"I feel like for the past few years I have gotten a little bit cynical with feeling like humans are a problem, I guess, and I really appreciated having the perspective that I used to have come back to me which is the feeling that humans are not the problem, we are just part of a large ecosystem and we have the ability to make it better. That was really inspiring. That was a great diving board for me to look into [permaculture] more."

"I am in the midst of converting our garden and large area beyond into food forest so this webinar had good suggestions...
