The Road Not Taken" a presentation of musical numbers from Broadway shows that TheatreWorks has NOT produced.

The event was made possible by 147 businesses, individual donors, and attendees. The Legendary Vault raised a total of $216,302.
