

When Merino Sheep Grazed In SB

The day when a prize herd of Merino sheep browsed on the Lyndhurst lowlands near the Passaic River . . . It was 170 years ago. It was a day when the state, like the rest of the country, was seeking to manufacture its own fine wool. Troubles with England and France had cut off foreign trade and the young country was trying to make its own resources do. South Berger got into the picture because living on the Passaic River was John Rutherford, the United States Senator, one of the wealthiest men in New Jersey, probably the biggest landholder, and an agriculturist of the first order. The sheep were of tremendous importance at the time. The price of wool was high. Rams and ewes were selling for $1,500 each. Imports of Merinos from Spain was stimulated by William Jarvis, the American consul at Lisbon. Through his efforts 4,000 Merinos were shipped from Spain in 1809 and 1810.

The popularity of the Merinos was due in large measure to the discovery of James Caldwell of Haddonfield that the sheep gave huge quantities of wool. One of Caldwell's rams, Americus, sheared 12½ pounds of wool—a tremendous production. Caldwell soon accumulated a famous flock by spending as much as $40,000. It cost him for 190 sheep a sum of $28,500. Rutherford's wealth can be estimated by the fact he soon had two herds numbering 600 Merinos. Many of the sheep were housed in Lyndhurst near the Rutherford estate. Others were in his farm in Sussex County. The farm was in the news recently since it had passed into the hands of a Rutherford descendant. She was Lucy Rutherford, the beautiful young woman who had an attachment with President Franklin D. Roosevelt for many years. During World War II, President Roosevelt, it was disclosed recently, paid a secret visit to the Rutherford farm.

According to history, the sheep, which were maintained as migratory flocks, were led to a central shearing place in the summer. They "presented a lively picture of the patriarchs of primitive ages," according to one story. In 1814 New Jersey had 234,000 sheep, of which 3,800 were pure Merinos. By 1816 when peace was restored with England the sheep herding business fell off rapidly and by 1830 the flocks of Merinos had disappeared.

Rutherford died in 1840. By that time the census of sheep showed that the flocks were being decimated rapidly. But he had turned his attention to other things. It was Rutherford's name that was taken by Rutherford and East Rutherford. However, because Erie Railroad misnamed its station in Rutherford as "Rutherford" the municipalities accepted the new spelling of the name. The Rutherford family was one of America's most distinguished. Married to Lena Morris, a descendant of the Morris family who had settled in New Jersey's first separate governor in 1738. Rutherford's gift to his bride was a farm which gave the community of Tranquility in Warren County its name. Rutherford moved to Lyndhurst in 1804, building an estate near what became the corner of River Road and Rutherford Avenue. The mansion was now the site of Jefferson School focal point for social and government figures for years. George Washington was a guest there. Rutherford served in the senate when Washington was president and was one of his staunchest supporters. One of Rutherford's accomplishments was the mapping of the Harlem area of New York City. In Lyndhurst, known as Lodi Township when he lived there, he memorialized his home town Edgerton, Scotland. He called his estate Edgerton and a lovely lake on what is now the site of Jefferson School was called Edgerton Lake.

Minuted

Selection of Edward Brooke, the first Negro to be elected by general vote to the United States Senate, as the fund raising dinner speaker in Bergen County is a good one. Brooke has aroused the interest of young men and women all over the United States. They are inspired by the fact he was able to achieve the high office of United States Senator although he is a Negro and a Republican in the heavily Democratic state of Massachusetts. His is the modern Horatio Alger Jr. story—but it is inspiring politically rather than economically.

Board Of Education Budget Passes $2 Million Mark For First Time

Lyndhurst was presented with its first $2 million school budget Monday night. The budget totalled $2,022,730—up $175,122 higher than that of the previous year. A public hearing will be held on the budget Jan. 23 in the Town Hall. The voters will have their say on the budget at the Board of Education election next month. The advertised version of the budget appears in The Commercial Leader today. An amazing thing about the budget is the size of the increase at a time the school population is decreasing. The board estimated that the schools next year will have only 3,147 pupils—as compared to 3,220 this year.

Still to be cleared up is whether the teacher force is satisfied. The teachers demonstrated in front of the Town Hall just before the Christmas holiday. They demanded better pay allowances. The board's salary committee met with a teacher group last week. The results have not been published. However, it was learned the teachers were awaiting a new offer from the board. Teacher salaries results in an increase in the budget of $101,000—going from $1,281,730 to $1,382,730. Anthony Scardino Jr., vice president of the board and finance chairman, introduced a resolution that the board appropriate $55,000 for capital outlay in the 1967-68 school year. Of this sum, $10,000 will be for regular new equipment and $45,000 will be for the fire detection boiler in the high school. Also authorized is $15,000 for the school buildings. William Wilson and Sons were required to be installed by Sept. 1 of 1968. The board already has appropriated $15,000 for the equipment, estimated to cost $60,000. Scardino's motion was carried that bonds totaling $85,000 plus six months' interest of $3,888.75 be paid on Feb. 1. These are the bonds covering the high school addition with interest of 3.05 per cent. Following this payment, the total bonds to be retired will be $170,000, of which $85,000 will be paid the following two school years. On motion of Trustee Mario P. Rizzo, Patrick Sardullo will be authorized to install two hot water tubes in the hot water boiler in the high school. Also William Wilson and Sons were authorized to clean the main sewer line at the Roosevelt School. All fire extinguishers in the schools will be checked by Fire Mattie Safety Equipment Co. and all needed repairs will be replaced. Mrs. Barbara Jurgenson, a teacher in the school system now on leave, who had sent in her resignation, had it accepted with regrets. She explained that she and her husband were moving to Carmel, N. Y.

Russo Opens Ridge Road Drive

Public Works Commissioner Peter J. Russo embarked on a campaign today to put Ridge Road to rights. "A ride along our principal business avenue shows that conditions are deplorable," Russo said. "We want merchants and residents alike to clean up and paint up." The abandoned automobiles which dot some of the yards are special targets of the drive. "Our ordinance banning abandoned cars has been effective in Lyndhurst," Russo said, "but much remains to be done. Ridge Road actually is Route 17. It is one of the most important highways in America. It should be Lyndhurst's showplace. It is far from that." Engaged with Russo in the drive is the new township health officer, John H. Marks. Marks comes to Lyndhurst under a contract the township has signed with the Bergen County Health Department. Licensed personnel of the de-

Residents Protest Ridge Building

Residents in the vicinity of the proposed four story office building that is to be erected on the site of the old Ritz Theater on Ridge Road pressed their opposition to some features of the structure. Chiefly under attack is the use of a Milburn Avenue lot for entering and leaving the parking lot that will be placed in the rear of the building. The Isoco home on Milburn Avenue has been purchased and the driveway into and out of the parking lot will be on that property. The matter is now before the Board of Adjustment because a variance is needed to convert the property of the Isoco house from residential to commercial use. A petition with 47 signatures, representing 44 families in the vicinity, has been filed with the Board of Adjustment opposing the project. According to the objects only two residents affected favor the building. Four were neutral while the rest are in strong opposition. The opposing petition cited safety hazards, health hazards, depreciation of surrounding property and privacy as the principal reasons for opposing the variance. Patrolman James Marion, who lives at 567 New Jersey Avenue, made public today the following letter opposing the plan: "The Lyndhurst Board of Adjustment should not recommend approval of a variance being sought by the Normazz Corp. Inc. to ingress through Milburn Avenue, which is a residential zone, because of the findings in a similar case decided by the Appellate Division of the Superior Court of New Jersey in 1956. (Cummins v. Bd. of Adjustment of Bor. of Leonia) "In that case the court said 'Plaintiffs, who bought the premises with full knowledge of the existing zoning restrictions, would benefit the commercial development of their property on Broad Avenue at the expense of the resident neighbors.' It was also the judgment of the court that the granting of the plaintiffs request for a recommendation of a variance would be to set in train a chain reaction where one variance would beget another, thus initiating a corrosive process which would destroy any semblance of a comprehensive zoning scheme." In the aforementioned case in Leonia, the plaintiffs were attempting to obtain permission to use their vacant lot in a residential zone on the south side of Hillside Ave. as a driveway and parking lot for business purposes. (The deal here in Lyndhurst is very similar, and sweet indeed. The formula is simple: 1. Buy property in a residential zone that is adjacent to your business property (even if it costs you double) for ingress and egress purposes. 2. Obtain a variance to permit you to ingress or egress. The $30,000 you may have to spend for this second property would be pit money in contrast to the value increase and use value realized on the first property. I don't mean to suggest that businessmen should not endeavor to improve their lot (excuse the pun), but feel that in this case they should have received guidance from the Planning Board or township fathers before getting in as deep as they have. If they did, why weren't we residents who are so grossly affected enlightened on the matter sooner? "As for those misguided individuals who really believe that this change is for the public good, I say it is in the service of private interest under the cloak of public good, and the cloak of public good in this case takes the form of a United States Post Office. I do not argue the point that we do not need a Post Office, but I would argue that it is the most undesirable place to locate in town. "This property (Ritz Theatre property) can be developed, but the high-rise office building plans are too ambitious for this area. It is like trying to pour 10 lbs of flour into a 5 lb. paper bag, but with some assistance from the planning board a solution can be worked out to the satisfaction of all parties concerned. As a parting thought, was the board of adjustment surprised at the good turnout at their last public meeting, in spite of the bad weather, and the fact that the meeting was scheduled in the midst of the holiday season (Dec. 27)? I hope pleasantly so." Mr. Jim Marion 567 New Jersey Ave. Lyndhurst, N. J.

Planning Board Withholds Action

The Planning Board has held over for further study two minor subdivisions. The first is a request to subdivide a 12,125-square-foot lot on Tyler Street—an unimproved dead-end street—into three parcels, two 4,000 square feet, and the third 3,938.05 square feet. The frontages would be approximately 42 feet. The request was made by the 210 Building Corp., 256 Maple Ave. The property currently is owned by Nicholas Bernardo and Mary B. Orefice, 711 Lincoln St. A request to subdivide a lot 6,479.39 square feet from one 12,183.5 square feet was held up, when the applicant representative, Mrs. Clara Libertao, was asked to have her attorney present at next month's hearing. The lots, created by the will of Vincenzo Giancarlo, only provide a three-foot side-yard and the present regulations call for an eight foot side-yard. The property on Lake and Park Avenues has buildings on both proposed lots. It is jointly owned by George Libertao Jr. with Mrs. Clara Libertao the trustee and by Joseph Giancarlo. Anthony J. Rosa, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony G. Rosa, 216 Post Ave., has returned to his studies at Loyola University, Los Angeles, Calif., where he is a freshman, after spending the holiday recess with his parents. He is a graduate of Lyndhurst High School. Mr. and Mrs. Cosmo T. Rogge of New Jersey Avenue, are spending the week on a cruise to Nassau on the Oceanic. Their son Cosmo, is spending the week with his grandmother in Newark.

A Routine Rainy Night For Policemen

It was just another routine night for local police. Patrolmen Anthony Adivari and Robert Weyersberg were patrolling through township streets through Sunday night's rain. Then Lt. Robert Muhleisen's voice crackled over the car radio. "Prowlers reported near Rutly's on Park Avenue," he said. "Please investigate." Patrolman Daniel Checki was picked up. The cruise car turned its nose toward Park Avenue. As the policemen drew up in the rain they saw a car parked in the parking lot of Rutly's, a plumbing supply house. With drawn guns the policemen approached the car. They ordered the driver who sat in the darkened vehicle out. The man turned out to be Lloyd A. Bobbitt, 22, of 18 Stafford Place, Newark. He said he had become tired and had driven off the road to rest. Adivari remained with Bobbitt. Weyersberg and Checki went to the back of Rutly's. There they found Milton Bobbitt, 24, a brother of the driver. The two men were handcuffed and taken to headquarters. Investigation showed that Milton Bobbitt presently is free on $2,000 bail for a breaking and entry charge in Two Guys from Harrison in Totowa. Added to that charge was the complaint that Bobbitt carried a concealed weapon. Further investigation disclosed that up until three months ago Bobbitt had been employed as a truck driver for Rutly's. After a consultation the two men were charged with trespassing on private property and failure to give good accounts of themselves. Magistrate Bivona ordered both released in bail of $500 until Jan. 18 when they will be given a hearing. Then it was out in the rain again for the policemen.

Carlstadt Gets WNEW Radio Tower

South Bergen is going to get another radio tower—this one in Carlstadt. It is Station WNEW which has purchased 35 acres from Transcontinental Pipe Company in the Carlstadt meadows. Transo bought over 400 acres of meadowland for a subterranean storage plant for its natural gas. The plant has now been completed. WNEW occupies 25 acres on Belleville Turnpike in Kearny. WOR has plans for the erection of big antenna and transmission plant in Lyndhurst. It acquired acreage in the Lyndhurst meadows for that and has been talking about building on the land soon.

10,000 Folks

like living and working
IN THE SOUTH BERGEN AREA

Whenever you can "sell" 70,000 folks something, then that something must be pretty good!

The very fact that 70,000 people are living and working in the So. Bergen area is solid evidence that our area has an extra "something" that makes it such a wonderful place to live, work, worship and play.

If you were to define this "something," you'd find that it is made up of many big and little things. Things like these:

★ Good transportation, serving industry and the public. Wherever you live in the S. Bergen area you're always near the shopping center or your place of business.

★ It is about as pleasant a place to live as you'll find anywhere—you don't have to travel miles and miles to see clusters of trees, or find good recreational facilities.

★ Variety of industries in the S. Bergen area—offer special opportunities and trades for local men and women—good paying jobs that have distinct advantages.

★ Having the grocer, cleaner, druggist, hardware man and other business folks do their best to serve you satisfactorily are other "somethings" which are bringing newcomers here every day. Yes, we could go on and on and on, defining that extra "something" Greater S. Bergen has for all of us.

To bring more of these "somethings" and greater development and prosperity to the S. Bergen area today and every day Greater S. Bergen industries have plans that will provide greater opportunity and employment for the people of this community and those who settle here in the days ahead.

These plans call for increased markets, better customer services, greater production, resulting in good products that we can sell at prices that consumers are able and willing to pay; thus making a higher standard of living for all of us.

LEGION PARADE

Commander James Ferguson anticipates a large attendance at the meeting this coming Tuesday, January 17. The members will vote on the proposed changes to the constitution and by-laws. One of the more important items would move the annual meeting and election of officers from September up to June, in line with many other posts in the county.

The Americanism committee under Charles Kinsley is planning the annual Safety Essay and Oratorical contests. A copy of "The American Legion Story," a new book spelling out the accomplishments and aims of the organization will be presented to both the Lyndhurst and High School libraries.

With nearly 300 members paid up for 1967, VC George Frigerio is hopeful of achieving 100 per cent by the Legion's birthday in March. If you do not have your 1967 card send in a check right now. Lets give George a lift. Don't let George do it all. John Maarleveld and his rehab committee plan another VA Hospital Thursday, January 26. John can use a few more volunteers to help some of the patients play bingo. The group will leave the post about 8:30 and will be back in Lyndhurst about 9:30. Come on down.

At the last meeting Jim Ferrero gave a very interesting report on the recent Christmas parties for orphans. He read several letters from the kids and one of the nuns expressing their appreciation of the efforts of the Child Welfare committee. Did you know that every Saturday some member of the committee picks up surplus food-stuffs from local sources and delivers it to three area homes for children. Needless to say these gifts are accepted, eagerly.

Our old friend, Charley Rabbino, the "Little General" has been called to the High Command. Joint funeral services by The American Legion, Forty and Eight, V.F.W., VWWI and the Elks were held Tuesday night in Teaneck.

By the way, any of you old-timers who remember Harry Lamprier, the tenor of the original Ritual Team, might be interested to learn that Harry is not enjoying the best of health. Drop him a get-well card in care of his son, Hoard G. Lamprier, 1325 Eddy Grant Highway, Bronx, N. Y., 10452.

Now for the ray of sunshine—Veterans holding GE Insurance will be paid $21 million in dividends during 1967. All payments will be made on the anniversary date of the policy.

Don't forget this Tuesday, January 17, attend the meeting and listen to the proposed changes in the Constitution and By-Laws.

Institute Hits Meyner Report

The New Jersey Meadowland Institute today announced the release of its Meyner Report regarding the resolution of meadowland problems and heard the objections and proposals of its consultant, Alfred A. Porro, Jr., The Meyner Commission Report recommended a three-man State Agency to take over the complete administration and development of the meadowlands. The Meyner Report issued last week was a supplement to its earlier June 1965 Report. The Institute played a major role in encouraging the release of the Report so that it might be constructively criticized and amended.

Porro warned the Committee that the Meyner Report "completely avoids the title question." This is the first and foremost question which must be solved, until the question of title is resolved, no progress, no legislation and no regionalization can be anticipated. Basic to all problems in the meadowland is the need for a clear set of standards to enable one to determine who owns title to any particular piece of property.

Presently the State has thrown a cloud on all meadowland titles with a claim that it "may" have an interest in the same. There are no definite guide lines for a given record owner to follow to aid him with respect to this question. We, in New Jersey, are presented with a situation which is unparalleled in any other State of the Union. Yet, the Meyner Report completely avoids setting up such a set of standards and proceeds on the basic assumption that the State owns these lands and gives the record owner an "opportunity to lease" from the State or attempt to fight the State in the proposed Land Title Court.

The consultant then proceeded to recommend that "any proposed legislation must fully define the nature of the State's claim—this is presently a maze. Further, any proposed legislation must completely and scientifically enumerate the standards to be applied in effectively deciding which areas are subject to the claim of the State, if any. Detailed studies have already been completed which can set the line of demarcation, namely, the mean high tide line, along the channels of all navigable water courses such as the Hackensack River and Berry's Creek, specific scientific standards can be set to separate the water courses from the privately owned meadowland. Under such legislation there will be little room for question."

Porro then concluded, respecting the title question, that any areas of dispute could be handled by the Land Title Court suggested by the Meyner Commission but proceeded to point out that such a Court could have the "benefit of a detailed set of scientific standards to determine the highly technical title questions which it would be confronted with." He then re-emphasized that "the burden of proof must be upon the State and not the record owner. Title to this property has been unchallenged by the State for over three centuries, certainly every equitable and just principle of our democratic system declares that the State and not the private owners should be in a position to justify and prove their alleged claim."

The Committee then proceeded to analyze the other controversial aspects of the proposed legislation, such as the three-man Agency concept, leasing arrangements and lack of municipal representation on the Agency. After a long session

Rinaldi, District Director of the Immigration and Naturalization Service in Newark, New Jersey pointed out that address report forms are available at all Post Offices for the convenience of non-citizens required to report their address. Veterans Warned On Pension Rights

More than two million veterans and dependents receiving pensions from the Veterans Administration have been mailed form cards on which to report their annual income. P. M. Nugent, Manager of the Veterans Administration Regional Office in Newark, announced today.

The check-sized income report cards, enclosed with the November pension checks must be filled out and returned to the VA by January 31 or payment of the pension will be stopped, Nugent reminded. The law requires that payments be stopped if in-

Chief Warns About Safety

With the holidays over and youngsters back in school, it's natural that people feel inclined to let down and simply ride out the rest of the winter, come what may, according to Chief of Police, Howard C. Liddle. "But that's not good judgment as far as motorists are concerned," he warned. "In fact, too many drivers with this viewpoint can lead Lyndhurst into one of its worst traffic tie-ups of the season."

The chief pointed out that the worst of winter is probably just ahead.

"We can all remember years when our heaviest snow and ice hit us in January and February," Chief Liddle recalled. "We can't afford to let our guard down now."

The chief reminded drivers of the winter driving tips recommended by the National Safety Council's Committee on Winter Driving Hazards and endorsed by the International Association of Chiefs of Police:

Get the "feel" of the road—and then adjust your speed accordingly, steer gently and smoothly, use gas and brake pedals sparingly.

"Pump" your brakes to slow or stop—don't jam them on. An intermittent pumping action keeps the wheels rolling and helps maintain steering control. Have good tires with good treads. Snow tires provide half again as much pulling power as regular tires in snow. Studded snow tires are helpful on ice.

Carry reinforced tire chains in the trunk of your car and use them for severe snow and ice conditions. They provide four to five times the traction of regular

Maybe our '67 Pontiac is breaking sales records because people don't want to wait until '68 for a copy.

Our engineers have become used to seeing their ideas show upon other cars. Two years later. And apparently so have a lot of car buyers. Because 1967 Pontiacs are selling faster than 1966 Pontiacs. And '66 was a record year.

When you think about it, why should you wait around for innovations like our disappearing windshield wipers? Or for imaginative options like our exclusive hood-mounted tach? Especially when you consider that our engineers wouldn't turn a Pontiac loose with anything less than a standard 400 cubic inch V-8. Or a Tempest with anything less than our revolutionary Overhead Cam Six. (Not to mention all those new safety features like GM's energy absorbing steering column and a dual master cylinder brake system with warning lamp.)

In short, our engineers seem to have done it again. They may even start asking for royalties on the copies.

Telephone man Tom Maule got the idea in a super market.

Several months ago Tom Maule, a New Jersey Bell engineer, walked into his local super market and discovered a new way to help a handicapped person use the telephone.

Tom had been trying to figure out a way to adapt standard telephone equipment for use by one of his customers, Jim Miller, a paralyzed Korean War veteran who was confined to his bed and only able to move a portion of his right thumb. The telephone engineer found the answer when he stepped on a floor mat that automatically opens super market doors for package-burdened shoppers.

Maule figured that if he could set up a similar device—but one requiring only a few ounces of pressure—he would be able to help Jim Miller. After locating the manufacturer of automatic door openers, Tom learned that he could obtain a ribbon-like switch that operated on the same principles as a door opener, but required only 8 ounces of pressure to operate.

With the ribbon-switch attached to a Bell "hands-free" Speakerphone that permits conversation without lifting a receiver, Jim Miller is now able to use his telephone as easily as you do. Incoming calls come in normally. Outgoing calls are placed through an operator.

Tom Maule is a member of New Jersey Bell's engineering group that designs unique equipment and systems for people who have special problems using the telephone.

If you know of someone who has a special problem using the telephone call your local New Jersey Bell Business Office today.

36th Year Of Business For South Bergen's Harry Ackerson's Shop

ACKERSON'S UPHOLSTERERS, NOTED INTERIOR DESIGNERS, hold holiday frolic at Royal Hawaiian Palms, Lyndhurst, to celebrate 36 years of service to South Bergen and the state, having designed beautiful interiors for many local and state offices, churches and institutions. PHOTO BY ED FARLIE

Ackerson's Upholsterers, of 410 Hackensack Street, Carlstadt, formerly of Lyndhurst and Rutherford, began celebrating its 36th year of business success with a pre-holiday party for 35 workers and guests, at Royal Hawaiian Palms, Stuyvesant Ave., Lyndhurst, just before Christmas.

Harry Ackerson, genial, well-known businessman, philanthropist and civic leader, feted loyal workers, several of whom have been with his firm over 20 years, and architects, builders and other friends who know the value of his firm's work, in appreciation of their loyal support over the years.

Ackerson is well known for his designing of beautiful interiors, in homes, institutions and public buildings throughout the state and has won the coveted membership in the National Society of Interior Designers which has called him to be a panelist on many seminars on interior decorating. His design-rooms have also been pictured in national magazines, and many local and state buildings have been decorated by his staff.

Besides giving the best workmanship and materials in upholstery, rebuilding and design of furniture, and in glazing of windows, Ackerson is liberal with his time in charitable causes in many communities. A past Exalted Ruler of Lyndhurst BPO Elks, he was for many years chairman of the Crippled Children's Committee and a Grand Trustee; he has been cited for his valiant efforts as chairman of the Carlstadt Service Unit of the Salvation Army, for which he has raised large quotas of funds throughout the county. He is a respected member and hard worker of the local Lions' Club and recent zone chairman for area 16; he was chairman of the World War I Monument of Lyndhurst when he lived in that town and active in Fair Lawn where he now resides.

He started his business while still in Lyndhurst, moved to larger quarters in Rutherford where he expanded the firm to such a degree he was forced to move to still larger premises and has been located at 410 Hackensack Street in an entire building for the past twelve years.

Ackerson's is well known for its integrity and the owner lives his motto: "It never costs more to live in lovelessness."

McDowell On Republican Ticket

The Policy Committee and Steering Committee of the Bergen County Republican Organization last night endorsed William D. McDowell, Frank A. Buono, Jr. and Benjamin Walenczyk as candidates for the Republican Freeholder nominations.

The selections were made at subsequent meetings of the two groups in Republican Headquarters last night. The Policy Committee expressed its approval of the men at a 6 p.m. meeting and the 250-member Steering Committee passed on their qualifications at a meeting at 8:30 p.m.

McDowell, of North Arlington, Walenczyk of Saddle Brook and Buono, of Hackensack are all municipal officials.

McDowell was first elected mayor of North Arlington in 1964 when Republicans all over the county were being swamped out of office in the Johnson Landslide. In 1965, North Arlington Republicans also bucked the trend against the Hughes Landslide and gained majority control of the borough council. McDowell and two Republican running mates were returned to office last year.

Walenczyk, a Township Committeeman in Saddle Brook; has served on that governing body for 12 years. He was reelected to his fourth three-year term last November. He has been active in Republican politics since 1952.

Buono, 41, is Deputy mayor of the City of Hackensack. He was first appointed to the city council in July, 1960, and was elected to a full four-year term in 1961. He was reelected in May, 1965.

Appointed to the Hackensack City Council July 20, 1960, he was elected to a four-year term in May, 1961 and reelected in 1965.

Television Set Stolen From Home

An intruder almost made off with a television set and other household items which he had placed in pillow cases Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. James Guida Sr., 413 Fern Ave., had taken her granddaughter to the store in the afternoon and was returning home when the child running ahead, noticed the front door open. She shouted to her mother, who rushed toward the house. The burglar, who was about to make off with the items, fled from the back door and hopped the back fence in making his escape.

Mrs. James Guida Jr., who lives next to her mother-in-law's home, called police. Detective Everett Golembieski investigated. Nothing was taken from the home, police said.

Completing Our 25th Year of Progress

In the spring of 1941 a local group of civic minded business men saw the need for a progressive savings institution in the Kearny area. A number of existing building and loan associations bound together by merger formed the Equity. From this modest beginning with assets of less than $150,000.00 the Equity moved forward.

In war, prosperity and recession the Equity continued to grow, paying attractive and uninterrupted dividends, expanding its customer services until growth encouraged a move to larger quarters.

At first glance, the Equity building might be a fine town house out of our colonial past. The Equity building, erected in 1951, preserved to rich historical flavor of their Kearny area. It's colonial structure, inspired by the Morris House in Philadelphia, is an outstanding example of eighteenth century American architecture. The Equity building quickly became a landmark to all. It serves as a monument to the rich traditions of Kearny's historical past - a living link to the twentieth century.

1961
New growth marked two decades of progress with assets in excess of $31,000,000, the Equity became West Hudson's largest Savings and Loan Association. Eight of the eleven directors were original charter members in the founding of the Equity in 1941. A leader in the financial industry, Equity offered the highest dividend rate and lowest passbook loan rate commensurate with sound operation and prudent management.

1966
Completed renovation of the Equity building offers members the latest in modern banking facilities in a comfortable and convenient setting. The installation of a new electronic computer now enables us to handle your financial transactions with greater speed and efficiency. The Equity success story is a glowing tribute to the thousands of members in the Equity family who have achieved financial independence through thrift and prudent management, the Equity way.

We are proud to tell our story and on this occasion the management and board of directors wishes to invite you all to join us in our march forward.

New Jerseyans Sure Talk A Lot

New Jerseyans are about the talking people on earth, chalking up an annual average of 755 telephone calls a person. Only Canadians come close to out-telephoning the typical Garden State—everyone in the Dominion places about 635.6 calls a year.

The average number of calls per person per year here in the United States is 620. They talk a lot in Iceland, too; 565.3 calls, just slightly more than people in the Virgin Islands—581 phone conversations—and somewhat more than the Swedes, who put through 541.4 calls annually.

People in Chad, however, take away the buttoned-lip award—in Chad, the average number of calls per person for the year is 0.9. The Republic of Chad is in central Africa.

These and other telephone statistics appear in "The World's Telephones—1966," published by the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, of which New Jersey Bell is a subsidiary. Since it takes a year to gather the telephone data, most of the statistics are for January 1, 1966.

Telephone customers in New Jersey can reach 188 million telephones, 96 per cent of the world's total, which peaked to an all-time high of 200 million in mid-1966.

The United States, with 93.7 million phones, has nearly half of the world's total and more than the next highest 29 countries combined.

In terms of telephones for every 100 people, the U.S. is also first with almost 48 telephones per 100 persons. On this basis, Sweden ranks second among the principal countries with 46 per 100, followed by New Zealand, 28; Switzerland, 37.8; and Canada, 37.7.

Among United States cities with the highest telephone-to-population ratio, Atlantic City ranks fourth behind Skokie, Ill., with 80; White Plains, 84.5 and Washington, D. C., 92.6.

Among New Jersey cities that topped the national average of 48 phones for every 100 people were Bloomfield, with 65.7 per 100 residents; Camden, 55.9; East Orange, 61.7; Elizabeth, 54.5; Newark, 58.1; Passaic, 52.1; Trenton, 57.1; and Union City, 50.9.

In 1965, North America became the first continental area to have more than 100 million phones, reaching 100,789,000 on Jan. 1, 1966. North America's percentage of the world total, however, dropped to 51.6 from 52.3 a year earlier. Europe and Asia, meanwhile, increased their share of the world's total to 31.7 per cent and 10.2 per cent, respectively.

Here in the Garden State, New Jersey Bell reports that at the end of 1966 it had 3.8 million phones in service—having added 200,000 during the year—and expects to reach the 4 million mark sometime in 1967.

St. Cecelia's Quintet Defeats Queen Of Peace Five

St. Cecelia handed Queen of Peace's basketball team a 80-60 defeat Sunday afternoon in a Northern New Jersey Catholic Federation "B" Division game.

The Queensmen, now 2-6 for the year, trailed 8-0 at the start, before John O'Connell hit for the first Queen of Peace score.

The Saints of Englewood widened its lead to 22-6 at the end of the quarter and 34-8 before the Queensmen narrowed it to 42-19 at the end of two periods.

The home team rallied in the second half and outscored their opponents 41-38, but despite their gallant effort could not overcome their first half deficit.

Dennis O'Melia of Queen of Peace provided some satisfaction for the North Arlington fans by being high scorer with 27 points.

The junior varsity game saw the young Queensmen triumph 50-41. Charlie Wilczynski led the victors in tallying for 17 points.

gil gotham turns the spotlight on the stars

Special To The Leader
NEW YORK—Our editor, recently being involved with DuPont, no less, over the probable cost of Corfam shoes might be interested in a bit of mail received by our ever loving spouse. It was a notice from a North Carolina manufacturer offering nylon stockings from a top price of $9.98 per dozen, with a bonus pair thrown in, down to $6.79 per dozen, also with an extra pair thrown in. And slight irregulars were offered for less than 30 cents a pair. Of course, when Nylons made their debut DuPont said they would be as costly as silk. Ever since then the price of Nylons have been hammered down, just as will be the case with Corfam shoes.

It is our displeasure to report that Jackie Gleason remains most insensitive man on television. It took Art Carney and a couple of good scriptwriters to rescue Gleason from the hole into which he fell last year. But he cannot forget his bad taste. The forced applause that rends the ear drums of anybody watching his show is sickening. But, apparently, not to Gleason. On last Saturday's show the crowd cheered if somebody sneezed. That is about the standard of the dialogue on the Gleason show, anyway.

Whatever became of Tim Hovey, the wonderful little boy actor? We saw him the other night in something called "Everything But The Truth" which was made in 1956 and which Channel 2 presented for its 11:30 p.m. movie. The movie was a lot of bosh. But it was pleasant bosh. With a gal like Maureen O'Hara in it bosh is easy to take. But young Hovey did a marvelous job. He must have been about 12 when the movie was made. That would bring him up to 23 or so today. Have you heard of him recently?

Suppose it is necessary to say something about "How I Spent My Summer Vacation" which was Channel 4's "Movie of the Week." We don't know what the movie, which featured Robert Wagner and Peter Lawford, not to mention Jill St. John, cost. Perhaps movies made for television are cheap and therefore are practicable. But after watching the latest invasion of Hollywood by TV we would say it is the better part of intelligence to stick with Hollywood movies. TV just doesn't seem to be able to get a thread of continuity to run through its films. Perhaps it is because such movies are made with the knowledge they are to be unzipped and cut for advertising purposes. At any rate, we had a tough job trying to figure out what Wagner was trying to figure out.

Thank heavens for the independent stations. And their reruns. We caught an Alfred Hitchcock called "Anyone for Murder?" on Channel 5 last Friday night. It was a dandy. We don't know whether this is the second or third go around for Hitchcock on the reruns. But we missed "Anyone for Murder?" when it was first presented. It must have been one of Hitchcock's best. It concerned the plot of Barry Nelson, a college professor, to discover the man with whom his wife is philandering. It was a wild plot in which Nelson trapped the unsuspecting lover of his wife to murder the man Nelson had hired to murder him. Complicated? Crazy, man!

There must be an Aldo Ray revival. On Friday night there was "Men in War" with Aldo Ray. And on Saturday night there was "Johnny Nobody"

Was Joan Crawford the world's worst actress? After watching a so-called "Movie Great" called "Above Suspicion" which La Crawford made in 1943 with Fred McMurray we can only say the gal certainly was a leading candidate. Was that the Pepsi generation, by any chance?

It may be the super bowl to some people. But a couple of folks we know are bitter over the fact the College Bowl has been replaced at 5:30 p.m. Sunday by the Super Bowl football game. College Bowl has been shifted around, cancelled out and generally kicked around, all though it has an audience which turns to it loyally whenever able. There is no doubt Super Bowl is the football game of the century or what have you. But, honestly! does it need two stations on prime Sunday afternoon time to transmit it? How wacky can our civilization become?

Job Corp Men Home For Xmas
HACKENSACK—Miss Pauline Goldberg, Manager, and the staff of the New Jersey State Employment Service of Hackensack took great pleasure in welcoming home for Christmas, Job Corp men whose applications had been processed by this office. This year the Federal Government sent all Job Corp men who were at Job Corp Centers six months or more back to their homes for a thirteen day vacation.

Several youths who have finished their training courses are enlisting in the armed forces. Some are going on with their training until they complete the requirements for their high school equivalency diplomas. One youth, who spoke little English when he went into Job Corp six months ago has been enrolled by his Job Corp Center in a local high school which he attends every day and hopes to get his high school diploma at the end of next year. After that, the Job Corp Center will help him get a scholarship to college. One youth who's been training at Camp Kilmer here in New Jersey reports that he has passed all the tests for his equivalency diploma and how is getting aid in applying to Rutgers University for a scholarship. Another Job Corp man reported that when he reached his Job Corp Center six months ago, he was tested and found to be reading at the third year level. Now he reads at the tenth year level and is applying for additional training so he can qualify for the test for his high school equivalency diploma.

Almost all the fellows report that Job Corp has given them a real opportunity to learn, earn, and become productive citizens. Some of the Bergen County Job Corp men who were home for Christmas are William Howard; Changel Julius; Wiley Jones; George Harrison; Edwin Andreami; Wayne Rhinehard; August Cordes; Dennis Edison; Gerard Butler; Wayne Pitt; Luis Villabo.

Brooke Will Be GOP Speaker

Burlesque At The Mall Again

By Beverly Murphy
The gal won fame as one of the most beautiful of all strippers, has brought her 1967 edition of "This Was Burlesque" to Playhouse on the Mall in Parramus. The review opened January 3 for a month's run.

This is the third time around that Ann Corio has been seen at the Playhouse. "This Was Burlesque" played there for four weeks in April of 1965 and again for two weeks in October of that year. Every performance was a sellout!

It would appear that this new production will be equally successful. We expected that the opening would be primarily a men's night only. Not so. The house was equally divided, and a number of most dignified looking women were spotted wiping away tears of laughter as they watched some of the top names in burlesque perform.

Miss Corio, who admits that some might remember her as far back as the 1930s, looks wonderful. As narrator of the show, she puts in well over a dozen appearances. Each time she wears a different gown, one more striking than the next. And let it not be supposed that she is content to rest on her laurels. In a smash grand finale, she performs the strip that made her the toast of the town. The thunderous applause which greets her act makes one understand why Harvard men who attended her engagements at the Old Howard Theatre in Boston claimed, "You can't graduate until you've seen Ann Corio."

"The Glass Menagerie" Will Be Shown At Halfpenny House

One of the most famous plays of modern theatre, "The Glass Menagerie" by Tennessee Williams opens at the Halfpenny Playhouse in Kearny on Friday, January 20th for a three-week engagement.

A drama of great tenderness, charm and beauty, "The Glass Menagerie" won for its author every major drama award and established Mr. Williams as one of the foremost writers for the American stage. Though now over twenty-five years old, the play retains great appeal to contemporary audiences as evidenced by its continuing revivals. This is the second production of "The Glass Menagerie" staged by the Producing Actors Company which operates the Halfpenny Playhouse.

Directed by Mr. Dale Epland, the cast is represented by Beverly Gallie as Amanda Wingfield, a tragic remnant of Southern gentility; Lillian Kingsley, as her daughter Laura, a young introverted cripple who lives in a magical world of little glass animals, the son Tom, played by Warren Hogan is driven to distraction by his mother's nagging and also seeks escape in alcohol and the unrealistic world of the movies. A young gentleman caller is played by Bill Revere. Paul Bowles' music, written for the original New York staging has been obtained. Charles K. Robinson designed sets and lighting.

"The Glass Menagerie" will be presented Friday, Saturday, and Sunday, January 20, 21, 22; January 26, 27, 28; and February 3, 4, 5; at 8:40 p.m.

The Halfpenny Playhouse is located at 155 Midland Avenue, Kearny, N. J.

Senator Brooke's appearance at the Bergen Republican event, will be one of his first appearances outside of Washington after his swearing into office this month.

Senator Brooke will be accompanied to the affair by U. S. Senator Clifford P. Case of New Jersey, who won reelection last November by a half-million vote plurality of which 92,000 were cast in Bergen County.

Senator Brooke will also be the featured guest at the $100 a ticket "I P Cockt ail Party" which will immediately precede the dinner. The cocktail party will be in Champagne Towers, beginning at 6 p.m. The dinner is scheduled for 7 p.m.

The annual Lincoln Day dinner this year will honor all past living Bergen County Freeholders. They will be guests of honor at the dinner.

Gross said at least 2,000 persons are expected to attend this year's event.

VFW Will Honor 30-Year Members

The baggy pants comics, without which there could be no burlesque, are out in force. Steve Mills again proves why he is considered one of the top bananas in the business. Tiny Charlie Robinson of the ingratiating grin is hilarious. Dick Bernie, who has appeared a featured role with such greats as Jackie Gleason, Milton Berle, and Jerry Lewis, provides some real fun.

Then there's Dexter Maitland, who's tops. An infantry major during World War II, Maitland is a product of Dartmouth University and Cincinnati Conservatory of Music. His vocal talents, earned him billing as the lead tenor with the Ben Yost Singers. Maitland feeds lines well and has excellent timing. Also coming on strong are Mac Dennison and Harry Ryan.

There are pretty girls aplenty, led by charming Gloria LeRoy. And you shouldn't miss a gurn chewing little butterball by the name of Nicole Jaffe. This cute brack, who gives a convincing portrayal of a real dumb Dora, speaks fluent French and German and has broadcast many times in these languages for Radio Free Europe. As an extra bonus, there's a generously endowed Miss Dee Light who leaves you with no doubt that she is all woman. Plus.

This one could be considered a bit naughty in spots. But for those who solemnly declare that they only go to burlesque for the jokes, we can promise a big and brassy show with plenty of belly laughs.

TALK JOINT SEWER PLAN WITH RUTHERFORD, OTHERS

The possibility of Lyndhurst joining with Rutherford, East Rutherford and Carlstadt in a joint sewer plan is under exploration.

A Public Works Commissioner Peter Curcio of Lyndhurst wrote a letter to the Tri-Boro Sewer Authority in which he said Lyndhurst would like to talk about entering the pact.

The letter came at a time when Carlstadt plans to with draw and East Rutherford is having second thoughts about the authority.

Lyndhurst now operates a sewer facility with North Arlington.

However, it is believed that in the development of the Lyndhurst meadowland it would be feasible to drain that section of the community into the Joint Sewer plant which is in nearby Rutherford.

The Lyndhurst exploration is completely tentative, however, and the commissioners have not yet made any definite plan about the sewer.

Carini graduated from Lyndhurst High School where she was an active student and high school cheerleader.

After two years of military service, Carini joined the Prudential Insurance Company of America. He continued his studies during the evenings and in 1962 he earned a Master's Degree in Business Administration from Putge's University. In 1964, he was appointed Manager Valley Brook Avenue on January 28th at 8 p.m. District Commander Joseph Taromino of Garfield will make the presentations assisted by Bergen County Commander Joseph Russo of Palisades Park. Senior Vice Commander Ralph Curry is in charge of liquid refreshments. Junior Vice Commander Anthony Longarzo the buffet and band and Quartermaster Ernest Vath is in charge of tickets. Tickets can be obtained from any member or at Vath's Tire and Battery Service, 341 Ridge Road, anytime during the day. The public is cordially invited to attend. Tickets are $3.00 and include beer, buffet and music.

Vince Carini Seeks Election
Vincent Carini, an active Lyndhurst civic figure for many years, today outlined his qualifications for the Board of Education to which he seeks election.

Carini pointed out he is a native of Lyndhurst, a member of a family whose activities have been interwoven with those of the community over the years.

Carini is the oldest of six children, all of whom were educated in the Lyndhurst school system. His brothers Thomas, Carl and Michael were noted as fine athletes and his sisters Rose Marie Vicaari and Louise were outstanding students and high school cheerleaders.

Carini was born in 1932 to Mrs. Rose Carini and the late Joseph "Mike" Carini. His fa-

East Rutherford Downs Bears

Coach Dick Vitale's East Rutherford High School basketball team registered its fifth victory in eight games Saturday afternoon as it turned back Lyndhurst, 78-52, in a Passaic Valley Conference game.

The winning Wildcats are now 2-1 in conference action while the losing Bears are 0-4 overall and 0-3 in league play. Clifton and Kennedy, each with 3-0 records, lead the conference.

KRESGEN LEADS ATTACK

With Bill Kesgen, Tom Miller, Walt Barker and Joe Gladis leading the offense, East Rutherford never trailed after erasing a 2-0 Lyndhurst lead on John Dally's first basket of the game. The Wildcats went on to seven fouls while Miller tallied 14, Barker 13 and Gladis, 11. Don Penney led the losing Bears with 14 points while Ted Shoebrieger had 10.

Kesgen had 21 rebounds for East Rutherford while Will Kearney and Walt Barker had 28 rebounds between them. Chuck Alberta had 11 assists for the Wildcats.

The East Rutherford Jayvees also won, defeating the Lyndhurst Jayvees, 50-39. Jim Hadrava had 14 points for the winners while Bob Gleason scored 15 for Lyndhurst.

The tournament will be held on Saturdays with the women's matches scheduled from 1:00 to 4:00 and the men's from 4:00 to 7:00. Bowlers must use their highest average in any league as of Jan. 6, 1967. If you do not have an average this year you must use the highest average in the last year you bowled. There will be no entry fee required, the only cost will be $1.00 for every three games. Residents interested may call the Dept. of Parks 438-0080 or stop at the Parks and fill out an entry blank. All entries must be in before January 31st. Trophies will be awarded to the champions, runnerups and the highest game without a handicap, in each of the divisions. Director Bill Landella reports that the tournament proved popular to 202 residents called to register in time last year, don't let that happen to you—register now.

Corner on Sports

It is time, all too soon, to bid farewell to Pete Everson, a vital, splendid chap who lighted up the South Bergen scene for many years.

Pete was on the first Lyndhurst High School football team which, about 40 years ago, travelled to Jersey City to meet Lincoln High. It wasn't much of a team and it didn't put up much of a fight.

But what fight there was provided by Pete Everson. Pete was a battler, every inch of him.

When the Iroquois A.C. dominated the semi professional football world in this area Pete was one of the team's charm tokens. He would play halfback and it was a sight watching Pete churning for yardage behind the broad backs of men like Canny Simone.

And Pete could talk.

For some reason or other the Iroquois decided to raise money by holding a minstrel show in Washington School. Pete was the central figure in the show, talking a mile a minute. And always with that mischievous smile tugging at his lips.

Pete went into house construction while a young man and did considerable work in North Jersey and Florida. He died too young.

Bowling Tourney To Start Feb. 11

Commissioner Joseph Carucci announced that the fourth annual Lyndhurst Dept. of Parks 100 per cent Handicap Match open to residents of Lyndhurst will begin Saturday February 11th at the Lyndhurst Lanes.

LOMBARDI OF ST. CECELIA

The dollar benefits of the Super Bowl game Sunday are fantastic. Every player on the winning team will net $15,000. That means the coach will also get $15,000.

At this point Vince Lombardi, the coach of the Green Bay Packers who are expected to win it all, would not seem to need $15,000.

Lombardi has a $100,000-a-year contract locked up at Green Bay. There is little doubt the men who own Green Bay sugar up Lombardi's take every year. After all, where can you get a coach who can bring in four championships in six years?

So Vince Lombardi is riding high wide and handsome at the moment. He picked up $7,500 when the Packers won the National League championship again.

The extra $15,000 will mean that within three weeks he has picked up $22,500—if his team wins.

$22,500.

And just a decade or so ago Lombardi was a teacher at St. Cecilia's. As part of his duties he coached the football team. He received a modest $2,300.

But it gave Lombardi the chance he was looking for. Coaching. Ralph Cavallucci of Rutherford, a team mate of Lyndhurst's Coach Joe Cipolla at Utah State, followed Lombardi when the latter was tapped by West Point.

TOUGH DAYS

In those St. Cecilia days there were a lot of Lombardis in Brooklyn. They had plenty of pride but little money. Vince had a hard-fisted heritage.

From Army Lombardi went to the Giants and from the Giants to Green Bay.

There is no doubt they would like him back in New York. There is also no doubt Lombardi would like to be there. But how could he afford to turn his back on the city and the team that has done so much for him?

After the National League title game in which he was riding on the backs of some of his players. He was as happy as Lombardi has ever looked. In fact, he even knecded the backs of the necks of some of his boys in his joy.

Yet one could almost see the wheels clicking in Lombardi's head. Off the game with the Cowboys it could be seen that Green Bay is fading, the Cowboys are coming. How do you break up a great club that has a tradition of victory?

That's Lombardi's job. His team is dangerously near the edge when it can fall apart suddenly. Even as Lombardi was luxuriating in his victory he was thinking of next season when boys like Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung may no longer be with him. That's the kind of planner Lombardi is.

ANOTHER MAN FROM BERGEN

At Army another Bergen County man has made it big. He is Tom Cahill, head coach of Army, who once coached the River Dell Regional High School team.

Cahill left River Dell to become the plebe coach at Army. With fear and trembling Army brass tapped him to lead the Plainmen last season. The Army came through with a brisk 8-2 record and a victory over Navy.

At West Point for the present it's "Cahill for President."

But if portents are correct it will not be long before some of that professional moolah will be attracting Cahill. The rewards in professional athletics are so great today that nobody, but nobody is immune.

If Cahill can turn out good football teams under the rigid rules of West Point it is likely he can do the same with a professional team. There is a dearth of winning coaches today. And you can bet that if Cahill has one more good season at Army he'll be snapped up for professional football.

And he'll accept.

No matter how you look at it $22,500 is an awful lot of money.

WHO'S DROPPING OUT OF WHAT?

East Rutherford is the team dropping out of the Passaic Valley Conference.

But it is East Rutherford that has four PVC victories and Lyndhurst that has four PVC losses. Last Friday night East Rutherford took Lyndhurst's measure—but good!

It seems that East Rutherford this year can tick anybody in the league but Clifton. And maybe that will happen before the season is over.

BIG STUFF

What are they suddenly feeding the kids over at St. Joseph's-Regional?

At last count the St. Joes had a 9-0 record on the court. Add that to the sizzling football season over there and you've got to wonder.

Garfield, by the way, was 0-5 for the season last week. So football and baseball skill doesn't necessarily carry over to the basketball floor.

That "ouch" comes fast when it's your shoe that's too snug... because your toe knows. But if it's your house that's too cramped, or outmoded, it can take a long time before you even define the problem, let alone find ways to remedy it. At least that's the belief of a suburban real estate man. He says: "In my field, I find electric heating systems are great space makers in addition to their principal virtues of comfort and trouble-free operation. They certainly upgrade as well as update an older house and are the thing that makes a new house really modern. "Wrong shoes, though, you can toss out. Unfortunately your home is something you can't write off as easily. With the home as the major investment of a lifetime for most families, replacing can be a major crisis." He says that like the doctors of old China he'd prefer preventing distress rather than have to cure it. "So I opt for electric heating in new houses myself. "But where an older house has a lot going for it that is what the family wants, location, etc., converting to total electric heating system can make the major differ- ence. First and foremost of course, you get rid of the drafts, the hot spots, the seasonal cleaning and maintenance nuisance, and the need to re-order fuel. "But with an older house there's something else. Conversion time is when whatever is deficient with the insulation can—and should—be remedied. "That's the time, too, to figure how much space the family needs now... and how much room-to-grow you might also be needing. Maybe all you'll need is what you can reclaim from the heating-system changeover. You can count on a clean area, maybe for a family room, where the boiler and fuel storage have been standing. Or you might want to turn that into your laundry or use it for closet space. It's possible you might get an extra closet upstairs, too, to cut down on household clutter. "As furniture arrangements become more flexible with no radiators or pipe work to shrink the interior, you might find new space for a book stack or an additional storage chest. Yes, in addition to keeping heat circulation right at all times, electric heating can also reduce space cramp."	GROSSO ELECTRIC Electrical Contractor Lia. 22018 Lyndhurst GE 8-7241	GROSSO ELECTRIC Electrical Contractor Lia. 22018 Lyndhurst GE 8-7241	WELTZ FUEL OIL Complete Automatic Oil Heating Installations Oil Burner Efficiency Our Specialty 321 Prospect Ave., No. Arlington Painting Lyndhurst Decorators Interior - Exterior No Job Too Small "Fully Insured" Free Estimates CALL WE 9-3688

WHO'S DROPPING OUT OF WHAT?

East Rutherford is the team dropping out of the Passaic Valley Conference.

But it is East Rutherford that has four PVC victories and Lyndhurst that has four PVC losses. Last Friday night East Rutherford took Lyndhurst's measure—but good!

It seems that East Rutherford this year can tick anybody in the league but Clifton. And maybe that will happen before the season is over.

Howie Lustbader Retires From Navy

NAVAL AIR STATION, Lakehurst, N.J., Dec. 29.—Chief Aviation Machinist's Mate Howard L. Lustbader, of Neptune City, line chief of Air Antisubmarine Warfare Squadron (VS) 752, attached to the Naval Air Reserve Training Unit (NARTU) here, drilled for the last time this month before retiring after 23 years of Naval service. A former Lyndhurst High football star, Lustbader now lives in Neptune.

Chief Lustbader first entered the Navy in 1943 and participated in the Battle of Leyte Gulf during the Philippine Liberation with the Seventh Fleet cruising in the South Pacific.

"We were bombed by enemy planes," he said. "We got hit in the bowl and suffered quite a few casualties, but no one was killed."

Chief Lustbader was serving aboard the USS Wachapreague (AGP8) a motor torpedo boat tender during the battle. At the time, he was a motor machinist mate second class.

"We lost several PT boats and a number of personnel," he recalled.

The chief said the ship put into Brisbane, Australia for repairs after it was hit.

"It was the first time in my life that I ever drank warm beer," he chuckled. "Later the Australians started icing it up for us."

He said the favorite dish "down under" was steak and eggs, "and it was ours too."

His ship was assigned support duties during the Battle of Iwo Jima.

"Our job was to make sure the enemy did not get off the island and escape," he explained.

The chief said the PT boats would bring prisoners back to his ship for questioning.

"The enemy, he said, would of ten hide on a 'floating island' a piece of land that broke away from the mainland. Crews from the PT boats would find them hiding in tall grass.

"That is how we took a lot of prisoners," the chief added.

After the war, Chief Lustbader joined Battalion 311, a surface reserve outfit that was in the process of forming in Passaic. Later, the unit moved to the Clifton Reserve Training Center.

"When I moved to the Shore area, I affiliated here in 1949," he said.

He changed rate to Aviation Machinist's Mate and was promoted to chief petty officer in 1958.

The chief was a flight engineer (ZP)751 and likes to recall a trip to the West coast in a blimp during a two-week active duty training cruise.

After the ZP squadrons were decommissioned, Chief Lustbader became a member of VS 452, and was leading chief of the squadron for three years. "I took over as line chief in 1964," he said.

The chief, a motor vehicle inspector with the New Jersey Department of Law and Public Safety's Division of Motor Vehicles, resides with his wife Kathryn at 82 Lincoln Ave., Neptune City. His brother, Edward, teaches in Lyndhurst High School.

Chief Lustbader holds the Asiatic-Pacific Campaign medal, the American Area Campaign Medal, the World War II Victory Medal, the Naval Reserve Medal and the Naval Reserve Meritorious Service Ribbon.

He is a member of the Civil Service Association and is junior vice commander of the Harold Daley Post No. 1333 Veterans of Foreign Wars in Asbury Park.

As for his years as a Weekend Warrior, the retiring chief says, "I'll be back on visits," he added with a grin. "I will miss the teamwork and comradeship."

how and are willing to get the job done, without waste, inefficiency or foolish extravagance.

This is the kind of man Fred Censullo is and I, as one who has always been interested in the Town of Lyndhurst and our children, urge every one to please consider Fred for their support and vote.

Jetport

The accumulating evidence that jetports which are designed to serve as freightports do not belong in metropolitan areas is impressive.

The Republican party, in its statement of position, last week came out wholeheartedly for a jetport at McGuire Air Base. Located there, the facility could serve passengers and freight with equal ease without impinging upon the health and happiness of residents in the metropolitan area. It is a correct position which the Democrats had better study well.

Former Assemblyman Carmine Savino Jr.'s disclosure that air freight in the metropolitan airports is expected to total 1.4 million tons—80% of which is to be carried by separate planes—is a strong argument for moving the new jetport well beyond the metropolitan area.

And the argument that the jetports need to be in the metropolitan area for the convenience of passengers received a blow by the tragic crash which took nine lives in Red Bank last week.

The air tragedy occurred when a taxi plane leaving for Kennedy International Airport crashed. It was disclosed that the Red Bank taxi service is a thriving business with as many as 20 flights a day to the various jetports.

Without much publicity, apparently, the air taxi service has grown into a young giant. Would it make much difference if the air taxis went to McGuire instead of Kennedy? The travel time would be about the same with the same convenience.

The matter of the growth of air freight, however is the more compelling argument for moving the jetports of the future away from the residential centers.

The Port of New York Authority's own recent report is quoted by Savino as the support for his arguments. The report shows that by 1975 air freight, now about 600,000 tons a year, will increase to 1.4 million.

The same report says that while 45% of air cargo is now carried in passenger planes, with passengers, only 20% of the air cargo will be in passenger planes in 1975. The rest will be in specially constructed and operated cargo planes.

The air cargo planes of the future are to be bigger, noisier, dirtier. In the residential zones, already plagued by noise, congestion and air pollution this is what the jetports do:

Add to the noise by increasing the number of flights at the jetports.

Add to the pollution by making necessary more planes that emit their lethal gases into the atmosphere.

Add to the traffic congestion by attracting huge truck movements in and out of the airports to service the air freight.

The newspapers are filled these days with stories about air pollution. It is difficult to do anything about many of the originators of pollution that already exist. But we will be doubly responsible if we permit the construction of an unnecessary facility like a jetport in our midst that will add to the pollution.

Traffic congestion already is a nightmare. Will we add to it by allowing the construction of a freightport in our midst?

Noise is one of the curses of modern civilization. Can we in good conscience inflict the noise of another jetport upon an overcrowded area that already is suffering from an excess of noise?

Beck's Column

By MAX BECK

For awhile, until the industry agrees to use a standard designation, there will be some confusion about the size of the picture shown on TV sets.

The public was used to the tube sizes. Just about everybody knew what to expect when they shopped for a 19", 21", 23", or 25" TV set. The Federal Trade Commission did not think so. They want a more precise designation. And, believe it or not, that's where the confusion starts.

Some manufacturers use a mask which is a little smaller or larger, on the same picture tube. The result may be a difference of a couple of square inches of picture size. For this reason you may find some factories listing horizontal and vertical measurements along or in connection with square inches. Others may list in addition to square inches the formerly used designation. And all of this will be very confusing until such a time that everybody used the same expression and the public learns to identify it. For the time being we are going to list the picture size in square inches and add (formerly "xx" tube size).

After awhile, the whole industry, hopefully, will agree to a uniform designation and when the public is well acquainted with this, we will drop the listing of the former tube size. We service what we sell. Beck's Radio TV Hi-Fi Nudley 667-2275

Meadowland Carousel

The desperate effort of the State of New Jersey to cling to power it neither deserves nor can exercise is demonstrated again by the new recommendations of the Meadowland Study Commission.

The commission, of which former Governor Robert B. Meyner is chairman, has proposed that setting up a new agency to plan and supervise development of the meadowlands. Basically, however, the old plan of setting up a state authority that would have bond-issuing power and which actually would take possession of the meadowland remains.

Under the two-headed system this would happen:

1. A state authority, patterned after the Port of New York Authority, would take possession of the meadowland, issue bonds for its reclamation and proceed with a program of soil stabilization.
2. A five-member agency, organized by Bergen and Hudson Counties, would supervise the use of the land—a sop to keep the taxpayers of Bergen and Hudson happy.

This plan is entirely unsatisfactory. For one thing it would place the freeholder end of the apparatus in the hands of Hudson County. One member would be a state-appointed member who, of course, would be enough to give Hudson County a majority on the supervision unit.

Such an argument is small political potatoes, of course. It merely goes to show how the meadowlands can be manipulated even if everybody has the best of intentions.

The major protest against the state plan is it is directed only at the meadowlands in South Bergen. There are thousands of acres of undeveloped land in South Bergen and it is that acreage upon which the state has intentions.

The Meyner commission already has forewarned any interest in Newark's meadowlands. Why? What makes Newark different?

The Meyner commission's plan does not apply to some 100,000 other acres of meadowland in other parts of the state whose ownership comes under the same dispute as South Bergen's.

Why is the Meyner commission not concerned about the rest of the state?

But most of all the Meyner commission says not a word about the 1,500 acres of Hudson County meadowland that have been reserved for a racetrack, when and if the track is approved.

Those acres are presently the best land in the meadows.

If the Meyner commission wants anybody to believe it is ready to go all the way on the reclamation plan let us have from the commission what it thinks of putting a racetrack in the Secaucus meadows.

Secaucus is in Hudson County. Hudson County has for many years been a barony by itself. The Meyner commission cut Newark out of its planning. Has it also cut Hudson's racetrack site?

The Meyner commission should have a single objective—that of clearing up the badly clouded titles of the meadowlands as quickly as possible. It has proposed a special court for this purpose. But as Alfred Porro, the Lyndhurst lawyer meadowland expert has pointed out, it still leaves the burden of proving ownership upon the individual.

Under any fair program the state would have to prove its ownership.

The Great H. & M. Robbery

The Appellate court in New York has moved to rectify the dreadful mistake of a Supreme Court justice who set the condemnation value of Hudson & Manhattan Railroad at $55 million.

The Appellate men set the value at close to $4 million.

There is reason to suspect the H. & M. stockholders may appeal to the State Court of Appeals.

If this is done Bergen County's newly organized Board of Transportation should take an instant part. To set the value of that busted down railroad at $4 million is a heinous crime against the taxpayers. Because anything that comes out of the treasury of the Port of New York Authority, which bought the railroad, comes from the pockets of the taxpayers.

The speculators who grabbed up the bonds of H. & M. when a killing was in sight are lucky they did not face action for running an unsafe, inadequate railroad.

Thousands of South Bergenites who had to use the ugly, dirty, delapidated facility know exactly how the railroad was misused by the management.

The railroad wasn't worth a plus and quarter when the Port Authority took it over. Had the PA not acted the railroad could not have existed another year. Already the speculators had separated the railroad from the two skyscrapers owned by the corporation. They were ready to call it quits when the PA moved in.

If the railroad had been sold at auction it would have cost the management a small fortune to close it up so that it would not have been a health and safety hazard.

No sensible court in the land should evaluate the railroad at more than $1. By saying the railroad was worth $4 million is like saying that Jesse James was a misunderstood Eagle Scout.
