SETTING

Set in the present, a lovely farm house in Bucks County

There will be one 15-minute intermission between acts.

DEDICATION

With great affection and respect, this production is dedicated to the memory of two outstanding alumnae from Theatre IV's Board of Directors: Bev Reynolds and Verna Seidensticker.

Bev was a cornerstone of Richmond's arts community — owner and director of the Reynolds Gallery for the last 30 years.

Verna was a true theatre lover, attending performances until the month before her passing at age 85 years young.

Both women were instrumental in the development of Virginia Rep. They will be greatly missed.

Joe Pabst (Vanya) has appeared in numerous Virginia Rep productions including Equivocation, Tartuffe, The Music Man, The Man Who Came to Dinner, Brooklyn Boy, Barefoot in the Park, and Lend Me a Tenor. He received the Richmond Theatre Critics Circle's award for Best Actor for his work on Faith Healer (Henley Street Theatre), and was nominated for roles in Dirty Rotten Scoundrels and Is He Dead? He directed Virginia Rep productions of Driving Miss Daisy, The Odd Couple, Greater Tuna, and Always... Patsy Cline. He is delighted to share the stage again with his wife, Debra Wagoner!

Debra Wagoner (Sonia) last appeared at Virginia Rep in Tartuffe as Dorine. Other favorite Virginia Rep roles include Rona Lisa Peretti (25th Annual Putnam Co. Spelling Bee), Sister Mary Amnesia (Nunsense), Florence Foster Jenkins (Souvenir), Brunhilde (Das Barbecu), and Queen of the Night (The Magic Flute). She received the Richmond Theatre Critics Circle award for her role as Penelope Pennywise in Urinetown at the Swift Creek Mill Theatre. She has portrayed Patsy Cline in Virginia, Idaho, and Ohio in Always, Patsy Cline. Debra is also a proud recipient of Richmond Magazine's 2002 Theresa Pollak Prize for Excellence in the Arts. She sends love to her husband, Joe Pabst, and parents, Janet & Mickey Wagoner.

Susan Sanford (Masha) last appeared on the November stage in Mame as Mrs. Upson. She was also the understudy for the role of Mame and had 3 performances in the role. Other Virginia Rep roles include the Adult Women in Spring Awakening, Mayzie in Seussical and Veronica in God of Carnage, all of which received nominations for RTCC awards. Susan won the RTCC award for Best Supporting Actress in a musical for the role of The Baroness in Virginia Rep's production of The Sound of Music. Also an accomplished director, Susan directed and choreographed the recent production of You're A Good Man, Charlie Brown at Hanover Tavern. Susan lives in Richmond with her husband, actor/director Foster Solomon, and their sons, Trey and Jordan.

David Pope (Spike) is thrilled to be making his debut for Virginia Rep in such a fun show with such wonderful cast mates. Previous credits include The Full Monty, Legally Blonde (Warner), and Les Miserables (Marius) at Riverside Dinner Theatre. Thanks to all the folks who have supported me and the pursuit of my crazy passions!

Christopher Durang is an award winning playwright and actor. He currently resides in bucolic Bucks County, PA, in a stone house that served as an inspiration for the setting for Vanya and Sonia and Masha and Spike. Other plays include A History of the American Film (1978 Tony nomination for Best Book of a Musical), The Actor's Nightmare, Sister Mary Ignatius Explains It All For You (Obie award), Beyond Therapy, Baby with the Bathwater, The Marriage of Bette and Boo (Obie award, Dramatists Guild Hull Warriner Award), Laughing Wild, Durang/Durang, Sex and Longing (starring Sigourney Weaver), and Betty's Summer Vacation (Obie award). In 2013, he won the Tony Award for Best Play for Vanya and Sonia and Masha and Spike.

Durang has performed with E. Katherine Kerr in the New York premiere of Laughing Wild and with Jean Smart in the L.A. production. In the early 80s, Durang and Sigourney Weaver co-wrote and performed in their acclaimed Brecht-Weill parody, Das Lusitania Songspiel, and were both nominated for Drama Desk awards for Best Performer in a Musical.

Durang has a B.A. from Harvard College, and an M.F.A. in Playwriting from Yale School of Drama. Since 1994 he has been co-chair with Marsha Norman of the Playwriting Program at the Juilliard School in Manhattan and is a member of the Dramatists Guild Council.

“In my 20s, I read Chekhov’s plays and loved them. My impetus for Vanya... was the realization that I am now the age of Chekhov’s older characters. And I found myself wanting to write a comic play — not a parody, but its own thing. Set in Bucks County (PA) in the present. So I took themes and characters from Chekhov, and put them into a comic blender.”

— Christopher Durang

ANTON PAVLOVICH CHEKHOV

Russia's beloved storyteller

Born on January 29, 1860 in Taganrog Russia, Anton Chekhov is considered one of the world's greatest writers. His classic short stories and plays have inspired playwrights and short story writers for over a century. The son of a grocer, Chekhov began working at an early age in his father's grocery store. After his father fled creditors, Chekhov supported his mother and younger siblings. While in medical school he wrote comedies to earn extra income and continued his literary and medical careers simultaneously. His final years were spent in the Crimea where he suffered from Tuberculosis. He died at the age of forty-four in 1904.

According to Durang, "My play is not a Chekhov parody... I take Chekhov scenes and characters and put them into a blender." The characters in the play, named by their parents - both university professors - share names with Chekhov characters, but are derived from various roles.

"My Masha is actually not like the Masha in either of Chekhov's plays. I just decided I liked the sound of Masha better. Truthfully, she's a bit more like Madame Arkadina in The Seagull. She's the one who has not stayed home her whole life. She has gone and become a famous actress, and it's her country estate she's thinking of selling."

Nina, who seems to be very much derived from the character of the same name from The Seagull, was the most like a Chekhov character according to Durang. Durang adds that "Cassandra, who's a cleaning woman and soothsayer, is like the Greek-tragedy Cassandra. In some ways, she's like the nanny in Vanya, but she doesn't reflect Chekhov as much."

CHEKHOV'S PLAYS - THE SHORT VERSIONS

Uncle Vanya Vanya and his niece Sonia together manage a remote rural estate for the financial benefit of Vanya's brother-in-law, the Professor, and his very young second wife, Yelena. They share occasional extended visits with Dr. Astrov who has a strong proclivity for vodka. The professor and Yelena arrive at the estate and announce intentions to sell the property. Both Vanya and Dr. Astrov fall under the spell of young Yelena while bemoaning the ennui of their provincial existence. Sonia has her eyes on the doctor but also acknowledges her own lack of beauty. Broken dreams, disappointments and lots of vodka fuel a family crisis that only subsides when the visitors depart and the quiet routine resumes.

The Cherry Orchard Russian aristocrat, Luba Ranevskaya, and her brother Gayev have enjoyed a life of ease on the family owned cherry orchard and surrounding estate. The siblings fall on hard times and the estate must be auctioned to pay the mortgage. While presented with options to save the estate, the family rejects change and essentially does nothing. The play ends with the sale of the estate to the son of a former serf, Lopkhin, and the family departs to an uncertain future and the sound of the cherry orchard being cut down.

The Seagull A celebrated stage actress, Arkadina, returns to visit her estate with her younger lover and popular writer, Trigorin. There they, with her doddering brother Sorin and visitors, are given a performance of a murky symbolic play by her son Konstantin. Its sole performer is a naive neighbor girl, Nina, whom Konstantin adores. The play is dismissed as decadent. Konstantin is devastated and fails a suicide attempt that leaves him in the care of his mother. Meanwhile Nina follows fame and fortune and the youthful Trigorin to Moscow only to return two years later. Konstantin still loves her and ignores the adoration of Masha, the estate manager's daughter. With dashed dreams, Nina continues her pursuit of footlights. Once again rejected, this time Konstantin succeeds and takes his life.

Three Sisters Prozorov sisters Olga, Masha and Irina, former Muscovites now reside in a provincial town from which they long to escape. The years of promising expectations are behind them, and marriages have gone awry. The sisters' hopes for a life more suited to their cultivated tastes and sensibilities provide a poignant juxtaposition to the realities of life.
