Donald Trump Signs Genocide Relief Act for Christians and other Religious Minorities in Iraq and Syria

Donald J. Trump
45th President of the United States

U.S. President Donald Trump signs H.R. 390, the 'Iraq and Syria Genocide Relief and Accountability Act of 2018' in the Oval Office at the White House on December 11, 2018 in Washington, DC. President Donald Trump signed a law combatting genocide of Christians, Yazidas and other religious minorities in the Middle East, legislation supported by the Knights of Columbus and a broad array of faith-based organizations.

Christians are being systematically wiped out in Syria and Iraq, along with other religious minorities in parts of the Middle East by Muslims following the instructions in the Quran and Islamic Hadiths. Rep. Chris Smith (R-NJ) and former Rep. Frank

I Have A Dream.

... "Let us not wallow in the valley of despair, I say to you today, my friends. And so even though we face the difficulties of today and tomorrow, I still have a dream. It is a dream deeply rooted in the American dream.

"I have a dream that one day this nation will rise up and live out the true meaning of its creed: 'We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal. I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia, the sons of former slaves and the sons of former slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood.

"I have a dream that one day even the state of Mississippi, a state sweltering with the heat of injustice, sweltering with the heat of oppression, will be transformed into an oasis of freedom and justice. I have a dream that my four little children will one day live in a nation where they will not be judged by the color of their skin but by the content of their character.

"I have a dream today! I have a dream that one day, down in Alabama, with its vicious racists, with its governor having his lips dripping with the words of 'interposition' and 'nullification' -- one day right there in Alabama little black boys and black girls will be able to join hands with little white boys and white girls as sisters and brothers. I have a dream.

If God Became Man, He would be Announced to the World by the Prophets of Old, Events and by One Crying in the Desert, "Repent and Make Ready for 'I AM' is Coming!"

The phrase, "Kingdom of Heaven" is written in the second chapter of the Book of Daniel. There it is written that there should arise four great monarchies, the Babylonian, the Persian, the Grecian and the Roman, the last of which should be a kingdom of iron. Daniel wrote "And in the days of these kings shall the God of Heaven set up a kingdom which shall never be destroyed . . . and stand forever." The predictions of all the prophets were coming true and the people had great expectations of the coming of the Christ on earth. This was exactly the state of the country during the ministry of Jesus, and it explains his caution proclaiming himself the

"A great civilization is not conquered from without until it has destroyed itself from within. " - Ariel Durant, Russian-born American researcher and writer, co-author of The Story of Civilization, Pulitzer Prize winner for general non-fiction. (1898-1981)

While the United Nations agreed to flood Western nations with thousands of strong, able-bodied young men to overwhelm our security forces, our healthcare system, and our finances to feed, clothe and house them, there is yet another way to reduce our ability to deal with the invasion. The system began some time ago, and although we cannot be certain that this was their end game, it is certainly another method of realizing the left's aspiration of globalism.

It is time to gather the many components.

Refugee costs: $8.8 billion, $80,000 per immigrant, free welfare, Medicaid

by Paul Bedard

America's big heart in welcoming tens of thousands of refugees and asylum seekers from war torn and disaster-ravaged nations comes with a huge cost that is choking taxpayers — and barely making a dent in the worldwide refugee crisis, according to a new report. The Federation for American Immigration Reform Monday put the five-year price tag at $8.8 billion in federal and state costs, or nearly $80,000 per refugee. There are some 18 federal and state programs refugees can tap for financial help, including food stamps, child care, public housing and school loans.

On a yearly average, it is $1.8 billion, or $15,900 per refugee. Included in that are enormous refugee resettlement costs such as $867 million in welfare, housing assistance and education. That is nearly five times the pay for a private in the Army Reserve. What's more, said the FAIR study provided to Secrets, 50 percent of refugees remain on Medicaid for five years. "Most of this cohort arrives here without financial resources and possessing few marketable job skills. And the American taxpayer is being asked to feed, clothe and shelter them, in addition to funding job training programs," said the report titled "The Fiscal Cost of Resettling Refugees

Oakwood's Sergeant Cameron Reed Saves a Life on I-271

August 11th of 2018 started as a normal day in which one of our officer's was working the side job on I-271 in the construction zone. His job was to help slow traffic's speed while approaching the construction area. This detail would have an officer working anywhere from Warrensville Hts to Macedonia on the highway depending where the construction was occurring.

Traffic began to backup in the contraflow lane, which is a first responders' nightmare, with a single lane, no berms, encased with concrete construction walls on each side. Once the traffic is backed up it requires responding units to backtrack several miles to get to the emergency, if possible.

Sergeant Cameron Reed

Janet Taylor, 52, of California, was driving south on 271 in the contraflow lane when she went into cardiac arrest. This would become another tragedy to report due to the location, however it turned out to be her lucky day, with Oakwood officer, Sergeant Cameron Reed, working traffic control nearby. A passing motorist alerted the officer who immediately ran to the vehicle and found Janet unconscious and not breathing. He was able to free her from the vehicle and begin lifesaving CPR.

Janet's luck continued, unbelievably a short time later, a Hudson Fire Dept Squad was returning from a transport and neared the scene on the opposite side of the concrete barriers. Kokosing Construction workers witnesses the emergency and immediately started to move the barriers to assist in the efforts. Hudson EMS personnel, Eric Pohl and Diana McMurtrey relieved the Oakwood officer, took over CPR and transported her to the hospital. I received several calls and emails from the Hudson Fire Chief, Hospital personnel and Janet's family all who agreed emphatically that without the Oakwood officer Reed's initial efforts starting CPR, Janet Taylor would not have survived.

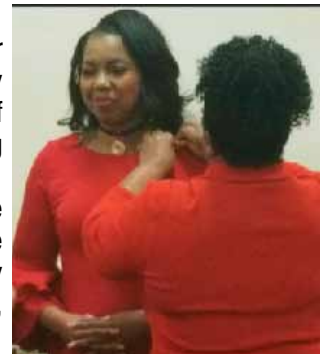

Honoring one of our own is always a pleasant event. God has many ways of turning tragedy into a blessing! This was Sgt. Reed's time to be an angel!

COMMONLY HELD MYTHS

By Robert O. Carson, Esq.

Over the last forty-five years of law practice I have heard three commonly held myths which seem not to go away.

Firstly, real property taxes are a charge against the house and the land only. These taxes are not against the homeowner. If a homeowner does not pay his property taxes, he will not personally be liable. Only the house is chargeable for the failure to pay, and only the house will be sold. If the house is sold, and the proceeds of the sale are not sufficient to pay these property taxes in full, the homeowner will not be responsible and will not have to pay the difference.

Secondly, mortgage loans must be paid monthly. The documents signed by the homeowner obligate him to pay each month no matter how much he paid the month before. In one case, the homeowner paid regularly and faithfully each month. Then he inherited about ten thousand dollars which he prudently applied all in one month to his mortgage obligation. Figuring he had paid months ahead, he did not pay the next three months. He breached the terms of his promissory note and mortgage and he was subject to foreclosure. The Lender allowed him to pay the three months of the arrearage plus interest and penalties.

Thirdly, legal entities- for example corporations, limited liability companies, trusts- are not a cure all for all liability. You may think if you have your house in a trust you are not liable when your dog bites your neighbor's child but you are personally liable because you own the dog. You may think that if you have your 'rental' in a corporation then you are not liable for a auto collision you incur while driving to collect the rent but you are personally liable because it was you who was driving. You may think if your commercial property is in an LLC then when someone slips on the sidewalk in front of your building, then you are not liable but you are personally liable because it was you who shoveled the snow in a way that was negligent.

DEFEND!

Every homeowner is offered the privilege of defending their home in our system, and each homeowner should consider doing so. The reason a homeowner should DEFEND! is simple- he consulted an attorney who relieved him of his false beliefs.

The Women's movement began with the right to vote in the 19th and 20th centuries, evolving into every facet of their lives in the '60s, - sexuality, family, and work. The National Women's Studies Association (NWSA), established in 1977, focused on social transformation, rethinking gender, bio-politics of humanity, post-capitalism, revolutions and utopian projects, environmental justice, climate change, and more. Often repackaged, we see these concepts increasingly governing our schools today, disturbing trends for today's students.

Beginning with kindergarten, many American and European schools have implemented programs to discourage "best friends," to keep the youngsters more isolated and lonely, including relinquishing human interaction for computer hours. Common Core's standards redefine the teachers as facilitators who are less involved with actual instruction, and disdain objective truth for the subjective opinions of the students. Students despair through the lack of a solid foundation of academic and personal skills.

Common Core standards owes its implementation to its architect, David Coleman, who has no background in academia; Barack Hussein Obama; Bill Ayers, leader of the '60s counterculture movement, domestic terrorist and elementary education theorist; and Arne Duncan, later US Secretary of Education. Their philosophy was education for a revolution. Simple math emerged as extensive, frustrating mathematical problems. Classical literature, considered responsible for improving vocabulary, creative thought and expression, was replaced with dystopian writings and corporate texts, peppered with leftist ideology and resulting in contempt for reading. World religion became historical revisionism, omissions, and bias devoted to Islam with intrinsic Judeophobia. Texts and schoolbooks depict Americans as colonialists, conquerors, and slavers, and the presentation of our founding fathers, the Constitution, Bill of Rights, and the Emancipation Proclamation, leave our children humiliated about their heritage, angry and eager to destroy historic statuary and monuments. The result is an intense anxiety in our children, fear of school, anger, sleeplessness, bed-wetting, and even self-mutilation.

The blind acceptance of a foreign element that rejects our American values is yet another threat to our students. The implementation of the concept of diversity actually divided the children who were once only American students striving for an education. Rather, the mirage of diversity has separated the students by race, heritage, gender; assimilation has been replaced by confrontation. No longer are they judged by achievements and grades, but by skin color and ethnicity. The buzz word, "equality," is now applied to outcome, rather than to opportunity, so that standards must be lowered to provide all with an equal comfort level. Thus, leading universities began to establish a quota system based on group identity instead of on individual ability, encouraging diversity but using it to separate one from another, pit one against the other, and diminish the importance of the camaraderie and commonality of the school experience and Americanism. This is social engineering - denying this generation the aptitude and intellect to discern fact from fiction, right from wrong.

Another injustice ensued when young women were blaming chauvinism for the jobs they did not land, forcing companies to make the necessary hiring accommodations by gender and ethnicity, rather than talent and ability, a palpable problem in medicine and other fields. Such was the case of the Obama-era FAA hiring rules that placed air traffic controller diversity ahead of safety. Men were now not succeeding as their fathers had, not able to support their families if they married, and often not marrying because the young women are managing well enough with socialist welfare checks. The fathers are pushed to abandon what should have been their new family.

Many young women in school have been imbued with a disrespect, even contempt, for men, particularly white men, which vilifies our history and suppresses a flourishing civilization. It was certainly evident with the confirmation hearings of Supreme Court Justice Brett Kavanaugh, when women were seen screaming and pounding on locked doors, willingly charging him with unproven crimes. Further, the assault on free speech gives credence to silencing anyone with the accusation of "hate speech," or "behavioral transgressions." Boys and young men who, through the ages, have been the ones to initiate courtship are now deterred because of potential accusations of offensive speech or aggression. Many universities now employ a Bias Hotline, where anyone may report any conduct or speech seen as offensive, intimidating, demeaning, degrading, marginalizing, victimizing or threatening to another individual. The victim could be fined, suspended, or even dismissed from the school.

Another depreciating and seriously damaging influence is the schools' indoctrinating young children to accept transgenderism, replacing our pronouns for two genders with an appalling variety of choices, so that teachers may be fired if they accidentally lapse into the God-given two. Nontraditional families and cross-dressing are also approved. Boys who have always been acclaimed for healthy masculine traits that enable them to succeed in our military and police forces may now be subjected to ridicule, harassment and shame by the teacher. Is it any wonder that the suicide rate for boys is four times higher than that of girls?

And finally (or is it?), citing evidence that boys have become maladjusted, low achievers, truants and delinquents, inattentive and rebellious, depressed and desperate, with a shorter life expectancy, Brown University has implemented a program to "unlearn toxic masculinity," which can only further emasculate boys. Rather than analyze society's role in weakening and devaluing them, robbing them of their natural maleness and function, this university has chosen to hasten the process. And can I even find the words to discuss the leftist assault on our sanity, as they declare that boys can menstruate? We recognize the strategies, but what lies behind this war against our male population?

The power hungry who seek to rule the globe as one governing entity, globalists, (including our own Shadow Government) or caliphates, do not have the manpower and defense technology to overcome our population, our citizens' abilities and spirit, so that other means would have to be found. The only course open to globalists is to overwhelm Americans with an alien population; hence, we are being beset by the migrant masses and determined opposition to the border wall for protection. Another would be to weaken America as President Obama depleted our military by spending down and sending ~$33.6 billion to Iran, reducing our armed services and allowing equipment to age without replacement, and denigrating our police.

The strategy of weakening America's manpower is being implemented in order to ensure that our youth, our future military, remain uninspired, untrained, and emasculated. It would appear that they are being converted into a non-reasoning, obedient, slave sect, a modern-day form of Pharaoh's eunuchs. Then, should enemy forces advance, there would be few true men left to do battle for our existence.

RUN

By Marie Chernek

The snow was falling one winter night while the sky was a beautiful dusky blue. The phone rings and on the other end is my old neighborhood walking buddy, Diane. What a surprise to hear her sweet, chipper voice. It had been almost ten years since we last spoke. Like some friends, life just gets in the way and for no particular reason the quiet of a friendship begins.

We spoke for hours catching up- our banter was perfection, like we had never skipped a beat. We talked about the gift we had in each other those eight years we walked. She was a young mother of three and myself a young newlywed. I admired her wisdom and she admired my confident spunk. We walked the hills of our country roads and sometimes took different paths.

One particular morning, we added another mile to our walk passing a local pig farm. We had noticed several pigs loose in the front yard. We weren't too worried as we tried to gingerly pass the farm unnoticed. I tightly gripped my son's baby stroller and quietly walked. We had almost made it past the farm when a humongous black and white pig started charging at us. Diane and I both went into mommy mode. Diane yelled, "Run"! I did just that and then threw her my son's baby blanket for protection. As soon as I got the stroller to a safe distance I turned around. Lo and behold, Diane was holding the blanket like a toreador in a bullfight dancing back and forth with the pig. I could not contain my laughter! Diane made a run for it and luckily tired the pig out so much he lazily turned around and sauntered home.

During our phone call we reminded each other about that hysterical walk - one for the books for sure. As I was sitting on my bed during our conversation, right across from me on my dresser sat a small, wooden black and white pig. Yes, I had relayed the story to my best friend in Washington D.C. and the next week I received the pig in the mail. Over the years I've always kept it nearby to remember the importance of friendship and laughter.

Diane and I have a date in Spring to take a nice, long walk - one of many more to come. I'm so very grateful for her call that evening and for the flood of memories that returned to me, but mainly for the opportunity to reawaken an old friendship.

I checked my Dictionary and even my Thesaurus to see if the above words have been taken out of them for some reason, like maybe they are not (P.C.) politically correct ANYMORE. I am not hearing those words as often as I think I should. When did manners become Old School?

Last Halloween I handed out treats to 50 plus children and only 2 of them said Thank You. The rest of them just kept marching along to the next person and held out their bag without a hint of gratitude to the other individuals handing out the treats.

This past Christmas was not much better, but this time it was the adults who were pushing and crowding, and even grabbing items out of someone's hand. No, Excuse Me, Please or Thank You were being uttered.

How are our children supposed to know what to say when the Adults act more like Children then the Children? Children learn by what they see, hear and the tone in which their parents speak and behave. It is up to the parents to teach their children what I call PET. Please, Excuse me, Thank you.

You may not realize it, but your children are ALWAYS paying attention to their surroundings. They mimic what they see and hear. Are you paying attention to what you are saying around your children? You can bet they are! Their brains are like small computers taking in data every second of the day. Are you feeding them good data for their future?

I would like to say Thank You, to the many people that held doors open for me during this Christmas season, while I was pushing a friend in a wheel chair, trying to enter or exit from a restaurant or store and the worst, a movie theatre. Because theatres have double doors and they do not open automatically. I wait hoping some polite person will come along and open the doors for me. Now I have learned to carry a door stop in my purse for such difficult occasions. And to the ones who said Excuse me, and asked if they could help in some way. I guess their parents must have taken the time to teach them P.E.T. and manners to go along with the words. It was much appreciated. They truly had the spirit of the season.

These polite and caring people restored my soul in human nature. My hope for the New Year is that we ALL, children and adults alike, practice showing gratitude, respect and kindness to each other. You will be a better person for it and the world will be a kinder and gentler place. Here is to 2019 the year of PLEASE, EXCUSE ME AND THANK YOU!

Common Sense where did it go?

An Obituary printed in the London Times.....Absolutely Dead Brilliant!!

Today we mourn the passing of a beloved old friend, Common Sense, who has been with us for many years. No one knows for sure how old he was, since his birth records were long ago lost in bureaucratic red tape. He will be remembered as having cultivated such valuable lessons as:

- Knowing when to come in out of the rain;
- Why the early bird gets the worm;
- Life isn't always fair;
- And maybe it was my fault.

Common Sense lived by simple, sound financial policies (don't spend more than you can earn) and reliable strategies (adults, not children, are in charge). His health began to deteriorate rapidly when well-intentioned but overbearing regulations were set in place. Reports of a 6-year-old boy charged with sexual harassment for kissing a classmate; teens suspended from school for using mouthwash after lunch; and a teacher fired for reprimanding an unruly student, only worsened his condition.

Common Sense lost ground when parents attacked teachers for doing the job that they themselves had failed to do in disciplining their unruly children. It declined even further when schools were required to get parental consent to administer sun lotion or an aspirin to a student; but could not inform parents when a student became pregnant and wanted to have an abortion.

Common Sense lost the will to live as the churches became businesses; and criminals received better treatment than their victims. Common Sense took a beating when you couldn't defend yourself from a burglar in your own home and the burglar could sue you for assault.

Common Sense finally gave up the will to live, after a woman failed to realize that a steaming cup of coffee was hot. She spilled a little in her lap, and was promptly awarded a huge settlement. Common Sense was preceded in death,

- by his parents, Truth and Trust,
- by his daughter, Responsibility,
- by his wife, Discretion,
- and by his son, Reason.

He is survived by his 5 stepbrothers:

- I Know My Rights
- Someone Else Is To Blame
- Pay me for Doing Nothing
- I Want It Now
- I'm A Victim

Not many attended his funeral because so few realized he was gone. If you still remember him, pass this on. If not, join the majority and do nothing.

Editor's comment: Democratic leaders Pelosi and Schumer have demonstrated just how easy it is to kill Common Sense. They are American's brand of political idiots.

Accountability Act of 2018, which the president signed in an Oval Office ceremony. Both congressmen stood with the president as he signed the bill. "The future of endangered religious and ethnic minorities targeted by Islamic State (IS) for genocide, and pluralism in the Middle East, will depend on help from the United States," said President Trump.

Supreme Knight Carl Anderson represented the Knights of Columbus in the ceremony. This Catholic fraternal order has allocated $20 million to provide relief to Christians and other religious minorities, including $2 million to rebuild Karamles, a town in Iraq that ISIS had destroyed. "With the legislation signed today, America speaks with bold moral clarity and political unanimity," said Anderson, adding for historical perspective that this law "reminds us of America's earlier efforts to aid victims of genocide - Christian communities targeted by Ottomans a century ago and Jewish survivors of Shoah."

The Knights of Columbus is the largest Catholic men's service organization in the world. President Trump's representative to the Vatican, Ambassador Callista Gingrich, and Archbishop Bashar Warda of Erbil, Iraq, were also present at the White House.

Editor's comment: Muslims have been slaughtering and enslaving Christians, Hindus, Jews, Zorasters and others since 624 AD. My Dad always wondered why some Slovenians last name is Turk. We now know it was because the Turkish Caliphate kidnaped young boys from Slovenia and other slavic nations and took them to Turkey and trained as soldiers or slaves. When they were old enough to escape, they came home, but did not know their last name. Because they had been in Turkey, they assumed the last name Turk. The word "slave" is derived from slavic people who were enslaved. God bless President Trump! (Everyone needs to know when Muhammad was 50 years old, he forced marriage on a 6 year old, Aisha. Muhammad, age 52, consummated the marriage by having sex with Aisha when she turned 9.)

Cause, Effect and Unlimited Wealth!

Joseph V. Mestnik
Editor

When I attended Purdue University, I took Micro and Macro Economics. Economics was the study of the distribution of limited resources. During the 1973 Arab-Israeli War, Arab members of the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries (OPEC) imposed an embargo against the United States in retaliation for the U.S. decision to re-supply the Israeli military and to gain leverage in the post-war peace negotiations. This embargo demonstrated what limited resources could do. Experts at the time said the supply of oil would run out by the mid-1990's. What happened? How could all of the experts be so wrong?

The concept of wealth ownership originated with John Locke (1632-1704). He lived at a time when England was transitioning from kingship to a representative form of government with the revolutions led by Cromwell. In 1689 "The Declaration of Rights" and later passed as "The Bill of Rights" established fair treatment of the people. During this period of time Locke stated every man was entitled to the product of his labor and established ownership of property. We are all entitled to the fruits of our labor.

The problem in 1973, was none of the experts really understood capitalism, technology, nor the universal law of Cause and Effect. Along came a man, Paul Zane Pilzer. Who? Paul Zane Pilzer is the author, who wrote the book "Unlimited Wealth, The Theory and Practice of Economic Alchemy." He changed the study of economics and the understanding of economics forever. He derived a very simple formula: Wealth = Human effort plus technology. Technology from the time of the ice age transitioned very slowly. We had the stone-age, the bronze-age, the iron-age, etc. The changes in technology took thousands and thousands of years.

Something changed dramatically with the invention writing and ultimately of the printing press. Changes could now be recorded and passed on from one generation to the next without having to memorize or learn everything from the scratch. We didn't have to start over and all over again. Next came the harnessing of steam and the beginning of the industrial revolution. Technology jumped at light speed when compared with the thousands of years in transition from the stone-age to the iron-age. We are now in the information age and moving very fast.

What makes Paul Zane Pilzer so important? He demonstrated the fact that there is no limit to resources. Wealth is unlimited and available for everyone! We all have the same opportunities. Some are just better prepared for their chance! Let's look at the oil situation. In 1973 all predictions were that by the mid 1990's there would be no more oil! What happened? Technology changed everything. Automobiles were dramatically and radically changed and automobiles that could only inch along at 10-12 miles per gallon were now improved up to 45 miles per gallon! It's not how much oil you have, but how far you can go on a gallon. The technology expanded by 4 times the original oil amount! Then technology opened up unlimited new supplies of oil. Oil availability projections are now at a minimum of 400 years!

But let's talk about you! How do you participate in the wonderful world of unlimited wealth? The natural law of Cause and Effect still apply, but you have to learn to shift as the technology changes and how work is to be done. Capitalism is the base. We are now seeing capitalism at its very best. Creating so many jobs there isn't enough workers to fill them. You must learn to learn. According to Tom Hopkins learning is a five stage process: 1. Impact, 2. Repetition, 3. Utilization, 4. Internalization, and 5. Reinforcement. And according to George S. Clason book "The Richest Man in Babylon" you must keep and invest 10% of all you earn. Learn, earn and save 10%. Investing the product of your efforts is the secret to all wealth. You must put that 10% to work for you in sound interest earning investments. Put your money to work for you! That's what rich people have done for centuries. They make their money work for them! Just look at all the rental apartments in the Bedford City School District. The rent generates over $50 million for the landlords every year! Could you participate? Sure can! There are mutual funds and investment groups that own apartments and many other buildings. There are always risks in anything. Read, read and study before you do anything! Make your plan and then work your plan! In America, everyone has the same opportunities.

Healthy Teeth and Healthy Gums for a Lifetime!

Dr. Peter Smilovits, DDS

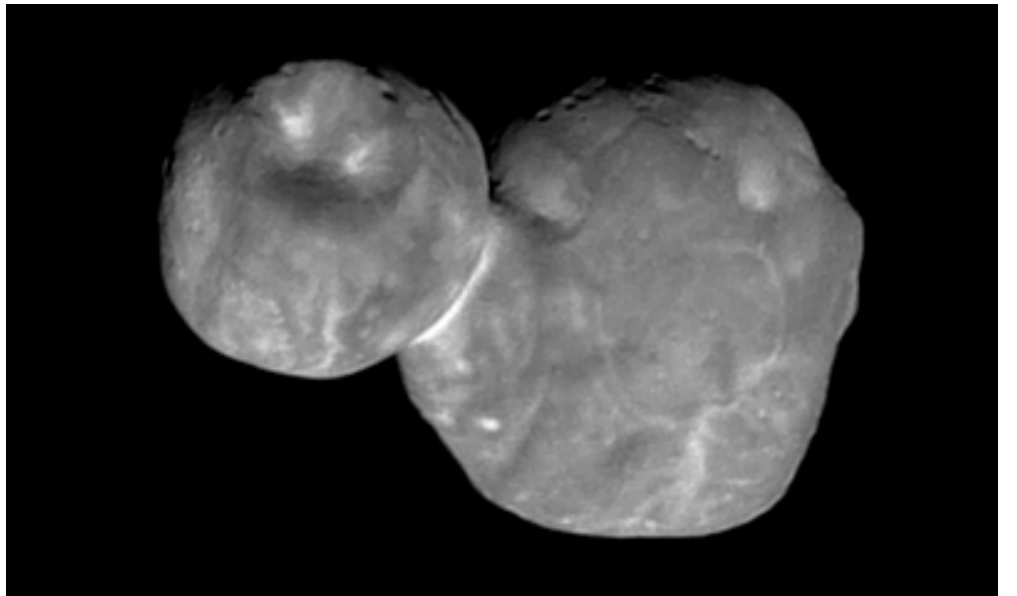

Many years ago, medical science did not understand the mouth-body connection as it relates to your overall general health. Today, we understand more than ever that oral health is more important than you might realize. You cannot have good medical health, if you do not have good dental health; this is a well-known fact in this enlightened age. Your mouth is a window to your overall health.

To understand the connection, your mouth is teeming with bacteria, viruses, fungi (fungus) and many other critters that are part of normal life. Most of them are harmless, as your natural body defenses control them from causing harm. However, there are dangerous bacteria, and as they build up onto the teeth and gums, held there by "tartar," the inflammation (infection) increases, and causes cavities and gum disease. It is here that a regular checkup and cleaning is of tremendous value.

Catch the inflammation and infections early, it does not get worse. But if left uncorrected, the bacteria multiply, seeking new homes below the gums, then invade the bone tissue that hold your teeth in place. Now the infection gets aggressive, does not stay there, and shoots into the blood vessels to spread infection into your entire body through the circulatory system. The bacteria continue to multiply and seek out your vital organs, such as the heart, lungs, etc. Your body is under attack now and its gets more complicated as your general health is compromised. Unfortunately, the older we get the more serious the problem becomes.

So, what is one to do? Well, the first step is to see a dentist who understands that their obligation to you is not just fix broken teeth but help you live a better life free of dental infections. For more information please schedule an appointment: 216-464-9696

New Horizons' Newest and Best-Yet View of Ultima Thule

Credit: NASA/JHUAPL/SwRI

The wonders – and mysteries – of Kuiper Belt object 2014 MU69 continue to multiply as NASA's New Horizons spacecraft beams home new images of its New Year's Day 2019 flyby target. This image, taken during the historic Jan. 1 flyby of what's informally known as Ultima Thule, is the clearest view yet of this remarkable, ancient object in the far reaches of the solar system – and the first small "KBO" ever explored by a spacecraft.

Obtained with the wide-angle Multicolor Visible Imaging Camera (MVIC) component of New Horizons' Ralph instrument, this image was taken when the KBO was 4,200 miles (6,700 kilometers) from the spacecraft, at 05:26 UT (12:26 a.m. EST) on Jan. 1 – just seven minutes before closest approach. With an original resolution of 440 feet (135 meters) per pixel, the image was stored in the spacecraft's data memory and transmitted to Earth on Jan. 18-19. Scientists then sharpened the image to enhance fine detail. (This process – known as deconvolution – also amplifies the graininess of the image when viewed at high contrast.)

The oblique lighting of this image reveals new topographic details along the day/night boundary, or terminator, near the top. These details include numerous small pits up to about 0.4 miles (0.7 kilometers) in diameter. The large circular feature, about 4 miles (7 kilometers) across, on the smaller of the two lobes, also appears to be a deep depression. Not clear is whether these pits are impact craters or features resulting from other processes, such as "collapse pits" or the ancient venting of volatile materials. Both lobes also show many intriguing light and dark patterns of unknown origin, which may reveal clues about how this body was assembled during the formation of the solar system 4.5 billion years ago. One of the most striking of these is the bright "collar" separating the two lobes.

"This new image is starting to reveal differences in the geologic character of the two lobes of Ultima Thule, and is presenting us with new mysteries as well," said Principal Investigator Alan Stern, of the Southwest Research Institute in Boulder, Colorado. "Over the next month there will be better color and better resolution images that we hope will help unravel the many mysteries of Ultima Thule." New Horizons is approximately 4.13 billion miles (6.64 billion kilometers) from Earth, operating normally and speeding away from the Sun (and Ultima Thule) at more than 31,500 miles (50,700 kilometers) per hour. At that distance, a radio signal reaches Earth six hours and nine minutes after leaving the spacecraft.

Editor's comment: In February, it is expected that SpaceX will launch a Dragon space capsule that will eventually carry men to the International Space Station (ISS). Boeing is expected to do the same in March. It is hard to imagine that Americans have not been able to carry astronauts to the ISS since grounding the Space Shuttles 7 years ago. Talk about bad or no planning. Let's hope these launches are successful.

Which Religious Leader do you choose to follow?

Muhammad (Mohammad) is the political and military leader of the Muslims. The Quran, Sunna and Hadiths give guidelines for Submission, Enslaving and/or Killing kafirs (disbelievers) and instructions (Sharia) on how to live life exactly as Muhammad did:

- | | |
|---|---|
| 1. Ordered killing or enslaving all non-believers (Motivation for Islamic NYC 911 bombing!) | 12. Declared woman's worth is only half a man: (Treat women well, for they are [like] domestic animals!) |
| 2. At age 50, forced marriage on 6 year old Aisha. At age 52 forced sex with her when she turned 9. | 13. Ordered stoning to death women caught in adultery! |
| 3. Married his stepson Zayd's pretty wife, Zainab | 14. Tortured, killed or enslaved disbelievers (kafirs) |
| 4. Married 13 wives had 11 at one time | 15. Beheaded Jewish and Christian men after battles and enslaved their women and children |
| 5. Also had sex with captive female slaves | 16. Took 20% of all booty stolen from others |
| 6. Owned and traded in slaves | 17. Declared amputation of hands and feet for thieves |
| 7. Was angry at those who disbelieved him | 18. Claimed he is the last prophet of the Jews! |
| 8. Assassinated all with whom he was angry | 19. Died from poisoning by an enslaved Jewish woman |
| 9. Claimed Moses was and is a Muslim! | 20. Muhammad is dead and buried in Medina, SA |
| 10. Claimed Jesus never died on the cross nor was He resurrected as Jesus said He would be from death on the 3rd day (Easter Sunday)! | 21. Islam is the greatest political killing system ever ^b |
| 11. Circumcision is obligatory for men and women ^a | 22. Muslims destroyed and totally eliminated cultures and claimed all inventions as their own! ^c |
| | 23. Created a religion of ignorance, murder and hate. |

a FGM b Since 624 AD, killed over 890 million people in 1,400 years (600 million Hindus, 125 million Africans...)

Moses is the moral and religious leader of the Jews, led them out of Egypt and at Mt. Sinai, God ("I Am") gave the 10 Commandments and established Jewish laws:

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1. I am the Lord thy God, who has taken you out of Egypt | Why did God lead Moses to locate Jerusalem where it is? Because, it is at the cross roads of Africa, Europe and Asia. The best location in the world to spread the word there is only one creator God. |
| 2. Thou shalt have no other Gods but me | |
| 3. Thou shalt not take the name of thy God in vain | |
| 4. Thou shall remember the Sabbath and keep it holy | |
| 5. Honor your father and your mother | |
| 6. Thou shall not kill | |
| 7. Thou shall not commit adultery | |
| 8. Thou shall not steal | |
| 9. Thou shalt not bear false witness against your neighbor | |
| 10. Thou shall not covet anything that belongs to your neighbor. | |

Jesus, human manifestation of God, led a righteous, moral life and is the risen God incarnate. Through Christian Puritans, created freedom and democracy in America. Jesus emphasized the three most important commandments and God's New Covenant:

1. Love God with all your heart and soul. 2. Love you neighbor as you love yourself. 3. Create Disciples.
- The New Covenant is the promise to humanity that God will forgive your sins and restore fellowship with those whose hearts are turned toward Him. Jesus is The Christ, the mediator of the New Covenant. Jesus' death on the cross and Jesus' resurrection on third day are proof of God's Holy Promises. Christians believe in one triune God manifested in three ways: God the Father, Jesus the Son and the Holy Spirit. All are a manifestation of only one God. Jesus came to earth so people experience miracles, learned, comprehended and experience God's love directly in human form. The Holy Spirit we experience daily.
- The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus the Christ.*

Now you know! Which moral Leader do you choose to follow?

Dwight Motsco Passed away January 9, 2019, 1961 BHS Graduate

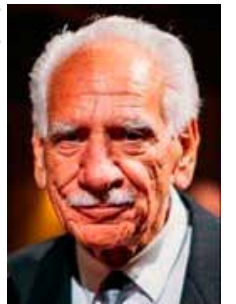

Dwight Paul Motsco

Dwight Motsco, age 75, passed away suddenly from a heart attack on Wednesday, January 9, 2019. He was married for 51 years to his beloved wife, Marty Motsco. He is the dear son of Steven and Sally (Elek) Motsco, both deceased. He is survived by his brother Milton and is pre-deceased by his brother Lawrence (Priscilla). Dwight graduated from Bedford High School in 1961. He earned a Bachelor of Arts degree from Kent State University, and a Juris Doctor from the University of Akron School of Law. Prior to his retirement, he was employed by the law firm of Bevan and Associates. Dwight was happiest when he was with his wife Marty. He loved being with his family and friends, and traveling with Marty throughout the world. He loved animals, gardening, and cooking. He enjoyed music, theater, bird-watching, and the Cleveland Indians. Tinkering with his antique car was a particular joy. He was a caring and giving man, always willing to lend a hand wherever it was needed.

Dwight and Marty (Romito) were 1961 BHS classmates and truly were the best of friends. We got to see them often at school functions where Marty and Dwight were regular sponsors and contributors. Marty was the superintendent of Bedford City School District. We could always count on Dwight and Marty in times of class reunions. Dwight was really terrific in helping to organize and keep records on as many classmates as possible. We will all miss his every friendly smile. Kimberly and I could always count on Dwight and Marty when going to 5 P.M. mass at the Church of the Resurrection. Rest in peace our dear friend.

Pat Santangelo

Pat served in the Air Force during the Korean War. He was a Bedford Heights Councilman for 30 years and a member of the Amvets Post 80. Pat and Kay were very active in Holy Trinity Church. I served with Kay on the Bedford City School District Board of Education. They could always be counted on to do what was best for the City of Bedford Heights and for the Bedford School System. Please pray for Kay in her time of need. Rest in peace Pat.

WHO GETS TO KEEP MORE OF YOUR MONEY ILLEGALLY, IRS OR SCAMMERS?

By Ed DeGraffinried, Accurate Tax Service

If every tax payer reads this story, and become proactive, they may be able to save billions of dollars this year. Let's start with ways the IRS gets to keep too much of your money, actually it's within the law:

1. They have sponsored programs, such as VITA (Volunteer Income Tax Assistance) and TCE (Tax Counseling for the Elderly). In the VITA Program, volunteers do your taxes free if your income is not over $54,000. There are a few problems that allow too much of your money to stay with the IRS. Many people, some in that same category, say to me "I do my own taxes or my friend do my taxes free".

a. Many volunteers are students learning to do taxes, others might be bored retirees. I commend these people for their effort to give back to their communities; but, many mistakes are made because most volunteers are not experienced tax accountants. Approximately 30% of the returns I looked over after they were done "FREE" had errors, and about 80% of those errors gave too much of your money to the IRS. Here are a few examples.

b. A young lady called for me to do her 2010 taxes, and I asked her to bring her 2009 return for a second look. I informed her that her refund was short by $4,000 because she did not get her $3,000 Earned Income Tax Credit, nor her $1,000 Education Credit. She said the person that did her free return, told her she was not eligible for EIC because her baby was born in August 2009 and did not live with her more than six months. She paid $36,000 in College Tuition, but it was input as Tuition and Fees, which is not refundable. The input should have been for the American Opportunity Credit, which provides up to $1,000 refund.

c. A person was recently directed to my tax office by a current client who knew she was not suppose to be taxed again when drawing the original contribution from a Roth IRA regardless of age. Unfortunately, the three year statute of limitation had expired and she could not get her $1,158 that was double taxes paid when she withdrew funds from her Roth IRA in 2011. She was also double taxed $3,650 by having it done at the same free place again in 2014. The expired statute of limitation is actually a legal way for the IRS to hold onto your tax over payment.

d. IRS Tax Tip on healthcare 2014-07, implemented in March of 2014, but made retroactive for 2013 and 2014, allows states to pay parents TAX FREE money for taking care of their disabled adult children at home. This program has not been very well publicized; therefore, most tax preparers don't know about it. A couple had been over paying one of the big 3 for tax preparation, until one of my long time clients sent them to me in 2017 for preparing their 2016 taxes. They brought several years of returns for us to take a second look. They had over paid an average of $10,000 per year 2012 through 2015. We amended their returns for all four years and crossed our fingers and toes, LOL. They were immediately paid for 2014 and 2015. The statute of limitation had expired for 2012. I had them sign all four amended returns and stapled each year separately. The IRS sent the 2013 return back, stating they did not get signatures because the second page was missing. After they signed and sent it to them again after April 15 of 2017, they said it was too late, which is a common practice of theirs. I watched them sign everything.

Due to time and space, we only listed a few of the many situations witnessed during the last few years. The IRS does not keep your money illegally, but congress should not limit the time needed for tax payers to prove the IRS owe them money!

2. Most scammers that take advantage of other tax payers are disguised as professional tax preparers. I'm fed up with them taking other people's money, so I will give you a few examples of how they work. Those that scam the IRS is beyond the scope of this article

a. The biggest and first red flag is when the preparer does not give you a copy of YOUR tax return.

b. A person came to my office a few years back and brought IRS transcripts of her previous years returns, because her aunt's friend who said she did the returns free but did not give her a copy. I looked at the first return and asked why did her refund go into two checking accounts. She said that she only had one bank account. The preparer had sent over $2,000 to the tax payer, and $300 to the "FREE" tax preparer's checking account. My client asked her aunt to get a transcript and, you guessed it, the same thing had happened.

c. A lady came into my office a couple weeks ago and said she wanted to get a house but the bank told her the last 2017 return was done incorrectly. I saw $39,000 of business expenses. She looked very surprised when I asked what kind of business she operates. She wasn't given a copy of the return until the client demanded it for the bank. I asked her what happened to her $980 state refund. She said that she was not expecting one. We called the Ohio Department of Taxation, and was shocked when told that the money had gone on a card that did not belong to the client. The preparer said she had only charged $125.

d. One of my clients has a daughter living in Michigan. The daughter called and faxed a copy of the audit letter she had gotten from the IRS, asking her to explain the $40,000 business expense deduction. She was not given a copy of her tax return, and was told that she broke even, but the transcript showed that a $9,000 refund had gone into an unknown checking account. When she went back to the other tax preparer, they had moved out and left the office empty.

e. Another lady earned about $19,000 and only had one W2. Her refund for 2012 and 2013 was around $11,000 each year, so one of the big 3 had charged $700 and $600. It's illegal to charge a percentage or any fee based on the refund.

My bio: I'm a Master Tax Consultant, have an EMBA from Baldwin Wallace University, taught 4 levels of accounting at the college level, have taught aspiring CPA interns, and other one on one students for 15 years. My job is to get your maximum refund, LEGALLY.

If your dependent children work, their return must state "dependent of another". If your kids file their return first, and this is not done correctly, you cannot file your return. If we file your return, and you claim your dependent children, we do their tax returns absolutely free.

New clients, bring this letter, or a copy into my office and get a 50% deduction.

in the United States."

Dan Stein, president of the immigration reform group, said an alternative should be providing temporary help near where the refugees live and eventually repatriating them. The study of Office of Refugee Resettlement and other data is one of the most extensive done on the costs of refugees. It notes that despite the high costs, the U.S. only helps a tiny percentage of those seeking refugee. With the U.S accepting lower refugee numbers under President Trump, who has set a cap of about 45,000 a year, there are still millions in need. FAIR said there is a population of some 65 million refugees in the world.

The U.S. has admitted over 3.5 million people since 1980 and 96,900 refugees just in the last year in 2016. "Unlike immigration policy — where the objective should be to admit people who are most likely to contribute — refugee and asylum admissions are humanitarian programs and we accept that there will be costs associated. The U.S. must remain committed to its role as a world leader in helping refugees, but we must also recognize that relocating refugees to this country is by far the most expensive alternative, and a financial commitment that lasts decades or more," said Stein. The FAIR study also looked at how refugees make out once they settle into the United States, and found that on average they earn about $11 an hour after five years, producing far less in income tax than services to them cost. FAIR's Numbers:

The cost per refugee to American taxpayers just under $79,600 every year in the first five years after a refugee is resettled in the U.S.

In 2016, the State Department spent nearly $545 million to process and resettle refugees, including $140,389,177 on transportation costs.

Of the $1.8 billion in resettlement costs, $867 billion was spent on welfare alone.

In their first five years, approximately 54 percent of all refugees will hold jobs that pay less than $11 an hour.

$71 million will be spent to educate refugees and asylum-seekers, a majority of which will be paid by state and local governments.

Over five years, an estimated 15.7 percent of all refugees will need housing assistance, which is roughly $7,600 per household in 2014 dollars.

Stein added that refugees also put new national security and public safety costs on to taxpayers. "We are entering an era in which resettlement in the United States or other nations is simply inadequate to address the displacement of people due to conflict, overpopulation, environmental disasters, or the collapse of civil societies in many countries. Instead, the international emphasis will have to be on providing temporary refuge and protection in or near people's homes with the goal of safely repatriating them," Stein said.

Messiah, and his withdrawal as soon as a multitude collected about him and manifested any tendency to sedition or disturbance. According the prophetic style, a day for a year, would bring the period of his appearance somewhere near the time when John the Baptist began to preach. It was predicted there would be one crying in the desert, "Repent for the day of the Lord is at hand, repent!"

Such was the expectation of the Jews, as we learn from history, a man of singular habits and appearance began to preach in a retired part of Judea, where there were but few large towns: "Repent, for the kingdom of heaven is at hand." John the Baptist habits and dress were those of a hermit, his food such as he could pick up in the fields and woods. He was literally the voice of one crying in the wilderness, "Prepare ye the way of the Lord. Make straight in the desert a highway for our God." A man of singular appearance, bearing such an important message, produced a great sensation, and excited the strongest curiosity. Crowds from all parts of Judea flocked together to see and hear him. He told them that he was not the Messiah, but was sent to introduce Him, "I came to point him out to Israel." A man like John, who clothed himself in the coarsest attire, in a country where the higher classes were studious or ornament, and all who had any pretensions to official dignity were distinguished by gorgeous apparel, would naturally escape all suspicion of political ambition. A religious teacher evidently sincere and pious, and withal free from fanaticism and enthusiasm, after the cessation of prophecy for four hundred years, must have produced a great impression, the last prophet being Malachi, 450 years before the advent of Jesus. The predictions and the time were right for God to appear as man and the Messiah!

One truth that Jesus announced bears evident marks of supernatural origin – since it contradicted the conceptions and prejudices of the age – that the Messiah and his Kingdom were not to be national, not belonging of right and exclusion to the posterity to the people of Abraham alone. That it was to be a kingdom selected from Israel and other nations, a new community by no means coextensive with the seed of Abraham, the religious leaders of that time had not the slightest idea. "Think not that you are to belong to the kingdom of God merely because you are descended from Abraham . . . God is able to raise up children to Abraham from a source now as improbable to you as the stones beneath your feet, from among the Gentiles even, who you are accustomed to call dogs, and count as the offscouring of the earth."

There is no subject which literature approaches with such diffidence as the personal character and history of Jesus. There is no theme on which language is found so inadequate and imperfect. A person in human form, with every attribute of humanity, except sin, exhibiting perfect goodness in combination with infallible wisdom, clothed with extensive power over physical nature, and a knowledge of futurity at once extensive and circumstantial; the declared end and object of a train of miraculous interpositions running back to the very foundation of the world, himself the beginning and cause of a new order of things, embracing the whole world and all succeeding times; his doctrines destined to sway the minds of the billions of the human race, to form their opinions, to mold their characters, to shape their expectations, to reign in their minds, and judge their actions, to convict and purify their consciences to cleanse them from sin, and prepare them for his own society and the presence of God in the spiritual world. The law was given by Moses, but grace and truth came by Jesus the Christ.

These events and He had to be authenticated. The plan was divine, but such were the ignorance and blindness of mankind that it was not at all probable that the world would have recognized and embraced it as divine, had it not been authenticated by miracles. Mankind, particularly in rude ages, want not only truth, but authority-not only truth but the certainty that it is truth-or, not being embraced with sufficient confidence, it would do them no good. His touch healed the sick, his will changed the elements, his command stilled the tempest, and his voice raised the dead. But what was quite as striking to those with whom he associated, he could read men's most secret thoughts, and tell them the tractions of their past lives, and foresee what there were hereafter to do.

And then to prove He was God he predicted his death on the cross and resurrection on the third day. He died from the most heinous of all methods of death, crucifixion being beaten and then nailed naked to a cross. No one ever survived a Roman crucifixion. Jesus proved His deity by dying on the cross and his resurrection from death on the third day.
