Frequently asked questions.

What is the difference between Course Notes/Workbook/Coursebook and the Study Text?

BPP's Course Notes/Workbook/Coursebook have been designed by tutors for tutors, specifically to support classroom delivery. They contain the core content for a paper, with integrated examples for additional practice for your students as you progress through the learning phase. They are designed to give you, and your students a consistent core structure – which you as a tutor can add to so that you can tailor your delivery to your students, but still saving you time producing handouts and examples.

How much is it?

The Tutor Toolkits are free for the tutor to access when using BPP's materials for your students. For access to the Comprehensive Tutor Toolkit, you and your students would each need to purchase Course Notes/Workbook/Coursebook/Study Text (as applicable) and the Practice and Revision Kit. Your institution does not need to adopt all papers at once, and there are no minimum quantities, other than all students sitting a paper must purchase each of the materials for the relevant sitting.

But I already produce my own materials/notes/handouts

We understand how much work it is to produce materials to support classroom delivery, we have been doing it for over 40 years. However, Institutes are continuing to develop their qualification in line with market needs and to maintain the rigour of the prestigious qualification. By transferring to BPP's materials, you will have to spend less time updating materials, and associated examples, when there are changes, giving you more time to focus on delivery, support, or whatever else you choose to give your students the best chances of success. The materials are designed with tutors in mind, allowing you to continue to build on the core content with your own stories and examples, to tailor the delivery in your classroom using your local expertise safe in the knowledge that you're benefitting from BPP's 40+ years of experience in delivering globally successful programmes.

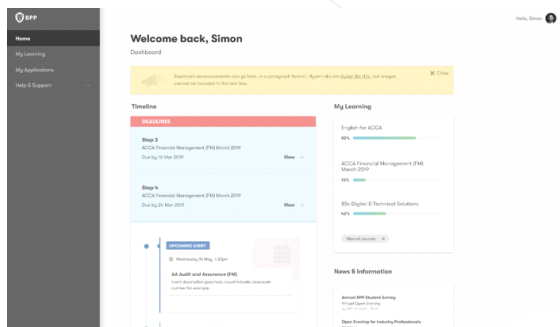

Find out more.

The following pages illustrate some of the resources that can be found in the toolkits: exact content will be dependent on qualification body and level of toolkit adopted.

Enhanced Classroom access (exclusively available on the Comprehensive package only).

Gain access to BPP's Enhanced Classroom product which consists of recorded lectures for every syllabus chapter, plus many more useful resources.

New and experienced tutors alike will benefit from these additional tools to aid preparation.

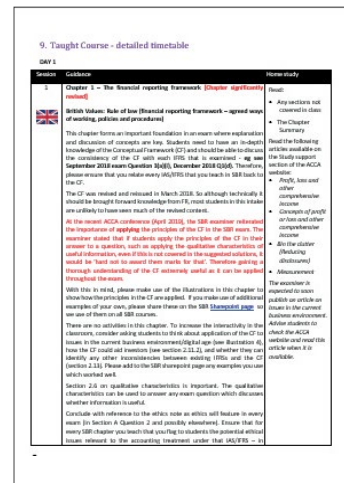

Tutor guidance.

A step-by-step guide on how to use the Tutor Toolkit to maximise student success.

These are new and improved and are fully linked to the BPP Workbook/Coursebook. It highlights the key areas, how topics are examined and syllabus links.

In addition, course timetables are included recommending the chapters to cover on teaching days as well as additional examples and case studies allowing tutors to add content and promote discussion amongst students.

There is tutor guidance available to support both the taught and revision phases, to save you time when preparing both phases.

Teaching slides (AAT, FIA and BT - FM only).

Bring your lectures to life. Linked to the BPP Study Text/Workbook/Coursebook, these PowerPoint slides contain real world examples and case studies to enhance the student experience.

The slides are designed to complement the other resources to allow you to teach the same core topics with some variety. Clearly laid out and following the same order as the Study Text/Workbook/Coursebook, they can be used in class or within extra study sessions.

Help students to understand the impact of what they are learning in the context of the business world with a range of case studies and examples. All examples are updated for changes in legislation, syllabus and style of assessment.

Answer to lecture example

Pre-tax profits = $12,000,000. Tax rate = 30%. Shares = 1 million @ $1 preference shares and 20 million $1 ordinary shares. What are the earnings per share?

	$
Pre tax profits	12,000,000
Less: Tax @ 30%	3,600,000
Profits after tax	8,400,000
Less: Preference dividends	800,000
Available for ordinary shareholders	8,320,000

B EPS = 8,320,000/20,000,000 = 41.6c

Incorrect answers:

A = ((12m x 0.7) - 0.08m)/21m = 39.6c
 C = (12m x 0.7)/20m = 42.0c
 D = 12m / 20m = 60.0c

Taught course notes (FIA and ICAEW only).

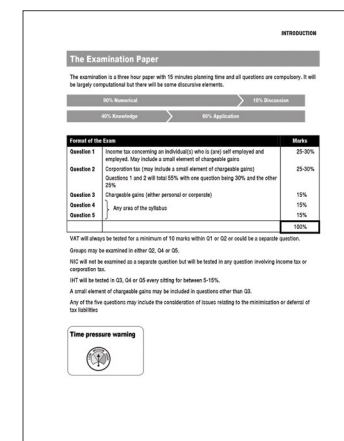

Comprehensive teaching notes written and used by BPP tutors. Designed to support the delivery of the Taught phase of your programme.

BPP Taught Course Notes are designed to help you to lead students through the key topics and approaches required for the paper.

Broken down into chapters they allow you to focus your time on the core topics and knowledge areas as you introduce students to the first phase of teaching. Every chapter includes Lecture Examples to build the confidence of students and to assist their understanding of topics as they are covered. The answers to the Lecture Examples will only be available to you as their tutor, giving you another valuable base of questions to support your students.

They are linked to the Study Text with inbuilt references for easy navigation.

- ✓ Save time not having to prepare your own class materials
- ✓ Prepare anywhere with electronic versions in your own personal online library
- ✓ Give students consistent, comprehensive materials to ease their learning
- ✓ Have confidence that all content and lecture examples are updated for technical, legislative and style of assessment changes
- ✓ Efficient, effective coverage of core areas for each paper
- ✓ Integrated lecture examples
- ✓ Overview diagrams for each chapter

Course exams.

Linked to BPP Taught Course Notes/Workbooks/ Coursebooks, these tests are designed to assess your students' knowledge as they progress through their studies.

The first exam enables you to check the progress of your students half way through the Taught phase of the programme. The second exam tests all of the syllabus.

Set in exam style and exam standard, both exams help to build your students' confidence towards the real exam. They are also an opportunity for students to start practising exam skills, such as interpretation of requirements and time management during the Taught phase. There is also the added confidence that these exams are reviewed annually and updated for any changes in legislation, syllabus and style of assessment.

BOTH questions are compulsory and MUST be attempted

1 Marshall

Marshall is considering purchasing a new machine to increase the capacity of its production facilities. At the moment it uses a machine which can process 400 units of product Z per hour. Marshall could replace this old machine with a new machine, the Zoom, which is produced specifically and can process 1000 units per hour.

The Zoom will cost £1,000,000 to purchase. If installed, three members of staff will have to attend a training course, which will cost the company a total of $8,000.

The organisation expects the demand for product Z to be 100,000 units per annum for the next three years. After this, in the fourth year, the Zoom would be scrapped and sold for $100,000.

The existing machine will have no scrap value. Each unit of product Z earns a contribution of $2.80.

The organisation works 40 hours a week for 48 weeks in the year. Marshall normally expects to produce within two years and its after tax cost of capital is 10% per annum.

The organisation pays tax on profits at 30% one year in arrears, and machines writing down allowances of 25% on the reducing balance basis.

The organisation's financial year begins on the same day that the new machines would start operating, if purchased.

Required:

- Calculate the net present value of the proposed investment, and advise the management of Marshall as to whether it should proceed with the purchase. (14 marks)
- Explain the uses, limitations and relative merits of the investment appraisal methods product period, net present value and internal rate of return in project appraisal. (16 marks)

(Total: 28 marks)

Revision course notes.

Comprehensive Revision Notes written and used by BPP tutors. Designed to support the delivery of your revision courses.

The nature of the Revision Notes is that they provide clear and easy to follow overview diagrams that enable you to summarise the syllabus area in an efficient manner before moving on to question practice within your revision phase.

The chapters are broken down in the same way as the Course Notes/Workbook, and presented in a similar way so both you and your students can be familiar with the approach and layout.

Fully updated for any syllabus or legislative changes each exam cycle.

Final mock exams.

A true test of student knowledge in the build up to exam day.

Help students with the final step in their studies, enabling them to bring together all their learning and practise before the real exam. It is exam standard and exam style covering the core topics crucial for success, designed to be sat as a real mock exam to time.

- ✓ Fully updated for changes in legislation, syllabus and style of assessment
- ✓ There are up to three exams available to support your courses depending on your support package
- ✓ Answers are provided for tutor use

All FOUR questions are compulsory

1 Porterfield

Porterfield are currently considering replacing an old machine which is about to only allow them to produce 5,000 units a year. The new machine would cost $300k but would allow annual production to increase to 6,000 units a year.

Price & cost information, at current prices, relating to each table are as follows:

Selling Price	$	200
Materials		60
Labour		75

Selling prices are expected to increase by 1% pa, materials by 2% pa & labour by 2% pa over the next 4 years. The general rate of inflation in the economy is 2.2%.

Porterfield expect to be able to sell 5,000 tables next year, 2,000 in year 2, 3,000 in year 3 & 5,000 in year 4. This is possible as 30% of the sales year that profits are retained & Porterfield can claim capital allowances on the new machine at 25% on a straight line basis.

Porterfield's general manager, R. Slack, has been happy to approve projects on the basis of their NPV in the past but has never fully understood what is meant by NPV. He has been asked by the board to give a presentation on NPV so that they can understand it better. He is quite anxious about this & has asked for your help.

Required:

- Evaluate whether purchasing a new machine is financially viable, based on:
 - NPV (11 marks)
 - IRR (4 marks)
- Prepare some notes to assist R. Slack in his presentation to the board. You should include an explanation of what NPV is & what the decision is. (8 marks)
- Discuss the advantages & disadvantages of NPV as a method of appraising projects. (8 marks)

(Total: 29 marks)
